Blessings Remain . . .

We were all reminded once again this week, some more painfully than others, just how powerful and devastating the forces of nature can be at times. Although we have filled this column in the past with words of appreciation for the volunteer efforts of people during times of crisis, we believe the time has come to do it again. Such deeds should never be taken for granted.

Even the most devout believer in God as creator and sustainer is often plagued with the big question of why he allows natural disasters to occur, causing unbelievable destruction and anguish. Although not even the greatest theologian or clergyman in the world can give a good, clearcut answer to that question, there are a number of points that can be made in an attempt to respond to it.

Without down there can be no up. Without black there can be no white. Without sorrow, there can be no joy. Tragedy seems to bring out the best in people. When there is a sudden need for help, the volunteers come out of the woodwork to do what they can for their fellow human beings. Thought of payment or reward for their services is non-existent, a characteristic which, unfortunately, is not common to every-day life.

Emergency service personnel and scores of other concerned citizens worked, and are still working, around the clock to help the victims of the flood survive and now, rebuild. Because of their efforts, thousands of dollars of property were saved and, more important, lives were saved. Despite the tremendous force of the waters, it is miraculous to us that so few lives were lost. Nonetheless, our hearts go out to the families and friends of those who did die as a result of the flood.

We also extend appreciation to those persons who had the foresight several years ago to construct the flood control dams around the Oakland area. These dams have paid for themselves many times over in property that has been saved since they were constructed. Oakland, no doubt, would have been under water this week if it weren't for these dams.

While the anxiety of the flood itself is all but over, much of the toughest work lies ahead: cleaning up and re-building. We are confident that the same beautiful qualities that made people respond to those in need during the flood will continue to be active for many weeks to come.

Although for some the losses are great, as we approach Thanksgiving, let us especially remember the many blessings that remain, among them the caring, sharing, and loving that is so alive in so many people.

Attention All Subscribers To The Republican

We realize that a number of you are not receiving your copy of The Republican until several days after publication, even though you may reside as close as the Baltimore or Pittsburgh areas. Even readers as close as Addison, Pa., report it is taking as many as five days to receive their copy.

We assure you, we have been doing everything we can to solve this problem. Unfortunately, the U.S. Postal Service is the culprit. We never miss the delivery deadline out of Oakland on Thursday and we have made special effort recently to be even more specific in our addressing and mailing procedures. An investigation is underway with the Postal Service.

The problem apparently does not lie with the local post office, but elsewhere. We are outraged at the miserable service we are receiving from the Postal Service, and hope they remedy the situation, whatever it is, immediately. The cost of mailing has increased significantly, but the quality of service seems to be in direct proportion downward.

We also ask that you check the mailing label on your paper and inform us immediately if corrections are needed. Please pay particular attention to the zip code.

Our Turn

A Nasty Job. . .
by Pam Ashby

It was the Sunday evening following Halloween that it happened. My husband and I and a few other people get together almost every Sunday evening to unwind after a rough week and to play Trivial Pursuit. We joke and laugh and generally we're fairly normal human beings. We're still wondering though, what caused the bizarre transformation in our characters the Sunday following Halloween.

Normally, we snack on chips, cheese, cola or wine and we did snack on those items on Sunday . . . for a while.

Then Donna, who is usually the most stable one of the bunch, got this strange smile on her face and said, "Wanna raid the kids' Halloween treat baskets?"

"Yeah!" we all chimed. "Let's do it."

With frivolous abandon, five adults scrambled to do the dastardly deed. Candy wrappers were flying everywhere.

"Hey, wait a minute," I insisted. "I want the raspberry taffy. It's my favorite."

"No fair!" yelled Ray. "I wanted that. It's the last one."

I hurriedly popped the sweet little morsel into my waiting mouth, chewed on it a few minutes and then offered it to him.

"How could you be so cruel and unfeeling," he cried. "That's disgusting."

"It sure is," my husband mumbled as he stuffed two more peanut butter kisses in his already full mouth.

"Hold it!" Donna cautioned. "We had better take equal amounts from those baskets or the kids will suspect us."

"But Erika has the best stuff," pleaded Mark. "Ryan and Adam ate their good junk."

Suddenly, guilt hung over the room like a mushroom cloud. As quickly as the transformation had begun, it disappeared equally fast.

"I feel so guilty," said Ray in his best confessional voice. "How could we do this?"

"Here. Hide the evidence," said Donna. "Stuff these candy wrappers in that soda can and take it home with you."

We solemnly stuffed the hundreds of candy wrappers in the can. The silent guilt was deafening.

Finally, Donna said, "Don't look so glum. When you think about it, we did the kids a favor. They'll have better dental checkups because of us."

"Right," I added dryly. "It was a nasty job, but someone had to do it."

Note: In the story you just read, the names were changed to protect the innocent. I'm not really me. Donna is not really Donna . . .

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Since you have published the story on Dwight Snyder's incarceration at Allenwood Federal Prison for not adherring to rules of conduct dictated by the great American Society, such as paying Income Taxes, I'd like to remind the good citizens of West Virginia and Garrett County that since one of their most respected leading citizens has been incarcerated they have received so much help from the past and hopefully by them in the future, to forget the animosity demonstrated by them toward his loving wife Hallie, and show their respect to him by bending over backward in their offers of help and solace to her, in her great time of need, with him gone. She didn't cause this incident to happen; he brought it on himself.

So please, all you friends of Mr. Snyder, let's see some religious and social action on your part to her, in appreciation of her taking such good care of him for the last 30 years. She would be most thankful to God for your help and understanding through these trying times. It's very humiliating to be in this situation and have to suffer the inhumane actions demonstrated by once friendly Garrett County Citizens.

God bless you all and pray to get back in step with Him.

Respectively,
R.J. Mize
Danville, Va.

Dear Sir:

We have been subscribers of The Republican for more than 10 years, since my retirement from the Garrett County Schools. My husband, who had many friends in Garrett County, died recently. He always enjoyed reading your paper. Originally, I believe, we received it on Thursday, but it keeps coming later and later. When it didn't arrive until Saturday he complained, but continued to subscribe. I recall that he did say that if the time arrived that our Republican didn't arrive until the following Monday he would no longer subscribe for it. That time has arrived and I believe I have received it as late as the following Tuesday. By that time you will probably admit to me that the information in it is no longer news, but history.

Please see if you can get it here sooner and I will appreciate your effort.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. John Leonard
California, Pa.

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, November 5, amidst rain and floods, I had the privilege of sponsoring and chaperoning a class trip to Pittsburgh. Over 120 eighth graders from Southern Middle School went into the Syria Mosque to view what was for most of them their first live theatre performance. Many did not know quite what to expect and, as a sponsor, I wasn't even sure they would like it.

We had held a brief meeting last Thursday morning to go over together the appropriate attire and behavior for the theatre. We had also spent at least two weeks learning about Edgar Allen Poe and Mark Twain, in an effort to prepare ourselves for what we would see. We were the last ones in the theatre and were seated just as the curtain was raised, upper mezzanine seats—in the rafters! I was certain that the students wouldn't be able to see or hear well, and would not enjoy the performance at all.

Not only did they enjoy it, but they were a captive, attentive audience the entire time. Several times during the performance students from other schools demonstrated inappropriate behavior, our students never did, not in the theatre, or later on when we stopped at a restaurant for lunch, or on the bus ride to and from Pittsburgh.

Once again we can be assured that Garrett County and Western Maryland was well-represented by its young people. They were fun to be with and I would proudly go anywhere with them! We've got great kids!

Sincerely,
Suzie Sincell,
SMS teacher

Dear Mr. Mason Callis:

Even though I am an adult and should think of you by your first name, you'll always be "Mr. Callis" to me because you were my teacher long ago.

Thank you for having been a good teacher and a good principal. Your interest in and knowledge of a wide range of subjects helped me to grow up intellectually curious.

Many of my brightest memories of those days are of field trips to pick wild flowers to press and study or to draw trees and plants from nature. Did you really play dodgeball with us sometimes or am I just imagining that? I remember that you played recordings of classical music for us and broadened our horizons in so many ways.

I remember that you were concerned about my being young for my class. It's important for a student to feel that the teacher cares about the individuals in the class and their needs.

Thank you, too, for remembering me as a bright student to my daughter, Barbara. It helps when adolescents come to respect their parents as human beings with their own talents and abilities.

I hope that in years to come teachers will be accorded the respect (and the salary) that is commensurate with the importance to society as well as to the individuals in it of the job that they do.

Sincerely,
Dotty Leighton

To the Editor:

When I heard that Patti McLaughlin died I was shocked. I had her for music at Southern Middle, she was one of the best teachers I had.

I have one other thing to say. I would like to wish Dennis Gibson and his Lakers the best of luck for this new season. I am a true Laker sports fan.

Thank you,
James Lee

To the Editor:

This is a message to everyone who missed seeing the production of "Dracula" at GCC last week. You don't know what a great performance you missed! It was a good play and an absolutely spectacular production. Hats off to Gerry Snelson (director) and Ben Sincell (set designer, lights and special effects!) Without their talent, time and dedication, there would have been no protection. The players were marvelous; the scenery and special effects were fantastic! Everyone involved did a top-notch job.

To anyone who missed seeing this, I'm sorry. Watch and listen for information about future productions at GCC and don't miss the play to be directed by Gerry Snelson at Northern High School later this month.

Sincerely,
An interested GCC student

Editor's Note: Although the following letter was obviously written before the flood in Kitzmiller, we have nonetheless decided to publish it. We request, however, the reader attempt to keep the letters to the editor 300 words or fewer.

To the Editor:

I have read the apparent disposition of my complaint in the October 3, 1985, edition of The Republican and my disappointment with the performance of our officials has only deepened.

I wish to respond to the individual points of Mr. Beitzel's reply to Mayor Barrick's request for review, but first I would like to make several statements concerning this water project.

Mr. Beitzel says in his response to Mayor Barrick that he felt my concerns were justified, yet he failed to execute his promise to me on two separate occasions, while the unprotected line was being installed, to personally inspect and cause the acknowledged deficiency to be corrected. He stated to me, most emphatically, not once, but on two separate occasions, that the plans called for the water lines to be encased wherever crossing the sewer ditch were indicated. The contractor did in fact encase the line in its two main crossings of the sewer ditch, but none thereafter.

Mr. Beitzel suggests that the installation was made in accordance with the approved plans. This then indicts the design engineer for incompetency.

This entire matter is being aired in the paper due primarily to Mayor Barrick's refusal to even look at an advanced copy of my original letter which I had offered him in the hopes of working out a reasonable settlement of the deficiency directly with him.

Now to Mr. Beitzel's nine points contained in the October 3 article:

1. "The pipe is installed under the ditch and does not come in contact with the acid mine drainage or sewage."

This is simply not true, as Mr. Beitzel is well aware. I witnessed the entire installation of the crossing to my property and described it more than once to Mr. Beitzel. The unprotected copper line is barely three feet below the top surface of the sewer ditch itself, which is presently, and was at the time of installation, nothing but muck, sewage and mine water drainage up to my hips. They were never able to drain their excavation even though they attempted a small cofferdam above it and tried to pump it dry without success. For all intents and purposes, the pipe was laid in, not under, the sewage ditch.

2. "Two soil samples were tested and the laboratory reports indicate that the soil in the close proximity to the water line does not create a potential corrosion problem for copper pipe."

The soil tests are next to worthless. Even the lab report points out the omission of the test sample locations. The basic point here is that only a sample of the sewer ditch itself is pertinent to the present installation's sufficiency and long term integrity; you do not have to be a professional engineer to appreciate this simple fact.

3. "Copper is a corrosion resistant metal commonly used in water systems for corrosion control."

Granted, but "corrosion resistant" does not mean it is impervious to corrosion. We can do things that enhance its corrosive propensity. A classic example is at hand: Copper pipe, surrounded by concentrated lime, in the form of limestone chips and static water, both of which constantly impinge on the exterior surface of the tubing resulting in accelerated corrosion.

4. "A sewer system is planned for Kitzmiller . . ."

We all know, that between planning and execution, especially where Government Agencies are concerned, an eon may pass with barely a notice. However, the installation of a sewer line does not eliminate our problem: The contaminates presently in the sewer ditch will remain in the ditch unless they are removed by dredging out the ditch and backfilling with uncontaminated soil—a far more expensive correction than simply encasing the line as it should have been in the first place.

5. "The system was designed by a registered-professional engineer."

Refer to paragraph 4, page one of this letter. I would still raise the question: Did the original plan intend the crossing of the sewer ditch with uninsulated copper pipe? Mr. Beitzel, we deserve a direct answer to this question.

6. "The design plans were reviewed and approved by the design-review engineering staff of the office of Environmental Programs of the Maryland State Health Department."

Good! But were they in possession of all the facts, and would they knowingly approve the deficient installation under the discussion here? I will give them the opportunity to respond directly to the pages of The Republican, for the benefit of all.

7. "The system was inspected by the engineering staff of Greenhorne and O'Mara—advised the district after reviewing the soil sample—(no) justification for encasement of the copper pipe."

The soil samples are at least as suspect as the installation itself. Decisions based on them should be rejected by any individual aware of the facts, as Mr. Beitzel obviously should be at this late date.

8. "The copper water service line is embedded in limestone material . . . Lime is often used in the water treatment process to adjust pH to control corrosion."

Agreed, but the lime additive is always in a highly diluted form, suited for ingestion in a potable water system. We're talking about lime in a concentrated form with the added problem of abrasive inpingement in this water line installation deficiency.

9. "If a leak would develop, the water line is under pressure. Treated water would escape from the pipe. The likelihood of contaminates entering the system is very remote . . ."

Mr. Beitzel seems not only to be promoting a questionable water system, but a fail safe system as well. Who among us has never experienced interrupted service from any utility? I would caution Mr. Beitzel that he is ignoring Mr. Murphy's first law: "If it can happen, it will!" But then Mr. Beitzel is not being forced to depend on the highly questionable Kitzmiller water system.

In closing this letter, but not the matter under review, I would suggest that Mr. Beitzel's qeury to the mayor, in the final paragraph of the October 3 article, is tantamount to an insult to all the residents of Kitzmiller in view of the decisions already made by the Sanitary District? Shades of George Orwell's 1984.

Resolutely,
James C. Brady

To the Editor:

I wish to compliment Paul Shockey and the Garrett County Roads Department for the fine job they have done repairing and lining our roads this season. As a frequent traveler of Garrett County Roads after dark, I greatly appreciate the improved surfaces and especially the center and side lines. I've already travelled many of the improved roads at night when it was quite foggy and I feel the roads are much safer.

Local Field Representative Explains Goals Of Natural Lands Trust

A move is underway by the Natural Lands Trust, Inc., a non-profit organization based in Philadelphia, Pa., to purchase 1,465 acres along the Youghiogheny River which is now owned by the Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec).

When news was first released concerning the project, it caused some controversy and questions by local citizens about just what the organization was and what it proposed to do with the property. Another question brought up by county officials concerned the possible loss of property tax revenue now paid by Penelec.

In response to these concerns, Keith A. Roberts met with The Republican staff recently to answer questions and explain the goals of the organization.

Roberts, a former Department of Natural Resources employee, recently left state employment and has been appointed the local field representative of The Natural Lands Trust (NLT) with an office in Friendsville.

The NLT is a private, non-profit corporation specializing in the acquisition and management of land for conservation purposes. According to Roberts, during the past year the trust has been doing a feasibility study to see if a private organization can help to preserve the natural and scenic qualities of the upper Youghiogheny River.

Roberts explained that all non-profit conservation organizations are not the same. He said that goals range from protecting ducks and fish or unique ecological areas or species to managing a specific trail or stretch of shoreline. Those methods range from lobbying for legislation and/or legal actions to simply gathering people with a common interest together to form their own organization.

He stated that the NLT focuses on preparation of a long range master plan for an individual's estate. This plan may be used to lower income, property, or inheritance taxes, or plan for a specific financial return, while designating a portion of a property that the owner wishes to protect.

"One of the reasons for NLT's involvement in Garrett County is its respect for private property rights." Roberts said. "NLT is attempting to find private sector solutions for preserving the Yough River that are sensitive to these rights, and this will not be accomplished by government regulations."

He went on to say, "NLT has no condemnation powers, no regulatory authority, it must

"MADGE!--MADGE? OH, GOOD--
I WAS AFRAID WE'D BEEN CUT OFF."

SIX INCHES OF MUD were deposited in the living room of Mrs. Pinkney Kimble during the flood Monday evening. The Kimbles reside in Shallmar near the North Branch. "We've never had anything like this," said Mrs. Kimble. She said about a foot of water rushed through her house Monday night doing extensive damage to the interior and exterior. She did not weep. She simply set about the task of cleaning up the muck and plans to make her home livable once more. The Kimbles were among the many residents who had to be evacuated by volunteer rescuers Monday evening.

Rabid Dog Found In Baltimore Co.

The second confirmed case of a rabid dog in the state of Maryland during the current rabies epidemic has been diagnosed in Baltimore County, according to Dr. Joseph T. Horman, D.V.M., Public Health Veterinarian, State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. The first case was confirmed in Montgomery County in 1984.

Local health department officials wish to bring to the readers' attention the fact that domestic pets are also susceptible to rabies. Even though the majority of rabies cases found are in wild animals, all household and domestic cats and dogs should be vaccinated.

The dog, a family pet kept in an outdoor pen, attacked and bit a 12 year-old boy who entered the pen to feed him, then bit the boy's older brother and another dog.

The two youths began post-exposure rabies shots on October 12. The dog that was bitten received a rabies booster since it was currently vaccinated.

The owners of the rabid dog could not verify if the animal had been vaccinated, because it had been given to them by a friend.

"Vaccination of family pets, both dogs and cats, is the best way to protect family members from rabies," Dr. Horman emphasized.

"Each pet owner should know exactly what the vaccination status of the animal is and should keep it current with the required booster shots," he said.

Whenever a dog or cat is known to have had a fight with a wild animal, it should be assumed that the wild animal is rabid, unless proven otherwise, Dr. Horman warned.

If it is absolutely necessary to handle the pet within hours of the attack, gloves should be worn to avoid possible indirect exposure.

The pet owner should immediately consult either the county animal control unit or the local health department on proper handling of the pet, the Public Health Veterinarian said.

FSC Professor Says Public Has Little Influence On Utility Rates

A Frostburg State College professor has found little support for the claim that the public plays a meaningful role in the rate setting process of utilities.

Dr. Michael Wallinger, in recent research on the nature and effectiveness of public argumentation in selected rate-setting hearings held by the Maryland Public Service Commission, maintains that the way decisions are currently made in utility regulation partially preempts the public domain, even though the PSC is legally required to solicit public comment.

Wallinger, based on intensive research on the inner workings of public utility rate hearings, challenges the idea that the hearings actually serve as a critical arbiter between consumer and investor interests. In a paper, "Argumentation in Utility Rate Hearings, Public Participation in a Hybrid Field," presented at a conference co-sponsored by the Speech Communication Association and the American Forensic Association hosted by the University of Utah, he suggests that the public's ultimate influence in rate settin is weak at best.

He and over 60 other scholars presented papers in the areas of legal argumentation, political debate, teaching argumentation and debate and argument and interpersonal communication.

Worse yet, the speech communication professor speculates the technical sphere of argument in the rate hearings seems to be expanding at the expense of the public sphere. He is candid about the scope of his research, limited to Maryland, and notes: "whether this commission is an anomaly or whether the same hybrid-field characteristics and problems extend to the broader area of regulatory agencies in general remains for further research." Yet his work has significance since nearly every state has a regulatory agency that exercises some control over the prices charged to consumers for gas and electricity.

At the heart of Wallinger's research is the type of decision making employed by the Public Service Commission. His remarks may receive attention because, in a sense, they affect everyone. Nearly everyone pays utility bills and while it may seem on the surface the public can influence the costs of energy through public hearings, Wallinger believes it may only look that way.

The type of argumentation, a mixture of public policy and legal fields of argument used in setting utility rates, is the chief reason there is so much public frustration and anger when the subject of rate hikes surfaces.

Most stages of the Maryland Public Service Commission proceedings seem to resemble the legal forum more than those of policy making. In a typical case, a utility company submits a formal application to the PSC for authority to charge their customers more for their service and provides pre-filed testimony of expert witnesses. Besides the PSC staff, the Office of the People's Counsel receives a copy of the company position and pre-files opposing arguments in which the utility's evidence and claims are either admitted, minimized or disclaimed. It is so legal, in fact, that PSC rules of procedure go as far as requiring that all parties, except individuals

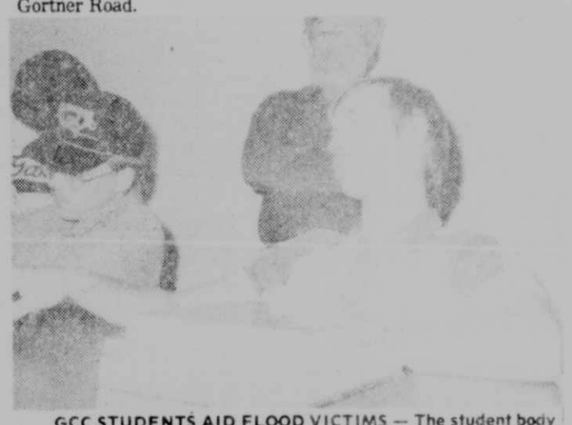
Irving Wolf Retires From Columbia Gas

Irving R. "Boots" Wolf, Mtn. Lake Park, town serviceman for Columbia Gas of Maryland at Cumberland, has retired following more than 37 years of service.

Wolf, a native of Oakland, joined the gas company there as a laborer in 1948. He later worked at Cumberland as a customer serviceman.

He is a member of the Episcopal Church.



He has three daughters, Judith Eye, Kathryn Barkley and Patricia Burgess, and three sons, Edward, Robert and Theodore.

Revival Services Slated In Gornter

Revival services will be held at the Gortner Union Church November 7-9, at 7:30 p.m. each evening, and also at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, November 10.

Millard Benner, Greenwood, Del., will be the speaker. There will be special singing at each service.

The church is located five miles south of Oakland along Gortner Road.

GCC STUDENTS AID FLOOD VICTIMS — The student body of Garrett Community College returned to full strength yesterday following two days of lowered attendance due to flooding and high water conditions. Pictured above is GCC student Jeff Hilton, Kempton, W.Va., who participated in rescue operations in West Virginia. Hilton described his experiences to the college's journalism class. Students from several other classes were also present, and added to the discussion. Members of the Outdoor Club are collecting canned goods, blankets, clothing, and other essentials for flood victims. A spokesman for the club said, "These rivers are a very special resource that provide many Garrett students with thrilling, memorable experiences. Those of us who love outdoor and river sports need to be there for the communities and citizens who share their treasures with us." A collection box for needed items has been placed in the college library for all citizens who wish to leave a donation

Spirit Week

The week of November 11-15 will be Spirit Week at SMS. Monday is Courtesy Day; Tuesday, Nerd Day; Wednesday, Clash Day; Thursday, Crazy Tie Day, and Friday, Red and White Day.

Featured Teacher

Our featured teacher this week is Mrs. Carolyn Updyke. Mrs. Updyke is a Garrett County native and was graduated from Southern High School in 1964. She went on to graduate from Bridgewater College in Virginia and has completed graduate work at both Frostburg State College and West Virginia University. She taught home economics for eight years at Southern and is now a Related Arts/Home Ec teacher at SMS, where she's enjoyed working for two years.

Mrs. Updyke is married to Dorris (Buzz) Updyke who is also from Oakland. He owns Monte Vista Computers and is presently working for Recreational Industries. They have two children, Brenden and Christa. Brenden is a freshman at Southern and Christa is a Seventh grader at SMS.

Mrs. Updyke's hobbies include swimming, reading and needlework.

You don't get a second chance to make a first impression.

Sure, food is important when people rate a restaurant. But, according to a Lebhar-Friedman research study, the most important factor was "clean glassware and silverware."

Most people won't complain about unclean glassware. They simply won't return. So you could be losing customers without knowing why!

Don't take the chance—install a Culligan water conditioner. It will help make your dishes, glasses and silverware spotless... and your customers happy. It will even save you money on soap.

Why not improve the flavor of your water, too? A Culligan drinking water system will make your water, coffee and other beverages taste better.

Improve the taste and appearance of everything you serve your customers. Call your Culligan dealer today for a water analysis.

spring. "This was just bad timing, but we'll do our best to get them a passable road for now," he said.

"As far as bridges go, we came out better than we expected," stated Shockey. "The Potomac Manor Bridge is the only bridge that will face major repairs."

He said that through an agreement made between the county and West Virginia back in the 1940's, the bridge is maintained by West Virginia and the county reimburses the cost. He expected to be in touch with W. Va. roads officials later in the week to work out an agreement on the bridge.

Many new, large storm culverts were tossed about carelessly by the swollen river and according to Shockey, each section will cost $6,000 to replace, not counting the cost of labor.

The administrator said people were very cooperative Monday night, citing Mark Fulk from Keystone Lime Company for donating barricades and lights for the many roads that had to be closed. He also commended Gerald Sword, manager of Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls State Parks, for offering manpower services to the roads department.

Power Restored

Many residents in the Kitzmiller-Shallmar area were without electric power and/or telephone service during the flood and its aftermath due to the raging waters tearing down utility poles and scattering the lines.

Jerry Kremer, area line superintendent of Potomac Edison, said all of the 75 residents who were without power in that area were temporarily reconnected as of Tuesday evening.

"It will take some time to complete the permanent repairs because of lines still underneath the flooded river," said Kremer.

The superintendent said two Potomac Edison crews had been sent to Oakmont, W. Va., to aid Monongahela Power in restoring electricity in that area.

It was also reported that several other areas were without power for a few hours in the county during the worst part of the flood Monday night.

Cleaning and Rebuilding

Although many county residents experienced flooded basements, homeowners in the Kitzmiller-Shallmar area are faced with replacing entire foundations, replacing sub-floors and at the very least, replacing damaged carpet and furniture.

Mrs. Pinkney Kimble, Shallmar, was busy Tuesday morning shoveling some six inches of mud from the main floor of her home after the swollen Potomac River had washed through it. Her freezer, full of meat and vegetables, which had been located in a storage building behind her home was located some 50 feet away. "I didn't want to leave my home on Monday night, but they made me. My daughter insisted that I stay with her in Loch Lynn," said Mrs. Kimble.

Jim Barrick, mayor of Kitzmiller, was busy with many other residents of that town Tuesday helping to turn off gas meters and rid what was left of East Main Street of debris.

"What was once a pretty little Main Street is now a pile of rubble," said the mayor.

Barrick said in the summer months the Potomac River could be jumped across. On Tuesday morning, the raging body of water measured nearly 200 yards across and was, according to the mayor, at least six feet above the flood level.

The entire lower end of downtown Kitzmiller was under water early Tuesday morning as was nearly the entire area of Shallmar.

One Kitzmiller resident took his car to Shallmar to look at the swelling waters on Monday evening and upon returning to it found it had been swept away by the river.

Shallmar residents said they had never experienced anything like the flood Monday night. "I was sitting in my home and heard a terrible noise and when I went outside it sounded like a tornado coming . . . the earth trembled like an earthquake," said one Shallmar man. "I knew then I had to gather up everyone and get them the hell out of here."

Another Shallmar resident said "It was the worst damn thing I've ever been through in my life and I've seen plenty."

"I just couldn't believe the force of the water," said Lena Turner of Kitzmiller. "First it took the tap off my well and threw the garbage can off my back porch and down the well."

Mrs. Turner's house was also flooded on the first floor damaging four rooms.

Not a single tear was evidenced in the towns of Kitzmiller and Shallmar. The residents were simply bent on getting the mud out and replacing their foundations, their porches and their possessions.

One elderly gentleman commented, "I've lived through two terrible floods down here, but this is the worst one I've ever seen."

Steve Newhouse of Kitzmiller, who lived on what was once known as East Main Street, lost over half of his basement and sustained considerable damage to the main floor of his home.

Although no homes were completely destroyed, Mayor Barrick said it could take months for those residents to rebuild.

As one town official said, "The shame of it is, we can't even get flood insurance here. Some of our possessions will be covered by our homeowner's insurance, but what it took a lifetime to build now has to be done all over again. With times the way they are, it's going to be darn tough."

State and Federal Aid?

Garrett County Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr., and Garrett County Stormwater Management director, Lee Thorn, were on the flood scene with Brad Frantz early Tuesday morning assessing the damage and the need for some form of aid in the clean-up operations.

Commissioners John Braskey and Elwood Groves II were also traveling through the other damaged areas in the county Tuesday to inspect water levels and washed-out roads.

The commissioners said Tuesday they were looking into the possibility of aid from Federal and State Emergency Management offices to aid in the clean-up of the Kitzmiller and Shallmar areas. On Wednesday, Frantz said help from the State Emergency Management office was forthcoming.

The commissioners also requested aid from the Maryland National Guard. Several men and pieces of equipment from the Guard did arrive in Kitzmiller on Tuesday evening to help scrape debris off the roads.

A State Flood and Hazard Mitigation team was due in the area yesterday to assess total damages in the county, according to the commissioners.

On Tuesday afternoon, the commissioners unanimously agreed to pronounce the county a "state of emergency."

Frantz said although the damage was extensive, there was not enough for a Presidential Declaration. "If Ocean City, which sustained considerable damage during the recent hurricane, was not eligible, I'm confident we're not," he stated.

"It will take some planning to overcome the strain on the county budget for the repairs caused by this flood," said Groves.

The National Weather Service is predicting sunshine for today which would be a great relief for those attempting to clean up and dry out.

After-Effects

Some of the after-effects of the flood have caused even more problems around the county.

Water contamination is reported in the Kitzmiller-Shallmar area, and residents who

Pope Completes 20th Marathon

Dr. William Pope, Mtn. Lake Park, completed his 20th marathon Sunday afternoon by participating in the annual Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D.C.

Pope finished the 26.2-mile course through the nation's capital in three hours, 15 minutes, and 30 seconds, which placed him in the upper 20 percent of the 11,000-plus runners in the event.

Winning the marathon was Cmdr. Thomas Bernard, of the U.S. Coast Guard, of Hayes, Va., with a time of 2:19:16. Natalie Updegrove, Richmond, Va., was the first woman to cross the finish line, with a time of 2:44:42.

Pope stated that the weather was rainy and rather cold, causing him and numerous other runners to have varying degrees of muscle cramping.

Evening High School Classes Begin Monday

The new evening high school classes, sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education, will begin this Monday evening, November 11, at both Southern and Northern High Schools.

Teachers have been selected and assigned to each school, according to John Ledden, coordinator of the program. The following courses will be offered: English 11, English 12 and Career/Employability IV.

English classes will meet two hours each evening for one credit and Career/Employability IV will meet one hour each evening for one-half credit. For certain persons who may qualify, additional credit may be arranged in conjunction with Career/Employability IV for supervised work experience.

Registration is still open for any one who desires to enroll in these classes. Persons may report to either high school today, November 7, from 6 to 9 p.m., or Monday, November 11. For more information persons may call Ledden at the Board of Education Office, 334-8121 or 895-3163.

about the possible closing of the school.

However, Ryscavage stated that the issue at hand was the three proposals, and the board would consider the Yoder School after a decision is reached about the re-districting.

Ryscavage mentioned that the proposals were made to use the schools to their best capacity, and were based on a 10-year projection of students. He said that once the renovation of Northern High School is completed, bus routes will have to be changed anyway, regardless of whether the proposals are approved or not.

Ryscavage stated that the first proposal would affect 11 students, the second, nine students, and the third, no students at the present.

The first proposal would draw the school district lines between Accident and Grantsville elementary schools so that the Grantsville School would retain its present area, but also include all students living on the Legeer Road, Beachy Road, Foxtown Road, Orendorf Road, Route 495 North from Rock Lodge Road, and the Frank Brenneman Road. The Accident Elementary School would, therefore, retain its present drawing area exclusive of these roads.

The second proposal would draw the school district lines between Accident and Friendsville elementary schools so that the Friendsville School would retain its present area, but also include all students living on the Milt DeWitt Road, Route 42 south to and including the Hubert Friend residence, Gap Run Road, the Sang Run Road between Bishoff Road and White Rock Road, and the Sang Run-Cranesville Road from the eastern edge of Garrett State Forest to the White Rock Road.

The Accident School would retain the remainder of its present area exclusive of these roads.

Lastly, it is proposed that the present attendance districts for Broad Ford and Dennett Road elementary schools be retained except that all of Mary Drive and any future streets south and off of Mary Drive be included in the Dennett Road Elementary School district.

are back in their homes are being cautioned to boil their drinking water or to obtain it from a safe source.

In the two days following the flood many towns throughout the county were asked to conserve water because of the overflow into the sewer systems. The systems could not handle the added strain and caused sewers to back up into homes.

Because of the sewer problems and road closings, Garrett County schools were closed Tuesday. Kitzmiller Elementary School remained closed Wednesday, but reopened today for those who could get to the school.

Many West Virginia and Allegany County schools remain closed today, largely due to the fact that the schools themselves were flooded with some being totally demolished by water damage.

Senior Citizens Providing Care To Home-Bound

Throughout Garrett County there are many people who are providing full-time, long-term care for the convalescent. Such care providers need temporary relief and time to tend to their own personal matters, according to a spokesman for the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging.

In order to meet this need, the Agency on Aging coordinated with the Garrett Community College and the Garrett County Health Department to teach eight area senior citizens how to respond to individuals needing assistance of this nature.

The skill areas covered in the course included bathing, massage, grooming, toiletry, dietary constraints and considerations, detecting and correcting dangerous and unhealthy situations, and communication skills with the client. Upon completion of training, the respite care workers will be available to come into the home and provide the necessary care for the convalescent or home-bound thereby relieving the full-time care provider. The respite care workers will be self-employed and will charge moderate fees for services rendered.

For more information about the Respite Care Program, persons may call the Agency on Aging at 334-3990.

Lands Trust

rely on successful negotiations between the trust and the landowner. It's a matter of company policy to make a donation in lieu of taxes which will help compensate local government and help foster a good attitude between the trust and the local community."

Roberts said, "NLT is a small, private business which is able to respond efficiently to the needs of neighboring owners and the community, as compared with the frustration many Garrett Countians have had dealing with government red tape.

"NLT is a management oriented organization and not strictly preservationist, it expects to create jobs within the community. They've set up an office in Friendsville, and hired me, a local resident, as field representative."

He explained that lands purchased by the NLT are still private property and, therefore, not under the same pressure for public access as if they were owned by the state. He felt this to be true particularly during special times such as hunting season when persons from outside the county expect and demand access to state lands. Being private property will make it easier for the trust to control use of the land and keep the river as it is.

NLT will also attempt to sell development easements to the state, thereby relinquishing its right to develop these properties and proving the trust's intent to keep these lands in their natural state, forever.

David P. Miller, the trust's regional director for Maryland and Delaware, was contacted at his office in Baltimore for some background information on NLT. The trust is based in Philadelphia, Pa., and was formed in 1961 by Philadelphia Conservationists, Inc., itself a private, non-profit organization formed in 1953 to preserve natural lands in the Mid--Atlantic area. The trust was created to specialize in the management of lands for conservation which Philadelphia Conservationists had acquired permanently. Since then, they have helped to preserve 40,000 acres of natural lands in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

The trust is funded by its own substantial endowment fund, donations of land and money, grants, and sale of its own lands, buildings, and development rights which it does not need for conservation projects. NLT will use its own funds and solicit donations from conservation-minded citizens and organizations to purchase lands which can be protected permanently only by private acquisition and conservation management.

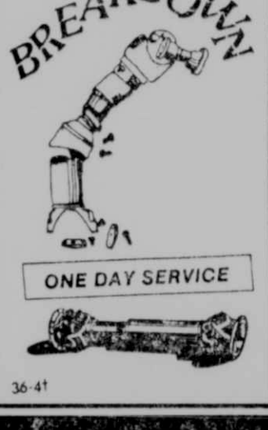
Miller was asked how the NLT planned to compensate the county in lieu of taxes. "This will be based on what we've done in other places, and on our negotiations with local officials. Obviously, we prefer not to pay any taxes, but we will try one way or another to compensate. In some parts of Pennsylvania we pay taxes."

When Miller was told that Penelec now pays approximately $2,000 per year on the property in question, and that may be the amount of compensation needed, he replied, "That figure doesn't stagger me."

Miller described the other property owned or managed by the NLT in Maryland. The project area consists of approximately 70 square miles located on the Sassafras River in Cecil County, comprised of land owned by NLT and more than 160 major landowners whose properties border on the Eastern Shore of the Chesapeake Bay. Included in this project is Mount Harmon, a 400-acre plantation bordering the Sassafras River.

The 18th century mansion is managed by the trust and is open to tour groups and individuals three days a week, with approximately 3,000 people passing through the mansion in a six-month period. Much of the land is scenic and on the water of either the Sassafras and Bohemia Rivers or the Chesapeake Bay. About 200 acres are tillable and are leased to local dairy farmers who raise alfalfa, soybeans, and other mixed hay.

Miller said that the property in Cecil County and the land they wish to purchase in Garrett County are very different, but the trust has similar goals for both the Maryland locations. "On the Yough," Miller said, "our goals are to maintain or improve the condition of the land, to preserve, to carry on uses of the land which will keep it the way it is, and not to introduce any uses which will change the corridor from the way it is now."



Miller backed up a statement made by Roberts, who said, "NLT hopes to prove all this, over time, by its actions, which will speak louder than any words which are printed in the paper or debated at political events."

Rams Dominate Bulldogs, 31-16, For Sixth Victory

The Southern High Rams rolled to their sixth win of the season in nine starts Friday evening as they blasted Bruce, 31-16, in Oakland. The Rams so dominated the Bulldogs in the first three quarters that Coach Tom Woods was able to play every one on the Southern roster, including the entire freshman team the second half of the fourth period.

The Rams kept the ball on the ground throughout the contest, piling up 306 yards, while holding the Bulldogs to 185 total yards of offense. Southern never once had to punt the ball, although they had two turnovers on six fumbles.

Bruce Bosley, who finished with 89 yards on 15 carries, put the first points on the board as he broke loose for an 11-yard scoring run in the first quarter. Quarterback Zack Gibson ran for the conversion.

Early in the second period, Gibson found some daylight and ran 19 yards in for the Rams' second touchdown, followed by another successful two-point conversion run, this time by Donnie Horner.

Southern struck again midway through the second quarter as Horner raced into the end zone from 16 yards out. J.R. Bosley's run for the extra points gave the Rams a 24-0 halftime advantage.

Just before halftime Southern mounted another drive and seemed destined for a fourth touchdown, however a fumble on the Bulldogs' 12-yard line took away that opportunity.

The Rams recorded their final touchdown of the evening in the third period when fullback John Lewis crashed over from the one. Gbson kicked the extra point, giving Southern a 31-0 lead.

Most of the Southern jayvee team was then put into the game by Coach Woods and then midway through the fourth quarter, the entire freshmen squad was utilized and played the remainder of the game.

Bruce was able to move the ball against the younger Rams, as Dave Shaw recorded a pair of touchdowns, both on runs from the two-yard line. Brian Paul ran for both conversions to complete the scoring.

It was the sixth loss of the campaign for the Bulldogs, against three victories.

Leading the Southern defensive unit were J.R. Bosley, Chuck Fitzwater, and Gary Wotring.

"The most pleasing thing about this game was that we were able to play all 61 of our kids," stated Woods.

He called the win a "team effort", and did not single out any performance by specific players. "I prefer to have the entire team play a good game instead of three or four players having outstanding games," Woods said.

"With the excepion of that fumble, I was very happy with our play in the first half," he noted. "Another positive aspect of the game is that the new things we tried with our two-point conversions worked." The Rams attempt the two-pointers over ninety percent of the time, but had missed several in recent games.

The Rams will wrap up their season this Friday at Northern (see separate story).

Huskies Lose Game Plus Quarterback Kevin Sines

The Northern High Huskies lost far more than the game Friday evening, as they went down to their eighth straight defeat of the campaign, 24-6, against visiting West Preston.

Senior quarterback Kevin Sines, one of the top athletes in the area, was seriously injured on the Huskies' first drive of the game as he was hit by three West Preston players on a quarterback sneak. Sines sustained a dislocated knee, which caused torn ligaments and nerve damage, sending him first to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland and then on to Baltimore for special surgery. The Cumberland surgeon that examined him called his injury one of the worst he had ever seen.

It was only the second win of the season for the West Virginians, who were led by Ted Woyenski as he rushed for 147 yards on 21 carries and scored all four touchdowns.

The Huskies kicked off and held West Preston, forcing them to punt. Sines then led a drive down to the visitors' ten-yard line, where he was injured on the next play. They then turned the ball over on downs.

Northern again stopped West Preston and resumed possession of the ball on a punt. Wayne Tabor, who moved into the quarterback position for Sines, then hit Dennis Hetrick with a 47-yard scoring toss, giving the Huskies a 6-0 lead. The kick for the extra point failed.

From that point on it was all Woyenski, who scored once in each quarter on runs of 19, 62, 11, and four yards, respectively. All four kicks for the extra point failed.

The Huskies were out-gained in total offense, 285-162, as windy and wet conditions made passing difficult for both teams. Rodney Lipscomb paced the Huskies ground attack with 87 yards on 21 carries, while Matt Eggleston led the defensive effort with 18 solo and assist tackles.

Eggleston was named defensive player of the game, Tabor earned the offensive player of the game for his efforts at quarterback, and Lipscomb, who had a successful night punting the ball, despite the wind, was named specialty player of the game.

"We really got off balance after Kevin's injury and with the weather conditons," Coach Jack Settle stated. "But Wayne (Tabor) really did a nice job for us at quarterback. It was a tough situation for him, having to play nearly four quarters in an unfamiliar position, especially with the strong wind and wet conditions." Both teams were tagged for one interception, however neither lost the ball by way of fumbles.

Northern's last opportunity to pick up a win this season will be this Friday evening at home against Southern (see separate story).

I Said A Prayer For You Today

I said a prayer for you today, and know God must have heard—
I felt the answer in my heart, although He spoke no word.
I didn't ask for wealth or fame, I knew you wouldn't mind,
I asked Him to send treasures of a far more lasting kind.
I asked that He'd be near you at the start of each day,
To grant you health and blessings and friends to share your way.
I asked for happiness for you in all things great and small—
But it was for His loving care I prayed the most of all.

Missing you,
Love, Amy Buser

Lady Huskies Warm Up For Playoffs With Wins Over Flintstone, Southern

The Northern High girls varsity volleyball team finished its regular season with two wins over Flintstone and Southern to register the best season record in the school's history. They will take their 14-1 record to Fort Hill tonight for District I, Class C playoffs.

The Lady Huskies crushed the Flintstone Aggies in three straight games, 15-0, 15-4, and 15-3. Leading scorer for Northern was Missy Durst with 20 service points, including four ace serves and one game point. Amy Swauger added 10 points, while Jenny Dailey and Tammy Swauger chipped with eight and seven respectively. Dailey and Amy Swauger each added game points.

The offensive attack was led by the powerful spiking of Julie Robeson, who recorded nine killer spikes and 11 attack spikes. Dailey, Amy Swauger, and Tammy Swauger also contributed to the attack with 21 spikes between them.

Defensively, Sherri Frantz, Janie Friend, and Laura Sines were backline standouts, while Robeson, both Swaugers, and Dailey exhibited strong net play.

Northern's jayvees kept pace with the varsity by defeating its Flintstone counterparts in two straight games, 15-8 and 15-2. Offensive leaders for the Little Huskies were Sonya Yelovich with 14 points, including three aces, and Darlene Seaman with six points. Defensive play was led by Kim Frantz, Shayne Couch, Dona Stanton, and Debbie Rounds at the net and Yommer and Lisa Swauger in the backline.

The Huskies took on cross-county rival Southern on Tuesday, and, for the second time this year, defeated the Rams in three straight games, 15-7, 15-8, and 15-11. "This was a typical Northern-Southern matchup. Both teams played extremely hard and executed well. This was a good tune-up for both our respective district championship matches," stated Coach Vonda Yunker. "Our kids were sky high and yet under control. I can't say enough about the play of Amy Swauger at the net tonight. This had to be the best game she's every played," added Yunker.

HEADED FOR DISTRICT PLAYOFFS at Damascus High School this weekend are the members of the Southern High School varsity girls volleyball team, which has posted an 8-5 season record. In the photo, left to right, kneeling, are Debbie Bateman, Cathy Kimble, Cheryl Wilt, Kendra Stemple, Lisa Dever, and Marti Vance. Standing, same order, are Amy Vance, scorekeeper; Robin Tasker, Leslie Ellis, Chris Gregory, Stacy Sines, Stephanie Lewis, Cathy Wilson, Kelly Evans, and Joy Thrasher. Coach of the Lady Rams is Helen Rostosky.

Leading scorers for the Lady Huskies were Julie Robeson with 13 service points, including three aces, and Jenny Dailey with 12 points including two aces and two game points. Karen Frank added another game point to her career total. Missy Durst and Janie Friend each registered two aces.

Offensive power was provided by Amy Swauger, who had five killer spikes and seven attack spikes, Tammy Swauger with two kills and six attack spikes, and Julie Robeson with two kills and six attack spikes. Jenny Dailey added six spikes to Northern's power attack.

Defensively, Amy Swauger, Jenny Dailey, and Julie Robeson each recorded five blocks. Saves were registered by Laura Sines, Janie Friend, Dailey, and Missy Durst. Durst had two digs, while Sherri Frantz, Karen Frank, and Friend had one each.

Leading the Lady Rams in scoring was Leslie Ellis, who finished with 13 points.

"Both teams seemed to be equally matched," stated Southern coach, Helen Rostosky, "but mental errors helped us in our loss." Southern finished the regular season with an 8-5 record.

Northern's jayvees avenged an earlier loss to the Rams by defeating Southern in the best two out of three games, losing the first game, 10-15, but coming back and winning the next two, 15-7 and 16-14.

Offensive leaders for the Little Huskies were Sonya Yelovich with 13 service points, including four aces, Lisa Swauger with nine points and four aces, Darlene Seaman with six points and one ace, and Julie Yommer with six points and two aces. The Husky defense was led by Dona Stanton, Shayne Couch, Kim Frantz, and Debbie Rounds at the net and Yommer, Seaman, Swauger, and Yelovich in the backline. Northern's jayvees finished their season with an 8-2 record.

Pacing the Southern jayvees was Kelly Evans, who recorded 13 points.

The Northern varsity is now gearing up for the District One Class C Championship competition. Northern is the seeded team behind 10-0 Mt. Savage. Rounding out the district competition are Beall and Clear Spring. The championships will begin at Ft. Hill this evening at 5:30.

Southern will travel to Damascus High School this Saturday, November 9, for Class B District playoffs. Each of the four teams will play six matches, with the winner advancing to the state playoffs on November 15.

This is Southern's second trip to the playoffs in four years.

Raiders Upset By Rams For League Title

The Thomas/Davis Rams ended a winning streak of the Oakland Raiders which spanned 21 games by capturing the Mt. Top Youth Football League championship October 26 in Oakland. A safety in the first quarter by the Rams was the only score of the evening, as both teams produced outstanding defensive efforts on a wet field.

The Raiders, who were favored to win the championship again this year, earned a spot in the finals by winning the Maryland division of the league, while the Rams took the West Virginia league title.

Although the Rams lost to the Raiders and Terra Alta Dolphins early in the season, they showed steady improvement during the past several weeks.

The Ram defensive unit held the powerful Raider offense, led by Bobby Orr and Mike Hornyak, to just 71 total yards. Seven Raider turnovers via fumbles and interceptions also aided the West Virginians.

Oakland's defense also kept the Ram offense from reaching the end zone, as Rob Moyer, Hornyak, Kevin Lohr, Mike Dever, Chad Ward, and Jack Fitzwater led the tackling. Fitzwater finished with nine assists and a quarterback sack.

Raider head coach, Jim Shaffer, gave much credit to his coaching staff for the success of the team this year. "Lewis Marks, Ron and Wayne Bosley, and Greg Shockey (assistant coaches) provided the long hours, patience, and teaching necessary to bring the Raiders to the championship game," he said.

He also credited the older players on the squad for providing "leadership and a competitive spirit to maintain our winning streak and another undefeated regular season." Those who finished their last season in the youth league are Moyer, Mondo Polce, Mike Fulmer, Hornyak, Orr, Andy Helbig, Lohr, Dever, Eddie Friend, Jim Schrock, and Fitzwater.

Others mentioned by Shaffer as contributing to the success of the Raiders were the cheerleaders, including Amy Buser, captain; Jeanine Shank, co-captain; Leah Miller, Jessica Gracie, Heather Savage, Kathy Gibson, Sheila Butt, Leslie Liller, Tami Carter, Missy White, and Bryanne Miller, mascot. The advisor was Bunny Shank, assisted by Judy Miller.

Others contributing to the program noted by Shaffer were The Republican Newspaper, the Oakland Coca-Cola Bottling Plant, the Southern Garrett Athletic Association, the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Browning's Foodland, Ralph's Richfood, C.P. Martin and Son, the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, Tom Woods, athletic director at Southern, Linda Ritchey and Charlotte Ward, who managed the concession stand, and all of the parents who supported the Raiders.

Rams, Huskies Prepare For Annual Showdown

Over the past five years, the Southern Rams and Northern Huskies have traded victories on the football field, and ironically neither team has won on its own field since 1980 when the Rams won in Oakland, 6-0.

Every game between Coach Tom Woods of Southern and Coach Jack Settle has been a close one, despite the record of success coming into the game. The Rams won at Northern in 1981 by only two points, 20-18, although they were heavily favored. Northern bounced back in 1982 with a 14-10 victory in Oakland. The Rams went back to the Cove in 1983 to record a 12-0 win and last year, the Huskies went to Oakland and recorded one of the biggest upsets in the history of either school, 21-16. The teams will face each other again this Friday evening at Northern.

No one will recall more clearly the 1984 contest than Woods and Settle, the former with pain and the latter with elation. The Rams were 9-0 on the season and had already clinched a state playoff berth. The Huskies came into the game with a 2-7 record, and had lost by huge margins to teams that the Rams easily defeated.

"That was just a devastating loss for us," Woods stated, "one that I will never get over. By comparing just two scores with a common team last year, we were 92 points better than Northern, and yet we lost the game, 21-16. They were so well prepared and came in with such intensity, that we were outplayed every second of that game."

Coach Settle stated, "It was one of those games where our game plan, which always works on paper, was executed perfectly on the field as well, which is what every team tries to do every week. The pieces really fell together for us that night."

Once again, the Rams will enter this contest as the heavy favorite with their 6-3 record, while the Huskies have yet to win in eight starts.

"As far as I'm concerned, we are dead even," Woods said. "If there was ever any doubt in my mind before last year's game, there will never, ever be a time when I will go into a game expecting to be better team than anyone else."

Woods proceeded to comment on specific Northern players that he expects will perform well this week against his team.

"Bill Friend (6-2, 225) is one of the finest players in the area," he said. "He gave us a lot of trouble last year and we really don't have anyone to match his ability. We are going to have to double-team him.

"Matt Eggleston (6-2, 185) and Dennis Hetrick (5-11, 215) are outstanding linebackers and Rodney Lipscomb (5-10, 163-pound sophomore) is a solid defensive back," he continued. "They have two fine tackles in Bob Green (6-1, 240) and Fred Glotfelty (6-1, 299), Eggleston is one of the finest centers I've ever seen, Hetrick has the ability to go deep, and Lipscomb is a fine tailback. He runs hard, with aggressiveness and quickness. Jeff Beitzel is also a good fullback."

In commenting on the loss of Sines, Woods said the game film showed rather vividly how serious the knee injury was. "It really almost makes you sick to see it," he said. "Kevin Sines is a fine athlete and has played well for the past three years. Although they are going to miss him, I think Wayne Tabor will do a more than adequate job as quarterback. He did very well last week against West Preston, and although it's almost impossible to replace someone with Sines' ability, they could sure do a whole lot worse than Tabor. He's a good, steady athlete."

Woods said he believes Northern's biggest problems this year have been inconsistency and hard luck. "They seem to have a lot of games where two or three players have outstanding games, but they don't get strong team performances. Then the next week two or three different players might have a good game, while the strong players from the previous week will be off.

"The films show that Northern has also had a lot of hard luck," he continued. "They have had numerous penalties and fumbles right at critical times. I think with just some good fortune, Northern could eaily be a 500 team."

Settle says he can find no significant weaknesses in the Southern squad. "The games they have lost have been to some excellent teams," he said. "They have an outstanding running game, and even though they have been more run oriented lately, they have the ability to throw the ball also.

"They have an excellent corps of running backs in Zack Gibson, the Bosleys (Bruce and J.R.), Donnie Horner, and Steve Schrock," he continued, "and their tackles (Jay Stewart and Warren Livengood) are strong and have above average quickness."

Settle's biggest concern, however, is the Rams' overall team quickness. "There is no question they have a lot more foot speed than we do, which has been our biggest problem all year. We just don't have the speed for the big offensive play, nor the defensive speed to stop our opponents' big plays. We seem to be able to get people open on offense, but then they can't break free to score. We are averaging about 200 yards per game, but only six points per game."

Settle said that Woods' off-season training program has really been effective in the Rams' success. "Their strength, quickness, and agility, plus the fact they have so many kids out for football, says a lot about their training program," he said.

"If we win this year, it will be an even bigger upset than last year," Settle said. "We simply do not have the same calibre team. But we have a game plan and we will do our best to use it and at least make our kids aware of what they can expect from Southern."

The game will be the last for Settle as head coach of the Huskies, as he has accepted a guidance counselor position at Northern Middle School. He stated that it was a difficult decision for him, but felt it was a career move he had to make.

"I really hate to see Jack get out of coaching," stated Woods. "I have great respect for his coaching abilities and especially his leadership capabilities, both on and off the field. He is just a very fine person and, I think, will really be missed.

"His resignation will probably add fuel to the fire for his players, too, which doesn't make our job any easier this week," he said.

"One of my biggest joys in coaching," Settle said, "is preparing for Tom Woods' teams. Tom's program is one of the finest in the state and it's a great challenge to see how well you can do against his teams. I have the utmost respect for him as a coach and a person."

Woods stated that Monday's practice consisted of "watching every second of last year's game with Northern."

"We have had to live with that loss for 365 days now, which is a real motivation for us this year," he said. "We are going to watch the film again before the game. While I was really happy for Northern last year, that did little to take away the sting of that loss.

"We are also going to attempt to go into this game with more intensity than in previous Northern games," he said. "Northern always comes into this game really fired up and ready to play. Unlike the past few years, we know this is our last game this season, and a win will mean a whole lot to us. A 7-3 season is a pretty good year. But a 6-4 season is just average."

The Rams will be without the services of fullback/linebacker John Lewis, who re-injured his knee this week, and Doug Evans, also out with a knee injury.

Sines is the only Northern player who is sidelined.

Kickoff is slated for 7:30 p.m. at Northern.

Archery Turkey Shoot Scheduled At Herrington

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service has scheduled its first archery turkey shoot at Herrington Manor State Park for this Sunday November 10, starting at 1 p.m. A $2.00 per shot registration fee is required.

This is the first archery turkey shoot ever to be held in a Maryland State Park, according to Gerald Sword, park manager. The first prize for each of the first four shoots will be an average-size turkey. Any registration fee money remaining over and above the cost of the turkeys and targets will be the prize for the final shoot. All registered shooters qualify for the final shoot.

Rules for this event are as follows:

1. Final registration and the first shoot will begin at 1 p.m.

2. Each person registering will: a) pay a $2.00 registration fee; b) sign one of the targets numbered 1-15.

3. Shooters will be allowed one (1) minute after being called to the line to shoot one (1) arrow at their signed target.

4. All shots will be from the thirty (30) yard line.

5. Only the following equipment will be permitted: a) target tip arrows; b) compound bows, long bows and recurve bows. Note: For those unable to use a regular bow, a crossbow may be used. The DNR Crossbow permit must be in possession. All permits will be checked by the ranger in charge.

6. All persons registered for any one of the above shoots will automatically qualify for the final shoot.

7. Of the 15 targets shot at, the arrow shot closest to dead center will be the winning score for each round. Those archers judged to have a tied score in any one round will reshoot to break the tie. A designated park official will judge all scores. His/her decision will be final.

U.S. Senator Sarbanes Comments On Farm Bill While Visiting Area

U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes visited Grantsville on Saturday to discuss national and international events with constituents and assist them with any problems they might be having with the federal government. He also took time to speak to local news media and answer questions about a number of topics. Questions asked by The Republican centered on agricultural issues and the 1985 Farm Bill. The following are Sen. Sarbanes' comments made during that interview.

Question: How do you feel about the proposed amendment, made by Senators Hawkins, Moynihan, and Chaffee, to the dairy title which would reduce the dairy price support by 50 cents per hundredweight on January 1, 1986?

Sarbanes: You don't develop dairy herds over night. You can't come at people who have to think in longer time periods, at least as I see it, and put them in that kind of bind. I think what has to be appreciated is that you can't go in and out of dairy on some sort of overnight basis. And there's a very significant investment involved. You can't expect people to lose that investment over a short-run, and if you need them in the middle run, expect them to appear on the scene. It just doesn't work that way. It's not square with the realities of how the industry works. I think we have to be sensitive to that.

"Have all the demands for food been satisfied?"

Question: I think some farmers feel, right now, that this is the end of the line. Over production can put them out of business, but how does a good farmer not produce to the best of his ability. They either have to do that or get out. That's where many farmers feel they are right now. Do you see the situation the same way?

Sarbanes: That's a reasonable question, but it really leads into the next approach which is to say - have all the demands for food been satisfied? It's hard to conclude that it has. Helms was trying at one point, he didn't succeed, to cut the food stamp program by significant amounts. Now the food stamp program, putting aside abuses in the program which obviously ought not to be there, the program itself may have a worthy objective, and that is to insure a reasonable diet for our people. And of course, it has the additional benefit of providing an outlet for agricultural products. Now in a way, you can think in those terms broadly, in terms of the international food situation, so I'm not sure you've reached the point where you can say there's no place where you can have additional demand. In other words, that you have fully met all of the possible demand that is out there.

For dairy I think that you have the additional situation. . . I don't know how you'd achieve this, it would really require some marketing and a shift in people's taste. . . without naming the other products, there are a lot of things that people partake of that has a far less nutritional value than dairy products have.

"I don't accept the proposition that people are at the end of the line."

And so, you have two potential markets. One is for people that have fallen short of the standards or don't have access to nutritional foods. That then becomes an outlet for the producer. The other is to shift people off the non-nutritional products over to dairy, which is in itself a fairly significant market in this country and abroad, but particularly in this country. So I don't accept the proposition that people are at the end of the line.

"We're being taken advantage of, and that ought to be put to an end."

Secondly, even to the extent that that may be the case, the transition, if there's going to be one, has to be accomplished with a degree of understanding and sensitivity. And I don't think that's being done either. I think you have a number of approaches you can use.

Question: I think one thing that is very hard for the average person, the average farmer, to understand is everything that you have to deal with when you're working with the bill. We might think that there should be fewer imports and more exports. But you just finished discussing the cargo preference, and you had to deal with agriculture and the maritime industry as well, from the Great Lakes and also from the port of Baltimore . . .

Sarbanes: Well, another thing even on agricultural products, one line of agriculture says that we don't want these imports, and then another line of agriculture says that exports are the most important thing to us. Don't cut down on imports because then the other side will cut down on exports and we won't be able to sell our product abroad.

I think the one thing that we ought to be pushing very hard for is fairer terms of trade. And they keep talking about free trade, but the fact of the matter is that the access others have into the American market is much more open and easy than the access that we frequently have into their market. So these other countries are able to move their products in our market with very little trouble or difficulty, but when we seek to do the same, I mean not in all instances, but in many instances, we encounter many obstacles. So you don't have a two-way street. And the consequences of not being a two-way street is, in a sense, we're being taken advantage of, and that ought to be put to an end.

Equine Seminar Scheduled At Canaan Valley

A second equine seminar has been seheduled by the Canaan Ride Management team, sponsored by the Tucker County Alpine Festival with assistance from the West Virginia Department of Agriculture. The seminar will be held in Canaan Valley, near Davis, W.Va., on November 9 and 10.

Seminar registration includes a banquet Saturday evening to be followed by a dance with the "Smoky River Breakdown" group of Cumberland. This group placed first during the annual Canaan Vale Country Music Championship, and have opened for such entertainers as Tanya Tucker, Tom T. Hall, and Jerry Reed. The dance will begin at 9:30 p.m. and the public is invited. For pre-registration and seminar information, persons may write to Alpine Festival, Box 565, Davis, W.Va. 26260.

Guest speakers will include Dr. Kent Vasco, who received his D.V.M. degree from Ohio State University. Dr. Vasco has written several papers and books on equine medicine. He now maintains a nationwide horse practice and is currently a member of the veterinary staff of the United States Equestrian Team. Dr. Vasco's seminar topics will be conditioning analysis and conditioning of the sporting horse and structure and stress.

Dr. James Radclife, a graduate of Purdue University, currently maintains a large and small animal practice in Wheeling, W.Va., and will discuss equine behavior and stallion care.

Donna Shrader of Freeport, Pa., has managed the Pennsylvania Appaloosa Association's 50-mile competitive trail ride for the past seven years, and has ridden 2,000 miles in competitive and endurance rides to date. Shrader has been an ECTRA certified judge for the past seven years. Her subjects will be competitive trail rides and tack and equipment for the competitive trail horse and rider.

Dr. Shauna Spurlock, graduate of Ohio State University and presently an associate professor of equine internal medicine at the Marion DuPont Scott Medical Center. Dr. Spurlock will discuss equine surgery.

Saddlery will be the seminar topic of Randy Aldrich from Colorado. He received a bachelor's degree in animal science from Colorado State University, and is also a graduate and past instructor of the J.M. Saddlemaking School in South Dakota. Aldrich is presently teaching saddle making at the Meredith Manor School of Horsemanship in Waverly, W.Va.

Dr. Ronald Thompson will discuss care of the broodmare and care of the foal. Dr. Thompson is a graduate of Ohio State University, currently operating a mixed practice in Fairmont, W.Va., with primary interest in providing quality service for horse owners.

Farm Bill Review

. . . . . A Garrett County Viewpoint

by Bernice Kepple

A delay developed in the Senate's debate of its version of the 1985 Farm Bill early in the week when Senator Zorinsky (D-Neb.) was rushed to the hospital with chest pains. Zorinsky is the ranking Democrat on the Senate's Ag Committee and manages the bill on the floor for that party. Word was received by the Senate that Zorinsky had not suffered a heart attack, but it is not known when he will be able to return to the debate. Feeling that it would not be right to proceed without the Democratic senator who has perhaps the most knowledge of the farm bill, it was decided to wait for him to return to continue any meaningful discussion of the issue. If, however, he is not able to return soon, a substitute may be named to lead Democrats in the Senate.

Senator Robert Dole has proposed an amendment putting a flexible scale of target price levels on wheat. In this amendment, Dole proposes to get away from the four-year target price freeze contained in the Senate bill. That target price is not based on market price now, and by 1989 no one knows how unrealistic that frozen target price may be. Dole's proposal would make the 1986 target price on wheat, for farmers who cut their wheat acreage by 15 percent, $4.20 per bushel. For farmers who cut their wheat acreage by 40 percent, the target price would be $5.50. These target price levels would gradually decrease to nothing in 1989. The objective of Dole's amendment is to counter those who would freeze prices for four years. Richard Weston, legislative aide to Sen. Charles McC. Mathias (R-Md.), reported that a test vote taken on the amendment gave a signal that the majority has the votes to limit the freeze to one year instead of four years.

The 45-day extension given to the current farm program by Congress, intended to give them time to work out a new farm bill, will end on November 15. At this point it doesn't look as if a 1985 Farm Bill can possibly be completed by then and they will have to extend the extension again.

A New Face At The New Team In Town!

Fred T. Fulk has assumed the duties of Finance and Insurance Manager. Fred has a very interesting background. He graduated from Southern High School in 1970, then joined the Navy, where he specialized in air conditioning. After an eight-year stint in the armed forces, he became employed at Mettiki Coal Corporation, where he worked for the next 5½ years. He now works full time at Team One and is totally responsible for all aspects of finance leasing and warranties.

Maryland Corn Forecast At 65 Million Bushels

Corn growers in Maryland expect to produce 65,000,000 bushels of corn for grain in 1985, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's September crop production report. The production compares with the 69,620,000 bushel total in 1984 and 37,060,000 bushels in 1983.

Maryland producers expect to average 100 bushels per acre this year, compared with 118 last year.

"Corn loans will be available for farmers who participated in the 1985 farm programs," Olin S. Davis Jr., chairman, Maryland State ASC Committee said. The loan rate is $2.62 per bushel. He said these farmers may wish to store their corn crop after harvest to take advantage of future price increases. If so, a price support loan will provide them with operating cash at this time. The stored grain serves as security.

State corn growers expect to harvest 650,000 acres of corn in 1985, compared with the total 590,000 acres harvested in 1984.

Davis noted that nationally, the USDA forecast showed a record 8.60 billion bushel production this year, based on an October 1 survey. The figure is up 12 percent from last year and 4 percent higher than the previous record set in 1982. Average yield per acre is predicted at a record 115.1 bushels per acre, up from 106.6 bushels per acre in 1984.

Soil Sampling in No-Tillage Cropping

The point I would like to make in this bit of information is that your soil test results may be misleading. In Maryland, as well as many other areas, lime and P & K fertilizer recommendations are developed on the basis of soil test pH and available P & K levels in the samples you select for analysis. Most often the sample is a representative of 0-8 inches (plow-depth); however, in continuous no-till cropping we are broadcasting the bulk of the fertilizer on top of the soil. In such cases where the soil has not been plowed for two or more years, it is highly likely that nutrient levels, and particularly soil pH will become stratified in the soil. In these fields I feel that it is important that you have at least two samples analyzed. One sample from the top 2" of soil and the other representing the regular plow depth. Frequently the top 2" of soil is lower in pH mainly due to leaching and high applications of nitrogen. Ineffective weed control can be a serious problem if the proper pH level is not maintained in the top 2" where most of the weed seeds are that will germinate. In conclusion, make sure you have a good representation of your nutrient levels. Also this is a good time of the year to collect soil samples.

Fall Seeding Alfalfa

Each year I become convinced that fall seeding of alfalfa produces a superior stand compared to spring seedings. This fall I saw a lot of good alfalfa stands, particularly the alfalfa seeded over small grain stubble. There are a couple of good reasons. First of all, there is far less weed competition in the fall and secondly, the soil is generally warmer and drier.

Beef and Dairy Health Demonstrations - Wednesday, November 13th

Tom Boggess, manager of the Grantsville Southern States Store, would like to invite the beef and dairy farmers to a special Herd Health Demonstration Program on Wednesday, November 13. Looks like Tom has a good program lined up. The schedule is as follows: Beef Farmers—10 a.m. at Leo Miller's Farm located at Jennings, Md., off Rt. 495 South of Grantsville. Dairy Farmers—1:30 p.m. at Simon Tice's Farm on Springs Road, North of Grantsville (300 yards North of Southern States Store, on right). Free lunch for everyone at the Grantsville Store at 12 noon (Call store for lunch reservations at 895-5183). The programs will be presented by Gene Barefoot of Anchor Laboratories and Dr. Teddi Wolfe of American Cyanamid Company. For more information you may contact the Grantsville Southern States Store.

Flooding Forces Area Farmers To Dump Milk

For the first time ever, Tablelands Milk Producers, Inc., of Oakland, remained closed on a regular business day, Tuesday, due to conditions caused by flooding in the area. None of the employees could reach the dairy. Manager Eugene Matthews, who was isolated on his farm on the Underwood Road, said, "We hated to do that, but it just couldn't be helped."

Matthews reported that there are 15 farmers who can not be reached in the Petersburg, Moorefield, and Franklin, W.Va., area. He added that it looked unlikely that they will be able to reach them for at least a week due to the lack of bridges and roads in those areas.

Those farmers are faced with dumping their milk, not only because of a lack of storage space, but because after four days, the milk is not fresh enough to be used.

Due to the flooding conditions in other parts of the area, the dairy is two days behind on all its other routes also.

"It's a costly operation for everyone," Matthews said. "The tanker that hauls the milk out of the Oakland plant holds 50,000 pounds of milk. It left here yesterday with only half, 25,000 pounds, of the regular shipment, and the hauling cost is the same as for a full load."

Matthews told of a farmer from the Petersburg area who was able to walk overland from his farm and get a ride to Oakland. That farmer made arrangements with the dairy to pick up his milk, in cans, at a point near his farm that he can reach with his tractor and cart. The dairy plans to try to pick his milk up each day, and should be able to save all that farmer's milk although he has already been forced to dump one bulk tank full.

That farmer has an additional problem. He has 20,000 turkeys on his farm and has depleted his feed supply. Matthews has arranged for the dairy's truck to haul him a load of corn each time it attempts to pick up his milk, hoping to ease the problem somewhat.

Matthews has tried to reach all of these farmers, but communications are still cut off in many of the hardest-hit areas. Those farmers he has been able to reach, he has encouraged to stay calm, even if they find it necessary to dump some of their milk. "The crisis is going to pass," he said, "and we'll do everything in our power to help them get their milk in on schedule."

Farm Entered Into Preservation Program

By an unanimous vote on Tuesday, the Garrett County Commissioners entered the farm property owned by Peter and Judith Brown into the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Program.

The Browns had appeared before the county planning administrator, John Nelson, and two public hearings called by the commissioners to ask for approval of their application to enter their 205.8 acre farm , located near Avilton, into the program.

The application was made by the Browns in order to preserve their farm for the production of agriculture. The program's purpose is to keep prime agricultural land from being developed, and the property had to meet certain requirements to be eligible.

The acceptance of the Brown's farm makes 3,500 total acres in Garrett County that have been voluntarily entered into the program by their owners.

Farmer/Members Travel To Agway Annual Meeting

Six farmer-members from Oakland Agway were among several thousand Agway members who attended the Agway Annual Meeting in Syracuse, New York, October 24 and 25.

They heard William A. Hiller, Agway president and general manager, report consolidated sales of over $4 billion for the second year and improved earnings of $14.1 million compared with $11.8 million a year ago.

Richard Croner, Agway chairman, recognized 180 young farm couples who are moving into leadership positions in their local communities. He commented on the financial strength of Agway and called on members to make use of their cooperative in their farming operations.

Many members attended a seminar on "Northeast Agriculture - Issues of the 80's" presented by Agway marketing and research and development experts. Several thousand farmers attended the farm show which featured Agway products and services. There were displays of Agway's new pelleted horse feed and Pro:Right RC dairy feeds and hands-on demonstrations on farm computers and many other products for farm and home.

Six directors were elected to the 18-member board. They included incumbents Richard C. Call of Batavia, N.Y.; Eugene Freund of East Canaan, Ct.; Ralph H. Heffner of Pine Grove, Pa.; Frederick A. Hough of Augusta, N.J.; and Christian F. Wolff Jr., of Millville, Pa. One new director joined the board. He is Vyron Chapman of Cassville, N.Y., who replaced retiring Shirley Green of Worcester, N.Y.

At a board meeting immediately following the annual meeting, Richard Croner was re-elected chairman, Richard C. Call was re-elected vice chairman, and William A. Hiller of Fayetteville, N.Y., was re-elected president and chief executive officer.

KEEP AGRICULTURE #1!

Agriculture is America's number one industry and feeds half the world.

To insure our future as a world leader our strength and sustenance will have to come from the land and the young people who will protect and manage it.

Young people in high school today will be tomorrow's leaders. Agriculture is a career where young people can make a difference and work with the latest sophisticated technology. They can get the experience they need now in vocational agriculture and the FFA.

The future is in their hands.

State Parks Topic Of Letter From DNR Secretary

Continuing correspondence has been going on between Dr. Torrey C. Brown, secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources and the Garrett County Commissioners concerning the implementation of objectives of the Garrett County Development Plan relating to state-owned recreation facilities; and recommending capital budget improvements to six state parks in Garrett County. Those six parks are: Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls, New Germany, Deep Creek Lake, Big Run, and Casselman Bridge.

The commissioners recently received a letter from Sec. Brown offering comments on those park improvements. First of all, Brown expounded on the fact that Garrett County's state parks have received more than a proportionate share (25 percent) of the total capital dollars allotted to the DNR for state park development for the fiscal years 1984, 1985, and 1986. In his letter, he showed that the total state park capital budget for the three years was $8,439,000, with the capital budget for state parks in Garrett County amounting to $2,141,500 or 25 percent of DNR's state park capital budget.

Brown stated that he understood that the county's recommendation was that each state park in Garrett County have a park-development plan to address the issues of additional improvements and expansion, and explained that each year when the department's Land Planning Services Program sets its projected planning projects for the coming year, updated development plans for the Western Maryland parks are considered.

He further explained, however, that for some time now the DNR's park master planning effort has concentrated on stream valley state parks in the metropolitan corridor of the state principally to accommodate the recreational needs of the largest concentration of the state's resident population.

To that end, he said, the DNR now has completed master plans for Sandy Point State Park, Gunpowder Falls State Park, Patapsco River State Park, Susquehanna State Park, Rosaryville State Park, and Greenwell State Park. Brown reported that it is these parks (with completed master plans) that compete for the new facilities capital budget dollars since the capital budget process requires a completed master facilities plan, a development plan, or a park master plan to support individual line item requests.

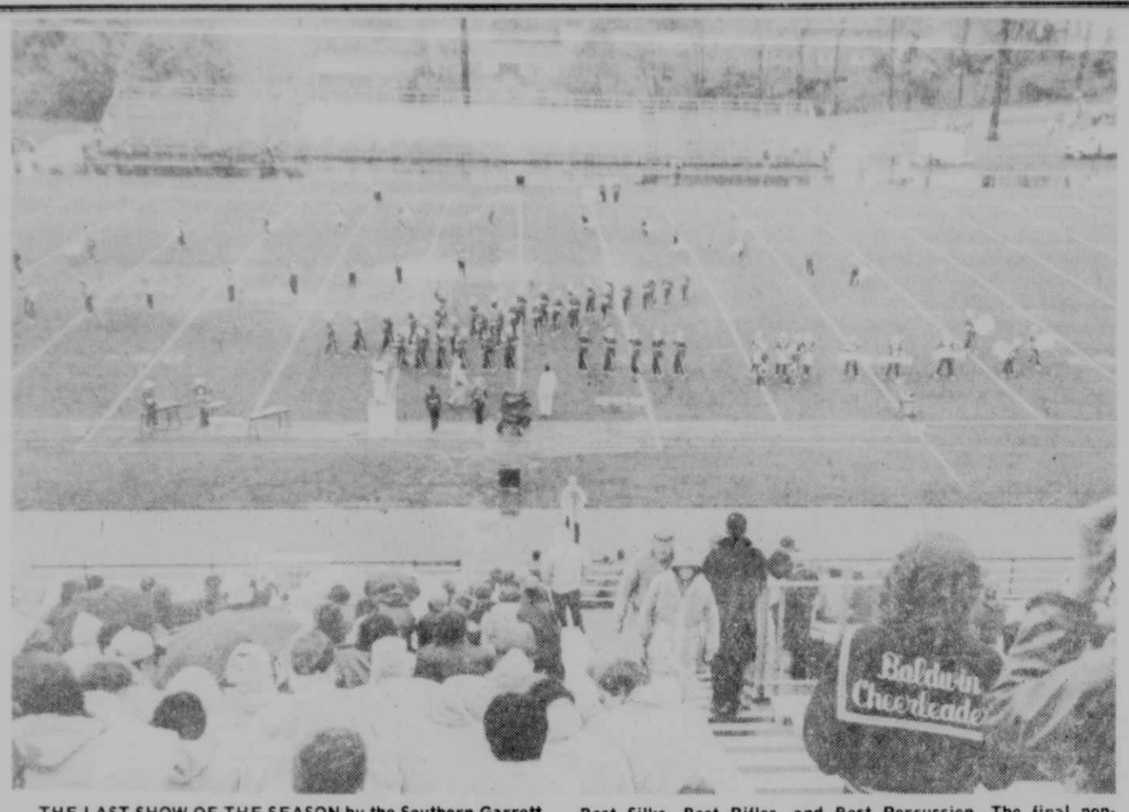
Brown told the commissioners that the goal of a park master plan is to provide a document that serves as a guideline for developing useful and attractive parks through reasonable and efficient use of public funds for capital development. The development of such a plan is the result of an informal but systematic process that can take two years from beginning through completion.

According to Brown, state park master plans are approved and adopted by him after extensive research and evaluation by a professional staff of planners and park personnel and input from the public. The adopted master plan is a published booklet supplemented by maps and photographs which lists the choices of activities and uses for a park; describes interpretive programs such as nature study; and indicates the location of activity areas, trails, roads, and other facilities. The plan summarizes a detailed analysis of the park site covering such features as vegetation, wildlife, geology, soils, and regional setting. The master plan also includes the estimated cost and schedule for developing a park.

He said that presently, Land Planning Services is in the process of preparing master plans and development plans for projects located throughout the state. He feels that assignments are such that it may be possible, once all vacant planning positions are filled, to initiate a revised development plan for the Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls complex, the completion of which will put the DNR in a better position to compete for an equitable share of the total state capital budget dollars.

Simultaneously, Brown's department would begin a countywide overview to determine where the department's planning and development needs and priorities are with regard to the remaining state parks and other state recreation areas in the county. He did say, however, that those items on the commissioners' list of suggested improvements that can be accomplished without the benefit of the full planning process will be looked into by appropriate DNR staff, who will be in contact with the commissioners' office regarding resolution and progress on those suggestions.

Among the improvements suggested by the commissioners were park development plans for each of the six parks. For Herrington Manor they recommended the construction of a recreation building, development of a playground area with permanent equipment, additional rental cabins, improvements of the water and sewer systems, dam repair, and installation of directional signs from U.S. Route 219.



At Swallow Falls he suggested a playground area with permanent equipment and a nature interpretive center.

The suggestions of additional rental cabins, rehabilitation work on the breast of the dam, an upgraded bath house, and a rehabilitated water system were made for New Germany State Park.

Among the recommendations for Deep Creek Lake State Park were an administration building and the development of an indoor swimming pool for year–round public use.

At Big Run State Park they would like to see construction of winterized bathhouse facilities and the development of a water system.

"The spirit of cooperation and effort between the county government and the Department of Natural Resources on these items," said Brown, "should certainly result in a compatible yet diversified recreational experience that will enhance the county's goal of being an attractive year–round location for recreation and tourism."

THE LAST SHOW OF THE SEASON by the Southern Garrett Band was presented at Baldwin High School on Saturday during the West Penn Field Show Championships. The local band placed third in the competition in the preliminary event, but the finals had to be cancelled because of foul weather. Southern also won Best Silks, Best Rifles, and Best Percussion. The final non-competitive performance of the season will be this Friday night during halftime of the Southern-Northern football game at Northern.

appearing in their own behalf, be represented by attorneys.

The format up until the point that input is gathered directly from the public, is closer to what one would see in a courtroom. In Wallinger's view, "attorneys acting as adversary representatives, present opposing arguments on a very specific proposition to a third party who is authorized by law to make a decision."

On the public side, the scene changes entirely. The model more closely resembles committee hearings in the legislative forum. Testimony is taken from the public, not in a Baltimore PSC hearing rooms but in public buildings in other cities and towns. The events are sometimes not even called public hearings, but "evening sessions," and sometimes there are no PSC commissioners even present.

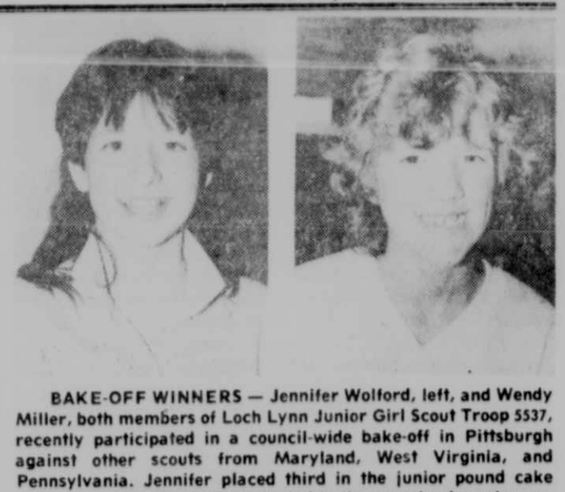
There are no briefs, no prior notification of substance of evidence or intent to testify and no cross examination as in the initial legal framework. "In short, the procedural image of public participation in the decision making process is one of an informal discussion that is far more akin to the political arena than to the judicial forum," Wallinger concludes.

And most significantly, what usually happens is that the bulk of the public testimony gathered outside the legal forum is denied any relevance in the decision because PSC is required by law to base their rate decision on whether the utility company is earning a "fair return on their investments."

PSC decisions persistently cite the highly technical testimony of the expert witnesses, but rarely cite testimony gathered from the general public. To do otherwise might violate the statutory authority and invite legal reversal of the decision.

Wallinger noted that one commissioner told a public audience, "The thing you have to consider is that this is like a lawsuit. If the commission were to make their decision based on emotion then certainly the company could come down to Annapolis to the Court of Appeals and have it reversed. The evidence that they need to determine and make their decision is based on those expert witnesses."

Plus, even if these kinds of hurdles could be overcome, public testimony is still suspect because it is not given under oath.



With the possible exception of a 1965 Potomac Edison case which gave some consideration to customers' ability to pay in arriving at a fair and reasonable return for utility investors, Wallinger says "it is questionable whether public hearings serve as a meaningful role in the balancing of consumer and investor interests."

Aside from the argumentative mixture which discriminates against the public, Wallinger also maintains the public might be ill-equipped by training, access to forceful data and practice in using specific kinds of arguments to play a significant role in the rate setting process. He also thinks that public hearings actually function more as a forum for a "rhetoric of legitimation" than as an opportunity for gathering decision-making information and arguments.

Even though most decisions represent a compromise and might even closely resemble the public's overall position, the preponderance of the legal image surrounding the issue and the expectation of a yes or no decision (approve or deny any increase) the public's standard of reasonableness is violated, Wallinger concludes. Plus, if the PSC makes no effort to acknowledge the public's arguments and hearings are merely viewed as pseudo-forums of information gathering, "the end result is public disillusion and bitterness and charges of collusion and violation of the public trust."

Asked about implications of the study for legislation action, Wallinger said, "This research would suggest that electing Public Service Commissioners would do little to make the PSC more responsive to consumer demands since that would not change the criteria by which they are required to make their decisions. Regardless of how they come into office," he explained, "if the goal is to make the PSC more responsive to consumer demands, there will be a need for a change in the laws by which they make their decisions."

Wallinger, a native of Nebraska, received his Ph.D. in Speech Communication from the University of Oregon in 1975 and has been a faculty member of Frostburg State College's Department of Speech Communication and Theatre since 1973.

Bambacus Calls For Hearings On Education

Maryland State Senator John N. Bambacus has requested that the Senate Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee, on which he serves, schedule full-scale public hearings on public education in Maryland. The hearings would be held early during the 1986 session of the General Assembly.

The EEA Committee, chaired by Senator Norman R. Stone Jr., has primary responsibility in the Senate for the consideration of educational matters.

The District 1 senator has asked that the following areas be addressed: quality in education, the projected teacher shortage, teacher preparation, remedial education, and articulation among elementary, secondary, and higher education.

"Based on my discussions with educational and legislative leaders across the state over the past several weeks," the senator said, "I am convinced that the time has come to address these concerns in a formal setting. I am not confident that we're doing all we can to deal with these vitally important issues."

"We can't afford to wait any longer," Bambacus said. "We owe it to our children." Robert Kennedy once said "Every generation inherits a world it never made and automatically becomes the trustee of the world for those who come after,'" he continued.

The senator went on to note that the current and projected teacher shortage should have come as no surprise to anyone. "It has been acknowledged widely," he indicated. "This has been developing over the last two or three years.

"The problem is compounded by the fact that we are losing some of our best, most experienced teachers because of low pay and low job esteem. We must take steps to encourage them to stay with the profession in a time when their skills are so badly needed.

"It seems to me that this is too important a matter to be left to educational policymakers, especially at this stage of the game. Time and time again, in states where educational reform has occurred, it has not emerged from within the educational community but rather from legislative policymakers," Bambacus concluded.

Expected to be invited to the hearings are Dr. Sheldon H. Knorr, Commissioner of Higher Education; Dr. David W. Hornbeck, superintendent of the State Department of Education; Dr. John S. Toll, president of the University of Maryland; Dr. James D. Tschechtelin, executive director of the State Board for Community Colleges; and Dr. Nelson P. Guild, executive director of the Board of Trustees of the State Universities and Colleges.

ROTARY YOUTH AWARD WINNER — Angie Bittinger, of Oakland, was the recipient of the Rotary Youth Award for her participation in the 1985 Garrett County Fair. The award was presented during the club's annual Rural-Urban Night program held last Thursday evening at the Starlite Restaurant in Oakland. Angie is an eighth grade student at Southern Middle School and a member of the Monte Vista 4-H Club. She received a total of 508 points for her entries in ten different departments including: food preservation, crafts, home environment, baked goods, candy, fruits and vegetables, art, industrial arts, home economics, and general education. With a total of 55 entries, she was awarded one Champion ribbon, one Best of Show ribbon, 17 Blue ribbons, 16 Red ribbons, 11 White ribbons, and one Green ribbon, and received a total of $90.50 in premiums for her efforts. Angie enjoys playing piano and cheerleading for the Oakland Jets Youth football team. Pictured above, left to right, are her parents, Donald and Esther Bittinger, Angie, and Ken Ridder, Oakland Rotary Club president.

Northern GOP Women Convene

The Northern Garrett Republican Women's Club recently held its October meeting at Hill Top Inn.

President Carolyn Ganoe presided. Twila Mae Fike, chaplain, led devotions. The secretary Wilma Wilburn, gave her report as did the treasurer, Louise McKenzie.

Mrs. Ganoe reported on the convention. The club received the diamond award for its achievements.

Plans were finalized for the Christmas luncheon to be held at Hill Top Inn, December 7, at 1 p.m. Twila Mae Fike will be in charge of entertainment. Reservations are to be in to Mrs. Ganoe by December 4.

The fund raising picnic sponsored by Delegate George C. Edwards was a success, as reported by his mother.

Evelyn Younkin was elected president and will begin her duties January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Stanton showed slides of their trip to the Holy Land. An auction was then held from which the club gained $96.00. Cora Bowser was the auctioneer.

Present were: Lois Rowe, Wilma Wilburn, Cleda Baker, Evelyn Younkin, Carol Frazee, Bernice Merrill, Carolyn Ganoe, Louise McKenzie, Stella Edwards, Cora Bowser, Jean Friend, Helen Keller, Hazel Margroff, Clara Layman, Zeola Robeson and Twila Mae Fike.

New Horizons Sets Workshop

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College will present a workshop on reume writing.

The workshop, entitled "Is a Resume Necessary?", is prepared to help individuals compile a resume and includes a mini-lecture on the use of a resume, what should and should not be included, and how to compile, organize and present information about oneself. After completion of this workshop participants should have begun writing their individual resume and have the knowledge to complete it.

The workshop will be held Wednesday, November 13, in Room 603 of the Oakland Center of GCC from 10 a.m. to noon. Persons may contact the New Horizons office at 334-9184 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for further information or to pre-register for this or future workshops.

Biser To Speak At Revival Services

Waco Biser, Westernport, will lead revival services at the Deep Creek Baptist Church November 10-13, according to Rev. Don Wlson, pastor.

The public is invited to attend the services, which will be held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday, November 10, and at 7:30 p.m. November 11-13. Special music will be included, plus congregational singing led by Rev. Wilson.

The church is located along U.S. Rt. 219 just north of Glendale Road.

Local AARP Group Sponsors Canadian Tour

The American Association of Retired Persons recently sponsored a fall tour for 42 local senior citizens to Niagara Falls, New York City and several cities in Canada.

The tour began at Niagara Falls where the group took a boat trip to the American Falls, Cove of the Winds and Horseshoe Falls.

The seniors then toured Toronto, Canada and took in the CN Tower which is 1,815 feet high, the tallest free-standing tower in the world. They also visited St. James Cathedral, Casa Loma and the newly renovated harbour front.

The group then traveled to Ottawa to see the Chateau Laurier, the War Memorial, Parliament Hill, the Peace Tower, the U.S. Embassy and the Agricultural Department experimental farms, where research is conducted on crops, swine and cattle.

A view of the Lisgar Collegiate School was of special interest to one member of the group, Grace O'Brien, who had lived in Ottawa as a girl and had attended that school.

In Montreal, the group saw many public buildings, including McGill University and International Aviation Building. They also took a walking tour of the Bascillica of Notre Dame.

On Mt. Royal, they saw St. Joseph's Oratory and passed the stable and corrals where horses of the Canadian Mounted Police were kept. The horses are now used for ceremonial occasions only.

After leaving Montreal, the group came back to New York State. The first stop was the Ausable Chasm near Peattsburg. The walk through the chasm ended with a boat ride in the rapids.

Upon their arrival in New York City, the group attended a performance of "Singing in the Rain" at the Gershwin Theatre.

Those taking the tour, along with Martha Armstrong, escort and Jim Abe, bus driver, were Ernest and Alice Spoerlein, Robert and Lillian Lee, Kenneth and Frances Bray, Keith and Evelyn Steyer, Earl and Kathleen Wentz, Hugh and Freda Denison, Joe and Hazel Welch, Grace O'Brien, Genevieve Schleigh, Elizabeth McComas, Elsie Cross, Marguarite Wotring, Alma Georg, Lena Wolf, Violet Pike, Mildred Hoffman, Thelma Stevens, Kay Hoye, Theodora Lawry, Beulah Sisler, Priscilla Bell, Mary Kay Lewis, Dorothy Jordan, Pauline Henline, Evelyn Kahl, Anne Conner, Carrie Harford, Ferne Beachy, Rose Buckel, Kathern Stewart, Kathleen Finch, Earle and Dorothy Lear, Helen Friend and Margaret Dean.

NATIVE AMERICAN VISITS LOCAL SCHOOL — Jeff White Horse Ross, a Sioux Indian from Springfield, Va., recently paid a visit to the kindergarten class of Sharon Platter and Sharon Settle at Accident Elementary School. Ross displayed and explained a variety of Indian artifacts and spoke about the Indian way of life.

MML Will Ask For Legislation

The Maryland Municipal League will ask the General Assembly for a package of five bills dealing with subjects ranging from insurance costs to municipal elections.

Municipal officials from across the state approved the legislative package Saturday during the Municipal League's annual legislative conference, held this year in Hagerstown.

Delegates from 59 of the league's member towns and cities adopted a legislative proposal which would limit damages in municipal liability cases to $100,000. The proposal also would cap lawyers' fees at 25 percent of a judgment against a municipality.

The insurance proposal came at a time when towns and cities are facing soaring liability insurance fees, and, in some cases, loss of coverage.

"If you don't take a step now, you won't get another chance," said Sharpsburg Mayor Gerald Quinn, who is a full-time insurance adjuster. "You can expect your rates to increase by 200 percent every time you renew. This is deadly serious."

The delegates also agreed to seek legislation to set minimum standards for voter registration for town and city elections.

Maryland is one of four states that allows cities and towns to conduct their own voter registration. Municipal League officials said problems have occurred in some municipalities where hours for registration have been limited by charter to only one day prior to an election.

The league delegates also agreed to seek legislation which would permit towns and cities to discipline, without a hearing, police officers who have been convicted in court of felonies or serious misdemeanors.

Another bill would allow small towns to set their own tax rates instead of following the "constant yield tax rate" procedure established by the General Assembly in 1977 as a way to keep local property tax rates down.

That law provides for a calculation of a tax rate for each city or town which, if adopted, would yield the same amount in revenues as the tax rate levied in the previous year despite any changes in an assessable tax base.

Municipalities intending to levy a rate in excess of that calculated by the state Department of Assessments and Taxation must publish an advertisement and hold public hearings.

It often is impossible for a jurisdiction to maintain the constant yield tax rate, which results in some municipalities spending from $15,000 to $25,000 a year on advertisements, according to MML information provided during the conference.

Finally, the league will seek legislation making it easier for towns and cities to get convictions on infractions by reducing evidence standards. Municipal infractions involve nuisance ordinances which cover weed control laws, building codes and similar laws.

The Maryland Municipal League represents 141 city and town governments.

YOUR IMAGE IS SHOWING-CAN IT BE IMPROVED?
These Ornamentals (as well as your lawn) are the 1st sight seen of your home, abilities, success, accomplishments, family—your image.
DEEP ROOT FEEDING
Save your trees, shrubs, evergreens and ornamentals. Strengthen and beautify them this fall. Deep root feed them with Natural/Organic fertilizer. High pressure feeding done with our automatic six stage injector will completely deep root feed all of your ornamental plantings plus open up tight compacted soils (through high pressure soil fracturing) and will encourage deeper, stronger, more natural root growth. Our application this fall will last this season and all of next year. Save on your plantings—Call now for your FREE estimate and personal tree, ornamental and lawn care recommendations.

THE KEYS ARE ON THE TABLE

Funny how things set a person's mind to working . . .

My wife had said, "The keys are on the table," and we both were thinking of the car keys. I have that abominable habit of laying them down wherever I put my gloves — and I'm always losing my gloves.

But when I saw the keys, I saw the Bible, too. We always keep it there even though we seldom read it.

"The keys are on the table." I am just enough of a philosopher to see the chance implication of those words. The keys to a great many things must lie within the covers of that Book. Perhaps the keys to all of the really important things for you, and for me, and for everyone else.

We've been searching far and wide for the keys to peace, and security, and fairness, and brotherhood.

Are the keys for you on the table?

IF YOU COULD GO BACK IN TIME

. . . to as recent as the early 1950's, scarcely thirty years ago, you'd discover that most of the drugs we take for granted today didn't exist then. Doctors, in the 1950's were severely limited—compared to today—in their choice of medicines for treating their patients.

During the past three decades, we have all become the beneficiaries of what can only be described as a "pharmaceutical revolution." Our illnesses can presently be treated with hundreds of new and effective medical compounds that have come into being in recent years. This, then, is an exciting time to be alive. And we, as pharmacists in this community, are pleased that we can play a part in this age of progress.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ARE YOU CHARISMATIC?
November 10, 1985

Background Scripture:
1 Corinthians 12 through 13.
Devotional Reading:
Romans 12:1-13.

Knowing of my interest and involvement in the ministry of spiritual healing, the newspaper reporter said, "Are you a charismatic?"

My first impulse was to reply in the negative. I realized that he assumed that only members of the "charismatic movement" are interested in the healing ministry of the church—a wrong but understandable assumption. But I decided the time had come for someone to try to put the controversy over the "gifts of the Spirit" in a different perspective.

EXCEPT BY THE HOLY SPIRIT

"The answer to your question is both 'yes' and 'no'," I replied. "I am charismatic and, if you're a Christian so are you, but that doesn't mean that we are necessarily part of what is known today as the charismatic movement." I went on to say that, while I have no quarrel with that movement, I have not been attracted to become part of it.

My quarrel, I said, is with those who use the issue of the gifts of the Holy Spirit to divide and antagonize Christians. The Holy Spirit is not the special or unique possession of one particular group of Christians, nor are the gifts of the Spirit limited to people following one Christian lifestyle. All of us have the Holy Spirit within us and all of us are granted gifts by the Spirit, although we may not be aware of them or make use of them.

Today, however, it is customary for some Christians to insist that they alone "possess" the Holy Spirit and are endowed with the gifts of the Spirit. Even more arrogantly, some of these further hold that when the rest of us preach, teach or heal in Christ's name, we are endowed not by the Holy Spirit, but the devil. Remember that the same charge was made against Jesus (Matthew 12:24).

BUT THE SAME SPIRIT

Thus in 1 Corinthians 12, 13 and 14, Paul deals with the same problem. Some people in Corinth are claiming that they alone have the gifts of God's Spirit while others are empowered by the power of Satan. Paul says it plainly: "I want you to understand that no one speaking by the Spirit of God ever says 'Jesus be cursed!' and no one can say 'Jesus is Lord' except by the Holy Spirit. Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; and there are varieties of service, but the same Lord" (I Cor. 13:3,4).

Paul goes on to say that the gifts of the Spirit without love—love that is not jealous or boastful, love that does not insist on its own way—are worthless. Thus, if we have the Holy Spirit in us, we will be humble, not proud, loving of others, not contentious, and willing to acknowledge that all of God's children are gifted with the charisma of the one Spirit.

Sylvia Sidney returns in small-screen film

By Marc Minnelli

She has been called the definitive movie heroine of the Depression years, but today, sitting in her home in Danbury, Conn., 3,000 miles away from the Hollywood sound stages where she made some of her best motion pictures — "Street Scene," "Dead End," "You Only Live Once" — Sylvia Sidney simply smiles when she hears the accolade.

Sylvia Sidney

"The movies you mention were made so long ago," Miss Sidney, 75, says, punctuating her sentence with her familiar, husky laugh. "I don't watch my old movies because there isn't a thing an 18-year-old girl can teach me. Why, I don't even remember 'Street Scene!'"

Miss Sidney's memory may seem fuzzy when it comes to her classic big-screen projects, but her focus is sharp when she discusses "An Early Frost," her latest television project. In the made-for-TV movie, Miss Sidney portrays Beatrice McKenna, the grandmother of a young lawyer (played by Aidan Quinn) who must inform his family he's gay — and has AIDS.

"My role is quite small," explains the actress, "but I accepted it because three of my friends have died from the disease." She pauses.

"I'd tell you who they are, but Katharine Hepburn knew one of them, and if she found out I told you, she'd wring my neck!"

Another husky laugh. "I knew this was an important movie," she adds, "and I wanted to be part of it. Beatrice is the only member of the family who initially accepts the disease ... the only one who understands. She is the film's spokeswoman."

Another reason Miss Sidney accepted the role is that her son, Jacob Luther Adler, was suffering from a 12-year battle with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis. Adler, whose father was Miss Sidney's second husband, actor Luther Adler, was the actress's only child. He died on Aug. 11 of this year.

"I began work on the film knowing there was nothing more I could do for Jody," Miss Sidney recalls, fighting back tears. "But I hoped the subject matter — the coming to grips with the inevitable — would help.

"When Jody finally died, ("Early Frost" co-stars) Gena Rowlands, Ben Gazzara and Aidan Quinn and the crew reached out to help. They held my hands. They hugged me. That helped soften the pain, that helped ease the awkwardness, but not the hurt."

Miss Bellwood keeps busy while pregnant

By Renee Ross

Even though she's pregnant, "Dynasty" star Pamela Bellwood refuses to slow down. "During pregnancy, your hormone levels change, so you generally feel good," says the actress, who portrays Claudia Carrington on the ABC hit. "So far, I feel full of energy."

Pamela Bellwood

Although Miss Bellwood and her husband, ace British photojournalist Nik Wheeler, are expecting their first child in December, she plans to remain active while awaiting the blessed event.

"I used to jog a lot," explains Miss Bellwood, 36, "and although my doctor hasn't actually restricted me, I've stopped. I now stay in shape by doing a lot of fast walking. I try to walk a mile a day."

Weight can be a problem for any actress who works in front of cameras, but Miss Bellwood says she's been lucky in her pregnancy. "So far I haven't had enormous gains," she says. "I'm 5-foot-4-and-a-half inches tall, and normally weigh 105 pounds. I've only put on 14 pounds. But," she adds with a grin, "I'll probably turn into the Goodyear blimp the last few months!"

The actress is not suffering from the pickles-and-ice-cream cravings familiar to many expectant moms. "I don't feel my nutritional habits have changed at all," she says, "except that I'm eating more protein than I normally would. Before I was pregnant, I might sometimes skip a meal, but now I make sure to eat three times a day." The actress adds that she favors chicken and fish, and avoids red meats.

Miss Bellwood admits, however, that her pregnancy sometimes physically drains her. "There are days when I feel more tired and out of breath than normal," she says, "but I've learned there are periods when I can replenish my body. I simply put my feet up and rest a few minutes. It's really rejuvenating. Rather than push myself to the point at which my body breaks down, I've learned how to pace myself."

The actress plans to continue a post-pregnancy fitness program. "Assuming I have an easy time with the birth," she says, "I plan to go back to exercising soon after the baby is born."

She also plans to keep up her "Dynasty" duties as long as possible. "In fact," she says with a laugh, "I'm hoping I'll feel well enough to go directly from the studio to the hospital!"

SHOW AND TELL

Clooney scores on his own name

By Gregory Garver

HOLLYWOOD — George Clooney is happy that he's finally being judged on his merits, and not on his relatives. For most of his life, Clooney, 24, has been called Nick's son, Rosemary's nephew or Jose's nephew.

George Clooney

Now, however, Clooney is a regular on "The Facts of Life," and chances are most of the young viewers have no idea to whom the actor is related. In the NBC sitcom, Clooney — the show's first male regular — plays carpenter George Bennett.

Just who are Clooney's famous kin? His father, Nick, once hosted a Cincinnati television variety show. As a teenager, George Clooney worked as the show's floor director. His sister held the cue cards. The elder Clooney eventually became a top TV reporter. Several years ago, NBC relocated him to Los Angeles, where he is presently a nightly news anchorman.

Clooney's aunt, Rosemary Clooney, is one of the most famous singers of the big-band era. Another aunt, Betty, was also a successful singer. When Miss Clooney married actor Jose Ferrer, he became Clooney's Uncle Jose.

"He would encourage me a lot when he'd come back to Cincinnati to visit," Clooney recalls. "I told him I wanted to be an actor, and Uncle Jose gave me tips. He's not a bad person to get tips from."

Clooney arrived in California three years ago. "I came out to California when I was 21," he says. "My friends in Cincinnati didn't think that was a smart move."

But it's turned out to be a very smart move. Since arriving in Hollywood, Clooney has done a bit part in a bit movie (he played the victim of a bear in "The Predator") and has made several guest shots on several series. He's also had a minor, but continuing role on last year's ill-fated series "E/R." Now he's on "The Facts of Life."

The biggest fact of life? There's not a relative in sight.

CINDY SAYS

Ken Kragen plans to take on U.S. hunger

By Cindy Adams

Ken Kragen, creator of that mega-event "We Are the World," and the man who handles the public affairs of Kenny Rogers and Lionel Richie, is at it again. Having raised lots of bucks for Africa's hungry, Kragen's about to do the same for America's hungry and homeless. His new operation will take place next spring and will be larger in scope than "World." Kragen is amassing 45 recording artists for the multi-media event "involving direct participation of 10 million Americans." According to Kragen, who's been honing the plan for five months, the event will cost "millions and millions," and will be underwritten by corporate sponsors.

Ken Kragen

Debra Winger and Darryl Hannah will soon be on the streets on New York. The duo has been added to Robert Redford's latest $20-million film "Legal Eagles." ... No one can ever accuse Aaron Spelling of being reserved. To add excitement to his ABC series "Hotel," he's making some story changes. An upcoming episode will deal with the attempted rape of Megan, the reservations clerk played by Heidi Bohay.

Lord Laurence Olivier

Lord Laurence Olivier will narrate a one-hour documentary about entrepreneur Malcolm Forbes and Forbes' recent balloon ride over Thailand. No one knows what beguiled Lord Larry into this venture. Must have been a free subscription to Forbes magazine.

Olympic gold medalist Mary Lou Retton works out from 7 to 8:30 a.m. and 5 to 9 p.m. What happens the day she turns old, tired and chunky? "Then I want to be a sports commentator," she says.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Film director Reisz is sweet on 'folk movies'

By Frank Lovece

"Sweet Dreams" is made of this: The lives of country-pop star Patsy Cline and her husband Charlie Dick, as interpreted by a Czechoslovakian-British director better known for such "literary" films as "The French Lieutenant's Woman" than for Hollywood biographies such as this.

Karel Reisz

It's not surprising, therefore, to hear Karel Reisz state — in thoroughly King's English — that, "I would never have done 'Sweet Dreams' as a 'biopic.' I simply don't find that usual rags-to-riches story interesting."

"Sweet Dreams" is not, indeed, your usual rags-to-riches story. It's not your usual story, either. It is, however, a string of character vignettes, and this looseness, says the elfin Reisz, is what appealed to him.

"I loved the later Patsy Cline songs," he says, "they really were the purest kind of popular singing. Even so, I wasn't terribly interested in her career, and neither was the script. The story," he adds with delight, "is untidy, unschematic and the kind of mess that real life is. I found doing a film where you don't have to explain the characters' motivations, where luck and unmotivated real-life actions play such large parts, very liberating."

This attitude isn't such a break from Reisz's past as it seems. Though his films (including "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning," "The Gambler" and "Who'll Stop The Rain?") are often tightly analytical, the 59-year-old director is also a founder of Britain's mid-50s "free cinema" movement. With Lindsay Anderson, Tony Richardson and others, Reisz rebelled against the whimsical fantasy of mainstream British films, and instead espoused personal, populist "folk movies" about the dignity of everyday life — a theme that permeates the otherwise rambling "Sweet Dreams."

As does one other recurring Reisz concern: strong, independent-minded women. "I seem to make films in which the women are more capable, more interesting and more worthy than the men," he says. "There's no design to that, but it seems to come out that way."

In recent years, however, Reisz has been more involved in stage and TV direction than in feature films. Still, he doesn't see the success of "Sweet Dreams" enticing him into the Hollywood mainstream.

"I don't do youth movies or buddy movies, if that's what you mean," he says with a smile. "I'll let the other fellows do those."

Soap fan sees double; soap star is drop-out

By Kimberly Redmond

I'm convinced that the actress who portrays Marley Love on "Another World" really has a twin sister, who is portraying her on-screen twin, Victoria. All my friends tell me I'm wrong. Help! — R.S., Auburn, Maine.

Ellen Wheeler

Sorry, R.S., but your friends are right. Ellen Wheeler, who portrays both Victoria and Marley, doesn't have a twin sister. For the past six months, the actress has portrayed her two characters so convincingly — and so differently — that it's hard for viewers to remember that she's actually playing both roles.

I love Marcy Walker, the actress who plays Eden Capwell on "Santa Barbara." What can you tell me about her? — J.S., Ontario, Canada.

Miss Walker was filling out enrollment papers at Southern Illinois University and talking to the university's theater manager when a phone call, requesting a candidate for a role in the PBS production of "Life on the Mississippi," changed her life. Miss Walker auditioned for the role, and upon winning it, flew to New York City to work on the production.

While in New York, the actress appeared in more than 40 commercials. Miss Walker spent eight months auditioning for a role on a daytime drama before landing the role of Liza Colby on "All My Children." At the end of her three-year contract with the ABC soap, Miss Walker was cast in "Santa Barbara."

And no, Miss Walker never did enroll at Southern Illinois University.

Is it true that Susan Sullivan, who appears as Maggie Gioberti on "Falcon Crest" was once on a daytime soap? — M.L., Thunder Bay, Canada.

In 1970, Miss Sullivan appeared in the short-lived ABC soap, "The Best of Everything." She later went on to portray Lenore Delaney on "Another World." Miss Sullivan starred in several other TV projects, including the series "It's A Living" and the mini-series, "Rich Man, Poor Man — Book II."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

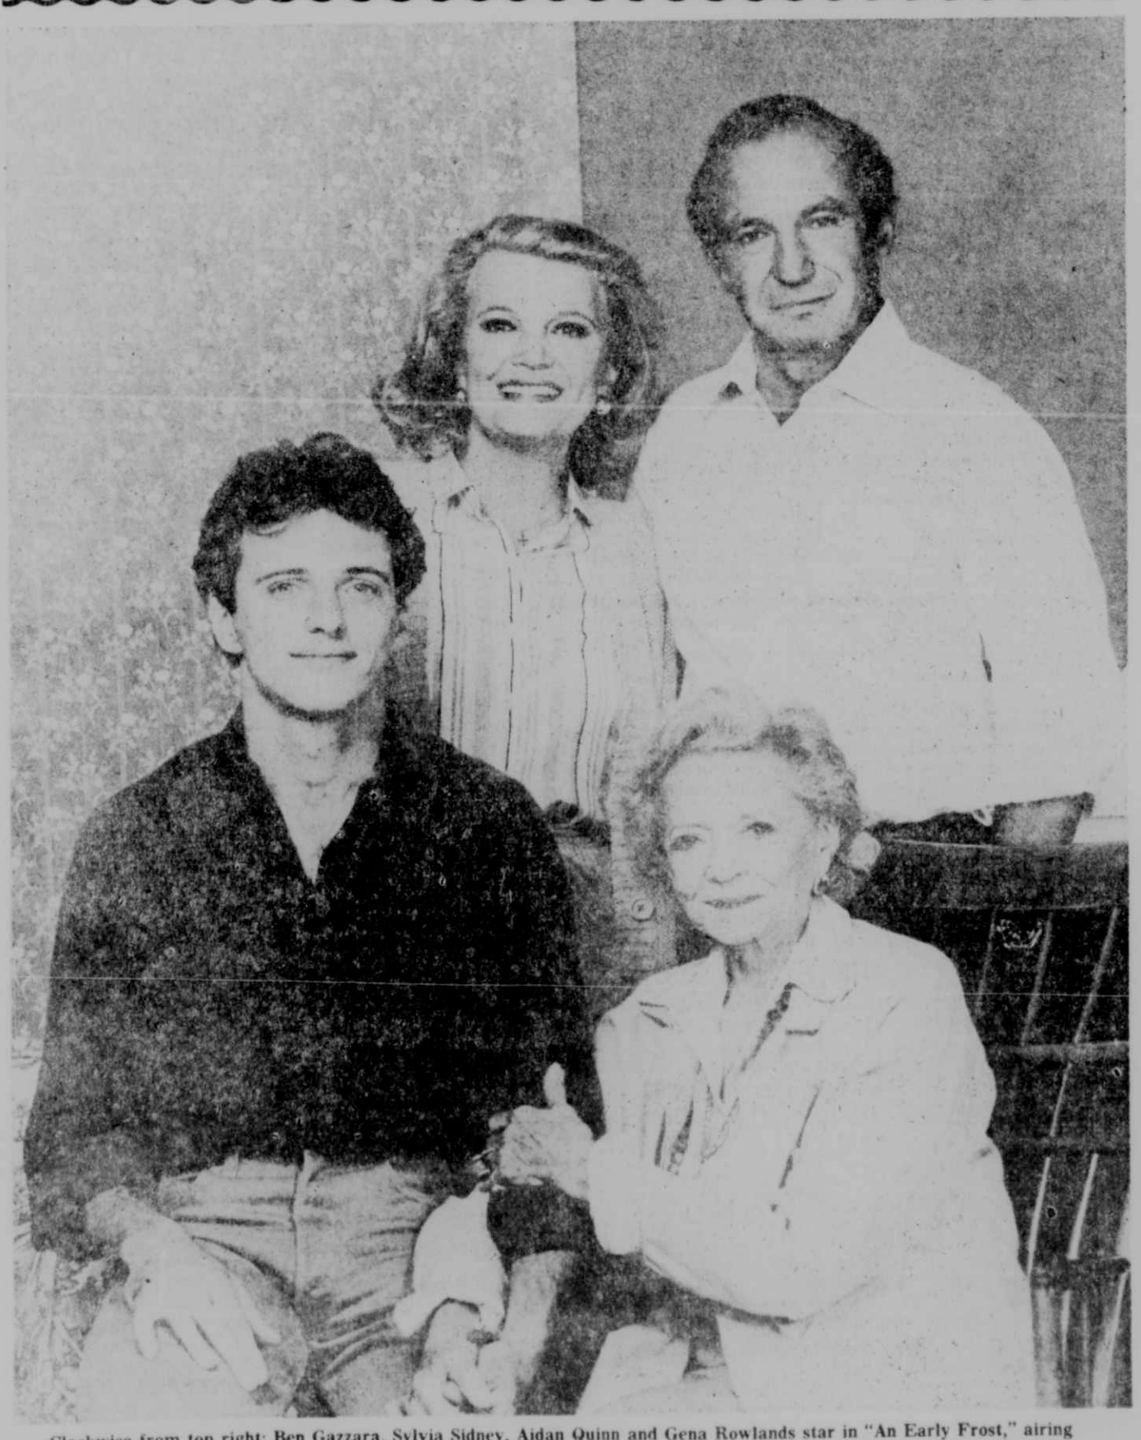
By Val Carew

I want to know about John Standing, the actor who plays Edward Wingate on "Lime Street." Standing is my maiden name and I'm wondering if we're related. — I.S.F., Marlin, Wash.

John Standing

Though Standing was not a good scholar, he attended Eton before joining the army. He later enrolled in art school. Standing eventually found his calling when he joined the prestigious Old Vic. His acting career began in the presence of Lord Laurence Olivier, and his first role was that of a spear carrier in Shakespeare's "Titus Andronicus."

The actor has many stage credits, and has toured America with Maggie Smith in "Private Lives." Standing has also been seen in several TV series, including "The First Churchills" and "Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy." His film credits include "King Rat" and "The Elephant Man."



Every week, without fail, I tune in "Fame." I hope the series lives forever! Can you give me Nia Peeples address? She plays Nicole on the show and she's great. — L.N., Harrisonburg, Va.

You can send your letters to Miss Peeples (as well as the rest of the "Fame" cast) at MGM Studios, Culver City, CA 90230.

Nia Peeples

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

Clockwise from top right: Ben Gazzara, Sylvia Sidney, Aidan Quinn and Gena Rowlands star in "An Early Frost," airing Monday, Nov. 11 on NBC. The film centers around a family that is thrown into crisis when it learns that the son has AIDS.

ROY B. WELCH

Roy B. Welch, 51, of Oakland, died Friday, November 1, at his residence.

He was born in Oakland October 28, 1934, son of Mrs. Margaret N. (Brown) Welch, Oakland, and the late Lester R. Welch.

Mr. Welch was a veteran of the Korean conflict and had been employed for 11 years as a foreman for the Consolidated Coal Company in Morgantown. He was a member of Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion; member and past commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10077, and a member of Oakland Lodge 192, AF&AM; the Scottish Rite Bodies of Cumberland, and Ali Ghan Shrine Temple, Cumberland.

Mr. Welch also belonged to the Model A Ford Club of America.

Besides his mother, he is survived by his wife, the former Kyoko E. Takasawa; three daughters, Carol L. Welch, Glen Burnie; Margaret A. Welch and Rebecca J. Welch, both at home; four sisters Mrs. Mabel Lewis, Mrs. Nancy Uphold and Mrs. Erma Friend, all of Oakland; and Mrs. Cleda Albert, Berkeley Springs, W.Va.

Also surviving are three half-sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Glotfelty, Oakland; Mrs. Rosella Wolf and Mrs. Maxine Patton, both of Cleveland, Ohio; six brothers, Ernest R. Welch, Mountain Lake Park; Russell L. Welch, Olen R. Welch, Carl L. Welch, Clyde K. Welch and Denver C. Welch, all of Oakland; three half-brothers, Cecil W. Welch and Burl L. Welch, both of Oakland; and Ronald Welch, Augusta, W.Va.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Sunday by the Rev. Gail Hixon. A Masonic memorial service was held at the funeral home Saturday evening.

Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens, where military honors were accorded by members of the American Legion, VFW, and Disabled American Veterans.

MRS. WOODROW HONE

Mrs. Alverta E. Hone, 67, died suddenly October 30 at her residence in Friendsville.

She was born February 2, 1918 in Amend, Pa., daughter of the late William Harvey Fike and Cora L. (Friend) Fike.

Mrs. Hone was formerly employed as a waitress and cook in various area restaurants. She was a member of the Selbysport United Methodist Church, near Friendsville, and the Friendsville Senior Citizens. Her husband was the late Woodrow T. Hone.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Judith Bittinger, Hanover; one brother, Melvin Fike, Richmond, Va., and three grandchildren.

A service was conducted Friday at the Selbysport United Methodist Church with the Rev. Edward Myers officiating. Interment was in the Steele Cemetery.

The Newman Funeral Home, Friendsville, was in charge of arrangements.

MILTON M. FRAZEE

Milton M. Frazee, 93, of Friendsville, died Saturday, November 2, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born in Friendsville September 30, 1892, he was the son of the late Jefferson Frazee and Julia (Frazee) Frazee.

An Army veteran of World War I, he was a member of Woodmen of the World Camp 45. Mr. Frazee was a retired farmer.

He is survived by his wife, Florence E. (Wilson) Frazee; one son, Eugene Frazee, Friendsville; one daughter, Mrs. Freda Teets, Bruceton Mills, W.Va.; one sister, Mrs. Todie Beeghley, Bruceton Mills; six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Friendsville, where a service was conducted Monday by the Rev. Mark Lawson.

Graveside military honors were accorded.

Interment was in the Blooming Rose Cemetery.

ROBERT F. BEAL

Robert F. Beal, 78, of Salisbury, Pa., died Friday, November 1, at the Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville.

Born August 23, 1907, in Elk Lick Township, Pa., he was the son of the late William H. Beal and Cora M. (Hersh) Beal.

He was a retired cement finisher, and supervised the building of the Village Theater in Salisbury. He was also an active Democrat.

Mr. Beal is survived by his wife, M. Marie (Fleigle) Beal; two sons, Robert F. Beal Jr., Salisbury; and Jack D. Beal, Somerset, Pa.; three daughters, Mrs. Baron (Norma) W. Ross, Somerset; Mrs. Joseph (Donna) M. Lishia, Boynton, Pa.; Mrs. Arlene F. Green, Springs, Pa.; one brother, Clyde Beal, Boynton; one sister, Mrs. Ruth Stahl, Meyersdale, Pa.; 13 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Thomas Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Sunday by the Rev. David E. Fetter. Interment was in the Salisbury Cemetery.

EDWARD H. HACHMAN

Edward H. Hachman, 90, of Accident, died Saturday, November 2, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born in Accident May 8, 1895, he was the son of the late William Hachman and Amanda (Bowser) Hachman. He also was preceded in death by his wife, Mary (Michaels) Hachman, in 1967.

Mr. Hachman was a veteran of World War I, and was a retired farmer. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, LCA, Cove.

He is survived by two sons, David Hachman, Boston, Pa.; and Edward H. Hachman Jr., Kansas City, Mo.; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home. A service was conducted Tuesday at St. John's Lutheran Church by the Rev. Stephen Yelovich. Interment was in the St. John's Cemetery.

The family requests memorials take the form of contributions to the church.

Republican State Central Committee Attends Convention

Members of the Garrett County Republican State Central Committee attended the fall convention at the Baltimore Omni Hotel on October 25 and 26.

Those attending from Garrett County included Wayne Wilt, vice-chairman; Paul J. Frantz, secretary; Cora Bowser, treasurer; and Cleda Baker, a guest from Grantsville.

Frantz reported that many items were discussed, and several resolutions were considered. Jan Scruggs, designer of the Vietnam War Memorial in Washington, led the Pledge of Allegiance. Scruggs is a Vietnam veteran who was wounded in action and highly decorated by the U.S. Army.

Also present at the convention were Hugh B. Nichols, Howard County, candidate for governor, and featured speaker Jeanne Kirkpatrick, former member of the United Nations.

Post Offices To Be Closed Veterans Day

All post offices, stations and branches will be closed on Monday, November 11, in observance of the Veterans Day holiday, Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster Thomas S. Straub announced this week.

On that day, there will be no window service. Post office box service will be provided on a holiday schedule. Delivery services will be limited to Express and Special Delivery at offices having a receipt of mail.

One collection will be made on Monday, November 11, from boxes located in front of main offices and where needed at stations, branches, Self-Service Postal Centers, business areas and some residential areas.

Local customers may purchase stamps, postal cards, envelopes and insurance up to $20.00 for packages from the Self-Service Postal Center at the Oakland and Mt. Lake Park Post Offices which are open 24 hours a day.

Mikulski Joins Race For U.S. Senate Seat

Maryland Congresswoman Barbara A. Mikulski (D-3rd) has announced that she is running for the U.S. Senate. Immediately following her announcement on October 28 she went to Annapolis to officially file as a candidate.

Congresswoman Mikulski represents Maryland's Third District which includes portions of Baltimore City, Baltimore County and Howard County.

First elected to Congress in 1976, she is a member of the House Energy and Commerce Committee and its subcommittees on Commerce, Transportation and Tourism, and on Health and the Environment. As a member of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, Mikulski chairs the Oceanography subcommittee and sits on two others: Coast Guard and Navigation and Merchant Marine. She is active in a number of House caucuses including the Northeast-Midwest Coalition, the Congressional Caucus on Women's Issues, Members of Congress for Peace Through Law, and the Arts Caucus. She is on the Executive Committee of the Steel Caucus.

Before coming to the U.S. Congress, Ms. Mikulski served on the Baltimore City Council from 1971 to 1976. A social worker by profession, Ms. Mikulski worked for Catholic Charities and the Baltimore welfare department.

In 1973 Mikulski chaired a commission charged with reforming the Democratic National Committee's delegate selection process. During the 1984 presidential election, she was a national campaign co-chair for Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro.

The granddaughter of Polish immigrants, Congresswoman Mikulski lives in the same Baltimore neighborhood where her grandparents settled. She was educated in local parochial schools, and was graduated in 1958 from Mount St. Agnes College. She received a MSW from the University of Maryland School of Social Work seven years later. She is the recipient of four honorary doctorates.

Interested persons may contact Martha DeBerry at Southern High School (334-9447) to enroll in the class.

New Medicaid Regs Designed To Aid The Elderly

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene has drafted new Medicaid regulations which could affect numerous elderly people in nursing homes throughout the state.

The proposed regulations would allow nursing home residents applying for medical assistance to keep their own homes rather than being forced to sell them to qualify for Medicaid as the present regulations prescribe.

The state would place a lien (financial obligation) on the Medicaid applicant's property for the total amount spent by the state on the person's nursing home care.

If the senior citizen's health improved enough to be discharged, the state would postpone request for payment of the lien, allowing the person to return home. However, the Department may seek recovery from the estate of a deceased recipient for Medical Assistance benefits.

Under certain circumstances, after the death of the Medicaid recipient, the deceased person's sister, brother, daughter or son can live indefinitely in the person's house without fear of being asked to pay off the lien.

Douglas Morgan, Assistant Secretary for Medical Care Programs in the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, said the new regulations probably would become effective by May 1, 1986, after a promulgation process which includes public hearings, review by the Administrative and Executive Legislative Review Committee of the General Assembly and publication in the Maryland Register.

Assistant Secretary Morgan said that Delegate Marian L. Patterson of Prince George's County and Betterment for United Seniors, Inc., were "most helpful" in making comments and suggestions about the new measures.

Dove Wassell, Thomas DeBerry Exchange Vows September 28

Dove Edith Wassell and Thomas Craig DeBerry exchanged wedding vows on September 28 during a double-ring ceremony at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger, with Pastor Dan Yeiser officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Wassell Jr., Bittinger. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett (Bud) DeBerry, Deer Park.

Carolyn Georg, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Tom Dodge, friend of the groom, served as best man. Karen Hamilton, friend of the bride, served as bridesmaid. Ushers were Alton Shirk, friend of the groom and Kevin Wassell, brother of the bride. Layne Wassell, brother of the bride, and Arthur Smith, cousin of the bride, carried the bride's veil.

The bride was attired in a long white taffeta gown with a Victorian neckline. The yoke and cuffs of the gown were embroidered lace, sequins and seed pearls. The cuffs had ribbons tied at the wrists to match the ribbon tied at the waist of the gown. The bride wore a matching Cathedral length veil. The headpiece was embroidered lace, sequins, and seed pearls.

The bride's jewelry consisted of silk rosebud earrings borrowed from her sister. She carried a bouquet of silk flowers, consisting of white carnations, white petite rosebuds and lavender rosebuds tipped in blue.

The groom, best man, ushers, and fathers wore navy blue tuxedoes, with boutonnieres made of white carnations and baby's breath.

The maid of honor wore a lavender gown and the bridesmaid wore a blue gown. Both carried matching colonial bouquets.

The bride's mother wore a magenta dress and the groom's mother wore a pink dress. Both also had coordinating corsages.

The reception was held at the Bittinger Fire Hall. Patricia Wassell, aunt of the bride, designed the three-tier lavender blue wedding cake. Harriet DeBerry, the groom's mother, designed the bell-shaped sheet cakes. Roberta Oakley, sister of the bride, attended the guest book. Alice Fay Smith, aunt of the bride and Robin Georg, sister of the bride, kept a record of the gifts.

Tonya MacDonald caught the bridal bouquet and George Wassell III caught the garter. The guest who travelled the farthest was the groom's brother, John DeBerry, from Oceanside, Calif.

Smith-Lowers Wedding Slated

Miss Tammy Sue Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger (Rocky) Smith, Crellin, and Randall Scott Lowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Lowers, Oakland, will be united in marriage Friday, November 15, at 7 p.m. at the Crellin United Methodist Church. An open church wedding is planned.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend both the exchanging of vows and the reception to follow in the Crellin Community Building, immediately following the ceremony.

Holly Price Becomes Bride Of Franklin Schwing In August Event

Dr. Holly Price and Franklin B. Schwing, both formerly of Savannah, Ga., were united in marriage during an outdoor garden ceremony on August 17. The wedding took place at the home of the groom's parents in the Cove area, Accident.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scheufler, Mountain Ranch, Calif. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin R. Schwing.

The bride walked along an aisle adorned with mums and freshly made green garlands trummed with yellow mums, daisies and baby's breath. She wore a floor-length ivory gown of layered cotton lace with a peasant neckline and puffed sleeves. She wore a ring of fresh miniature daisies and baby's breath in her hair and carried a cascading bouquet of yellow mums, daisies, baby's breath and greenery. Her only jewelry was a single strand pearl necklace.

Dr. Laurie Goldner, Logan, Utah, served as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length ivory gown of cotton voile with a peasant neckline trimmed in a border print of blue and yellow flowers. She carried a smaller bouquet to match the bride's, and wore baby's breath in her hair. All flowers for the wedding were arranged by Sandra Schwing and Sally Schwing.

David L. Schwing, Pittsburgh, and T. Scott Schwing, Evans City, Pa., both brothers of the groom, served as his attendants. All men in the wedding party wore matching gray summer suits.

The groom's father served as trumpeter and played Trumpet Voluntary as the Processional and Recessional.

The double-ring ceremony took place under a trellis, adorned with fresh green garlands and fresh cut flowers. The ceremony was performed by Pastor Henry K. Brown of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Morgantown, W.Va., and Pastor Stephen Yelovich, St. John's Lutheran Church, Accident. Keith Roberts performed prenuptial entertainment on the guitar and sang "The Wedding Song" during the ceremony.

A buffet lawn picnic followed and was prepared by friends of the couple. Assisting were Janice McFetridge and Peggy Close. The three-tier wedding cake was baked by the wedding party and was decorated with two white doves atop fresh yellow mums, daisies and greenery. The cake was served by Donna McFetridge, Morgantown. The punch was served by Candi Sue Carr, cousin of the groom, Sarah Jane Schwing, Baltimore, was the photographer. Entertainment was provided by Allegheny Front. Scott Dinnel, Baton Rouge, La., escorted Cypraea.

The bride received a doctoral degree in marine ecology from the University of Georgia and is employed as a research scientist in the oceanography department in Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

The groom received a master's degree in marine science from the University of South Carolina. He has been employed as research coordinator at Skidaway Institute of Oceanography in Savannah, Ga. He has recently received a fellowship to pursue a doctoral degree in Oceanography at Dalhousie University.

The couple honeymooned at the Bavarian Inn, Shepherdstown, W.Va., and the New England states. They now make their home Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada.

Rembold Family Holds Gathering

The family of the late David O. and Pricilla Rembold, formerly of Horse Shoe Run, W. Va., held a gathering at the home of son Theodore Rembold, Aurora, on Saturday, October 19.

The children of the couple present were: their son, Clarence Rembold, his wife Pauline, son, Hugh Rembold, and daughter, Oma (Rembold) Smith, Keyser; their son, Gay Rembold, his wife, Ruby, Cumberland; son Ray Rembold, and his wife, Dorothy, Monroe Falls, Ohio; and son Theodore Rembold with his wife, Wilma, Aurora. Several grandchildren and great-grandchildren were also present from West Virginia, Maryland and Ohio.

A covered dish lunch was served.

The family is planning to hold another gathering in 1986.

Rileys Celebrate 65th Anniversary

Jasper and Nina Riley, of Jasper Riley Road near Oakland, were the guests of honor at Alifo's Restaurant in Chevy Chase October 19 as they celebrated with family and friends their 65th wedding anniversary.

Among those family members attending the event, which featured a sit-down dinner, music, and dancing, were C.L. Riley and family from Ohio, Nellie Fletcher and family, Baltimore, Willard Riley and family, Laurel, and Betty Caddy and family. Forty-five persons attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley were married in Oakland on October 12, 1920, at the home of Mrs. Riley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Brien. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arch Moore. They have resided on the Jasper Riley farm ever since that time.

The Rileys spent the week with their family near the Washington, D.C., area and returned home on October 26.

LOOK AT THE NEIGHBORHOOD

One of the most important things you should do before you buy a house is take a close look at the neighborhood. That's what makes location so important in any house-buying decision. No matter how attractive the house may be, the neighborhood location is of primary importance from an investment point of view.

Look at the surrounding houses to see if they are well maintained. If there are large tracts of vacant land nearby, ask your Realtor to check with the local planning commission to find out what their future use may be. If you're buying a house in an attractive residential neighborhood, any commercial development may have an impact on property values.

If you have children of school age, your Realtor can also help you by providing information about the school system. Local Realtors are acutely aware of all local conditions that will affect homeowners in the market area. This is just one of many professional services your Realtor can provide.

4-H Club News

Country Kids 4-H Club
Amy Caldwell, reporter

The meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was held October 15 with the junior officers presiding.

Club members talked about the results of the baby beef ticket sales. The club sold the largest number of tickets in the county, with Barbara Browning the top selling individual and Mike Weeks the second-highest selling individual in the county.

The Garrett County Fair bond, purchased by the club last year, will be kept by leader Harriet DeBerry, who will represent the club at the stockholders' dinner sponsored by the fair board.

Final plans were made for the club's family picnic to be held the following Sunday at Swallow Falls.

Various fund raising ideas were discussed. The club is considering selling hoagies or Gummy Bears, and are planning to hold a lasanga dinner in March.

The next meeting will be held in the Deer Park Community Building on November 19 at 7 p.m. Members needing help with record books are asked to bring all material with them to the meeting.

The Green Swans
by Linda Bowser, reporter

The Green Swans met October 28 at 7:00 p.m. at the Swanton Community Center. The meeting was called to order by Dotty Beckman and pledges were led by Karen Lohr. There were 8 adults and 13 children present, including: Dottie Beckman, Barbie Nelson, Betty Nelson, Robbie Nelson, Tersa Nelson, Debbie Sweitzer, Heather Sweitzer, Mike Sweitzer, Jean Wright, John Wright, Sam Wright, Andrew Beckman, Amanda Bowser, Linda Bowser, Pete Bowser, Barbara Lee, Karen Lohr, Dawn Lohr, Lewis Lohr, Pat Lohr and Patty Lohr.

Everyone dressed up in a costume and paraded around the room. The winners were: funniest, Barb Nelson; prettiest, Patty Lohr; weirdest, Mike Sweitzer; ugliest, Linda Bowser and smallest, Robbie Nelson. Everyone received a candy bar.

We voted to call our club "The Green Swan" 4-H Club. Barbara Lee is the leader, assisted by Jean Wright. Dottie Beckman, Debbie Sweitzer, Betty Nelson and Pat Lohr are project leaders. Linda Bowser is acting secretary. Karen Lohr is acting treasurer.

Every member filled out enrollment forms and made Halloween favors for the senior citizens dinner. Afterwards we had a party. We bobbed for apples and broke a candy-filled pinta.

Any adult who would like to help with the club is welcome. Any youth who is between the ages of eight and 18 is invited to come to our next meeting which is November 25 at 7 p.m. at the Swanton Community Center.

Local Municipal League Chapter Meeting Slated

The next meeting of the Allegany-Garrett counties Chapter of the Maryland Municipal League is scheduled for Thursday, November 14, at the Hill Top Inn on U.S. Route 40, just east of Grantsville.

Dinner will begin at 7 p.m., followed by the business meeting at 8 p.m. and program at 8:30.

The program will be the presentation of the 1986 Legislative Issues that were adopted by the Maryland Municipal League at their Fall Legislative Conference which they are asking legislators to enact during the session of the 1986 General Assembly.

ATTENTION DEEP CREEK LAKE PROPERTY OWNERS! A & A's Rental Department has had an outstanding year, and we are looking forward to the opportunity to represent more lakefront owners. If you would like more details about our rental program, please give us a call at 387-5832. Call now to get in our 1986 rental brochure.

Dear READERS:

Over the past two years, our business has grown dramatically and for that I thank our customers (both buyers and sellers) and I commend our sales agents who have made it possible. One result of growth has been the huge increase in the amount of newspaper space required to advertise each listing.

In the interest of providing more information on each listing as well as further identification of the property with a photo, we have produced three issues of the "A&A Review,' a comprehensive guide to our inventory of properties available for sale. During the winter season, it is our intention to use our newspaper advertising space as a means of updating our current "A&A Review," to make known the properties that have most recently been placed on the market.

Today's ad reflects only those properties which are not currently advertised in the "A&A Review." If you are actively considering the purchase of any real estate in Garrett County or nearby West Virginia, I urge you to call or stop by either of our office locations to receive your free copy of the "A&A Review." The "Review" coupled with this ad provides the most comprehensive listing of real estate in the county.

Any of our sales agents will be most happy to discuss your real estate needs and the current financing opportunities available. Again, thank you for your past support; please rest assured that we will be continuing our efforts to match buyers and sellers while providing full and complete service. Please do not hesitate to contact us concerning any question you may have that concerns real estate.

Sincerely yours,
A&A REALTY

Miss Lewis, Mr. Lewis Wed August 10 In Winchester, Va.

The wedding uniting Angela Gaye Lewis and Ralph Edward Lewis was solemnized on Saturday, August 10, at 7 p.m. at the Goodson Chapel on the campus of Shenandoah College and Conservatory, Winchester, Va., by Rev. J. Dallas Robertson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald S. Lewis, Oakland. The groom is the son of Mrs. Nell Lewis, Front Royal, Va. and the late M. Richard Lewis.

A service of prenuptial music was performed by William Baker, organist, Clifton Forge and Mrs. Susan Eberly Collins, flutist, formerly of Oakland. Soloist was Michael Forest, Appomattox, Va.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She chose an ivory gown of organza and lace with basque bodice, sheer yoke and Juliet sleeves. The skirt swept to a chapel train beneath a deep cluny lace ruffle. She wore a lace covered picture hat with a back pouf and short point d'esprit veil trimmed with lace. Her only jewelry was a pair of diamond and pearl earrings, a gift from the groom.

She carried a silk arrangement of burgundy roses, dusty rose and ivory carnations and baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Sheila Reeves, Horse Shoe Run, W. Va. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Linda Proudfoot, Swanton and Mrs. Tammy Makin, Keyser, W. Va. They were dressed in burgundy gowns and carried nosegays of burgundy roses, dusty rose and ivory carnations.

Andrew Higgs, Winchester, served as best man. Groomsmen were Dr. Peter G. Checkovich and Dr. Brandon Beck, both of Winchester. They and the bride's father were attired in ivory tuxedos with burgundy cummerbunds. The groom's tuxedo was all ivory.

A reception followed the ceremony at Greenwood Hall, catered by Jesse Curry, Winchester. The four-tier candlelit wedding cake was baked by Rhonda Shaffer, sister of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High School. She attended Allegany Community College and is currently a sophomore at Shenandoah College and Conservatory.

The groom is a graduate of Warren County High School, Front Royal, Va., Shenandoah College and Conservatory, and Greensboro College, Greensboro, N.C. He is employed by Shenandoah College and Conservatory as the associate director of admissions.

The bride was the guest of honor at a bridal shower given by Mrs. Tammy Makin and Mrs. Linda Proudfoot.

After a honeymoon on St. John and St. Thomas U.S. Virgin Islands, the couple established residence at 2390 Fairfield Dr., Winchester, Va.

Aurora-Oakland Couple To Wed

Sandra Sharpless, Brian Noble Exchange Vows September 21

Wedding vows were exchanged September 21 by Sandra (Cookie) Sharpless and Brian Scott Noble. The double ring ceremony took place in the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, with Rev. Hal Rotruck officiating.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Norma Beckman at the piano with Mrs. Susan Stem, soloist, singing, "Can't Help Falling In Love," "We've Only Just Begun" and "One Hand, One Heart."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sharpless, Kitzmiller. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Noble, Accident.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of organza and Chantilly lace and pearls; shepherdess sleeves with lace caps and cuffs; organza skirt with pleated front panel edged with lace, Chantilly lace back panel sweeping to a cathedral train. She wore a picture hat trimmed in Chantilly lace and seed pearls with shoulder length veil. Her cascading bouquet was made up of silk roses in shades of lavender, pink and white, centered with orchids.

The bride's jewelry was a rose gold wrist watch belonging to her grandmother, a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the groom and a string of cultured pearls borrowed from a friend.

Janice Wolf, who served as her sister's matron of honor, wore a gown of pale lavender and a picture hat of white, trimmed in lavender netting. She carried a white lace fan with lavender silk flowers and streamers.

Bridesmaids were Cheryl Yommer, friend of the bride, and Leilani Noble, sister of the groom. They wore deep shades of lavender with picture hats trimmed in silk flowers and Chantilly lace bows. They carried white lace fans with silk flowers and streamers.

Lisa Yommer, flower girl, wore a white gown with lavender Chantilly pinafore and pantaloons made by Glenda Sharpless. She carried a basket of silk flowers and wore a picture hat.

Harland Sharpless, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and was dressed in a silver tuxedo with a lavender boutonniere.

Serving as best man was Gordon Noble, brother of the groom. Ushers were Mark Wolf, nephew of the bride, and DeWayne Noble, brother of the groom. Brandon Wolf, nephew of the bride, lighted candles and served as junior usher. Randall Sharpless Jr. and Ryan Wolf, nephews of the bride, carried her train. All the male attendants wore silver tuxedos with white shirts and lavender boutonnieres.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with lavender shirt and boutonniere.

Glenda Sharpless, sister-in-law of the bride, was hostess at the church. She passed out rose bud rice packets. She was also in charge of the guest book at the church and reception.

As a surprise for the bride and groom, a limousine was provided by Karen Wolf for transportation from the church to the Oakland Fire Hall, where a buffet dinner was prepared and served by Joann Glotfelty assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hanlin, Helen Wolfe and Nancy Fazenbaker.

The four-tier center wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, and two two-tier side cakes topped with wedding bells and spanned by lace stairways, were baked by Joann Glotfelty and cut and served by Mrs. Loraine Noble, aunt of the groom, and Angie Marzock.

Punch and coffee were served by Mrs. Bernadine Evans, aunt of the bride. Roger Glotfelty was bartender at an open bar.

All the flowers, hats and floral arrangements for the wedding and reception were made and arranged by Joann Glotfelty. Music for the reception was provided by The Riggins Brothers Band. A video of the wedding and reception was recorded by Richard McIntyre of Cumberland.

The bride was honored at a bridal shower, given by Mrs. Ritchie Sharpless at her home.

Out-of-town guests were from Florida, West Virginia, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Following a trip to Virginia Beach and Colonial Williamsburg, the couple established residence near Kitzmiller.

Clatterbuck-Reall Wedding Date Set

Corann Clatterbuck, of Deer Park, announces the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Deborah K. Clatterbuck, to Richard E. Reall, son of George and Patsy Reall of Mountain Lake Park.

The ceremony will be performed November 16, at 10 a.m., at the Bethel United Methodist Church in Mountain Lake Park. A reception will follow.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Church Women Observe World Community Day

The Garrett County Chapter of Church Women United observed World Community Day at the Bethel United Methodist Church, Friday, November 1. The program entitled "Harvest of Blessings" was written by farm women from the midwest. The guest speaker for the afternoon was Beverly Sincell.

Other participants in the program were Mary June Harvey, Sylvia Pritts, Helen Henline, Charlotte Mousch, Martha Glotfelty, Louise Bekcman, Sally Steyer, Audrey Brenneman, Anna Beckman, Connie Trickett, Helen Keller, Nettie Peck, Helen Glotfelty, Katherine Speicher, Lori Schmuck, Audrey Hahn, Bernice Idleman and Pat Steyer as organist.

Appreciation was extended to Rev. David Mahoney for welcoming the group to his church and to the women of the church for the refreshments served following the program.

There were 38 in attendance representing 12 churches from three different denominations.

An invitation was received from McHenry United Methodist Church to hold World Day of Prayer Services there on March 7, 1986.

Cross-Lites says:

"What will you do to let God know that you are satisfied with what Jesus did about your sins?"

The Methodist Youth Burlington Home Booth Festival will be held Sunday, November 10, at 6:30 p.m. at the Friendsville Methodist Church. Eleven churches of North Garrett Parish are invited to participate, each displaying a decorated booth based on the theme "God's Beauty Reflected In His Creation." Awards will be given to outstanding booths. Games will be played and refreshments served. All ages are welcome to attend.

Thank Offering Program

The World Thank Offering Program was held Monday evening at the Friendsville Methodist Church. Winnie Parsons gave the welcoming comments. Julia Sines introduced the youth choir from the Pentecostal Church, with Larry Suter, director, and Mrs. Reba Riffle, organist. The youth who sang three hymns were: Teresa Bittinger, Dawn Artice, Jennifer Schroyer, Sue and Marcey Suter, John Meyers, Glenda Artice, Tom Bittinger, Ramona Artice, Bert Sliger and Clint Artice.

Mrs. Susan Elliott Meyers who had attended the School of Christian Missions in July, gave a report on the three-day affair. Michele Ahlfeld gave the closing prayer.

Thirty-four women from the three United Methodist Churches (Blooming Rose, Selbysport and Friendsville) and two guests attended the meeting. Each group had a short business meeting and refreshments were served by the Friendsville UMW.

To Serve Brotherhood

The Friendsville UMW will serve dinner to the Brotherhood of three Methodist Churches (Blooming Rose, Selbysport and Friendsville) on Tuesday, November 12, at 6:30 p.m. at the church. The UMW members will have a short business session after the dinner.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

Library News

A collection of books was given to the Terra Alta Public Library by Joyce Bolyard McGinnis, Lexington, Ky.

Ambulance Report

The Terra Alta Ambulance Squad reported 31 runs, 14 emergency runs, 4 transports, 935 miles, 14 medic runs and 268 actual hours during September. Total 1985 is 320 runs, 237 emergency runs, 63 transports, 13,465 miles, 100 medic runs and 2,261 man hours.

The Squad met on October 28 for its regular monthly meeting which was opened by the chairman Delores Pomeroy.

It was reported that a new heart monitor, new Mast trousers and a pediatric hair traction splint have been purchased.

The EMT classes have been rescheduled for early December. Interested persons should contact Buck Short.

The Terra Alta Bank has donated ¼ of a beef to the Terra Alta Ambulance which will be raffled. The drawing will be in December. Anyone interested in purchasing a ticket may contact any member of the squad.

NHS CLASS OF 1970 HOLDS REUNION — Camp Hickory, near Accident, was the setting for the 15-year reunion held on July 14 by the 1970 graduating class of Northern High School. A picnic was enjoyed by the class members and their families. Following the picnic, swimming was available in the outdoor pool. Ross Glotfelty gave the invocation, and class members read the class prayer written by Greg Hinebaugh. The class dedicated July 14 to Mark Bradley Sanner, the only deceased class member. Acknowledgements and gifts were given to the following classmates: Carson and Ramona Hummel, traveling the farthest; Ronnie Wagner, having the most children; Thomas Menges, having the youngest child; and Edward and Rhonda Bach, having the oldest child. The 15-year class reunion committee consisted of Connie Trickett, chairperson, Pam Cutler, Rodney Glotfelty, Edith Jenkins, Connie Savage, Linda Severe, David Thomas, Allen and Susan VanSickle, and Ronald Wagner. It was decided that plans for a 20-year reunion would be chaired by Ronald Wagner. Those attending, pictured left to right, are: front, David Thomas; second row, Carson Hummel, Ken Wilt, and Ronald Wagner; third row, Connie (Williams) Trickett, Kristen (Friend) Enlow, Allen VanSickle, Connie (Klotz) Savage, Pam (Klotz) Cutler, Edward Bach, Ester Beitzel, and Linda (Upold) Severe; fourth row, Marietta (Beitzel) Allen, Jackie (Kidd) Jewell, Ezra Maust, Kathy (DeWitt) Hinebaugh, Edith Rae Jenkins, Rhonda (Bowser) Bach, Gloria (Bender) Beitzel, Susan (Whal) VanSickle, and Ramona (Bender) Hummel; back row, Larry Bender, Ross Glotfelty, Cindy (Beachy) Stanton, Sam Stanton, Rodney Glotfelty, Thomas Menges, and Greg Hinebaugh.

TURKEY TIME

Thanksgiving is turkey time. It is a time when more people eat the same entree at dinner than any other day of the year.

Turkeys come in a variety of sizes, and can be purchased whole or in parts. They are available fresh, frozen, self-basted and pre-stuffed. To help make your holiday meal a success, here are several guidelines to be followed to ensure quality and safety:

*Look for a USDA inspection mark on the label when buying a turkey. This means it has been inspected by the United States Department of Agriculture and that it is safe and wholesome.

*Since there is very little difference between a fresh turkey and a frozen one, your choice should be based on personal preference or convenience. When choosing a frozen turkey, be sure to select one that is solidly frozen. A whole frozen turkey can be stored in the home freezer (0°F. or below) for up to a year without appreciable loss of quality.

*When thawing a turkey, remember that it MUST be kept cold. The preferred method is to thaw it in the refrigerator, but it can also be thawed in cold water, kept continuously cold. NEVER thaw a turkey on the kitchen counter, because bacteria present on the surface of the turkey can multiply to dangerous levels.

*Turkeys should not be stuffed until just before cooking because harmful bacteria can multiply in stuffing and cause food poisoning.

*All stuffing should be removed from the turkey as soon as cooking is complete. Cooked turkey should NOT be left out at room temperature for more than two hours!

*Leftover turkey will keep in the refrigerator for 3 to 4 days, but stuffing and gravy should be used within 1 to 2 days. Bring leftover gravy to a rolling boil before serving. Leftover turkey, stuffing, and gravy can also be frozen, but should be used within one month.

Turkey is an excellent source of protein and several vitamins and minerals, and is lower in fat and cholesterol than red meat. Light turkey meat has less fat and cholesterol than the dark meat. You can substantially reduce your consumption of calories by not eating the turkey skin.

"Talking About Turkey: How to Buy, Store, Thaw, Stuff and Prepare Your Holiday Bird," a new USDA bulletin is available free from the Extension Office. This is an excellent booklet to keep as a reference with your cookbook. To receive your copy, stop by the Extension Office or call 334-2145.

Here is a recipe to help you use up your turkey leftovers.

TURKEY SALAD

3½ cups turkey, cooked, diced
1 cup celery, chopped
¼ cup pickles, sweet, chopped
½ cup low-calorie salad dressing, mayonnaise-type
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
6 lettuce leaves

Mix turkey, celery and pickles together lightly. Mix salad dressing, lemon juice and salt until smooth. Gently stir salad dressing into turkey mixture. Chill thoroughly. Serve on lettuce leaves. Makes 6 servings, about ⅔ cup each.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

"Sensational Sweatsuits," a class on how to make sweatsuits for yourself and for others, will be held on November 14 from 12 noon to 1 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Extension Office in Oakland. The same class will be offered at the Grantsville Health Center on November 18 at 10 a.m. All interested persons are invited and are asked to call 334-2145 to register for this free class.

A wide variety of holiday classes will be offered at the Extension Office in the next two months, including: Holiday Breads, Original Ornaments, Rubber Stamping, Gift Wrapping Tips and Microwaving for the Holidays. To receive a schedule of these classes and a registration form, call 334-2145 or stop by the Extension Office in the Courthouse Annex. Everyone is invited to these classes.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

James Otnos conducted worship services on Sunday at all three Lutheran churches of the parish. Next Sunday, there will be Holy Communion with Rev. Beryl Maurer officiating.

Emmanuel's LCW will meet on Friday evening for their monthly meeting. Margaret Hershberger and Lottie Brenneman will present the topic. Dorothy Teets will conduct the thank offering service.

A fellowship dinner was held on Sunday at the Glade Minnonite Church.

The Bittinger parish Youth group went trick-or-treating for UNICEF on Sunday evening.

Lectors for Sunday were Marvin Beckman, St. John's; Margie Brenneman, Emmanuel; and Sharron Shawley, Zion.

This Sunday, November 10, the musical group "Rescued" will present a program at the Glade Mennonite Church at 7 p.m.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Charleen Thomas entertained with a surprise birthday party and buffet supper on Saturday in honor of her mother, Mrs. Hazel Evans. Mrs. Evans lives at the Meadows Apartments in Mt. Lake Park. There were 25 guests present and it was held in the recreation room of the apartment building. The group played games and prizes were awarded.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

The annual meeting and award luncheon of Dairymen, Inc. was held October 26 at Cockeysville, Md., in the Marriott Hunt Valley Inn. Among those who have been on the Dairymen Honor Roll and received a Silver Merit Award for quality milk was William Lantz of Aurora. This award is based on outstanding achievement in providing milk for the market free from bacteria, antibiotics, water and evidence of good herd health. The award was accepted by his son, Willie Lantz, who was accompanied to the luncheon by Arlene Roth.

Relatives here were notified of the death of David Shively, 36, of Cheraw, Colorado on October 25, 1985. David was the son of Martha Judy Shively of Cheraw and the late Rev. Ernest Shively. He is also survived by two sisters, Jean Sittner of Ellenwood, Kansas, Harriet Sutton of Colorado Springs, Col.; four nieces and one nephew, grand-nieces and nephews; four aunts, Mrs. Goldie Moon of Oakland, Mrs. Florence Harsh of Thomas, Mrs. Maude Feather of Eglon, and Mrs. Mary Hamstead of Greenwood, Del.; one uncle, John Judy, Horse Shoe Run, all relatives on the Judy side of the family.

Services were held at the graveside in Cheraw on October 28.

The Aurora PTO will meet at the school on November 12 at 7 p.m. All parents are urged to attend.

Congressman Harley Staggers Jr. met with a group of concerned parents and others at the Aurora Fire Hall Saturday, November 2, to attempt a solution to the problems of the length of the school day brought about by the Recht decision concerning West Virginia schools. Teachers were also represented at the meeting, since they are also directly affected by this decision. Concerned parents and teachers who were not present may contact a representative who was there for information as to how to proceed with further action.

Forty-seven members signed the register at the November 2 meeting of Union District Senior Citizens. Twenty-two, including seven new members, paid their dues. Grace for the 6 p.m. dinner was asked by Galen Fike.

Marguerite Shaffer was welcomed back after several months absence because of illness and a card was signed for Ernestine Sisler who has been ill for a few weeks.

Wilda Wilt, president, presented the devotions, reading from Matthew 5:1-12 and a meditation on "Thanks", concluding with prayer. Linda Garletts, Senior RN, was present to do blood pressure checks. Annie Ringer presented information concerning heating assistance for the low-income person.

Ernest Shaffer showed the film "Wise Use of Drugs for Older Americans", which showed the interaction of over-the-counter drugs with prescription medications and the interaction of prescription drugs.

Guests present were Linda Garletts, Thelma Huffman, Virginia Christopher, and Annie Ringer. The Rev. Annabelle Childers gave the benediction.

Among recent errors in the news was that of the attendance at the John and Connie Fint housewarming. It should have read that 80 were present, not eight, as reported.

A Family Community Leadership Conference was held October 15-17 in Amherst, Mass., co-sponsored by the National Extension Homemakers Council and Kelloggs Corporation. Among those in attendance were nine Extension Homemakers staff and members from West Virginia who were trained in terms of three in three categories: effective meetings, leadership skills, and conflict management. Those who attended will be presenting programs in these fields to Extension Homemakers in West Virginia. Enroute home, the West Virginians visited Sturbridge Village and places of interest.

Opal Myers of Aurora, vice-president of West Virginia Extension Homemakers Council, attended the meeting which had been planned by Delores Westbrook of Kingwood, Easter Regional Director for Extension Homemakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lipscomb of Eglon and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lipscomb and their son of near Martinsburg recently visited Willis Harsh in the Poling home on Stemple Ridge.

Mrs. Eldean Poling and her daughter, Gloria Harsh, Stemple Ridge, went to Wadsworth, Ohio, last week for the 16th birthday of the former's granddaughter, Amy Boyett, on October 29. Amy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyett. Her mother baked the birthday cake which her father decorated in a Halloween theme. Returning home on Thursday, Mrs. Poling and Gloria stopped in Parkersburg to have lunch with Mrs. Poling's son and family, Roger and Pai Harsh and son.

Artenis Harsh has returned to his home at Eglon from the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and was visited by his son-in-law and daughter, Merrill and Joy Flory of Fairborn, Ohio.

Pam Garrett returned last Sunday to her home in Eglon from Garrett Memorial and has resumed her work at Red House School.

The Galen Fikes received word last week that his brother-in-law, Rev. Joseph Miller of Bradway, W. Va., is a patient in the University of Virginia medical center at Charlottesville where he will undergo by-pass surgery this week. Another brother-in-law, Lawrence Life, of Harrisonburg, is ill in Rockingham Memorial Hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorain Hanline of Aurora were Sunday dinner guests in Oakland with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Beckman. Other guests there were Dan and Elaine Stemple, the Beckman's son-in-law and daughter of Morgantown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoisington of Kent, Ohio, were recent guests with her mother, Mrs. Lydia Harsh, of Aurora. Also visiting with Mrs. Harsh have been her children and grandchildren from the local area and the Rev. Annabelle Childers. Mrs. Harsh is ill at this time.

The Rev. Curt Lowrey of Martinsburg visited this weekend with friends here, including Ron and Avenell Parsons at Eglon and John Judy at Horse Shoe Run.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Harsh of Eglon were Sunday guests of his brother and sister-in-law in Fort Ashby, Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Harsh.

Mrs. Ina Beckman, who is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Harsh, spent this weekend with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Beckman and Gary at Loch Lynn.

"Partners in Peace" was the theme of the annual Lutheran Church Women's Fall Retreat held October 26-27 at Jackson's Mill for Ohio-Kanawha and Mountain Districts of the W. Pa.-W.V. Snyod. Attending from St. Paul's in Aurora were Frances Roth and Phyllis Vandevender.

On Sunday evening, October 20, members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church gathered in the church parish hall for a buckwheat cake supper. Special guests for the evening were Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Friend and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lichty of Oakland who showed slides of one of their trips to Haiti where they have helped to provide medical, dental, and spirtual aid to the people there.

Five students at Potomac State College of W.V.U. from this area are among the 24 from the school selected as national outstanding campus leaders and whose names will appear in the 1986 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges. They are: Roxanne Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Evans of Horse Shoe Run; Tadjana Gank, daughter of Melvin and Vesta Gank, Aurora; Lyvonne Harsh, daughter of Marvin and Ellen Harsh, Horse Shoe Run; Terry Hauser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hauser, Eglon; William D. Lantz, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Lantz, Sr., Aurora. These students have been nominated for the honor based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Word was received here of the October 25 death of Michael Robert Ziegler, 93, of Broadway, Va. Mr. Ziegler was well-known throughout the Christian circles for his work with the World Council of Churches in development of CARE and CROP and for establishing the On Earth Peace program, a peace academy and bookstore.

Mr. Ziegler was born November 9, 1891, at Broadway, Va., and was an ordained minister in the Church of the Brethren. He was a graduate of Bridgewater College, attended Vanderbilt University, Bethany Biblical Seminary and the University of Chicago Divinity School.

He married the former Amy Arnold on August 19, 1918, and she preceded him in death on August 16, 1958. Two children survive, Geraldine Glick and Robert Ziegler, plus six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

There were 38 in attendance for the November 1 observance of World Community Day with the theme, Harvest of Blessings, brought out in a program of prayer and meditation. A short skit or monologue on the Blessings theme was presented by the president, Rita Sue Harsh. "Count Your Blessings" was sung by Debbie Pifer. Each member present was asked to state that for which they were thankful. The Rev. Annabelle Childers served as leader for the program.

The meeting began with a covered dish luncheon and continued with a business meeting during which time it was decided that Maple Spring Church would be host to the World Day of Prayer on March 7 and the Amboy Church will host the May Day Luncheon on May 2. Mrs. Frances Roth is serving as president for 1986 and has met with the West Virginia president of Church Women United, sponsor of these observances. The Union District group will now be a member of this state organization.

Judge Convicts Virginia Man Of Drug Charge

In Garrett County District Court proceedings on Tuesday, Judge Jack Turney found a Triangle, Va. man to be guilty of unlawful possession of marijuana.

Gerald Hudson, 40, pled guilty to the drug charge, and received an 89 day prison sentence. The judge then suspended the sentence, placing Hudson on 12 months unsupervised probation.

A second drug charge was not prosecuted by the court .

The charges were filed by James O. Wilburn, supervisor of the Deep Creek Lake State Park, following a July 11 incident when the suspected marijuana, along with various drug paraphernalia, was found.

Hudson's trial had been postponed from August 27 because the drug analysis had not yet been completed.

In another case, a presentence investigation was ordered for Terry D. Murphy, 18, Palmer, Ill., after he pled guilty to two counts of theft.

According to court documents, Murphy took a pair of jeans and six candy bars from Heck's Department Store on August 13. The total cost of the stolen items reached $21.80. On September 9, Murphy took $168 and three money bags from Lakeside Pizza, McHenry.

The charges were filed by Cpl. Michael R. Mattingly of the Maryland State Police.

A charge of breaking and entering was not prosecuted by the court.

Murphy was represented by John R. Toston, public defender.

In another case, Robert E. Eichorn, 21, Frostburg, was found to be guilty of battery and malicious destruction of the property of another. However, upon reviewing the evaluations concerning Eichorn's competency and responsibility for these acts, Turney committed Eichorn to the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene for care and treatment.

The charges were filed by Virginia Eichorn, Frostburg, following a July 9 incident.

Eichorn was represented by Toston.

The judge granted probation before judgment for Robert K. Graham, 23, New Martinsville, W.Va., and placed him on 30 days unsupervised probation.

Graham faced a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon, which was filed by Gary A. Berkebile of the Maryland State Police following a September 21 incident.

According to court documents, a set of nunchaku, a weapon made by connecting two pieces of wood with leather, chain or rope, was found in the rear seat of Graham's vehicle when Berkebile stopped him for a traffic violation.

Larry F. Schenk, Deer Park, was found not guilty of a charge of animal cruelty which was filed by Bernadine Friend, Friendsville.

A charge of breaking and entering theft against Robin J. Davis, 41, Friendsville, was not prosecuted by the court due to insufficient evidence.

The charge was filed by Cpl. M. Mattingly, of the Maryland State Police, following a June 30 incident in Accident.

Davis was represented by Toston.

A charge of battery against Earl. E. Thomas, 28, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted by the court because the complainant did not wish to testify.

The charge was filed by Jerry Morgan, Oakland, following a September 29 incident there.

State Jobless Rate Unchanged, Garrett's Lower

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate remained stable in September 1985, holding at the August rate of 4.3 percent, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Employment and Training. This September's rate was the lowest for a September since 1973.

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate dropped from 8.3 percent in August to 8.1 percent in September. The 1984 September rate was 9.3 percent.

Between August and September, Maryland's civilian labor force decreased by 14,017 persons, to total 2,277,459 as students and other summer workers continued to leave the labor market. Employment dropped by 13,824 persons for a total of 2,180,255. The number of unemployed persons, declining slightly by 193 persons to total 97,204, represented the lowest level of unemployed persons since May 1976.

In Garrett County the labor force dropped from 12,067 in August to 11,903 in September. There were 996 persons without jobs in August and 969 in September.

Over the year, the state labor force increased by an estimated 35,642. Employment grew by 48,084 persons. Meanwhile, unemployment declined by 12,442 persons.

Of the State's total unemployed, an estimated 30.4 percent received unemployment insurance benefits in September.

Employment in education increased substantially in September as schools began their fall semesters. Other hiring was noted in construction, trucking, school bus driving, and personal services. Meanwhile, large numbers of summer workers were laid off in all levels of governments, membership organizations, food processing, eating and drinking places, food stores, hotels and lodging places, amusement and recreation services, and health services.

The national unemployment rate, like Maryland's, was unchanged in September, remaining at the August rate of 6.9 percent. In August, only four states had lower unemployment rates than Maryland. They included New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Maine and Rhode Island.

Unemployment among black persons, nationally, was up from the 14.3 percent recorded in August to 15.1 in September. In Maryland, the unemployment rate among black persons, reported annually, was 9.3 percent in 1984.

In the Baltimore metropolitan area, the unemployment rate increased slightly from 5.0 percent in August to 5.2 percent in September. Baltimore City's unemployment rate rose from 6.4 to 6.6 percent.

Unemployment in Maryland's suburbs of the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area in September remained at the August rate of 2.8 percent.

Western Maryland's unemployment rate increased from 6.7 to 6.9 percent. In the balance of the state, the unemployment rate dropped from 5.9 to 5.3 percent.

Statewide, during September, Maryland's enemployment rates ranged from 2.3 percent in Frederick County to 9.8 percent in Somerset County.

When you shop for a new car, you probably consider gasoline mileage, handling, good looks, and certainly price. Look at insurance costs, too.
The insurance industry keeps detailed records on the experience records of different types of cars. They note which cars are stolen most often, which get into accidents, and what it costs to repair those cars.
That's the raw information that the companies use to determine the premiums they'll charge to insure your car. And it makes sense that the cars that cost LESS to replace and repair will cost less to insure.
For instance, fancy sports cars with sun roofs, top-grade stereos, turbo-chargers, and the like cost more to buy—and to insure.
It's smart to look at the experience data for damage and fatalities. It may lead you to choosing a safer car as well as to lower premiums.
For every car, you'll get the right auto insurance for your needs at BLOODMOBILE VISITS GCC — The American Red Cross Bloodmobile, from Johnstown, Pa., visited Garrett Community College on Monday to collect blood from students, faculty and staff. Kay Buck, R.N., stated "Our goal was nearly met for the second consecutive year and the college visit was again a positive experience." Pictured above is Florence Newton, L.P.N., preparing Southern High graduate Jeff Ashby. Also pictured are Brad Basinger, left, a GCC baseball player and S.G.A. president, Kim Martin.

Changes In Optometry Licensing Procedures Recommended By Sachs

The Antitrust Division of the Office of the Maryland Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs has issued a report reviewing the regulations and practices of the State Board of Examiners in Optometry. The 24-page report concludes that most of the activities of the Board, which licenses and regulates optometrists in the State, are within the Board's statutory authority, but it recommends some changes in the Board's licensing procedures and advertising regulations.

The report notes that in 1982, Maryland ranked 48th out of the 50 States in the number of optometrists per thousand individuals. This fact caused the Attorney General's Office to examine carefully the Board's licensing requirements and procedures.

In the past, applicants for an optometry license have been required to pass a rigorous four-day examination that included an essay that was graded by Board members, as well as Board-administered clinical and practical tests. In its report, the Antitrust Division praises a recent decision by the Board to replace most of its written examination with the more objective National Boards, and it advises the Board to consider conducting the clinical and practical examinations twice a year rather than once a year, as it now does. The Division also advises the Board not to consider any unauthorized criteria such as: an applicant only plans to practice part time when evaluating an applicant's qualifications for licensure.

Today's report is the latest in a series of formal reviews instituted by Sachs of the regulatory practices of Maryland's occupational licensing boards. Sachs initiated the antitrust reviews of Maryland's professional licensing boards in 1980 to ensure that the boards not limit competition in Maryland any more than the General Assembly has expressly empowered them to do.

"These reviews have had a direct impact on the state's regulation of various industries and professionals," Sachs said. "The process has protected the right that the public has to a free and vigorously competitive marketplace unless the General Assembly, in particular instances, has said otherwise," the Attorney General said.

The Antitrust Division's latest report also recommends modifications to the Optometry Board's proposed regulations on advertising by optometrists. Among other things, the proposed regulations would require that the names of all the optometrists associated with a practice be listed in any advertising by that practice. This would make advertising by large optometric franchises virtually impossible. The Division advises the Board that it may not impose such unduly burdensome disclosure requirements on optometric advertising.

The Board is considering changes to its regulations to implement the Division's proposals, and it is drafting statutory amendments for submission to next year's General Assembly that will clarify the Board's statutory authority in those areas where the Division found that its regulatory practices were outside the scope of its statute.

Previous reports by the Antitrust Division have dealt with the procedures and regulations of the Board of Barber Examiners, the Board of Cosmetologists, the State Board of Commissioners of Practical Plumbing, the Maryland Real Estate Commission, the Board of Examiners of Maryland Pilots, the State Board of Public Accountancy, and the Maryland State Board of Morticians. Copies of the Division's reports are available upon request.

Traffic Mishaps Claim 12 Lives

Reports received from law enforcement agencies throughout the State of Maryland disclosed that 12 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents during the week ending November 3. Of these fatalities, six were drivers, one was a passenger and five were pedestrians. Preliminary investigation of these accidents revealed that alcohol was a contributing factor in one death, speed in four and driver error in eight.

Traffic fatalities in Maryland through November 3 total 620, compared to 532 during the same period last year.

tat for Humanity" which is a non-profit Christian housing ministry working in partnership with poor people to improve the condition in which they are forced to live. Habitat challenges people of compassion to provide the initial capital through gifts and no-interest loans to build or renovate simple, decent homes for the inadequately sheltered. Houses are sold at no profit with a non-interest mortgage repayable over a 15 to 25-year period. Projects in the USA and around the world are governed by a local interdenominational habitat committee or board of directors which sets up an impartial family selection process.

The seeds of Habitat for Humanity, Inc., were planted in 1968 at Koinonia Farm, a Christian community in Sumter County near Americus, Georgia. Since then it has expanded practically throughout the world. Anyone can become a member of the organization for only one dollar per year. In Preston County, interested persons should contact Rev. Charles R. Eble, P.O. Box 115, Arthurdale, WV 16520.

In the Governor's Newsletter for October, the District Governor emphasizes the "gift of life," referring to the two young Koreans brought to the United States for heart surgery at WVU Hospital through the efforts of local Rotary Clubs.

The Polio Plus program has a high priority in District 753. Symbolic of this program worldwide will be the 1986 Rose Bowl Float to which most of the clubs have contributed. On it will be Wilbur, one of the polio victims, who can now walk because of the Rotary's 3-H program.

Nominations for the "Key Man" from District 753 should reach the Governor's office by March 15, 1986. The "Key Man" of the year is one who has proven to be an outstanding leader through community service and world understanding.

NO. 408 CIVIL ACTION
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY
MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situate in Election District No. 4, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland to Elmer Lee Jr.

All that piece or parcel of land situate in Election District No. 4, Garrett County, Maryland and describedd as follows, to wit:

ALL that tract of land located near Bloomington, Garrett County, Maryland, and being that tract of land lying and being between the property line of property owned by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the property line of property owned by Robert C. Moorehead, along the Savage River Road.

BEING the same as conveyed by Dewey Moorehead and Ethel Moorehead, his wife, to Charles Moorehead, by deed dated June 9, 1955, and recorded in Liber No. 190, Folio 131 &c., one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The complaint states, among other things, that title to said property was vested in the above named defendants at the time of said tax sale and still so remains; that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than one year and a day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 9th day of October 1985, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks, warning all persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court by the 10th day of December, 1985, and redeem the property herein described and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

Patz What thousands of farmers know.

A quality gutter chain is your best buy. That's why the PATZ hook-and-eye chain has remained so popular for over 35 years.

The chain stays on the PATZ 4-tooth drive sprocket. Every link is inspected to meet high quality standards. Paint is baked on to retard corrosion. forged-steel links are heat treated for extra wear resistance, and there is extra thickness in the hook.

Terra Alta Youth Found Murdered

A Terra Alta, W.Va. youth was found stabbed to death Tuesday morning by a search party of volunteer firemen, according to the Preston County Sheriff's Department.

The victim was 13-year-old Jeremiah Matthew Watkins, son of Mrs. Enid (Zweyer) Watkins, with whom he resided.

No suspects are being held at the present time, but the investigation is continuing, said a spokesman for the Sheriff's Department.

The search party was organized Saturday after the boy was reported missing. The youth was found on the outskirts of Terra Alta late in the morning.

Born in Morgantown, W.Va., the boy was also the son of the late James E. Watkins.

Besides his mother, he is survived by one sister, Jamie Victoria Watkins, at home; his maternal grandparents, Edgar Zweyer and Glenna (Stone) Zweyer, Kingwood; and his paternal grandfather, Edward Watkins, of Ohio. His paternal grandmother was the late Cora (Rappelee) Watkins.

Friends will be received at the Fike-Watson Funeral Home, Terra Alta, today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home tomorrow at 1:00 p.m., by the Rev. Philip Bayliss and the Rev. Wesley W. Moats. Interment will be in the Arthurdale, W.Va., Cemetery.

DISTRICT CHAMPIONS — The Northern High School girls varsity volleyball team, by virtue of winning the District 1, Class C championships last weekend, now have the opportunity for a state title. The Lady Huskies are the second seeded team in the state and will begin competition this weekend at Catonsville. This is the first time that a Garrett County volleyball team has reached the state playoff level and, to commemorate the event, the county commissioners signed a proclmation this week designating Saturday as Northern Garrett Huskies Girls Volleyball Day. Road Conditions Still A Problem In Md. And W.Va.

Reports from the Garrett County Roads Department and the Maryland State Highway Administration show that conditions in the county are back to normal with a few exceptions. The Shallmar Road is open to residents only. East Main Street in Kitzmiller is now open. Spring Lick Road is still closed to all traffic. All state roads are open and passable.

In Allegany County, the Maryland Department of Transportation reports that the bridge connecting Allegany County with Morgan County, W.Va., at Paw Paw (Md. Rt. 51) is still unusable, and it has not yet been determined when that bridge can be repaired and reopened.

Reports from West Virginia Department of Highways officials in Burlington, Elkins and Clarksburg disclose the following conditions of several Mountain State highways:

The bridge over the South Branch of the Potomac west of Romney (U.S. Rt. 50) is impassable. Highway officials hope the bridge can be reopened in about one week. Otherwise,

Low Bids Are Too High For Three County Sewer Projects

On October 23 the Garrett County Sanitary Commission opened bids for the Gorman, Bloomington, and Kitzmiller sewer projects. The low bids on all three of the projects were higher than the engineers' estimates, making completion of at least one of the projects questionable.

Gorman Sewer

It appears questionable if the sanitary district can go ahead with the Gorman sewer project as bid. The sanitary commission will examine the bids and see if they can re-evaluate some of the cost and go on with the project. The project is very much in question though, according to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, and some redesigning will have to be done to see if costs can be reduced.

Kitzmiller Sewer

The low bid for the Kitzmiller project was also over the facility plan estimate, which was prepared at completion of the design and presented at the public hearing. The project will need state and EPA funding and the grants will be adjusted accordingly. Beitzel explains that the impact on the local share will be minor, as the HUD grant the town has can be adjusted to accommodate the additional local share, resulting in the same user costs as those presented at the public hearing.

Bloomington Sewer

The impact is more substantial on the local share in the Bloomington project. A written letter has been sent to the state giving cost figures for the project and requesting additional supplemental grants to cover the local share. If the state agrees, the district will go ahead with the project.

The low bids received for the projects were: Kitzmiller, $1,465,580; Bloomington, $1,680,698; and Gorman, approximately $585,000. All the low bids were higher than the engineers' estimates.

Flood Damage

Some flood damage was sustained by the Kitzmiller and Gorman water systems. There is sediment and debris in the water impoundment, and a mud slide did some damage to the intake structure of the impoundment. There was also a washout at the impoundment but the structure was not damaged. Several house connections and service connections are washed out, but no damage has been done to main lines. The system was never completely out of service except for the lower end of the town. It was possible to maintain water in the tank, and the system has now been fully restored.

In Gorman, pump stations were flooded and control boxes had to be removed. The district has been able to maintain service by manual operation.

The Deep Creek System handled large volumns of water and flow. Beitzel said that the system seemed to operate without any difficulty, except for a short period of time when the flow at the treatment plant was greater than the ditch could accommodate. Beitzel explained that the main reason for so much flow was that septic tanks

Yoder Convicted Of Manslaughter

Dean Ray Yoder, 20, Accident, was convicted of four counts of vehicular manslaughter and numerous traffic charges by Judge Jack Turney in Garrett County District Court Tuesday afternoon.

Yoder had been charged in connection with the July 13 head-on collision that claimed the lives of four family members.

Yoder was convicted of driving while under the influence instead of the original charge of driving while intoxicated. Other charges included failure to keep right of center, reckless driving, and traveling at a speed greater than reasonable and prudent.

Turney released Yoder pending a pre-sentence investigation.

Yoder's attorney was Lawrence V. Kelly. The state's case was presented by State's Attorney James Sherbin.

Yoder waived his right to a jury trial and pled not guilty to all charges. He did not take the stand during the trial.

Testifying at the trial were several police officers, rescue personnel members, several of Yoder's friends, and the first responders to the scene.

The fatal accident occurred soon after 2 p.m. on the New Germany Road, just south of New Germany State Park.

Pronounced dead at the scene of the collision by Dr. James Feaster, Garrett County Medical Examiner, were Brenda Sue Broadwater, 34, Eston Broadwater, 70, Ethel Broadwater, 67, all of Cresaptown; and Wanda (Manning) Broadwater, 48, Las Vegas, Nev.

Area Flood Victims Still In Shock; 76 County Homes Sustain Damage

Garreit County residents and neighboring West Virginia communities are still reeling from the shock of the November 4-5 flood which gorged many area rivers and overflowed the banks leaving miles of destruction in its wake.

Hardest hit areas in the county included Shallmar, Kitzmiller and Crellin. According to Col. Haig Jackson, Garrett County disaster unit chairman, 63 homes sustained minor damage, 12 homes sustained major damage and one home was totally destroyed.

A breakdown of major damages shows that nine were in Crellin, two in Kitzmiller and one in Shallmar. The home that was totally destroyed was located in Shallmar.

In minor damages, 26 were located in Shallmar, 14 in Kitzmiller, 18 in Crellin, 4 in Gorman and one in Oakland.

Jackson said volunteers from the Youngstown and Cincinnati, Ohio Red Cross were also assisting with flood relief in the area.

Now the decision must be made as to who is financially able to restore their own homes and who may be able to obtain grants or low-cost home repair loans.

Damage Estimates

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners said Tuesday they have a rough estimate on the flood damages which includes one and a half million dollars for roads, bridges and culverts, and $300,000 in private property damages.

They expect to have a documented report to submit to the State Emergency Management office by Friday outlining the total damage to the county.

The commissioners said repairs to county roads will be even more costly than first anticipated because of state regulatory agencies, such as the Water Resources Administration, a division of the Department of Natural Resources.

Cleanup

Cleanup operations in the county were begun the morning after the flood as soon as the water level receded.

Kitzmiller Mayor Jim Barrick confirmed last night that East Main Street in Kitzmiller that had been totally destroyed by the raging North Branch of the Potomac River is now passable. He said town employees with the assistance of the State Highway Administration put in a temporary road. The Maryland National Guard also assisted the day after the flood. Hard surfacing the road will have to wait until spring now, said Barrick.

The mayor also said most of the townspeople are back in their homes and are continuing the cleanup of mud and debris.

Shallmar residents still have major road problems as much of that road was carried away by the swollen flood waters. Work was to have begun on that road by the Garrett County Roads Department this week, although the most Shallmar residents can hope for until spring is a temporary road.

Delays on road repairs in Shallmar and on the Spring Lick Road near Bloomington are being caused by state regulatory agencies, according to the Garrett County commissioners.

Crellin residents have all returned to their homes and are still in the process of cleaning up and drying out.

One flood victim, Betty Jo Hudnall, a resident of Crellin, gave this sage advice to people who live in flood-prone areas, "You must be responsible for watching the water level yourself. Obviously, the National Weather Service can't be at everyone's home watching for them, so please, be observant on your own. And if it happens to you, warn the people downstream so they have time to get out also."

Neighboring West Virginia communities like Parsons, Albright, Rowlesburg, Petersburg, Moorefield and Romney were not as fortunate. Thousands have been left homeless and those left with flood-torn homes are digging as much as one foot of mud out of them.

The death toll in West Virginia was still 27 yesterday. The number of missing still stands at 19. Thousands of head of livestock and poultry were also lost in the flood and efforts are now underway to safely dispose of the carcasses. The cattle must be buried and the ground spread with lime to retard bacteria.

Restoration of Utilities

Locally, power has been restored to all areas of the county. Some temporary wiring was done in the Kitzmiller-Shallmar area, but crews are still working to retrieve lines submerged in water for permanent repairs.

Certain Allegheny Power System facilities in West Virginia were severely impacted by the storms, including the Lake Lynn, Albright, Fort Martin

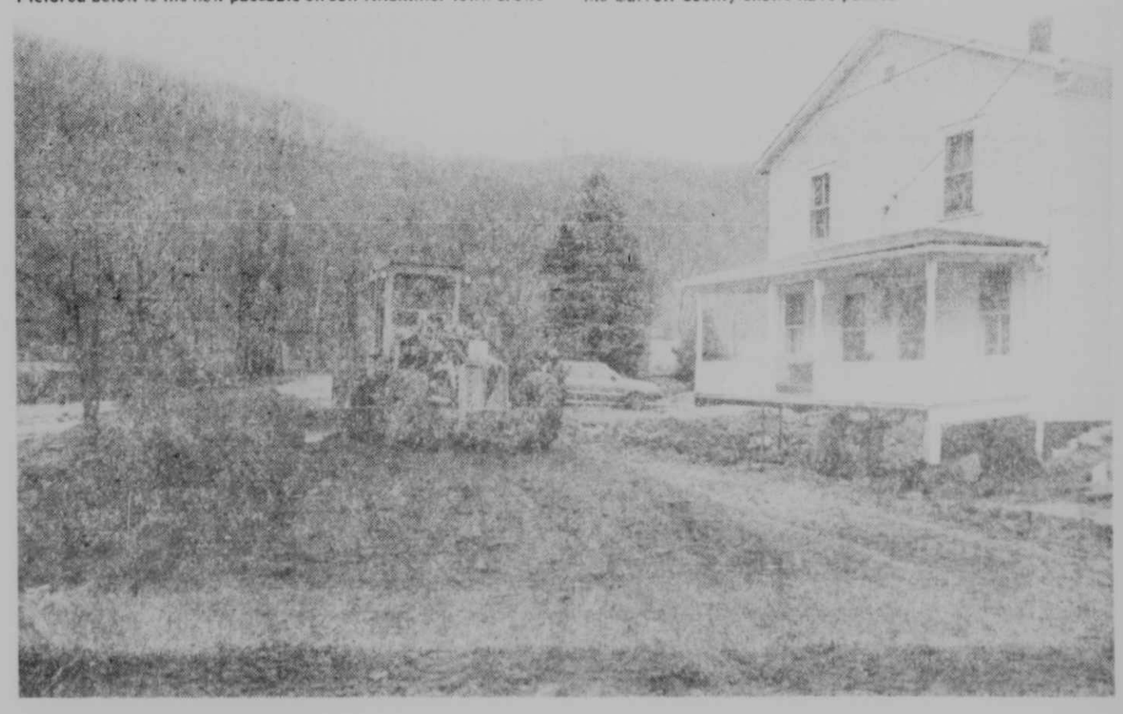
Road And Bridge Damage Assessed By Co. Officials

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday with various county agencies and spent a major portion of the day with Garrett County Roads Superintendent Paul R. Shockey. The county officials discussed the assessment of road and bridge damages which occurred as a result of last week's flood.

Although they noted that the total could go higher, the commissioners stated that there was one and a half million dollars in damages and repair costs to public use facilities, such as roads, bridges and culverts. They also estimated $300,000 in damages to private residences. A final documented assessment report is expected to be completed by Friday and will then be sent to Emergency Management personnel.



One problem the county is facing are state regulations regarding the grading and rebuilding of washed-out roads. Work on the Spring Lick Road is being delayed by the Water Resources Administration.

"These over zealous regulatory agencies are slowing down the process," said commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. "We want to restore the road-

EAST MAIN STREET, THEN AND NOW — Pictured above is Kitzmiller's East Main Street as it appeared or disappeared last Tuesday morning in the wake of the flood-swollen waters produced by the raging North Branch of the Potomac River. Pictured below is the now passable street. Kitzmiller town crews with the assistance of the State Highway Administration and the Maryland National Guard worked long hours this past week to restore the street for residents there. Mayor Jim Barrick said hard-surface pavement will not be in place until spring, long after the Garrett County snows have passed.

THE MASSING OF THE COLORS by various local veterans organizations opened a special observance of Veterans Day on Sunday afternoon at the Courthouse plaza in Oakland. Participating in the ceremony were members of Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland; Post 208, American Legion, Accident; VFW Post 10077, Deer Park; Mt. Top Chapter 29, Disabled American Veterans, Oakland; and the various auxiliary groups. Music was provided by trumpeters Bryan Custer and Lester Bittinger. Dance For Heart Plans Finalized

The American Heart Association sponsors an annual Nationwide event, "Dance for Heart", which is designed to promote dance-exercise as a lifelong activity. "Dance for Heart" also raises money to support the research, community service, public education and professional education programs of the American Heart Association - programs aimed at reducing the number of deaths caused by heart disease, the nation's number one killer.

Brenda's Body Shop, Oakland, will be coordinator of the "Dance for Heart" for the Western Maryland region. The event is to be held this Saturday, November 16, from 5 to 9 p.m. at the Southern High School gym. There will be featured entertainment, door prizes, and display tables featuring health and fitness products and literature.

The first two hours of the dance are designated for the children. Over 100 children will participate in dances designed to be entertaining and challenging, according to Brenda Brosnihan of Brenda's Body Shop. Mat Mates gymnastics club, the Aerobic Diehards dance team and the Southern Cheerleaders will be featured during the intermissions.

The Heart Association will be collecting pledge money from all the children and adults representing Brenda's Body Shop. Each dance participant will be awarded various prizes with the grand prize being a year of free classes at Brenda's Body Shop. The second grand prize is a one-month membership at the Village Nautilus.

There is a group competition that awards the club or organization with the greatest number of pledges a $500 cash prize. The Southern Colorguard, Mat Mates, Aerobic Diehards and the Southern Cheerleaders are among the group participants.

Spectators will also have a chance to win many of the door prizes and view displays by the following are businesses: Army & Navy, Sandy's, Hecks, Par-Matt Lanes, Pizza Hut, PC,s, Red Run, Shoeland, Clothing Wear-House, Brenda's Body Shop, Magic of Aloe, Concept Associates, Englander's and the Book Mark'et.

There will be refreshments available with a specific feature of nutritious fruits and juices which were donated by Browning's, Richfood, Martins, Fratz, High's, Arrowhead, Walt's, BFS, The Short Stop and Lohr Distributing Co.

Spectators are invited to watch the dancers and also learn about their health habits through a free computer analysis given by the Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Wellness program. Interested persons may also receive a free blood pressure reading from the Southern Rescue Squad.

Mitchell Manor Is Topic Of Meeting At Courthouse

Members of the Oakland Town Council met with the Garrett County Commissioners on Tuesday afternoon to discuss the possibility of adding Mitchell Manor to the town's sewer system.

Council President Francis (Hank) Seifert, and councilmen Robert Boal, Von W. Johnson, John A. Doppel, and Terry R. Helbig, along with Sol McCartney, of Potomac Engineering, who is the state and federal grant administrator for the town, reviewed the facts pertaining to Mitchell Manor and brought the commissioners up to date on the situation. Wendell Beitzel, county sanitary district administrator, was also present at the meeting.

Councilman Boal told the group that the town recently received a letter from Edgar Harman, of the Garrett County Health Department, requesting that the Mitchell Manor area be included in Oakland's plan for a sewer system.

George Keller and John Milnor of the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene attended Oakland Town Council's November meeting, and stated that they were anxious for the system to include Mitchell Manor at this time, and added that it would be much more expensive to include that area at a later date.

Beitzel said that some residents of Mitchell Manor went to Harman at the health department and reported that some of their septic systems were failing and that their wells were becoming contaminated. He also reported that the health department conducted a poll of the 28 homes in Mitchell Manor, and of those 28 homeowners 19 responded. Of those 19, 12 were for connecting to the Oakland system, and two were against being included.

Beitzel explained that there is a provision in the state law which would allow the town to provide sewer service outside of their district. The councilmen stated that they have elected not to do that, first of all because they feel that Mitchell Manor is a county problem, and secondly by forcing Mitchell Manor into their system, it could open up the town to potential litigation.

The commissioners reasoned that if Mitchell Manor's system is failing then it is a realistic problem, and sooner or later it will need to go into the Oakland system. The councilmen said that adding Mitchell Manor to their existing design would not cause a capacity problem. Council's last word was that the town will not create a sanitary district for Mitchell Manor, but will service it if the county creates it and turns it over to the town.

The commissioners said that they will discuss the problem with Beitzel and let the council know of their decision soon.

Mathias's Aide To Visit Oakland

Susan DeHart, of U.S. Senator Charles McC. Mathias's Western Maryland staff, will be in Oakland Wednesday, November 20, to meet with constituents who may need assistance in dealing with federal programs, or have suggestions on legislation before Congress.

She will be at the Commissioners' Conference Room in the Garrett County Court House between 10 a.m. and noon, and from 1 to 3 p.m. on Wednesday.

Famine Relief Group Donates To Flood Victims

The Ethiopian Famine Relief Committee, which raised over $13,000 this past spring and summer to aid starving persons in that nation, decided this week to donate the remaining funds in its account to the local flood relief effort for neighboring West Virginia counties, portions of which were devastated by last week's flood.

According to Gary Thompson, committee chairman, nearly $600 was in the account at the bank, all of which was donated to the flood relief fund. In addition, $185 from the Run for Life account was donated to the cause. Run for Life was an event which involved ten local runners who ran a relay from Oakland to Washington, D.C. to support the Ethiopian Famine Relief effort. Counting the $185 donated for flood relief this week, the run raised just over $4,000.

"Although we are still concerned about starvation throughout the world," Thompson said, "we decided that similar needs of our own citizens in times of such tragedy and loss must also receive immediate attention."

Thompson stated that the fund will remain open at the First United National Bank & Trust and the committee has plans to make it a general relief fund which can respond to whatever needs may arise, locally or otherwise, depending upon the feelings of the committee members and other concerned citizens.

ONLY HOME DESTROYED — Last week's flood totally destroyed only one home, according to Col. Haig Jackson, Garrett County chairman of the local Red Cross. The mobile home, pictured above, belonged to William Tasker of Shallmar. The force of the North Branch of the Potomac River tore the trailer from its foundation and moved it several feet. The home was nearly submerged in water damaging all the contents. Many other homes in Shallmar, Kitzmiller and Crellin sustaind major and minor damages during the flood. (See separate flood story.)

State Police Investigate Auto Theft

A car theft occurred in Swanton sometime between 9:30 p.m. November 1, and 8:30 a.m., November 2, according to Maryland State Police reports.

The vehicle, a blue 1984 Pontiac Sunbird, was removed from the driveway of the owner, Melvin R. Custer, Swanton. Police said the keys were left in the ignition and the doors unlocked.

Other stolen items included a Realistic cassette tape player and approximately seven or eight cassette tapes, all of which were in the glove box of the car.

Tpr. David W. Broadwater is investigating the theft. Losses were estimated at $6,100.

VETERANS' DAY AT NMS — Northern Middle School, under the guidance of Principal Wilda W. Massi, conducted a program on Monday entitled "Our Salute To Americanism and Veterans' Day". The Piedge of Allegiance was led by Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey. The welcome was given and the National Anthem was led by NMS students. Other students represented the "Symbols of America" and the "Flags of America". Special guests pictured above, left to right, in front of the students, are: Delegate George C. Edwards; Melvin R. Schwing, commander of Accident American Legion Post 214; Wilda W. Massi, principal NMS; Charles C. Bender, adjutant of Accident American Legion Post 214, who spoke on "What Is A Veteran"; William D. Sipple, finance officer of Accident American Legion Post 214; and Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans.

Flood Victims Continue Cleanup, Garrett Countians Quick To Respond

After last week's tragic flood which left many people homeless and jobless, Garrett Countians began responding to the needs of those flood victims by coordinating money and food drives and by offering manpower during cleanup efforts.

The need continues, though, and Brad Stewart, area coordinator for local and West Virginia flood relief announced yesterday that a public meeting will be held tonight at Southern High School to inform the public of ways they can help and also to hear the needs of those affected by the flood.

"We are hoping to bring together those who want to help and those who need help. We are urging flood victims from Garrett County as well as victims from Preston, Grant and Tucker Counties to attend this meeting," said Stewart.

Representatives from the Red Cross will also be on hand at the meeting tonight to offer suggestions for needs. Pittsburgh Red Cross chairman Pat Raugh has been in flood torn areas the past week assessing much of the damage.

Stewart also outlined the items the flood relief group is still seeking to aid the flood victims and supplies needed to help with cleanup.

Money is still needed to purchase perishable items and to aid in rebuilding. Items needed include: infant clothing, disposable diapers, personal items, feminine hygiene items, flashlights and batteries, nine–volt batteries, rat poison, rubber gloves, underwear, baby food, formula, flour, sugar, butter/oleo, dry cereal, canned soups, fruits and vegetables, powdered milk, sleeping bags and pillows.

Stewart said if donations can't be dropped off at the Southern Rescue Squad Hall or the Stewart Funeral Home, they can be picked up by calling 334-2166.

The coordinator said over $3,000 has been donated and several hundred gallons of water were given by Island Creek Coal Company. Frank Eberly donated trucks for transportation of supplies to flood areas as did Beachy Lumber Company. Bausch and Lomb offered the services of a backhoe and pickup truck.

Stewart is also hopeful that tonight's meeting will produce a bus to transport work volunteers to flood-devastated areas to aid in cleanup and restoration.

The public meeting will be broadcast over WXIE radio station.

Rowlesburg Fund Relief

Rowlesburg was among one of the hardest hit areas duing the recent flood and efforts are now underway to establish a separate relief fund for that town.

Locally, Robert Proudfoot has been coordinating the fund and supply drive.

Proudfoot said Rowlesburg cannot expect to have water for at least three days and that they have little or no heating gas.

"We desperately need kerosene heaters and kerosene," he said. "Even if people could loan us kerosene heaters, we will see that they are returned."

He said items needed most include: paper plates, saucers and cups, plastic eating utensils, canned meats, fruits, juices, vegetables, plastic scrub buckets, dishpans and other plastic housewares.

Volunteers are also needed to form workgroups of four or five persons. Those willing to help should call 334-3119.

Money and supplies may be dropped off at Proudfoot's Pharmacy on Second Street in Oakland. Checks should be made payable to Rowlesburg Relief Fund.

Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club and Oakland Rotary Club are also assisting with this drive.

Community Action Aid

Duane Yoder from Community Action said yesterday that low-interest home repair loans will be available from that agency from funds they control at the local office. He said the interest rates would begin at 3%.

"In addition, we are trying to work through the state office to obtain low-cost loans beginning at 4½%," said Yoder.

Community Action is also able to help those in need of fuel in emergency situations only under the Energy Assistance Program.

Those desiring information and applications for the low–interest loans should contact Meg Ellis at 334-9431.

Radiothon and Telethon

Radio station WMSG is sponsoring a radiothon this Sunday from 1-5 p.m., which will be broadcast live from Southern High School.

From 1-3 p.m., there will be live gospel music and from 3-5 p.m., country music will be presented featuring the group Judge and Jury.

Pledges of money and food will be taken during the afternoon.

A spokesman from the radio station said churches who wish to participate in Sunday's program should call the station at 334-3800 to sign up. He also added that local church groups are asked to request money and supplies for flood victims during morning worship services and to drop off the donations on Sunday afternoon at the station.

WXIE, local FM station is sponsoring a telethon Sunday evening from 6-10 p.m. at which time they will be soliciting money and supply donations over the air.

Food and supplies will be accepted at the radio station.

Money collected will aid Garrett County flood victims as well as Preston, Grant and Tucker County victims.

Search and Rescue

Employees of the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service spent two days last week assisting in search and rescue efforts throughout portions of Tucker County, W. Va., rescuing four individuals stranded by high water during the flood.

Within two hours of their initial notice, personnel from Garrett County were enroute to West Virginia with boats, rescue equipment, four-wheel drive and all-terrain vehicles.

Those persons involved in the rescue efforts included Joe Stevens, Dave Baker and Terry Garlitz of New Germany State Park; Chuck Thomas, Rick Lewis, Rolland Schoch and Steve Hamilton of Savage River State Forest; Carl Christensen of Herrington Manor State Park; Rick Wakefield and Dale Fike of Potomac-Garrett State Forest; and Jim Wilburn, Mike Gregory, Tom Gowans and Kent Burrell of Deep Creek Lake State Park.

DNR personnel were assigned by emergency service coordinators to search certain remote areas which had been out of contact for several days after Monday's flooding. As a result, employees were given responsibility for transporting individuals out of such areas, along with distributing food and water to those who wished to remain in their homes.

St. Mark's Aids Parsons

Nearly 40 members and friends of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, headed by Rev. Ray Ursin, met with Rev. Paul Porsche, a Lutheran pastor from West Virginia on Sunday to assist flood victims in the Parsons area.

Rev. Ursin cut Sunday's worship service short and used the sermon to illustrate the call to aid those less fortunate.

Before departing from Oakland, members of the congregation quickly gathered clothing, food, supplies and cleaning supplies and tools to distribute in Parsons.

When the group arrived at the Tucker County Vo-Tech Center, some members stayed at the school to sort clothing while other members went into the flood-torn center of town to aid in the cleanup efforts. Tons of mud were removed from homes and businesses that day.

The congregation is planning more cleanup operations where the need is greatest.

Governor Seeks Aid

Gov. Harry Hughes said yesterday he would seek $15 million in federal aid to help flood victims.

He said his request for aid would be submitted today for damages which occurred mainly in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Anne Arundel, Calvert and St. Mary's counties.

The governor also said if the aid is received it will pay 100 percent of the repair costs for some projects and 75 percent for others.

Hospital Helps Flood Victims

Employees and staff physicians of Garrett Memorial Hospital conducted their own supply drive for recent flood victims.

They supplied manpower, tetanus drugs, blankets, sheets, baby food, nutritional supplements, dry goods, paper products, cleaning products, bulk canned goods, dried beans, rice, diapers, distilled water, shaving cream, tooth brushes and toothpaste and baby oil, shampoo and powder.

A hospital spokesman said they are also prepared to provide physicians, mini-van transport and a mobile medical unit.

They have also estasblished a collection site in the hospital for donations.

Veteran Groups Hold Observance At Courthouse

A variety of veterans organizations participated in a Veterans Day observance Sunday afternoon on the Courthouse plaza in Oakland. Taking part were members of Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland; Post 208, American Legion, Accident; Post 10077, VFW, Deer Park; Mt. Top Chapter 29, Disabled American Veterans, Oakland; and the various auxiliaries of these organizations.

A massing of the colors by all of the veteran groups was led by VFW Post 10077. Hazel Meyer, commander of DAV Auxiliary Unit 29, served as mistress of ceremonies and gave a welcome. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by American Legion Post 71.

Providing music was Southern High School drum major and trumpeter, Bryan Custer, who played the Star Spangled Banner, Battle Hymn of the Republic, and together with Lester Bittinger, of Post 71, Taps.

The speaker for the program was Delegate George Edwards. Rev. William Carlson, Accident, gave the invocation and Rev. John Grant, Deer Park gave the benediction.

Vida McCrobie and Glenn Alexander gave readings, entitled "Wake Up, America" and "In Flanders Field", respectively.

At the close of the program the commanders of the veterans groups or their representatives gave a few remarks about veterans and their respective organizations.

Commanders or representatives taking part were Randall Kahl, Post 71; Roy Glotfelty, Post 208; Bill Meyers, DAV Chapter 29; and Chuck Nolan, VFW Post 10077.

Mrs. Wilda Sanders, DAV Auxiliary, thanked all for their participation and the colors were retired by VFW Post 10077.

The veterans noted their appreciation to Delegate Edwards, County Commissioners Ernest Gregg, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey, the Oakland Mayor and Town Council, and the courthouse staff for their assistance in organizing the observance.

Another Correction

In a correction in last week's issue concerning a DWI charge against a Swanton man, it was stated that the error was caused by the report filed by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department. In reality, the error was a result of information given the Department by the person arrested in the case. We apologize to Deputy P.J. Pratt, whose handling of the case and the report were correct.

At Least We're Talking

Now that Prince Chuck and Lady Di have left American soil, an event which some media seemed to conclude was so much more important than the devastation and loss of life caused by the flooding last week, the cameras are now focused on the summit meetings between the U.S. and Russia.

The topic of nuclear armaments should certainly be of concern to all of us since the meetings with the Soviets could have a direct bearing on our very survival as creatures of this planet.

Historically, from Yalta to Salt II to President Carter's meeting with Breshnev, the United States has seemed to gain little from summit meetings. The Soviets have also consistently violated the treaties and agreements and, according to some officials, have used such conferences as another weapon in their quest to disarm the West.

We are of the opinion, however, that this summit could (we emphasize could) be different. For the first time, it appears that the United States is going to the bargaining table with a few more aces in hand than the Soviets. In terms of quantity, the Russians still have more nuclear arms than the United States, however there is no question that we have the superior technology, including the Trident 2 missile, capable of being launched from a submarine and having the accuracy to destroy the enemy's own missile silos. Also, although the defensive program which has come to be known as Star Wars is still in its infancy, it still has the Soviets quite worried.

Add to this a much stronger economy than the Soviets', strong backing for the United States from our European allies, and Ronald Reagan's popularity as president, and the result is a pretty stable situation for our side.

Even if little is resolved, however, we feel the most important thing is that at least we are talking with each other. The more communication that exists between the nations, even if it is neutral talk, the less likely there will be a nuclear war. We must remember that the Soviet people are just people, and the threat of nuclear war is creating the same nightmares in the minds of their children and adults that we are experiencing. Unless we talk with each, get to know each other better, there can never be progress toward the abolishment of all nuclear weaponry, which of course is the ultimate goal.

President Reagan and Soviet leader Gorbachev seem to share similar leadership qualities in that they are both direct and tough. But they also seem to have similar charm, which hopefully will serve to spark real communication, and real progress, at the summit.

Our Turn

Relief
by Pam Asbhy

Relief - the deliverance through the removal of pain, distress or anxiety; the rescue of a besieged town.

There are many funds set up in the county now to aid flood victims in our own county as well as the more devastated areas in neighboring West Virginia.

Numerous church groups and other organizations have given aid in the form of manpower and supplies already, but money, food and supplies are still greatly needed for those whose lives were tragically disrupted by rampaging flood waters last week.

One cannot deny the material needs of the flood victims. Indeed, those things are important. They will give partial relief. What is needed more, though, in the eyes of this reporter who witnessed the destruction and saw the faces of those affected, is human contact and compassion.

While in Parsons, W. Va. on Sunday with some members of my church, I saw many people helping other people. But what I noticed most was the pain and loneliness in so many people's eyes. After many of us helped an elderly lady crate mud and debris out of her basement, I went over to her and hugged her. She repaid me with a kiss on the cheek and I detected a sparkle in her eyes that had probably been missing since the onset of the terrible flood.

True, these people need someone to shovel mud out of their homes and businesses; someone to scrub their floors and walls; and later, someone to pound nails and paint; but most importantly, they need someone to listen to their horror story as they attempt to put their personal lives back to order. When the realization sets in that they have lost their most precious possessions, they need to know their is still love for them; that someone cares about their personal hell.

So now, we must set about the task of finding those who need us most. There is a meeting at Southern High School tonight which could serve that purpose. Those interested in aiding flood victims should attend. Those needing aid should attend. Only then can many of the gaps be filled.

There is no way the media can talk to everyone who was affected by the flood. As concerned as we are and try as we may, we are only human and we can only report what we have seen firsthand or heard from reliable sources. We may not always perceive the devastation the way those affected may see it. That's why it's doubly important for those who want to help to meet with those who need help.

Garrett Countians are no strangers to lending a helping hand. After all, if we can raise over $10,000 to feed starving Ethiopians there's no reason in the world we can't raise far more for our flood-ravaged neighbors.

Give money. Give supplies. Give food. Give your time. And please give your love. You may need it back some day.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

For the past four years I have proudly been a member of the Southern High School marching band. Many people do not see what really happens behind the scene in the life of these band members. I would like to share this view and recall some of the memories I have as a senior.

Many times throughout my freshman year I felt as if I'd never make it through the ranks of the band. As the years progressed band became a very emotional experience. During these past four years band has provided sort of a second family for me. Whenever I had a problem, everyone would be there to offer words of comfort and encouragement.

During many occasions we shared our feelings of joy, laughter, sorrow and heartache. At practices we helped each other through difficulties as we strove to become the best band around. At competition we encouraged one another to do his best, and we usually came off the field with tears of excitement and joy in our eyes and souls.

I would like to extend my appreciation to Mr. Clever, Mr. Refosco, Mrs. Flowers, the entire staff, the Band Boosters and other patrons who have supported the band in one of the best seasons ever. But, I would really like to extend a special thank you to all the band and guard members who have made my senior year so special. If it weren't for these great kids, I wouldn't have accomplished what I have as a senior.

To the Editor:

As a resident of Shallmar, I wish to thank the following for their help and support during the flood last week.

Thanks to the Southern Rescue Squad members who came down the hill and carried out six children, and to the Deer Park Fire Department members who came down and carried out two residents up the hill on stretchers, with special thanks to Dave Insley for the kindness and thoughtfulness shown by him toward the people who were brought up the hill.

Thanks to George Brady for the supplies and many services he rendered. Thanks to Rusty and Billy Lyons, who, after seeing their own families to safety, continued to help the others who needed assistance. Thanks to Barbara Lyons who offered moral support of the best kind to keep our spirits up.

I hope that the Kitzmiller Fire Department gives special recognition to Jimmy Armstrong for a job well done. Thanks to Bob Kimble for his support and assistance.

Last but not least, special thanks to Sheriff Van Evans and the entire Sheriff's Department for the assistance the night of the flood and the days following. They have shown that when we needed them they were willing and capable to handle our situation in a professional manner.

Vivian Tasker

To the Editor:

We would like to express our appreciation to E. James Barrick, mayor of Kitzmiller, for a job well done following the recent flood which struck our community. Considerable damage occurred in our community, but in a relatively short time, much has been accomplished to get our town back to normal. We feel that much of the credit for these accomplishments can be attributed to the efforts put forth by Mayor Barrick.

We would also like to thank the Kitzmiller Fire Department, Kitzmiller Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary, Town employees and the Elk Garden Fire Department for a job well done.

We're sure during a time such as this, there are many unsung heroes, but let's give credit where it's due.

Thank you,
Citizens of Kitzmiller

To the Editor:

While I was grocery shopping one day last week, I overheard a conversation: "Why, so and so is getting so bad you can hardly stand being around him."

I thought to myself, how many people are like this and are just accepting it as a normal way of life?

Let me give you some hope. If you feel frustrated, are quick tempered or nervous inside, do you know that the B-vitamins are stress vitamins? When we are under pressure we need extra help even though we are eating well balanced meals.

While I write this, I am also thinking about the many flood victims who are under pressures they never dreamed of.

About nine months ago, I went through an unpleasant experience that started from stress, not knowing that constant stress can cause the body's immune system to break down and it can also cause protein to go through your system unused, opening up avenues to other sickness.

So, if you see you need help in this way, you can do something to prevent it and maybe also save you medical bills.

If I help just one person in writing this, my time was worth it all.

Mrs. Clayton Martin

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to congradulate the Southern High Lady Rams on being eligible to compete in the volleyball district playoffs held at Damascus, last Saturday. I was very fortunate to travel with them to Damascus and experience first-hand the good conduct and sportsmanship the girls displayed. Even though they were not victorious on the court they certainly were in the eyes of the fans who accompanied them.

We were very proud of the girls and their coach, however I feel they are just not being supported like the other athletes at Southern High. They work long, hard hours and deserve much more support than they are receiving, after all, they are important to their school too.

Next year I hope they reach the state championship, and I hope too there will be more spectators to encourage and support the girls team and help them carry the good name of Southern Lady Rams to victory.

I would also like to extend to our neighboring school a very big congratulations to the Northern High Lady Huskies for their great record this year, and their recent win over Mt. Savage in the playoffs making them eligible for the state championship this Saturday, November 16, in Catonsville. You certainly deserve to go all the way. Good luck and go for it!

Sincerely,
Kathy Savage

To the Editor:

For those who may have missed the Cumberland Times/News editorial on Tuesday, November 5, concerning the 911 Service in Garrett and Allegany Counties, I would like to use a paragraph from it:

"Garrett County, however, led by the State in establishing its center capable of dispatching all fire, ambulance and other emergency equipment. Following Garrett came, as we note, Allegany County in 1979." (emphasis added)

Having been one of the county commissioners responsible for bringing this about, and I might add, against considerable criticism, I hope those persons that felt that we weren't acting judiciously would now reconsider and reflect upon the wisdom of their remarks with this most recent disaster that has befallen the residents of Garrett County and our neighboring communities in West Virginia.

I happened to be at home Monday and Tuesday and was able to monitor Central Alarm and their efforts in bringing together at a central dispatch center the essential emergency services available in our county. The dispatchers are to be commended for their expertise and its application, diligently and tirelessly. I must hasten to add that Garrett County's volunteerism, as shown by the fire departments, rescue squads and the numerous others that without organization affiliation rose to the occasion in typical Garrett County fashion. Though not affiliated with local government now, I know the importance of these too often unrecognized heroes. I, for one, and I am sure my fellow commissioners during my two terms as commissioner, are glad that we, so to speak, had the courage and vision to provide services in advance to meet emergencies in spite of opposition.

Those persons on the commissioners' staff from 1970 to 1978 played a significant role in bringing this service into being and must not be ignored for commendation.

Sincerely,
Wayne B. Hamilton
Commissioner,

Commission

State Police Report Several Area Mishaps

Maryland State Police reported several vehicle accidents in the past week.

A single-vehicle accident occurred November 5 on Route 48.

According to police reports, Priscilla F. Cecil, 38, Rock, W.Va., was driving a 1983 Oldsmobile Omega when it hydroplaned due to a large amount of water on the roadway. The vehicle traveled into the center median, striking the guardrails, then crossed the road and struck an embankment.

Two passengers in the vehicle were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Rescue Squad.

According to a hospital spokesman, Stella Helmandollar, 58, Bluefield, W.Va., was admitted to the hospital with a fractured clavicle and a fractured right hip. She was later released from the hospital.

Sharon Brock, 33, Clifton Mills, W.Va., was treated and released from the hospital. She suffered a fractured clavicle.

A two-vehicle accident occurred Tuesday at the intersection of U.S. Route 219 and Accident-Bear Creek Road.

According to the police, Robert M. Slautterback, 57, McHenry, was southbound on Rt. 219 in a 1985 Chevrolet S10. As the vehicle approached the Bear Creek intersection, Slautterback observed a 1972 Chevrolet C10, operated by Lloyd L. Friend, 81, Friendsville, proceeding from the Bear Creek Road onto Rt. 219. Slautterback steered right to avoid hitting Friend's vehicle. However, he was unable to avoid the collision, striking Friend's vehicle in the left door area with the left front end of his vehicle.

Tfc Dale K. Williams investigated the mishap, charging Friend with failure to yield the right of way.

Both men were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad, where both were treated and released.

A four-wheeler accident occurred Sunday in a private drive.

According to the police, Samuel M. Friend, 45, was operating the vehicle, and began to drive up an embankment. The vehicle flipped over backward, ejecting both the driver and two passengers, Julie L. Lewis, 19, Oakland, and Sandy D. Lewis, 15, Friendsville.

Cpl. Richard Graham investigated the incident.

The driver and both passengers were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital after being transported there by the Northern Rescue Squad.

A three-wheeler accident was reported Saturday near Deer Park.

According to reports filed by the police, Sandra S. Kisner, 40, Deer Park, was operating the vehicle in a field and was unfamiliar with the controls. Police said Kisner thought she was going to hit the fence, so she jumped off the vehicle onto the fence, sustaining minor lacerations.

Tfc. C.R. Smith investigated the mishap.

Kisner was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

DWI

State Police charged four men with driving while under the influence of alcohol in the past week.

Richard Alan Miner, 18, Grantsville, was charged with DWI by Tfc. L. Rosage following a mishap on the Bumble Bee Road early in the evening of November 5.

According to the police, Amy J. Tate, 19, McHenry, was operating a 1979 Pontiac Sunbird and was attempting to block Miner's vehicle, a 1975 Ford Granada, in a private drive.

Police said Miner attempted to back from the drive, striking the side of Tate's vehicle.

Miner was also charged with taking a vehicle without the consent of the owner.

Dennis Lee Stanton, 37, Friendsville, was charged with DWI by Tfc. G.R. Chaney early Sunday afternoon on U.S. Route 40.

Michael E. Shelkey, 28, Scottdale, Pa., was charged with DWI by Tfc. G.D. Resh November 9 at 11:46 p.m. on Route 495.

Dale Morris Swauger, 46, Salisbury, was charged with DWI by a member of the Department of Natural Resources Police at 2:05 p.m., November 8 in Bittinger.

ORV Regulations To Be Topic Of Public Hearing

A public hearing on proposed revisions of the existing off–road vehicle regulations that affect off-road vehicle trails in Garrett County will be held by the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Department of Natural Resources, at noon on Saturday, December 7, in the main auditorium of Garrett Community College, McHenry.

The proposed regulations call for the addition of approximately 68 miles of trail to an already existing 45 miles of trail. The additional miles of trail have been developed on Potomac–Garrett and Savage River State Forests.

The revised off-road vehicle (ORV) regulations will be published in the November 8, 1985, Maryland Register. The December 7 hearing and the publication of the proposed regulations are required before final adoption of the regulations. The adoptions of the regulations in mid-January will increase opportunities for snowmobiling this winter.

Written comments about the proposed regulations may be sent to Ross Kimmel, Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland, or persons may call (301) 269-3771, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Public comment must be received no later than December 16 at 4 p.m.

Copies of the proposed regulations are available in the Deep Creek Lake Management Office at 387-4111 or in the Annapolis office of the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, (301) 269-3771.

Food Sanitation Measures Given By Health Dept.

During the recent flood disaster, many people experienced food contamination by flood waters. Local health departments issued the following supply guidelines for the protection of flood victims' health.

Fresh fruits and vegetables - All such products should be destroyed except those with tight peel or skin which can be immediately washed with soapy water, rinsed in clear water, and finally rinsed in a solution containing laundry bleach. (Two tablespoons of laundry bleach per gallon of water should be used.)

Meats - All meats should be destroyed except those sealed in tin cans.

Foods not sealed in containers - All foods, such as breakfast cereals, bakery goods, dried fruits and flour should be destroyed immediately.

Foods sealed in containers - All foods sealed in tin cans may be salvaged by removing the labels, washing in soapy water, rinsing in clear water and submerging in a solution containing laundry bleach. This solution should be made up frequently during washing process.

Foods in containers with screw caps or crimped caps - All home-canned foods with screw caps that have been flooded should be destroyed. Other foods and beverages with crimp or screw caps, such as soft drinks, peanut butter and pickles should also be destroyed.

Perishable foods - All perishable foods that have been off refrigeration for a period greater than one hour should be destroyed.

"Your health may depend on the precautions listed above. We advise you to follow the steps outlined above," said a spokesman from the health department.

History Of Hospice

Editor's Note: As part of the observance of Hospice Month (November) the following article was written by Jackie Snelson, R.N., M.S.N., coordinator of Hospice of Garrett County.

The major focus of medical science in the 20th century has been directed toward improving health and prolonging life. Because of this force toward saving life, people in the health field failed to recognize the needs of persons who were dying and who had no hope. Dr. Cicely Saunders, at St. Christopher's Hospice in England, recognized the suffering and isolation of the terminally ill and their families. She developed a program of care for the dying and made an effort to make hospice care known throughout the world.

As the concept of care for terminally ill became better known, hospitals and communities in the United States began to develop their own programs. Although Garrett County is a small community in population, the problems of the terminally ill are just as acute. Health professionals began to recognize that terminally ill people and their families required more support than was presently available in the health care system. Dying people needed caring and compassionate people to talk to, who would not be judgemental, and who understood what the terminally ill were experiencing. The dying needed to have their fears of pain and isolation relieved. Most important, they needed to have an organized program upon which they could rely.

On January 6, 1982, a group of concerned community members met to discuss the formation of a hospice program in Garrett County. This group included the Garrett County Ministerial Association, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Garrett County Health Department, Western Maryland Health Systems Agency, Garrett County Cancer Society and local physicians.

The goal set by this group was the palliative management of terminal illness ensuring that what remained of life was free of pain, as comfortable as possible, and that the family remained a unit whether in the home or hospital.

The assistance of Fred Tola of Western Maryland Health Systems Agency was requested by the chairman of the County Commissioners, Ernest Gregg, Jr. and the local physicians.

As the program developed, efforts were made to maintain the community involvement in the project. People from all aspects of the community served on the hospice planning committee. Rev. Verne Leininger served as chairperson and Rev. Manning Smith developed the volunteer education program. Dr. Walter Naumann served as medical director. The Garrett County Health Department offered the support of nursing care in the home through the home health agency. The Garrett County Memorial Hospital offered special services to hospice patients including designating two private room beds as hospice beds.

It is through the combined efforts of these community members that Hospice in Garrett County was formed. On February 1, 1983, the program was officially opened to offer care to terminally ill people in Garrett County. Nancy Trimble, R.N., M.S.N. director, and Sharon King was appointed coordinator of volunteer services.

Farm Bill Review

. . . . . A Garrett County Viewpoint

by Bernice Kepple

The U.S. Senate is experiencing more delays on farm issues, both the 1985 Farm Bill and Farm Credit's request for a $6 billion bailout. The main reasons for this week's delays are more pressing issues which have higher priorities, like Congress' midnight Thursday deadline to act on a debt ceiling increase or risk having all the government's checks bounce on Friday.

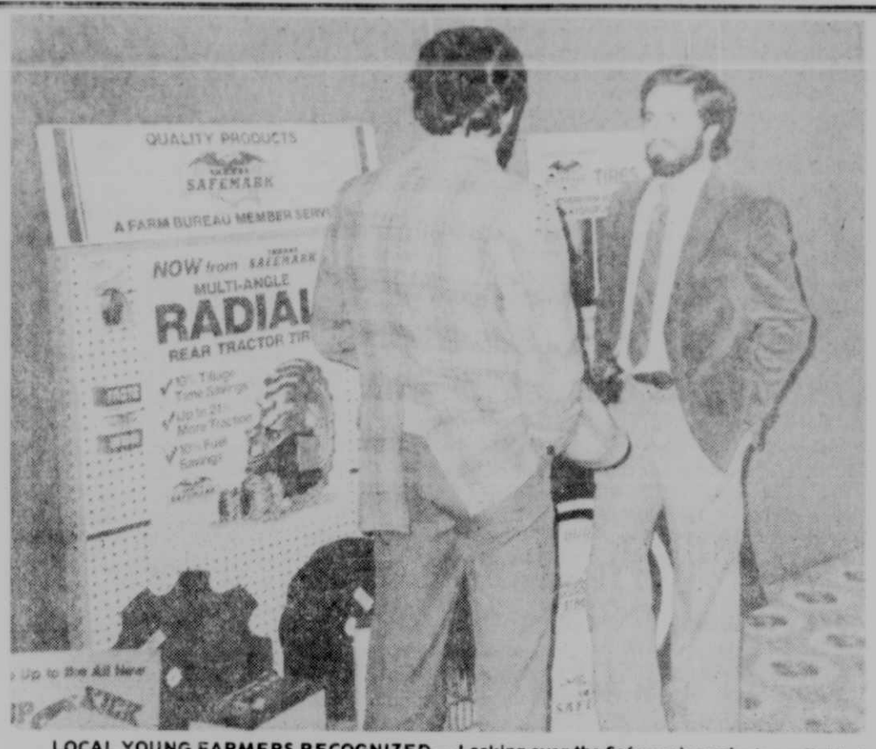
Speaking of extensions, the 45-day extension of the current farm program also runs out on Thursday. The House of Representatives passed a new 30-day extension on Tuesday, and the Senate is also expected to pass an extension before Thursday night's deadline.

Senator Zorinsky, who was taken to the hospital with chest pains last week, is back on the scene now, but the farm bill may not be discussed again until next week.

As the delays continue, debate of the farm bill comes closer and closer to the 1986 congressional elections. Playing politics is a popular game in the House and Senate, and could frustrate needed action on farm problems. Republican congressmen fear that a depressed farm economy is eroding the party's strength with farmers, especially those in the Midwest Farm Belt, the historic heartland of the Republican Party.

"There's no question that in the Farm Belt there are problems for the Republican Party," said National GOP Chairman Frank J. Fahrenkopf Jr. Senate Republican Leader Robert J. Dole of Kansas thinks that the farm economy "could be our Achilles heel in 1986."

Nebraska Democratic State Senator Tom Vickers said however, "Six months ago I would have said that the result of the 1986 election would be similar to 1958," when Republicans lost 47 House seats and 13 Senate seats, many of them in farm states. "Now, he said, "Republicans have wised up."



It seems that Republican office-holders are working hard to put distance between themselves and the Reagan administration, especially on agricultural issues. Republican candidates in agricultural areas have been compared to canoeists in a fast-moving stream. "Those who are good paddlers will get through," one farm-state Democrat said. "The ones who were slow to notice that there are rapids may pile up on the rocks."

Iowa Representative Jim Ross Lightfoot has said that a Reagan visit would hurt his reelection chances in 1986, and the Republican governor in Iowa said that President Reagan would do well to stay out of the state unless he is willing to address the farm issue.

After a farm bill has been passed by Congress, the question still remains: Will it be signed or vetoed by the president? Three things the administration does not want in a farm bill are already present in the House bill; mandatory production controls, marketing loans, and a dairy diversion program. The president has also made it clear that he expects lawmakers to stick to their budget goal. That means that Congress would have to cut roughly $12 billion from current agricultural expenditures over the next three years.

President Reagan has said, "Our administration has spent more on the farm program than any other administration in history. If spending more money on agriculture would solve the problem, we would have already solved it."

It's not surprising, then, that Congress has such a hard time with farm legislation. It's never possible to please everyone, but it seems that in this case, it's not even possible to please themselves.

LOCAL YOUNG FARMERS RECOGNIZED — Looking over the Safemark products available to Farm Bureau members along with another Young Farmer is Dana Rush, right, chairman of the Garrett County Young Farmers organization. Rush attended the annual Young Farmers conference last weekend in Carrollton to accept the award given to the county Young Farmers group for being the "New Group Of The Year" in Maryland.

Garrett County Young Farmers Awarded "New Group" Of The Year

The Maryland Farm Bureau Young Farmers Committee held its annual conference November 8 and 9 at the Sheraton Inn and Exhibition Center in New Carrollton with approximately 65 members attending. A large number of counties were represented at this year's conference including Somerset at the far southeastern end of the state, and Garrett in the far west.

Each year the Young Farmers select a "New Group" of the year. This year, the Garrett County Young Farmers were selected for that honor with Dana Rush, chairman, accepting the recognition for the local group during the banquet Friday night at the state conference.

Two Garrett County Young Farmers will be sent to the Maryland Farm Bureau convention in Ocean City as part of this recognition courtesy of the state Young Farmer committee, one of them serving as a voting delegate. The state convention will be held December 8 through 11.

The Young Farmers were last active in Garrett County approximately 10 years ago, and with the help of Donna Glotfelty, Farm Bureau Women's Committee chairman; Clark Kolb, Farm Bureau chairman; and Jim Simms, county extension agent, the organization was revived again in February of 1984.

Brooks Hamilton serves as advisor for the group, whose current officers are Dana Rush, chairman; Karen Hamilton, vice chairman; Tom Dodge, secretary; and Leonard Custer, treasurer. The membership has reached 29 and the monthly meetings involve the whole family. According to Jim Simms, Rush has been an exceptional leader for the group, and received the Young Farmer Gold Star Achievement Award at the recent Garrett County Farm Bureau banquet.

The goals of the local group are to make sure young farmers have representation on issues affecting farming, and to develop leadership among young farmers.

They have had a variety of programs and speakers including Steve Lantz, of Production Credit, and Delegate George Edwards. Some program topics have been financing, debt load, estate planning and legislation.

Their most successful project has been a dairy bar at the Garrett County Fair. Approximately 10 members sold and served hand-dipped ice cream cones and milkshakes. Over $1,000 was raised to help support issues involving Garrett County's young farmers.

Member Criss Kepple was the winner of the 1984 Young Farmers Discussion Meet and represented Maryland in the national contest in Hawaii

Special guests at the Young Farmers conference were three FFA state officers. State FFA President Brian Glass conducted the election for the 1986 Young Farmer officers. The new Young Farmer state chairman is Gary Brauning II from Finksburg in Carroll County; state vice chairman is Charles Coles Jr. from Marriottsville in Howard County; and state secretary is Ewing McDowell from Rising Sun in Cecil County. The district director for the four Western Maryland counties is Jim Roderuck from Walkersville in Frederick County.

Sessions on important farm issues were held throughout the conference. Rob Nooter, assistant director of Farm Bureau national affairs conducted a session on "The Washington Scene." Lou Sallie, Farm Bureau area field services director, spoke on "Farm Bureau, Yesterday and Tomorrow." A session by Dr. Earl Brown, professor of ag research and economy, dealt with "Surviving the Next Five Years." A session about "The Annapolis Hotline" was conducted by Delegate Daniel Long. Marsha Purcell, director of Farm Bureau Women's programs, spoke about "Women, A Farm Organization's Catalyst." "Farm Financial Planning" was conducted by Dr. Dick Liven, professor of ag economy at the University of Maryland, and Gary Smith, ag engineer specialist, advised "Don't be a Victim."

Guest speakers for the two-day conference were Maryland Farm Bureau President Henry Holloway, out-going Young Farmer Chairman Lee West, Discussion Meet winner Criss Kepple, and the Young Farm Couple of the Year Charles and Barb Fisher.

The special guest speaker and honored guest at the Friday night banquet was Robert Delano, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Delano, who has been referred to as the "most influential man in agriculture today", said that farmers are seeing the most challenging time there has ever been in agriculture. "The Young Farmer organization is an important part of the total Farm Bureau program," said Delano. "As young farmers, you can do anything you want if you set your hearts and minds to it."

He told the group that thousands of candidates will be elected in 1986 all across the nation, and said that it is important that young farmers develop an interest in political involvement. He spoke at length of the problems facing the Farm Credit system and the Congressional debate of the 1985 Farm Bill.

In closing, Delano said, "It used to be said that farmers would never organize, never get together. But they did, they have Farm Bureau, and Farm Bureau is a problem solver with many problems to solve."

Young Farmer out-going chairman, Lee West, announced the questions for the upcoming Discussion Meet which will be held December 9 in Ocean City. Garrett County Young Farmers' vice chairman, Karen Hamilton, will be a contestant in this year's contest. The intensity of the current farm situation shows in the difficulty of the questions, which are:

1. What is the future of antibodies, pesticides, and related chemicals for agricultural uses?
2. What will be the role of commercial lenders, the Farm Credit System, and the government as sources of agricultural credit in the future?
3. How can American farmers expand our share of the world market?
4. With specialization as the norm in agriculture, what can Farm Bureau do to help diversified American agriculture speak as one voice?

Attending the conference from Garrett County were Dana Rush; Criss Kepple; Clark Kolb, Farm Bureau chairman; and Bernice Kepple, Farm Bureau Women's Committee director.

GUEST SPEAKERS at the Young Farmers Conference included Robert Delano, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who has been referred to as the "most influential man in agriculture today", and Garrett County's own Criss Kepple, winner of the 1984 Young Farmers' Discussion Meet.

Grain & Soybean Situation and Outlook

During the past couple of weeks I have had several people call me concerned with the increase in costs of some commercial feeds. Of course, the cost of commercial feeds depends upon the cost of grains and soybeans. As of now, most economists agree that prices of grain and soybeans at best will only show a marginal price increase. Last year feed grain production was 236 million metric tons. Forty-nine million tons were carried over. Add the carryover to this year's estimated feed grain production of 268 million tons means a total supply of 317 million tons, the largest since 1982's 319 million. Also since 1982 we have less exports of feed grains. One item that may help at least stabalize the price of corn will be the feed grain loan program. It has already been noted that the loan program will remove billions of bushels from the open market. Despite the U.S. soybean production being relatively low the past two years, the bottom has fallen out of prices. Lack of demand is the reason. Coming on the heels of poor demand and low prices we find the carryover this year almost double that of last year. Also soybean exports have decreased. For prices to improve the demand for exports will have to increase. As you all know it is hard to predict the future. Under the present conditions I would expect a great increase in grain and soybean prices.

Sheep and Lamb Prices Are Up

Lamb production again was lower in 1985, and record prices were paid by meat processing plants for live animals. The combination of high lamb prices and lower feed costs have generated increased prices and lower feed costs have increased the producer's net return in 1985. Further decline in the sheep and lamb inventory is expected in 1986. In 1986, the shortage of slaughter lambs should cause packers to bid up farm level prices to keep their plants used nearer to the rate of capacity. The higher prices received by farmers in late 1985 should carry over into 1986 with averages of $70 per cwt or higher.

Md. Women's Ag Forum To Take Place Nov. 21

The Maryland Women's Agricultural Forum will be held on November 21 at the Annapolis Ramada Inn, which is located at 173 Jennifer Road in Annapolis. The forum will give farm women an opportunity to learn more about the issues affecting agriculture and how these issues relate to women and their new roles in the family farm.

The forum will begin at 9 a.m. with a panel discussion on the many perspectives of critical area legislation. Panel members will represent the Maryland Association of Counties, the Maryland Department of Agriculture, the Critical Areas Commission, the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, the Maryland Board of Realtors, and the Maryland Farm Bureau.

Exhibits will be displayed, and those attending the forum will be given an opportunity before lunch to visit those farm-related exhibits. The luncheon will feature "Maryland's Best Product, Agriculture," and the speaker's topic will be the implications of the newest tax changes.

The afternoon discussion will deal with financial planning for the family on the farm, and panel members representing agriculture marketing, retail food stores, nutrition professionals, and consumer activists will hold a commodity-consumer sounding board.

The forum will conclude with positive feedback on the role agriculture has to play called "A Plan for Action, Now."

Each county Farm Bureau Women's Committee may send two delegates to the forum. The Garrett County Farm Bureau will pay the entry fee for two interested women's committee members from the county to attend. Reservations will be taken as long as space is available, and should be made as soon as possible by calling Bernice Kepple at 387-9312 after 6 p.m.

The forum is being sponsored by The Home Economics Division of The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, The Maryland Extension Homemakers Council, The Maryland Farm Bureau Women's Committee, The Maryland Grange, and the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Meat Production Statistics Noted

Maryland-Delaware red meat production in September, based on dressed weights, totaled 5.0 million pounds in Maryland and Delaware, one percent below last month, but three percent above that for September of a year ago. Changes in liveweight produced during September 1985 compared to a year earlier were: cattle up one percent, calves down 14 percent, hogs up 42 percent, and sheep and lambs down 44 percent.

Milk Production Statistics Noted

Maryland milk production during September totaled 143 million pounds, up 15 percent from last year. Milk cow numbers averaged 124,000 during the month, compared to 120,000 in September 1984. Milk per cow averaged 1,150 pounds, 120 pounds above last September.

United States milk production during September 1985 totaled 12.0 billion pounds, a record high for September and 11 percent more than September 1984. Accumulated milk production for the first nine months of 1985 totaled 108 billion pounds, up four percent from the same period in 1984.

Tractor Pull Results Announced

The Garrett County Tractor Pullers' Association held their first tractor pull on Friday night, October 11, at the McHenry Fair Grounds. The guest announcer for the event was Bill Clem, who is known as the "Voice of Maryland Agriculture."

All first place winners were awarded the official orange and black sweatshirt of the Tractor Pullers' Association, sponsored by My-O-Tire Service, Inc. of Oakland.

A large crowd watched nine stock classes and three modified classes pull.

Winners in the stock classes were: Ralph Friend, first, 6,000 pound class; Bobby Schmidt, first and Ralph Friend, second, 7,000 pound class; Gary Bachtel, first, Rodney McKenzie, second, and Bobby Schmidt, third, 9,000 pound class.

In the 10,000 pound class, Ronnie Junkins placed first, Rodney McKenzie placed second, and Bobby Schmidt placed third. The 11,000 pound class saw Rodney McKenzie in first place, Bobby Schmidt in second place, and Ronnie Junkins in third place.

Ronnie Junkins was first, Bobby Schmidt, second, and Rodney McKenzie, third, in the 12,000 pound class; with the 13,000 pound class being taken by I.H. Phantom, first, Ron Junkins, second, and Bobby Schmidt, third. Jeff Sheffield placed first in the 15,000 pound class with I.H. Phantom second, and Bobby Schmidt, third. The 17,000 pound stock class saw I.H. Phantom in first place, Bobby Schmidt in second, and Mark Beachy in third.

The modified class winners were: Johanna Harvey, first, Edwin Friend, second, and Charles Custer third, in the 5,000 pound class; Gregg Savage, first, Randell Steyer, second, and Wayne O'Brien, third, in the 5,500 pound class; Johanna Harvey, first, Rick DeWitt, second, and Leonard Custer, third, in the 6,000 pound modified class.

Plans are under way for a second pull to be held in the spring, with the date to be announced later. All interested pullers or persons are invited to attend meetings being held by the Tractor Pullers' Association the first Friday of each month at the North Glade Community Center beginning at 8 p.m.

Rowlesburg Consumed By Flood Waters

Although many area persons have already seen these photos of flood devastation in Preston County, or have been there assisting with clean-up efforts, the news staff of The Republican felt that the several thousand of our subscribers spread across this nation might also want to see glimpses of the nightmare many of our West Virginia neighbors experienced last week. It is only through the courtesy and cooperation of The Preston County News that we are able to publish these photos, which were all taken by Editor Bob Teets and two other members of his staff, Greg Hunter and Doug Booth. We commend Bob and his staff for the fine quality of their work and we thank them for allowing us to share their photography with our readers. Don Sincell, Editor.

Rowlesburg High's gymnasium and an adjacent building collapsed from the water's intense pressure.

All that was left of many homes along the Cheat were the foundations.

A look back down Rt. 72 South toward the Cheat River in Rowlesburg during the Tuesday morning flood's peak hours. (Photo by Doug Booth)

The area around Rowlesburg High was the scene of unbelievable devastation.

A bus was swept along until it found a resting place in what was once the basement of a Rowlesburg home.

Steps to a Rowlesburg home that no longer exists, having been washed away by the flood force of the rain-swollen Cheat River. The house is one of 63 that vanished into the waters early Tuesday morning. (Photo by Greg Hunter)

Lady Huskies Win Region Title, Seeded Second in State Tourney

The Lady Huskies of Northern High School, by virtue of their victories in Region I, Class C Championship, have earned the opportunity to compete in the Maryland State Class C Volleyball Tournament, to be held at Catonsville Community College this Saturday, November 16.

Northern won the regional title with victories over Beall, 15-10 and 15-5; Clear Spring, 15-4 and 15-3; and previously by unbeaten Mt. Savage, 15-8 and 15-6.

In the Beall contest the Huskies were led by Tammy Swauger, who registered 12 service points, including a remarkable nine ace serves. Jenny Dailey followed with seven service points and two aces. Amy Swauger and Janie Friend also recorded ace serves.

Offensively, Beall neutralized Northern's power attack by allowing them only two killer spikes, both registered by Julie Robeson.

Defensively for Northern, Tammy Swauger and Robeson recorded digs while Robeson and Dailey had blocks at the net. Amy Swauger and Karen Frank accounted for the two game points.

Janie Friend, who just recently earned a starting position, led the Lady Huskies in the second contest against Clear Spring by scoring 10 service points. She was aided by Amy Swauger and Jenny Dailey, who had six points each. Missy Durst added five points with two ace serves.

Julie Robeson powered the Husky attack with six killer spikes. Amy and Tammy Swauger, along with Jenny Dailey, chipped in 20 attack spikes between them.

Defensively Amy Swauger and Robeson provided blocking at the net with nine combined blocks, while Swauger, Missy Durst and Jenny Dailey recorded digs and saves. Janie Friend and Amy Swauger had game points.

Going into the championship match of the evening, both Northern and Mt. Savage were undefeated in playoff competition. But the Lady Huskies came out smoking and before Mt. Savage even got into the game, Northern had a 8-0 lead. The Huskies went on to capture the critical first game, 15-8.

In the second contest, Northern again established an early 6-0 lead, but Mt. Savage closed the gap to 9-6. At that point the Husky defense took over and shut the door on the Mt. Savage offense, not allowing another point to be scored the rest of the contest. The win avenged the Huskies' only regular season defeat which was to the Indians.

Scoring for the Huskies were Amy Swauger with nine service points, Missy Durst with eight and Julie Robeson with seven points, including both game winners. Tammy Swauger added four points and Janie Friend accounted for the other two points.

Robeson led the power attack with eight killer spikes, Amy Swauger contributed four kills while Tammy Swauger had one.

Northern's defense held the hard hitting Indians to only five killer spikes. Defensive standouts were Julie Robeson with six blocks, Jenny Dailey with two and Amy Swauger with one. Digs were recorded by Amy Swauger, Robeson, Durst and Dailey.

"Last year after the Districts, we told the girls that they could win the whole thing next year if they wanted to and were willing to work hard," stated head coach Vonda Yunker. Even though we were trying to play one match at a time, winning the regionals has been an underlining goal of ours. The girls proved to everyone that they had the drive and determination to obtain that goal.

"We are extremely proud of all girls, not because of their winning season but because of the fact that they gave it their all in every single match we played this year," Yunker continued. "I really felt pretty confident going into the Mt. Savage contest because we got progressively better as the Beall and Clear Spring matches went along. I knew we were ready for Mt. Savage."

Northern will go into the State Championship seeded second behind undefeated Sparrows Point. The third seed in the tournament is North Caroline and defending Class C champions, Boonsboro, will be fourth.

Lakers Lose Two Of Three, Finish At 14-14

The Garrett Community College women's volleyball team lost two of three final matches and ended its season with a 14-14 record. The Lakers were defeated by a powerful Fairmont State College and also lost to Frostburg in a five-game match. Their only win came over Hood College.

Against Hood, the Lakers won the first game, 15-9, lost the second 6-15, and came back 15-10 in the third game to win the match. Lisa Llewellyn, Kim Martin and Amy Tate combined for 21 kills. Martin led with 14 assists. An 83% serving record was maintained. Llewellyn and Tate led in defensive digs with nine and seven, respectively.

Against Fairmont, GCC lost 3-15 and 10-15. Fairmont, a much improved team from the West Virginia Conference, played well both offensively and defensively to give the Lakers a slow start. Garrett served with an 89% accuracy, but because of reception and blocking errors, the team was unable to take advantage of their hitting game. The Lakers had 29 defensive digs, compared to eight offensive kills.

Against Frostburg, Garrett lost a disappointing match in five games by scores of 4-15, 15-7, 11-15, 15-7 and 13-15. Martin contributed 17 kills. Sophomore Tate played her best offensive game all year, combining for 11 kills. Rita Jackson led the team in assists with 18 while Martin followed with 15. Clarissa Jordan led with six blocks. Stephanie Burks played her best defensive game this year with 25 digs.

In her outlook on the season, Coach Sue Mason stated, "I am pleased with our season, but I feel there were some games we should have won. As I look back, I feel this team had the potential of being an 18-10 team, but, because of our inconsistencies throughout the year, we lost in some close games. Each individual player contributed greatly to this year's team and individual stats will be given in post-season spotlights.

"As a first year coach, I have been exposed to every situation possible and I feel that this will help me next year with my decision-making as well as with my coaching."

Post-season statistics will be released in the near future.

Women's Bowling Tourney Slated At Par-Matt

Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland will host the Western Maryland Women's Bowling Association tournament over the next two weekends, an event which will involve well over 300 area bowlers.

According to Pearl Daniels, a member of the organization, 66 five-women teams have already registered for the tournament and several others were expected to sign up by this Saturday.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony, involving Oakland Mayor H.D. Swartzentruber, at 11:30 a.m. this Saturday, November 16, will open the event. Rev. Manning Smith will offer an invocation and Ann Mann, a member of the Tuesday Early Bird League, the Senior Citizens League, and an active bowler for 25 years, will roll the first ball.

The tournament will continue on Sunday and the following weekend, November 23-24. The event is held at different area lanes each year. Par-Matt last hosted the tourney in 1977.

THE STIFF ARM proved to be effective for Southern's Bruce Bosley against Northern Husky Jeff Rounds in the annual Northern-Southern clash Friday evening on the Huskies' field. The Rams dominated the Huskies for their seventh win of the season, 42-12. It was Northern Coach Jack Settle's last game as the Husky mentor, as he has accepted a new job as guidance counselor at Northern Middle School.

NHS Musician Nominated To McDonald's Band

Years of hard work have paid off for a Grantsville student who has been nominated as an All-American—not for football, basketball or baseball—but rather for musical excellence.

Brian Saulpaw, alto saxophone player, received recognition at the Northern-Southern football game for his nomination to the 1985 McDonald's All-American High School Band. Brian was nominated by Northern High School band director James Boord on the basis of his musical honors and solo contest ratings.

This annual honor is reserved for only a few among the many thousands of high school musicians according to Al Boxley who operates the McDonald's restaurant in Frostburg. "It's a pleasure to see motivated youngsters like Brian get the recognition they deserve," said Boxley. "McDonald's has bestowed this honor on only the best musicians nationwide and Brian's achievement is a credit to his family, teachers, and the whole town of Grantsville."

The McDonald's All-American Band program has been in operation since 1967 and includes a variety of activities including scholarships, performing units and the nominee recognition programs.

Rams Roll Over Huskies, 42-12, For County Title

For the first time in several seasons, the Southern-Northern football clash went pretty much as expected, based strictly upon pre-game statistics. The Rams went into the contest as a heavy favorite and did indeed dominate the Huskies to take a 42-12 victory Friday evening at Northern.

Most of the contests between the teams of Coach Tom Woods and Coach Jack Settle have been close ones, regardless of which team might be the favorite on paper. And there have been some upsets, such as last year's win by the Huskies over the previously undefeated Rams. In fact, that loss was used all week prior to this season's game by Woods and his staff to emphasize to their players that no team, especially the Northern Huskies, can ever be taken lightly.

The Rams played one of their best games this season, however, and the Huskies simply could not match the overall speed of Southern, which was Jack Settle's biggest fear going into the contest. The Huskies were stung several times on big plays as freshman quarterback Zack Gibson executed the option with precision and running backs Bruce and J.R. Bosley raced past the Huskies all evening.

Bruce Bosley, who finished with 87 yards on seven carries, opened the scoring for the Rams in the first quarter on a nine-yard run. Gibson ran for the two-point conversion.

Late in the same period, J.R. Bosley capped another Ram drive with a one-yard plunge into the end zone. J.R. led the Rams in rushing, rolling up 94 yards on 12 carries.

The Rams struck again in the second quarter when Donnie Horner, who netted 50 yards on just five carries, raced in to score from the 11-yard line. The run for the conversion failed.

Southern then put the contest basically out of reach later in the second quarter when J.R. Bosley recorded his second touchdown of the evening, this time on a 19-yard run. Bruce Bosley ran for the extra points to give the Rams a 28-0 advantage.

The Yardstick

Southern		Northern
8	First Down Rush	6
1	First Down Pass	2
3	First Down Penalty	0
12	Total First Downs	8
3	Passes Attempted	9
3	Passes Completed	0
1	Passes Intercepted By	0
120	Yards Passing	0
337	Net Yards Rushing	126
0-00	Punts—Average	7-28
6-75	Penalties—Yards	6-60
3-2	Fumbles—Lost	1-1
457	Total Offense	126

The Huskies did get on the board before halftime, however, when Jeff Beitzel carried the ball in from the nine-yard line to cap a 70-yard drive. The run for the two-pointer was no good.

Bruce Bosley crashed into the end zone from four yards out in the third quarter to expand the Southern lead.

In the fourth stanza, Gibson connected with Scott Lohr on a 60-yard pass/run play for the Rams' final touchdown. Gibson ran for the extra points.

Late in the fourth period the second team Rams were threatening to score again, however an alert Jeff Beitzel shot through the line and picked off an option toss, which he then carried 76 yards for a final touchdown. The run for the conversion failed.

The win gave the Rams a 7-3 season record, while the Huskies bid farewell to a winless season, 0-10.

The Rams rolled up 457 yards of total offense, including 337 on the ground and 120 through the air, as Gibson completed three of four passes. Wayne Tabor, filling in at quarterback for the injured Kevin Sines, missed on all nine of his passing attempts, while the Husky ground game recorded 126 yards, 89 of which were by Rod Lipscomb on 14 carries.

Gary Wotring and Donnie Horner led the Rams' defensive effort, while Dennis Hetrick and Bill Friend paced the Huskies' tackling.

"We were real happy with our performance," stated Coach Woods. "We went into the game with a lot more intensity than in previous years and with more determination than in any other game this season, except perhaps the Beall game. It was definitely one of our best games of the year."

"We seemed to be just a few steps behind all evening," Coach Settle said. "We played fairly well inside, but simply could not keep up with their option game, which gave them several big plays for touchdowns or to set up touchdowns. Southern performed very well, especially Gibson and their receivers."

It is the first time in several years that neither Garrett County team was bound for state playoff action going into the Northern-Southern clash. Southern was reclassified as a Class B school last year because of its enrollment and needed at least an 8-2 season for any hopes of a playoff spot. Had the Rams still been in the Class C this season, they would no doubt be headed for playoff action.

Final statistics for both teams were released by the respective coaches.

Leading the Rams in scoring was Bruce Bosley with 60 points on nine touchdowns and three two-point conversions, followed by Zack Gibson with 39 points on five TDs, four two-pointers, and one one-point conversion, and J.R. Bosley with 28 points on four touchdowns and a pair of conversion runs. Southern scored 197 points and yielded 114 points, one third of which came when the second and third team defenses were on the field.

Bruce Bosley also paced the Rams in rushing with 927 yards on 159 carries for a 5.83 average. J.R. Bosley was second with 374 yards on 54 attempts for a 6.92 average. Gibson recorded 268 yards on 80 carries, while 125-pound Tommy Smith finished with 101 yards on six carries to lead the team in yards per carry with 16.8.

Gibson was 21 for 54 in passing for 294 yards, two touchdowns, five interceptions, and one conversion. In receiving Scott Lohr led the Rams with six catches for 103 yards, Mike Mongold had five for 180 yards, and Tony Refosco caught four for 24 yards.

J.R. Bosley led in kickoff returns with 156 yards on nine attempts. Gibson led in punt returns with 121 yards on 16 carries, interceptions with three, and in punting with a 37.36 average on 22 punts, which Woods believes might be a school record.

Southern tackling was led by Bruce Bosley and Donnie Horner with 49 solo tackles each, followed by John Lewis with 42, Jay Stewart with 39, and Scott Werdebaugh with 35 (in just six games).

"We are very pleased with a 7-3 record," Woods stated, "especially when you consider the great 'youngness' of our team. There was just one game that we felt we should have won (Musselman). I'm real proud of our eight seniors on the team whose leadership kept our winning tradition going in a year that could have ended with just an average record. I feel we have a solid foundation for a still better team next year."

Woods said he is confident that the 1986 Ram defense will be strong and he is going to look into some new approaches on offense which will utilize more running backs, which Southern should have plenty of again next season.

Woods noted his appreciation for all of the persons who have directly and indirectly contributed to the success of the Southern program. "If I mention anyone in particular, I am sure to miss several others," he said.

"The community involvement is so great here that our staff and especially our kids really feel that the Southern football team is an integral part of the community," he said. "Without all of this support, we could never be anything more than an average team."

Woods specifically mentioned the members of the coaching staff who assisted him this year, Dave, Tom, and Jim Bosley, Fred Gregg, and Joe Everd, plus Frank Custer, who again served as the team's trainer on a volunteer basis.

Woods said it will be back to work for the members of the 1986 team when weight training begins December 2.

Husky Stats

On Northern's final statistics sheets, Rod Lipscomb emerged as the team's leading rusher with 563 yards on 128 carries, including three touchdowns. Wayne Tabor was second with 158 yards on 20 carries. The Huskies rolled up a total of 901 yards on 217 carries.

In receiving, Wayne Tabor led with 18, good for 195 yards. Ed Tabor followed with 16 catches for 183 yards, Lipscomb had 12 for 163 yards, Dennis Hetrick caught six for 156 yards, and Jeff Beitzel grabbed four for 60 yards, giving the Huskies 759 yards on 50 catches.

They scored ten touchdowns on the season, five rushing and five through the air.

Kevin Sines, who sustained a serious knee injury in the West Preston game one week before the Southern contest completed 52 of 133 passes for 657 yards and four touchdowns. Wayne Tabor was 3 for 12 for 50 yards and one touchdown.

Dennis Hetrick led the Huskies' defensive effort by being in on 14½ tackles. Bill Friend was close behind with 13½, Matt Eggleston had 12½, and Paul McClintock finished with 7½.

Wayne Tabor and Lipscomb led the team in kickoff returns. Each returned 1½ with Tabor recording 20½ yards and Lipscomb, 20½.

In punt returns Sines led with 6½ yards on five attempts, followed by Lipscomb with six, good for 3½ yards. Wayne Tabor had four for 21 yards.

Lipscomb also handled the punting duties, kicking 4½ times for 122½ yards, a 29.1 average. Gary Beitzel kicked off ten times for 39½ yards, while Danny Sines kicked five times for 20½ yards.

The game was the last for Jack Settle as head coach of the Huskies, as he has decided to accept an offer to become the guidance counselor at Northern Middle School. Settle said he is leaving "with pride and with good feelings" about his nine-year term as the Husky coach.

Highlights of his career at Northern "that I will never forget" include his 1982 team which went to the state playoffs, several school records, such as single-season rushing and passing marks, plus the longest field goal.

"I am also proud of the fact that so many of my players were named to various all-star teams," he said.

"I guess the most exhilarating moments, though, were our two wins over Southern and our school's first-ever wins over Beall and Valley."

Settle also expressed his appreciation to the many persons who assisted him over the years.

"First, I wish to thank all the fine young men that I have had the pleasure to coach and teach," he said, "plus the loyal coaches who have donated so much of their time to help, Harv Speicher, Joe McKenzie, Elmer Smith, Rob DeVore, Jamie Workman, Lynn Brenneman, Jeff Rice, and John Helmick.

"I also thank the Northern Boosters Club, which has always fulfilled the basic concept of what a booster club should be," he continued. "I thank Ed Green, who is one of the most outstanding principals in the state, and a super staff of teachers. I believe our state test scores speak for themselves."

He also thanked Mildred Wucik, vice principal, for "all the paper work she did behind the scenes that was so necessary."

He extended special appreciation to his wife, Sharon, "for always being behind me and keeping things running smoothly at home while I was gone for so many hours" and also to his children, Jamie and Matthew, "who are my two biggest fans." He also thanked his father "for passing on a drive and love for competition, teaching me to be truthful and honest, and to just be myself in coaching and all endeavors." He also mentioned his late brother, Jim Settle, "who really supported me."

He thanked The Republican newspaper "for the great coverage of not only sporting events at Northern, but other schol activities as well."

Settle also plans to resign his position as baseball coach at Northern, stating it would be next to impossible with his new job at Northern Middle. He noted appreciation to his assistant coaches in that sport, Ed Carr and Jamie Workman.

"I am lucky," Settle said. "I look forward to every single day of work, as a coach, teacher, and now a counselor. How many people can say that about their jobs?

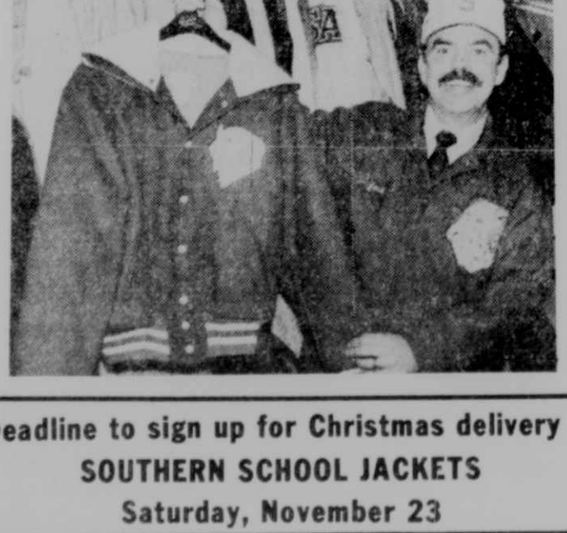
Niner, Paugh, Hubbard Winners Of Turkey Shoot

Some of the areas top archers showed up to compete in the Maryland Forest Park and Wildlife Service's first local archery turkey shoot held at Herrington Manor State Park on Sunday. Winners of the four rounds were Dave Niner, Swanton; Dale Paugh, McHenry; and Rick Hubbard, Davis, W.Va. The shoot was organized by Roger Riley, assistant park manager, and is the first of what is expected to become an annual event at Herrington Manor archery range.

Other competitors were Rob Ballantine, Baltimore; John Bray, Accident; Chuck Harvey, Friendsville; Don Kisner and Ken Meyers, Oakland.

The Herrington Manor range was opened in the mid-September of this year. Riley said it has had a "very favorable response" from area bowhunters, recreational archers and a few who "just wanted to try it," he said. The course was laid out by Don Kisner, a volunteer archer from Oakland. Employees Denny Shaffer and Larry Streets of the Crellin area, Jim Walker of Mt. Lake Park, John and Robert Stemple of the White Church area completed the construction.



The range is open daily without charge from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. between Labor Day and May 1, except during competitions. All competitions will be posted at the range two weeks prior to the event.

MRS. SADIE A. STONE

Mrs. Sadie Ann Stone, 68, of Deer Park, died Saturday, November 9, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born June 14, 1917, in Friendsville, she was the daughter of the late William Uphold and Sara Jane (Schroyer) Uphold.

Her first husband, Harry A. Baker, died in 1954.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Doris L. Walden and Mrs. Mabel J. Boling, both of Deer Park; two sons, William E. Baker and John W. Baker, both of Baltimore; one stepson, Edward Winnie, Elmira, N.Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Reckert, Oakland; Mrs. Letta Uphold, Gorman; 14 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland. A service was conducted Tuesday at the Blooming Rose Methodist Church by the Rev. Howard Pence. Interment was in the Blooming Rose Cemetery.

MRS. ROBERT L. SHANK

Mrs. Kathryn M. Shank, 43, of Oakland, died Friday, November 8, at the Shadyside Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Born in Jennings August 22, 1942, she was the daughter of Alice (Durst) Beitzel and the late Warren Beitzel.

She was a member of Loch Lynn Evangelical Free Church, where she was a Sunday school teacher and a former choir member. She was a teacher of the Whirlybirds youth group.

Besides her mother, she is survived by her husband, Robert L. Shank; one daughter, Tracy L. Shank, and one son, Jason R. Shank, both at home; one sister, Mrs. Delores Brown, Hagerstown; three brothers, Gary Beitzel and John Beitzel, both of Bittinger; and Ronald Beitzel, Cresaptown.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home. A service was conducted at the Loch Lynn Evangelical Church Monday by the Rev. Russell Hamilton, assisted by the Rev. Oscar W. Hull. Interment was in the Pleasant Valley Cemetery.

MRS. ELI BEACHY

Mrs. Minnie Beachy, 82, of Oakland, died Tuesday, November 12, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born June 25, 1903 at Preston County, W. Va., she was a daughter of the late Louis M. Beachy and Nancy L. (Yoder) Beachy.

Surviving are her husband, Eli D. Beachy; one son, Edwin E. Beachy, Oakland; two daughters, Esther V. Beachy and Fannie M. Beachy, both of Oakland; two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Beachy residence this afternoon and evening. A service will be conducted Friday at 10 a.m. at the Gortner Amish Church by Bishop Norman Schrock. Interment will be in Slabaugh Cemetery.

Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, is in charge of arrangements.

LOARING GREEN

Loaring Green, 78, of Friendsville, died Tuesday, November 12, at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born September 5, 1907, at Moscow, he was a son of the late Harry S. Green and Fannie M. (Green) Green. He was preceded in death by his wife, Mary I. (Tasker) Green, in 1967.

Mr. Green was a member of the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren. He was retired from the State Department of Forests and Parks.

Surviving are his wife, Zelda M. (Holiday) Green; four daughters, Mrs. Lillian T. Tasker, Mrs. Ellanorah F. Mayle and Mrs. Louise E. Rodeheaver, all of Deer Park; and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Theodore, Hurricane, W.Va.; one son, Sheridan A. Green, Harlingen, Tex.; one stepson, Charles E. Schroyer, Fort Riley, Kansas; one sister, Mrs. Nadene Durst, Swanton; 21 grandchildren, one step-grandchild and 13 great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. in the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland.

A service will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday in Kurtz Chapel United Methodist Church by the Rev. Kenneth Montgomery and the Rev. Donald Matthews. Interment will be in Tasker Cemetery.

The family requests that memorials be directed to the Northern or Southern Rescue Squads.

The body will be taken to the church one hour prior to services.

MRS. R. C. HARSHBARGER

Mrs. Maxine E. Harshbarger, 72, formerly of Luke, died Monday in Bowie.

Born June 2, 1913, in Elk Garden, W.Va., she was a daughter of the late Harley W. Harvey and Ivy Irene (White) Harvey.

She is survived by her husband, Robert C. Harshbarger; one daughter, Mrs. Carine Gorman, Bowie; one son, Gary Harshbarger, Crofton; four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Haywood, Swanton; Mrs. Lewis Dominick, Oakland; Mrs. Wesley Turner, Hardwood; Mrs. Julia Carillo, Hyattsville; and four grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Beall Funeral Home, Bowie, where a service was held Thursday. The body was cremated.

MISS HILDA GUTHRIE

Miss Hilda L. Guthrie, 60, of Bayard, W.Va., died Monday, November 11, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born in Bayard, she was the daughter of the late Earl C. Guthrie and Bessie V. (Seymour) Guthrie.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Essie (Sis) Everett, Mrs. Audrey V. (Midge) Findley, both of Bayard, and Mrs. Pauline Harvey, Shinnston, W.Va.; and a brother, Robert F. Guthrie, Bayard.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, in Oakland, where a service was conducted Wednesday by the Rev. Ray Rodeheaver. Interment was in the Bayard Cemetery.

CLARENCE V. MERSING

Clarence V. Mersing, 90, of Oakland, died Saturday, November 9, at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Born January 20, 1895, in Dry Fork, W.Va., he was the son of the late Pierce L. Mersing and Garnetta S. (Rinehart) Mersing. His wife, Thelma M. (Nine) Mersing, died in 1980.

He was a retired coal miner, farmer and state roads department employee. He was also a member of the Loch Lynn Evangelical Free Church, and a Navy veteran of World War I.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Juanita Lohr, of Oakland; one son, Charles P. Mersing, Baltimore; six sisters, Mrs. Lena Hutchinson, Adamsville, Ohio; Mrs. Nola E. Rinehart and Mrs. Tase B. Knotts, both of Oakland; Mrs. Flora Burkhard, Butler, Pa.; Mrs. Dorothy B. Prinkey, Arthurdale, W.Va.; Mrs. Ida C. Karr, of Crellin; one grandson and one greatgrandson.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Tuesday by the Rev. Delbert Knotts. Interment was in the Oakland Cemetery.

WILLIAM P. MINEAR

William P. (Bill) Minear, 68, a life-long resident of St. George, W.Va., died Wednesday, November 13, in Memorial General Hospital in Elkins.

Born March 18, 1917, in St. George, he was a son of the late William S. Minear and Saloma (Auvil) Minear.

Mr. Minear attended Tucker County, W.Va., schools; was a well-known farmer; a member of Farm Bureau; a past member of Tucker County Board of Education; a member of the Senior Citizens' Center in Parsons, W.Va.; and a member of the original pioneer family of St. George, the first settlement in Tucker County.

For over 40 years, he owned and operated Minear Lumber Company, which employed many Garrett County workers and served many Garrett County customers.

He is survived by his wife, Leah Pearl (Pifer) Minear; four sons, Donald Minear, St. George; William Minear Jr. and James W. Minear, both of Elkins; Larry W. (Butch) Minear, Parsons; one brother, Bruce Minear, Wooster, Ohio; and seven grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by one brother, Chesley Minear, and one sister, Hazel Minear.

Friends will be received at the John W. Lohr Funeral Home in St. George on Friday from 4 to 9 p.m. A service will be conducted in the funeral home chapel Saturday at 11 a.m., with the Rev. Charles Pollock officiating. Interment will follow in the St. George Cemetery.

Devastation In Parsons

These photos were taken in Parsons, W.Va., just after flood waters nearly destroyed the town early last week. They were taken by Donald Deal, a resident of Bayard. 1. The old gymnasium of Parsons High School damaged beyond repair. 2. The corner of a house on Tannery Row is ripped away. 3. The railroad track coming into Parsons crumbles into the swollen river. 4. One entire wall is torn away from this house on Pennsylvania Avenue. 5. Just moments before the flood, a row of houses and mobile homes stood here. 6. Pavement in downtown Parsons was annihilated and automobiles were tossed about like toys. 7. The Lambert Chevrolet garage sustained major damage as automobiles were stacked four deep in some spots. 8. Some houses, such as this one along Pennsylvania Avenue, remained virtually intact, but were either undermined and/or lifted off their foundations.

Southern Sports Passes On Sale

The Southern High School Athletic Department is presently selling 1985-86 winter sports pass, according to Tom Woods, athletic director. The cost for adults will be $40 and for students, $25. Passes will be honored for all girls and boys basketball and wrestling events. For a person attending all winter sports events this represents a 50% savings.

The winter sports pass may not be used for any tournament games held at Southern High School.

Tickets may be purchased at the Main Office desk between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. Tickets will not be sold after December 6.

Prices for individual varsity contests will be adults, $3.00, and students, $2.

Golden Chain Club To Hold Luncheon

The Golden Chain Club will have a fall Thanksgiving luncheon on Thursday, November 21, at 1 p.m.

A special program will follow the meal. Each person attending is asked to bring a covered dish. The meat will be provided by the club.

A spokesman for the club is asking all members to attend and to bring a friend.

Democratic Club Schedules Meeting

The Garrett County Democratic Club will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, November 19, at the Hilltop Restaurant in Grantsville beginning at 7:30 p.m.

State Senator John N. Bambacus will be the guest speaker. According to club president Spencer Scholsnagle, all interested Democrats are welcome to attend.

Oakland Couple Slates Wedding

The former Millie Loughry and Dale Hutzel both of Route 3, Oakland, announce their forthcoming marriage.

An open church wedding will be held November 22, at 7:00 p.m. at the Rush Baptist Church, Friendsville. A reception will follow at the Gorman Fire Hall, Gorman, Md.

Although only a few invitations have been sent, all friends and relatives are invited by the couple to attend.

Swanton Man Receives Jail Term For DWI

During a criminal appeal case in Allegany Circuit Court last Wednesday, Kenneth Wayne Kyle, 25, Swanton, pled guilty to three counts of driving while intoxicated. Two other motor vehicle charges were not prosecuted.

Judge J. Frederick Sharer sentenced Kyle to one year in jail for the first count and suspended a fine of $500.

For the second DWI charge, Kyle received a one-year sentence which will run concurrently with the first count. Kyle was committed to the custody of Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans.

For the third count, Kyle was given a similar concurrent jail sentence. Upon completion of the sentence, the judge ordered Kyle to be placed on two years unsupervised probation and to complete a DWI program.

Kyle was charged following a June 1 incident at the foot of Backbone Mountain on Route 135.

NEW BUSINESS OPENS IN McHENRY — McHenry Wash & Dry, owned by George Collins and built by Cornerstone Construction, next to the Beverage Shoppe on Route 219, is now open to deal with customers' "dirty laundry". The home style laundry features 16 washers and dryers side by side, plus four triple-load washers and dryers. Attendant Arlene Beitzel is on duty daily, and drop-off and pick-up service is also available for customers.

Road Conditions

the highway is open all the way to Clarksburg.

The bridge between Petersburg and Moorefield (U.S. Rt. 220) is gone. The structure, longer than 300 feet, has not yet been found. It has not been determined when passage will be available there. South of Franklin, there was little damage to this highway.

In Pendleton County, the entire county, with the exception of traffic on U.S. 220 south of Franklin is open only to emergency and local traffic. There is no vehicular access into the Smoke Hole. Officials are considering building a portable bridge at the site of the former bridge that spanned the North Fork of the South Branch near Cabins so that access can be obtained to residents there. The road leading out of the Smoke Hole to U.S. 220 is impassable.

State Route 28 is basically impassable from Petersburg south to Cherry Grove. Check with local authorities for locations at places along the former highway that can be reached by other routes.

There was damage done to U.S. Rt. 33 east of Franklin in Virginia but that has been repaired. Water trucks from Martinsburg are now traveling to Pendleton County via I-81 and U.S. 33. Previously they had been routed through Luray, Va. U.S. 33 is closed from Elkins to Harman. It is passable but traffic is forbidden so that repair work can progress.

West Virginia Route 32 is closed from Harman to Davis. The pavement is torn up and a bridge is out.

The South Fork Road on the South Fork of the South Branch upstream from Moorefield (County Rd. 7) has been repaired.

Highway officials say that in the Mathias area there are too many washed out secondary roads to mention.

U.S. Route 219 through Parsons has been reopened but is only a makeshift road.

West Virginia Route 92 in Preston County is open.

West Virginia Route 72 in Preston County is impassable at Rowlesburg. There is access to that city from the south.

Preston County Route 51 is impassable.

West Virtinia Rt. 7 in Preston County is open.

way, but we don't want to throw money into something we can't resolve."

He added that complying with the stringent regulations would add significantly to the cost of restoration.

Also Tuesday, the commissioners met with Robert Lichow, special assistant to the director of Maryland Emergency Management along with Brad Frantz, director of Garrett County Emergency Management.

Their discussions focused on the possibility of receiving federal aid for residents in the county who sustained considerable damage to their homes.

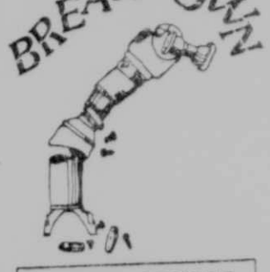
Lichow told the county officials that the main criteria for federal disaster aid is the total destruction of at least 25 homes. Only one home in the county was totally destroyed which belonged to William Tasker of Shallmar.

Health Update

Dr. William Pope, Garrett County health officer; Elizabeth Gilbert, health educator; Edgar Harman, environmental health director; and Ann Carroll, nutrition director; all met with the commissioners Tuesday to discuss individual programs offered by the Garrett County Health Department.

The health officials also provided an update on educating the public in preventative medicine.

Bid Clarification



Bruce and Bryan Hottle of Maryland Mineral Inc. also met Tuesday with the commissioners to make suggestions concerning the bid requirements and specifications for future bidding of abrasives and anti-skid materials.

City Police Report Local Auto Theft

Oakland City Police Chief John Sines reported an automobile theft which occurred last weekend.

Henry C. McClelland, West Liberty Street, Oakland, reported that he loaned the vehicle, a 1976 Chevrolet Nova, to Laura Lorraine Trout, 24, Old Crellin Road, Oakland, Sunday night around 7:30. It was his understanding that Trout would use the car to go to her parents home to pick up some clothing, then bring it back.

When she hadn't returned the car by Tuesday, McClelland reported the theft to the police.

The Nova was found yesterday in Clay County, Ky., where Trout is being held without bond for auto theft after waiving extradition from Maryland.

Sines said Trout got to Kentucky by selling McClelland's tools for gas money, and she then sold the car for $200.

The Nova is owned by Diane Lewis, San Francisco, Cal.

Missionary To Speak At Local Assembly Of God

Rev. David B. Krause, Assemblies of God Missionary to Tanzania, will be the guest speaker at the Lakeside Assembly of God Church on Route 219 north of Oakland, on November 24 at 6:30 p.m., according to the Rev. David Howe, pastor.

During their first four-year term of missionary service, Rev. Krause and his wife, Marilyn, will be ministering in Tanzania. Located in Eastern Africa, Tanzania is a combination of the primitive and the ultra-modern. The Krauses will focus their ministry on evangelism, preaching, and discipling leadership.

For the past four years, Rev. Krause has pioneered and pastored a church in New Jersey. Last summer he, along with the New Jersey D-CAP, took 39 young people from New Jersey to the Canary Islands where they pioneered the first Pentecostal church on one of the islands. He has also pioneered a ministry to Catholic charismatics and served as assistant pastor in Trenton, New Jersey.

Rev. Krause graduated from Valley Forge Christin College in Phoenixville, Pa., with a bachelor's degree in Bible. Mrs. Krause earned the L.P.N. diploma from Allegheny Community College and a bachelor's degree in Bible from Valley Forge Christian College.

The public is invited to hear Rev. Krause share his concern for reaching Tanzania with the Christian message.

Rabid Raccoon Found In The Cove

Another rabies case has been confirmed, this time showing that the epidemic has spread into The Cove area of the county.

In the early morning of November 6, Robert Bender and a group of friends were hunting near the Griffith Road off the Cove Road. The group saw a raccoon and shot it. Later on their way home they picked it up and dropped it off at the home of Phillip Margroff, who skins raccoons.

Margroff thought it was a road-kill, but in the process of skinning it found the bullet hole. He then contacted the health department. The raccoon was sent to the lab and the test came back positive.

Margroff wore gloves while skinning the raccoon, and had his pre-exposure shot. He has since been given a booster shot. The health department determined that there was no other exposure in this case.

Health department official Rodney Glotfelty stressed that persons seeing a raccoon during the day should consider it very unusual. They should report the raccoon and stay away rom the animal.

are still connected and flow into the system from homes where no one is living, causing the alarm lights to come on. The sanitary district will be doing a survey during wet periods, of people who have septic tanks connected to the system, to determine if they must disconnect them.

Deep Creek Underwater Crossing

Construction has started on the underwater crossing at the Route 219 bridge and should be completed this fall. When this crossing is done, the Deep Creek Lake system will be 100 percent complete.

Flood Victims

and Hatfield's Ferry power stations aggregating about 2,800 megawatts of generating capacity.

Public information spokesman Sue Elliott said, "intensive efforts are underway to restore equipment to service. It is not possible at this time to estimate the cost or duration of necessary repairs, or to predict the effect, if any, on system operating results. System power requirements are being met with unaffected generating facilities and purchases from utility systems to the west."

The Human Side

Aside from all the tragic statistics, the human side of the story may never be completely told; the stories of each affected flood victim's grief and horror.

Although the county, as a whole, can feel fortunate that it didn't have the scope of destruction West Virginia had, it doesn't lessen the tragic fact that one man, William Tasker of Shallmar, lost his home and many others lost possessions and sustained damage to their homes.

Some countians are asking why the National Weather Service were issuing only flood watches. Others are saying it would have made no difference because they still would have the same damage whether or not they had been warned.

It was incorrectly stated in last week's flood story that Garrett County Emergency Management warned the people of Shallmar to evacuate. Director Brad Frantz said this week that he never did receive notification of more than a flood watch from the National Weather Service but when he did hear of the severity of the river flow he called a Shallmar resident and told him to get as many people out the best way they could. Rescue efforts were then instigated by numerous volunteers to aid flood victims who travelled up a steep grade to drier ground.

As one Crellin resident put it, "You should have enough sense to watch the river yourself. Don't depend on anyone else."

A woman from Shallmar said, "Maybe the newspaper people didn't see our tears, but they were there. When the media was allowed in, all we were concerned with was helping each other. The tears flowed after the flood and before the cleaning up. The tears will fall again when the realization sets in. I just thank my neighbors that I'm alive and I thank God for my neighbors."

Betty Hudnall summed it up by saying, "It was a terrible thing, but we should feel fortunate that we didn't lose everything. And the best thing is the love and caring that has been shown all the flood victims. People I didn't even know came with bucket in hand and just started working on the mess. That's what it's all about . . . love, not our possessions."

Insight Into Education

In a survey completed by the Board of Education last year several respondents indicated that some of the future articles should highlight the various schools in the county. This piece is the first of eight such articles which will describe specific schools and their unique qualities. This article was written by Dr. Brenda McCartney, principal of the Kitzmiller Elementary School.

Kitzmiller Elementary School, the oldest school in Garrett County, was built in 1923 and renovated in 1956. The school once served as a high school, but now serves students enrolled in kindergarten through fifth grade. Children who attend Kitzmiller reside in the communities of Kitzmiller, Shallmar, Mt. Zion and Walnut Bottom.

Since Kitzmiller Elementary School serves a small number of students, four teachers are assigned to the six grades. Kindergarten students, under the direction of Jackie Brady, and first grade students, taught by Janet Morris, are kept in individual classrooms. This allows for small class sizes and more individual attention as children are beginning their schooling. Emily Nock, second/third grade teacher, and Judy Burrell, fourth/fifth grade teacher, provide instruction to the remaining students. Brenda McCartney, principal, also provides instruction to some children in grades second through fifth. Students are regrouped throughout the day to allow for the most efficient instruction.

Kitzmiller Elementary is a Chapter I school. This federal program provides many excellent resources to the school. Peggy Tasker, Edith Harvey Virginia Tichinel, and Leona Brantner are employed as aides. They work with classroom tecahers and Carolyn Corley, Chapter I Resource Teacher, to provide reinforcement and supplemental learning activities to those students who are in need.

There are a number of resource teachers who serve the school on an itinerant basis. The services of these teachers ensure that Kitzmiller students receive the same full range of educational programs as students at larger elementary schools. Resource teachers include: Oren Yoder, physical education; Dan Taylor, music; Doug Gaither, art; Marianne Green, gifted and talented; and Debbie Friend, speech therapist.

Several support personnel enable the school to run smoothly Lillie Knotts is the school secretary and also an active parent volunteer. Helen Harvey, cafeteria manager, and Betty Kimble provide nutritious breakfasts and lunches. Charlie Paugh, custodian, is responsible for maintaining the school building and grounds.

Each year the staff of Kitzmiller Elementary School focuses on the development of specific school goals. The goals reflect the needs of the students, the community and the county curriculum. The following goals have been established for the 1985-86 school year:

1. Implementation of Scott–Foresman and Houghton Mifflin reading programs.
2. Continued development of writing program.
3. Implementation of computer curriculum.
4. Continued development of school/community relationship.

Reading Programs

The students and staff at Kitzmiller Elementary are piloting a new Scott-Foresman reading program. It is hoped that this reading program will better meet the needs of certain students. Scott-Foresman focuses on concept development and vocabulary development prior to the reading of a story.

Some students are still working in the county adopted reading series, Houghton Mifflin. These materials are being gradually updated to provide students with the most current materials.

Hopefully, by using two reading programs the varied needs of students will be better met.

Writing Program

A great deal of emphasis has been placed on developing a more complete writing program for students. A concentrated effort is being made this year to emphasize writing in the content areas, the writing process, and webbing as an organizing strategy. The writing development of students is being monitored to provide information for further program development.

Implementation of Computer Curriculum

Juanita James, media/-computer aide, is primarily responsible for providing computer instruction. Students in second through fifth grade work with Juanita James in the computer lab on a weekly basis. Later in the school year kindergarten and first grade students will begin working in the computer lab.

School/Community Relationship

The interaction of the school and community is very important to Kitzmiller Elementary School. The community has an interesting history which was investigated by several students under the guidance of a former resource teacher, Rosetta Rodeheaver. As a product of that investigation students produced a slide/tape program on the history of Kitzmiller, which has been shared with various groups, and erected a historical marker at the site of the first industry in Kitzmiller.

All students are now involved in working in Rutledge Park. This park was established in the early 1950's on school property under the direction of Dr. Melvin Brown. Children and parents worked last spring at cleaning the park, and students are now ready to replant some of the old flower beds with spring bulbs.

Students become more fully involved with the communtiy during special seasons of the year. In the past students have decorated the town Christmas tree. They have also, under the direction of Emily Nock and Virginia Tichinel, decorated the senior citizens dining area at Thanksgiving and Christmas. In addition, students have entertained the senior citizens with Christmas carols.

Parent volunteers work in the school almost on a daily basis. Some of the parents make bulletin board materials and learning materials for teachers. Others share their knowledge from specific areas or are more directly involved in the classrooms. Approximately forty parents attended the last PTA meeting which was designated "Parent Volunteer Night." After the PTA meeting parents went to classrooms and worked with teachers in making materials for classrooms. The evening was such a success that another "Parent Volunteer Night" is being planned for later in the school year.

The PTA is an integral part of Kitzmiller Elementary School. Officers for 1985-86 are: Alma Hardesty, president; Sandy Mellinger, vice-president; Kathy Elliott, secretary; and Betty Nelson, treasurer. These officers, along with many volunteers, provide important services to the school through their continued involvement.

The focus of this article has been on the people who make Kitzmiller a success, because they are the heart of the school. The Garrett County Board of Education provides materials to educate children, but it takes the interaction of children, staff, and community members to provide an enriched program at a community school such as Kitzmiller Elementary.

COMPUTERS are available to the students of Kitzmiller School for a variety of learning experiences and subjects. Below, parent volunteer Kathy Hartman helps prepare a bulletin board for a second and third grade classroom.

The Joyous Heart

Only from the carefree heart of a child could come such happiness.

Or could it? Is it necessary to lose childhood's happy laughter? Must we feel depressed and burdened with the yoke of adult cares?

Certainly not! The God-given gifts of joy and happiness are possessions we can and must retain throughout all our years. But how can we keep this wonderful spirit?

Here is a formula that is very simple: attend the church of your choice regularly. In God's house you will learn to accept life's burdens — and soon they will be ever so much lighter. His Peace will fill your heart. Here, in fellowship with others, you will receive the needed peace and understanding to reclaim and sustain the merry heart.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ARE WE STILL "PLAYING CHURCH"?
November 17, 1985

Background Scripture: Ephesians 4.
Devotional Reading: Colossians 2:8-15.

I don't know about you, but when I read the fourth chapter of Ephesians, I feel a deep sense of shame. The words are beautiful, but their power to judge us is fantastic. You don't even have to read the whole chapter to know what I mean:

"...forbearing one another in love, eager to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace ..." (4:2,3).

"There is one body and one Spirit,...one hope...one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of us all..." (4:5, 6).

"...the whole body, joined and knit together by every joint... makes bodily growth and upbuilds itself in love" (4:16).

"Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and slander be put away from you, with all malice, and be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, as God in Christ forgave you" (4:31, 32).

NO LONGER CHILDREN

Read each of those passages along with your daily newspaper and you cannot escape the terrible knowledge that Christ's people on earth are projecting anything but the image of the Church described in Ephesians. "Maintain the unity of the Spirit"? What unity? "Be kind to one another"? No, Christians are not kind to one another, they are contentious, judgmental, and devisive. "There is one body and one Spirit"? Hardly! There are many bodies, and it would seem, all contending that they alone possess the one Spirit.

Oh, to be sure, sometimes the Presbyterians, Methodists and U.C.C.'s get together for a service, or sit together with the Episcopalians and the Lutherans in a council of churches. Yes, and sometimes the Pentecostals sit down with the Baptists and the Church of God acknowledges the Nazarenes. And Roman Catholics and Protestants have buried the hatchet, haven't they? (—except in Northern Ireland, where they're burying one another).

THE TRUTH IN LOVE

But if you think that's what Ephesians 4 is all about, no wonder we're so divided. Ephesians 4 is speaking of a unity and love that does not issue into constant conflict and division. Ephesians 4 is the antithesis of Christians attacking each other, impugning each other's faith, deriding each other's efforts, and denouncing each other's discipleship.

The writer of Ephesians calls us to "mature manhood" (personhood) "so that we may no longer be children, tossed to and fro and carried about with every wind of doctrine..." (4:13, 14). But, until we learn to accept our unity in Christ we will still be children "playing church."

Cross-Lites says:

"What will you do to let God know that you are satisfied with what Jesus did about your sins?"

Twenty years later, Cosmo remains same

By Marc Minnelli

Helen Gurley Brown isn't going to heaven. Sitting in her cramped corner office, eight floors above the bustle of midtown Manhattan, the editor of Cosmopolitan magazine proudly shows off the sofa pillow on which she's been sitting.

Helen Gurley Brown

"GOOD GIRLS GO TO HEAVEN. BAD GIRLS GO EVERYWHERE" reads the small embroidered pillow. "At least I don't think I'm going to heaven," Miss Brown, 63, says with a grin. "I'm an animal, and, like a monkey, Siamese cat and muskrat, one day, I'm going to drop off, faint and die."

She glances around the room, a room whose flowery, feminine wallpaper matches the flowery, feminine sofa. Her eyes focus on another embroidered pillow. This one reads: I LOVE CHAMPAGNE, CAVIAR AND CASH.

"I guess an afterlife is a possibility," she adds matter-of-factly, "but I'm not religious and I don't believe in it. I'm simply a human."

Many people, however — both her competition and her chums — describe Miss Brown as the ultimate superhuman. Since becoming the magazine's editor in 1965, the publication has become one of the major makeovers in publishing history. Circulation has increased from 730,000 to more than 3 million; ad revenues have spiraled from $1.8 million to nearly $98 million. Whoever doesn't read Cosmo knows about it — not bad for a former secretary-copywriter who "never got by by being an appendage."

This month, Cosmopolitan celebrates its 20th anniversary with a special issue. Though her editorial position has made her a celebrity — she's written the bestselling sagas "Sex and the Single Girl" and "Having It All," and is a talk-show favorite — Miss Brown cringes when congratulated on her Cosmo anniversary.

"Anyone can put extra razzle-dazzle pages in a magazine and call it an anniversary special," she says. "When I first started out, I was lucky enough to find a format that worked. And lots of factors attributed to Cosmo's success — my energy, my husband, a good staff. But I shouldn't be congratulated because the magazine is successful. What I should be congratulated for," adds Miss Brown, "is surviving. Who would have ever thought I'd hang in here so long?"

Tuneful soap song; Duffy may return

By Kimberly Redmond

I'm haunted by the beautiful melody played on "The Guiding Light" whenever Lujack and Beth (played by Vincent Irizarry and Judi Evans) are together. What is the name of the song? Is it available commercially? — G.A., Bemus Point, N.Y.

Vincent Irizary

Beth and Lujack's love song is titled "Almost Paradise," and it's available on the soundtrack album from the movie, "Footloose."

I read that David Sederholm, the actor who portrays Bill Hyde on "Ryan's Hope," has also appeared on "All My Children." I can't remember seeing him on "AMC." Could you tell me what his character's name was? — C.S., Findlay, Ohio.

Sederholm briefly appeared on "AMC" just before he signed his "Ryan's Hope" contract. The actor claims he was a non-contract day player and that his "AMC" character was never given a name by the show's writers.

Why did the writers of "Dallas" kill off Bobby Ewing, who was played by Patrick Duffy? I really miss him! — S.S., Miami, Fla.

Hollywood insiders insist that Duffy's character was killed off because the actor was going to quit the popular prime-time soap.

I've missed many episodes of "The Young and the Restless," and I'm dying to find out what happened to the baby that Traci Abbott (played by Beth Maitland) was expecting. Can you help me out? — C.B., Atlanta, Ga.

Traci, who was pregnant with Tim Sullivan's illegitimate child, suffered a miscarriage after a confrontation with Patty Williams Abbott.

Patrick Duffy

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

My favorite show has become the late-night crime series "Night Heat." What can you tell me about Jeff Wincott, who plays Det. Frank Giambone? — B.T., St. Michael, Pa.

Jeff Wincott

Wincott was born on May 8 in Toronto, Canada. He was offered a swimming scholarship to college, but chose to study acting, instead, at Ryerson Polytechnic Institute.

He created the character of Mr. Mannequin, whose robot-like mime movements were popular in the streets and nightclubs of Toronto. His career soon advanced to commercial work and a small role in the Canadian Broadcasting Company's series "King of Kensington." He later won a recurring role in the show.

Wincott's other television credits include roles in such shows as "The Great Detective," "Hangin' In" and "The Littlest Hobo." The actor has also appeared in the films "Prom Night" and "Quest for Fire."

In 1982, the physically fit actor held the Canadian Taekwondo Boxing Championship. Wincott, who weighs 157 pounds and is 5-feet-11, maintains apartments in Toronto and Manhattan.

My family and I are planning a trip to Los Angeles next year, and we would like tickets to a taping of "The Cosby Show" and "Family Ties." Can you help? — C.G., Yonkers, N.Y.

There's no way you're going to see a taping of "The Cosby Show" in California — the series is taped in Brooklyn, N.Y. Tickets may be difficult to get, but write to NBC, Ticket Dept., 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020. For "Family Ties," address your request to the network's West Coast ticket department at 3000 West Alameda, Burbank, CA 91523. Good luck!

Bill Cosby

FRIDAY

Get out the bobby sox! Dick Clark, everyone's favorite teenager, hosts "American Bandstand's 33 1/3 Celebration," a special honoring the series' third of a century anniversary. The show airs Friday, Nov. 22 on ABC.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

Veronica Hamel stars as Kate Kane and Sam Neill stars as her husband, successful Boston banker William Kane, in "Kane & Abel," the sprawling epic of revenge and power, based on Jeffrey Archer's bestselling novel. The seven-hour miniseries airs Sunday, Nov. 17; Monday, Nov. 18 and Tuesday, Nov. 19 on CBS.

Gulager finds fright flicks necessary evil

By Gregory Garver

HOLLYWOOD — Clu Gulager has become the master of the macabre. The veteran television ("The Tall Man," "The Virginian") and film ("The Killers," "The Last Picture Show,") actor has begun specializing in horror films — in recent months, he has starred in such movies as "Return of the Living Dead" and "Nightmare on Elm Street, Part II: Freddy's Revenge." He will also be seen, as the leading ghoul, in the upcoming NBC movie "Terror at London Bridge," starring opposite David Hasselhoff and Stepfanie Kramer.

Clu Gulager

"In his career, an actor goes through various periods of thrust," says Gulager. "For some reason, I appear to be in a horror film period at the moment."

The actor says there is nothing wrong with being in scary films and TV shows. "Many actors refuse to do them," Gulager says. "But I grew up watching horror films — 'Frankenstein,' 'The Mummy' and 'Dracula.' To this day, I think about those movies. Karloff was one of our greatest film actors. I'm not as skeptical about the value of horror films as some of my colleagues."

Yet Gulager admits some fright flicks are too horrific, too bloody, and he says some of his friends challenge him on that score, accusing him of furthering the concept of violence.

His response? "Most Hans Christian Anderson fairy tales and Walt Disney features — 'Snow White' for example — are full of frightening moments," Gulager explains. "They scared me to death. And don't forget it was a very genteel English lady — Mary Shelley — who wrote 'Frankenstein.'"

And though the actor believes some current horror films are excessively bloody, he also believes that some of the recent horror releases are superior. "'From a Whisper to a Scream' is an example of an intelligent, adult approach to horror films," he says. "Jeff Burr, who made it, deserves a lot of credit."

Not surprisingly, Gulager and his wife, actress Miriam Byrd Nethery, both star in "From a Whisper to a Scream." It is the first time in several years that they have worked together.

"That film," Gulager says, "is a reflection of mankind. If we want film to mirror our times," he adds, "we have to tell ugly stories as well as beautiful ones."

Keeping fit with prayer and exercise

By Renee Ross

After a hectic day, you're likely to find Gail Edwards relaxing in either a sweat suit or gardening clothes.

Gail Edwards

"In the midst of total madness, I go two ways — I either hit an exercise class or work in my garden," says Miss Edwards, who recreates her original role as waitress Dot in the syndicated sitcom "It's a Living."

"I've been through a lot of different exercise programs at different times," says the 5-foot-4, 121-pound actress. "Once, I had to play a black leather queen, so I got in shape by lifting weights an hour each morning."

Miss Edwards, however, usually sticks to less exotic workouts. "I take gymnastics twice a week," she explains. "I hang from bars, use the trapeze and do lots of floor work. It's great for the upper body. For my legs, I take dance classes or use a rebounder trampoline."

The Florida native relies on intuition to stay nutritionally balanced. "I have a lot of energy and can tell when certain foods clog me up or slow me down," she says. "I was a cookie addict, but I've cut back. Now, I eat healthy salads and a bit of protein — and no hard liquor."

The actress also reveals a slimming secret: "One night a week, I blow my diet and enjoy Mexican food or anything else I want. As long as I watch the amounts and keep exercising, it works fine."

She adds that her strong religious faith helps her deal with life's inevitable struggles. "The thing that centers me personally is my faith and trust in the Lord," she explains. "I'm at my best if I pray every day. I try to be thankful for my good friends and family and all the abundance in my life."

That abundance includes her beloved garden. "My masseur loves gardening and he helped turn my backyard into a little garden of paradise," explains the actress. "He brought in rocks and flowers, and we started creating with plants. It's like painting a picture.

"It's wonderful," she says, "because I'm in a studio all day, but in my garden, I'm with the sky. I get my hands dirty and smell the earth. It brings back my childhood.

"I don't have children of my own," adds Miss Edwards, "so it's incredible to watch the plants grow. People give me plants that they don't want because they think they're ugly. The plants are survivors — they're my little friends."

Four new videos that fans should check out

By Marianne Meyer

There's a wealth of new material available at local video outlets for good home viewing. Here are a few recommendations:

Michael Jackson

Talking Heads' "Stop Making Sense" may well be the best in-concert film ever, thanks to director Jonathan Demme's remarkable restraint and sensitivity to the band's inherent musical creativity and theatricality. No gimmicks, backstage chit-chat or audience interference here; this is a straightforward, but far from straight-laced, presentation of one of America's premiere dance/rock/art (take your pick) bands at prime concert pitch. If you've already seen this film in theatres, be aware that the 18-song home package includes two additions — "Cities" and a medley of "I Zimbra" and "Big Business." And if you still haven't seen "Stop Making Sense," stop wasting time. This one's a must!

"Motown: The 25th Anniversary Special" is just what you think it is — the extraordinary television tribute to Berry Gordy's musical empire with a cast, it seems, of thousands ... and gold records to match. In the home version, the show carries an extra 30 minutes that were not seen on the original prime-time telecast, but the highlight remains Michael Jackson's electrifying version of "Billie Jean." Maybe with a lot of slow-motion action and a little practice, you can finally figure out how he did that moonwalk.

"The Beatles Live" isn't going to win any awards for technical excellence; it's a crudely shot collection of appearances from Britain's 60s TV series, "Ready, Steady Go." At 15 minutes in length, it's a pretty meager collection, too. But with a list price of $16.95 and the priceless appeal of the Fab Four, who can resist? Here's a great stocking stuffer for the Beatlemaniac in you life.

"Private Music" wants to be a rare and beautiful bird in the home video market, but this set of three atmospheric instrumentals, set to lyrical photography of natural wonders, is almost too pretty — bordering on Hallmark greeting card sentimentality. Still, it's a restful show (video valium?) that's a pleasing alternative to most of the frenetic music clip scene, and offers a glimpse of the potential in so-called "ambient" video.

TV veteran brings Archer saga to life

By Frank Lovece

Buzz Kulik wishes to inform us he is not dead. "There was this clerk at a store where I was ordering something for my wife," the veteran TV director says. "He asked me my name. I told him, and then he said, 'Didn't you use to direct "Twilight Zone"?' I said yeah, I did. And suddenly it's, 'Oh my God, you're alive! I thought all you people were dead!'"

Buzz Kulik

No, Seymour "Buzz" Kulik hasn't gone to the fifth dimension yet. Though he's vague about his age — sources make him anywhere from 58 to 63 years old — Kulik recently spent 13 months supervising production and directing Jeffrey Archer's "Kane & Abel," the seven-hour miniseries airing this week on CBS. Kulik's "Kane & Abel" assignment followed his stints on the miniseries "George Washington," "From Here to Eternity" and Sidney Sheldon's "Rage of Angels."

"These were all done on location," says Kulik. "I haven't been on a stage in six years." He's off to the Philippines for his next assignment. Even so, he relates that when a friend asked him where he'd like to work next, Kulik told him, "Stage 8. Any Stage 8!"

Kulik has worked on innumerable Stage 8s in his life. After serving in World War II, he learned his craft during the "Golden Age" of live TV drama, working with such legendary screenwriters as Rod Serling and Reginald Rose. In 1960, he shared an Emmy for the fabled anthology series, "Playhouse 90." Through the years, he's also taken a few, less-than-successful sojourns into theatrical films, including "The Hunter," Steve McQueen's last movie. When it comes to TV movies, he's a star. His "Brian's Song" is a perennial favorite; "Kill Me If You Can," starring Alan Alda, is one of the most acclaimed telefilms ever made.

"My main interest," says Kulik, "is being a storyteller. That's certainly an outgrowth of my start in live television. We were limited then to what we called 'kitchen dramas' — we had a living room, a kitchen, and, if it was a big expensive production," he adds, "a bedroom! Because the action was limited, the writing, directing and acting had to be aimed toward character development, interesting people and interesting moments rather than car chases."

Kulik pauses. "All of us," he says, "got a little screwed up when live television went down the drain and we 'expanded' our horizons. We got too involved in action rather than in the development of character and story."

Spirits, Beer Cigarette Tax Revenues Noted

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reports that state distilled spirits tax revenue collected in October, 1985, jumped 52.4% over the same month of the previous year, but the comptroller says it doesn't mean Marylanders' drinking habits have changed.

"The $1,726,643 in Maryland distilled spirits tax revenue collected during October 1985, showed such a substantial increase because of the increased federal excise tax on distilled spirits," Goldstein said. "The federal tax increased from $10.50 per gallon to $12.50 per gallon on October 1, 1985, and our increased state revenue reflects increased buying activity in September as retailers and consumers purchased larger than usual quantities of distilled spirits before the federal tax hike took effect."

The October revenue reflects gallons sold in September. According to tax reports, 1.1 million gallons of distilled spirits were sold in September, 1985, compared with nearly 755,000 gallons in September, 1984.

The dramatic increase in distilled spirits tax revenue did not carry over into the other alcohol and tobacco tax revenues, however. Wine tax receipts increased by nearly 2.7% over October, 1984, but beer and tobacco tax collections declined by 5.2% and 10.2%, respectively. Total alcohol and tobacco tax collections for the month of October, 1985, amounted to $7,982,542, down 1% from the $8,064,388 collected during October, 1984.

Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City will benefit, however, from the increased sales of distilled spirits, according to the comptroller. "We are sending out checks totaling $6,629,783 to Maryland's subdividsions as their share of distilled spirits, beer and tobacco tax revenues collected during the first quarter of Fiscal Year 1986," Goldstein said. "That's 7.5% more than the distribution they received for the first quarter of Fiscal Year 1985."

The subdivisions will receive a total of $1,379,325 in distilled spirits tax revenue, a 25.9% increase over their share for the same period last year. Approximately one-third of the $1.50 per gallon state tax on distilled spirits is returned to the subdivisions, based on gallons of liquor delivered to retail licensees in the jurisdiction.

Garrett County will receive $8,907.21 in distilled spirits tax revenue.

The subdivisions will receive $1,301,482, a 7.9% increase, as their share of beer tax collections, based on approximately one-half of the nine cents per gallon beer tax for every gallon of beer delivered to licensees within the subdivision.

Garrett County will receive $8,724.64 in beer tax revenue.

The 23 counties and Baltimore City will realize $3,948,976 in cigarette tax revenue, a 2.1% increase. Approximately three cents of the 13¢ per pack cigarette tax is returned to the subdivisions, based on population.

Garrett County will receive $24,751.64 in cigarett tax revenue.

Residents Urged To Inspect Heat Tapes For Winter

Homeowners and mobile home residents who rely on electric heat tapes or pipe heating cables to protect exposed water and drain pipe from freezing are being urged by government safety experts to inspect the tapes or cables now for possible fire hazards before the onset of winter.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, over 500 reported home fires are believe to have been caused by heat tapes or pipe heating cables over the last seven years. In many cases, improperly installed tapes and cables triggered the fires.

CPSC said heat tapes and cables are commonly used in crawl spaces and in the substructure of mobile homes, beach houses, mountain cabins, cottages and other part-time dwellings where pipes could freeze during the winter. Some heat tapes are plugged in the year-round and are activated by a thermostat when the outdoor temperature approaches freezing. In other situations, homeowners plug in the tapes in the fall and unplug them in the spring.

CPSC said homeowners or licensed electricians should make annual inspections of heat tapes or pipe heating cables to detect any latent fire hazards. If cracks are found in the plastic insulation or bare wires are exposed, the tape or cable should be replaced immediately.

Persons should make sure heat tapes were installed according to the manufacturer's instructions. Of 35 home fires involving heat tapes which were investigated by CPSC, the agency learned that 40 percent of the heat tapes were believed to be "overwrapped;" the tape was lapped over itself when it was installed around the pipe.

Homeowners buying new or replacement heat tapes should use the proper tape for the proper pipe. They should know the diameter of the pipe and the length of pipe to be protected when they shop for the heat tape. Since there are many kinds of pipes permitted local building codes (copper, galvanized steel, plastic, etc.), persons should make certain the heat tape they buy is approved for use on the specific pipe used in the home.

Finally, heat tapes should never be wrapped around the thermal insulation on a pipe or used near a flammable object in the home. Existing tapes should be inspected to make certain no such fire hazards exist in the home.

Garrett Bassers, DNR Construct Artificial Reefs

Members of the Garrett Bassers, the local chapter of B.A.S.S. (Bass Anglers Sportsmen's Society), working with Maryland DNR fishery biologist Ken Pavol, are continuing their ongoing club project to place fish attracting structure in Deep Creek Lake.

According to Pavol, artificial reefs, constructed of discarded tires and chicken crates, have been placed in eight areas of the lake since the project began in 1982.

"The rubber and plastic materials are chemically inert and have no effect on water quality," said Pavol. "Much of the lake's natural underwater cover has decomposed over the years making the artificial reefs an important contribution to fishery management efforts."

Garrett Bassers also work with DNR fisheries personnel on a bass rearing project conducted annually in ponds at the Oakland Country Club.

Over 18,000 largemouth and smallmouth bass have been raised and stocked in area waters since 1982 as a result of the project, said Pavol.

As part of this year's efforts, 1,350 largemouth bass were specfally marked and stocked in Deep Creek Lake to determine if supplemental stocking of young bass would benefit the lake's sport fishery.

Pavol said the mark, a fin clip, will make the fish identifiable throughout their lives; as long as 14 years in Deep Creek Lake.

Students from Garrett Community College's Fishery/Wildlife Program joined members of the Garrett Bassers in assisting DNR fishery's personnel to mark and stock the fish.

The Garrett Bassers, one of the country's most active B.A.S.S. chapters, recently received the National B.A.S.S. Federation Conservation Award, an award given annually recognizing the most outstanding chapter nationwide in fishery conservation activities.

Ruth Enlow Library Friends Organize

Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library was formally organized Sunday, November 10 at Will O' the Wisp. Twenty patrons of the library, representing several areas of the county, attended the first meeting.

On Thursday, November 7, the group met at Garrett Community College to hear guest speaker Maurice Travillian, chief of Public Libraries in Maryland, who spoke on other "friend" organizations in the state and how they serve libraries throughout the United States.

The local group plans to make known to the public and county officials the services and needs of the libraries in Garrett County. Interested persons wanting to aid in this phase of Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library should contact Arthur Naylor, Joanne Ashby or Connie Margison.

Organizations details will be handled by Ann Englander and Fay Denison.

Library supporters who wish to receive future announcements and information releases or to contribute money to help finance the initial mailings are asked to contact their local library.

Assumes Position At Hospital In South Carolina

Andrew E. Mance, Jr., M.A.T., a native of Oakland, has assumed the duties of Director of Admissions/Public Relations at Southern Pines, a psychiatric hospital located in Charleston, S.C. The 102-bed freestanding private hospital provides a continuum of mental health services to children, adolescents and adults.

A son of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew E. Mance, Oakland, Mance has been associated with the hospital since May 1982 as a coordinator for one of the adolescent units. He received a bachelor of science degree in psychology from Salem College, Salem, W. Va. and a master of arts in teaching degree from The Citadel, Charleston. He has been in the mental health field for over 14 years and served as Director of the Program for the Behaviorally Handicapped, a school for autistic children in Charleston, for ten years prior to coming to Southern Pines. He is also the principal author and developer of Averting and Handling Aggressive Behavior (AHAB), a manual published by the South Carolina Department of Mental Health.

In addition, Mance has conducted numerous workshops dealing with AHAB, the autistic child, behavior management and positive parenting.

As Director of Admissions/Public Relations, Mance will be responsible for coordinating community relations, hospital advertising and the hospital's admissions department.

Mance, his wife, and two children live on the Isle of Palms.

Workshop On Wood Stoves Set At GCC

The cast iron "monster" sitting in many homes fills some folks with fear. The work and mess associated with burning wood causes some to wonder if it's really worth it. Moving the heat and keeping up with the wood stove can be a chore.

Perhaps some of these fears and uncertainties can be relieved by attending the "Wood Burning Seminar", Monday, December 2, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the McHenry campus of the Garrett Community College, Room 010.

John Grid, from the University of Maryland, Agricultural Engineering Department, will conduct a session to help answer questions on: how to season wood in less than 8-10 months; how to store wood properly; simple ways to reduce creosote problems; how to control back-puffing chimneys; moving the heat to the rest of the house; and solving problems in starting and operating a stove. For more information, persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at 334-8266.

EARNS PROMOTION — Co. C 121st Engineer Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, Oakland, has announced the promotion of Rick Wakefield from 2nd lieutenant to 1st lieutenant, effective August 1, 1985. Wakefield serves this unit in the capacity as executive officer and training officer, and coordinates with other officers and NCO's to insure the completion of the mission of the unit. 1st Lieutenant Wakefield attended Officers Candidate School from 1980 to 1982 where he was commissioned 2nd lieutenant and served as platoon leader of the 1st Platoon for Company C. Wakefield served with the regular U.S. Army from 1973 to 1980. He served in Athens, Greece, as advisor to the Greek Air Force, and with the Hercules Air Defense Missles based in Athens. He also served in the medical field as psychiatric specialist. He received the Army Commendation Medal for "outstanding service with the highest standards." He was also a member of the All-Europe Army Softball Team. In civilian life, Wakefield is employed by Potomac Garrett State Forest in forest management and as a law enforcement officer. He is the 1st vice commander of Post 71 American Legion. He lives with his wife, Wendy, in Mtn. Lake Park.

Sweitzer Promoted In National Guard

Co. C 121st Engineer Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, Oakland, has announced the promotion of David L. Sweitzer from sergeant to staff sergeant.

Sweitzer has been with this unit since January 1983 and has a total of nine years service with the military, with prior service in the U.S. Navy. He is the 1st squad leader of the 2nd Platoon.

Sweitzer is a resident of Mt. Lake Park, where he resides with his wife, Eva Catherine, and their four children. He is employed by Pargas of Oakland.

Handbook Offers Guidance To Elected Officials

A handbook has been produced by the Maryland Department of State Planning (DSP) to assist elected officials, planning and zoning officials and private developers in meeting the interim provisions of the Chesapeake Bay Critical Area Law when deciding development applications.

Governor Harry Hughes said, "The goal of the law, which was passed in 1984, is to aid the protection and recovery of Maryland's most unique natural resource.

During this interim period, the law requires local authorities to make specific findings that proposed development activities minimize "adverse impacts on water quality" and protect "fish, wildlife and plant habitats" in order to approve applications for rezoning, subdivision, special exceptions, conditional uses and variances.

The Guidance Handbook suggests 12 site specific development objectives to help local jurisdictions make these decisions. A step-by-step review process and a series of questions help local officials decide if the proposed development meets the objectives.

The handbook provides basic information about land use and environmental relationships, including a description of soil characteristics and properties, a reading list of relevant materials on the various aspects of natural resource management which sensitive development must employ and the complete text of the 1984 critical area legislation.

There is also a sample worksheet and a step-by-step procedure to assist developers in submitting a well-researched application and an appropriately designed site plan for changing land use in the Critical Area.

"The long-term effect of the passage and implementation of the Chesapeake Bay Critical Area Law, will be more sensitive development along the shoreline of the Bay and its tidal tributaries," said Constance Lieder, Secretary of State Planning.

Local governments must continue to make these findings until the permanent Critical Areas Programs are effective. The Chesapeake Bay Critical Area Commission is now holding hearings on proposed criteria that may be adopted in 1986 to guide the development of local programs. It will be many months before the local programs will be prepared.

The handbook offers local planning authorities practical suggestions about how to comply with the requirements and to make specific findings in the interim.

For more information about the handbook or to order a copy, contact DSP at 301 West Preston Street, Room 1101, Baltimore. Copies of the handbook are $5.00.

Turkey Supply For Holidays Reported Good

The holiday season is closing in and for many it is time to think about turkeys, the traditional entree for Thanksgiving and those other special seasonal days. About half of the turkeys consumed annually are bought during November and December.

Helen M. Huber, marketing specialist with the Maryland Department of Agriculture, reports that the supply of turkeys is larger than in 1984. As of September 30, 1985, the United States Department of Agriculture reported a 5% increase in production over 1984. At the same time there was a 14% larger supply than a year ago in cold storage - over 445 million pounds.

The retail price of frozen turkeys, from all reports, will be about the same as in 1984. The small speciality turkeys are probably going to be about ten cents per pound higher than in '84.

The cost of the Maryland fresh dressed turkey that is sold directly to the consumer has not changed from last fall. There is a slightly larger supply of these state-produced birds.

According to Huber, there should be a size available to meet any demand. "If you want a very large turkey, why not go the Maryland fresh way as there are sizes available up to 35 and 40 pounds," she said. "In order to be assured that you will have the larger size, it is suggested you place your order now. But do not plan to pick up your bird until a day or two before using so it will be fresh and of top quality for the holiday."

The commercial grower in Garrett County is James Glotfelty, Rock Lodge Road, telephone 245-4345.

Diabetes Group To Meet Monday

The next meeting of the Garrett County Diabetes Association will be held Monday, November 18, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

The speaker for the meeting will be Wendy Wakefield, dietitian for Garrett County Memorial Hospital, whose topic will be "Eating for the Holidays."

Free blood sugar testing will be available at the meeting. The general public is invited to attend.

Nurses Workshop Slated At GCC

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer Cancer Update for Nurses on Friday, December 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the McHenry campus of the college.

This course is designed to provide nurses with update training and current information in the field of oncology. Topics to be covered include: overview of cancer, chemotherapy, psychosocial aspects and resources. Upon completion of the course the student should be able to: discuss current development concerning cancer and its treatment; explain what's new in chemotherapy and discuss the safe handling of drugs; discuss the psychosocial aspects of the disease; and list and discuss different resources for the cancer patient.

For more information, persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at 334-8266.

New Horizons Workshop Slated

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College will present a free career workshop entitled "Can I Run From Home Base?" on Wednesday, November 20.

The purpose of the workshop, according to New Horizons director, Barbara Frey, is to present business opportunities that can be run from the home which may be particularly appealing to those persons who feel they would like to add to the family income, but cannot go out and seek employment with regular set hours. There will be representatives from various companies as well as those who have set up businesses in their homes. The workshop will be held in Room #603 of GCC-Oakland Center from 10 a.m. to noon.

To register for this workshop, or to make arrangements to share a business experience with participants of the workshop, persons may contact Sandy Schofield at New Horizons by calling 334-9184 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Benedum Lecture Series Speakers At WVU Noted

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—James Wyngaarden, director of the National Institutes of Health, will be the first speaker in the 1985 Benedum Lectures series at West Virginia University.

The lectures, sponsored by WVU's Benedum professors, are free and open to the public. Theme of the 1985 series is "New Frontiers of Human Knowledge."

Dr. Wyngaarden will discuss "New Horizons in Medical Research" at 7:30 p.m. on November 19 in the first-floor auditorium of the Basic Sciences Building at the WVU Medical Center. A reception will follow in the lobby outside the auditorium.

Other speakers in the Benedum Lectures series will be William Gardner, producing director of the Pittsburgh Public Theatre, who will discuss "The Importance of Regional Theatre in America Today" on December 2, and Samuel Adams, president of Carcajou Exploration Co., will speak on "The Importance of Science in Mineral Exploration" on Decmber 10.

Wyngaarden became director of the National Institutes of Health in 1982. Before that he was chair of the department of medicine in the Duke University School of Medicine.

An internationally recognized authority on the regulation of purine biosynthesis and the genetics of gout, Wyngaarden has served on a number of high-level governmental committees and is a nationally respected adviser on the administration of biomedical research.

Wyngaarden received his M.D. from the University of Michigan. He is coauthor of the "Cecil Textbook of Medicine" and he was an editor of "The Metabolic Basis of Inherited Disease."

The Benedum Lectures began in 1981 when WVU's Benedum and Centennial professors started a weekly lecture program. In the years since then the Lecture Series has brought to WVU distinguished speakers from many fields including two Nobel laureates.

In the spring of 1986, the Benedum professors will initiate a new lecture series with talks by four WVU faculty who will have received the Benedum Award for Distinguished Scholars, which will honor research, scholarship or creative activity.

The first four winners will be announced in the spring. Four awards of $2,000 each, funded by the Benedum Endowment, will be available each year.

FSC/Community Orchestra Sets Annual Concert

The Frostburg State College/Community Orchestra, under the direction of Ms. Ellen Grolman of the FSC music faculty, will present its annual Fall concert this Sunday, November 17, at 3:15 p.m. in Pullen Auditorium on the Frostburg State campus.

Works featured on the program will be "Variations on a Shaker Melody" by the American composer Aaron Copland, "Military Symphony" by Franz Joseph Haydn, and "Capriol: Suite for String Orchestra" by the 20th century composer Peter Warlock.

"Variations on a Shaker Melody" is an arrangement by the composer of the simple, moving Shaker tune originally cast in Copland's "Appalachian Spring" ballet suite.

Haydn's "Military Symphony" has the addition of Turkish janissary band instruments, and a rousing finale.

For his "Capriol," Peter Warlock borrowed six dances written in the late 16th century, and injected them with 20th century verve.

The concert is open to the public, and there is no admission charge.

If you had a business partner that damaged equipment, wasted money and insulted your customers, wouldn't you get rid of him?

If you operate a car wash, restaurant, hotel or other lodging facility, you may have a partner like that: your water.

Hard water can cause machinery problems and waste heating efficiency. And displease customers by leaving after-washing streaks on everything from salad plates to sports cars.

Culligan conditioned water eases these problems by reducing scaly mineral buildup. Car washes do a better job. Dishes and glassware sparkle. Hospital patients and lodging guests enjoy cleaner fixtures, softer towels and more.

You'll save money with reduced maintenance costs. Save up to 50% on soaps and other cleaning agents, too.

Heart Association Not The Same As AHRF, ACRF

The American Heart Association is presently urging donors not to confuse the AHA with other organizations soliciting funds to support cardiovascular research.

"We are particularly concerned that the public may be confused about the relationship between the American Heart Association and the American Heart Research Foundation," said Richard A. Boehning, AHA's national chairman of the board.

He said that AHA offices across the nation have received numerous requests for information about AHRF. "We believe prospective donors might think that when they contribute to the American Heart Research Foundation they are giving to the American Heart Association," he stated.

The AHRF recently sent out a nationwide request for donations accompanied by a survey on stress and heart disease. A similar plea for funds and a survey on stress were mailed about the same time by the American Cancer Research Fund, which listed the same New Jersey address as AHRF.

Both the AHRF and ACRF are under investigation in several states, Boehning pointed out. "In New Hampshire and New Jersey for example, federal authorities have been probing the two organizations. And New York's Department of State also has been investigating the Heart Foundation.

"West Virginia and Maine refused the registration applications of both the Cancer Fund (not to be confused with the American Cancer Society) and the Heart Foundation when they failed to register within the required period after they began soliciting funds there. Such action effectively bans both organizations from soliciting funds.

"The American Heart Association has no desire to harm any legitimate nonprofit agency," Boehning said. "However, we have been unsuccessful in obtaining information concerning AHRF's operations."

Boehning offered these suggestions for donors who are not certain about the legitimacy of organizations asking for contributions:

—Determine if it has tax-exempt status by asking to see a letter from the Internal Revenue Service. Nonprofit, tax-exempt charitable institutions must register with the IRS so contributions are deductible.

—Contact the local office of the Better Business Bureau for information about the organization or write to the Council of Better Business Bureaus, 1515 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22209. The BBB maintains a list of nonprofit agencies that operate according to standard fund-raising practices.

—The National Charities Information Bureau issues a free "Wise Giving Guide" every two months. It may be obtained by writing 19 Union Square West, New York, N.Y. 10003.

In 1983-84, the AHA reported $105.7 million in program services or 74.2 percent of total expenses. This included $43.7 million for research, Fund-raising expenses were $21.3 million, or 15 percent, and management expenses were $15.4 million, or 10.8 percent.

Energy Tips

by Patricia Driscoll Easterday
Extension Agent for Community Resource Development
For Allegany and Garrett Counties

STRAIGHT TALK ABOUT ENERGY

At a recent workshop on woodstove management, Extension Engineer, John Gird gave some hints on preventing creosote build-up in your chimney.

When wood burns, a mixture of combustible gases, water vapor, and carbon dioxide leave the fire as flue gas. Complete burning produces a flue gas mixture composed almost entirely of water vapor and carbon dioxide. A very hot fire, supported by sufficient oxygen, approaches complete combustion.

Flue gases leaving the fire coal as heat is absorbed by the stovepipe chimney system. If flue gas temperature drops below about 300° at the top of the chimney, those unburned gases and water vapor condense. In time, the water evaporates leaving dark, highly combustible creosote in the stovepipe and chimney walls.

When you are burning wood, some creosote will form even under the best of conditions, but you should do everything possible to reduce it. Creosote forms rapidly when 1) combustion is not complete, and 2) flue gases are cooled below 300° F.

A low or smoldering fire tends to build up creosote. When a fire is first started, the chimney surfaces are relatively cool, so creosote accumulates rapidly. Once the chimney warms up from the heat of the smoke, less creosote will appear.

To reduce creosote formation, try these hints:

1) Open the air inlet to establish a hot fire quickly, then close it to the desired position.

2) If you have difficulty deciding how well combustion is proceeding within your stove, try attaching a thermometer to the stovepipe. Install it close to the thimble connection to the chimney and at least 18" away from the stove. Maintain a 300° reading on that thermometer when you are burning wood.

3) Do not try to increase the time between refueling by restricting the wood's air supply and/or by filling the firebox as full as possible. Loading more than one third of capacity cools the stove so combustible gases driven from the wood are not ignited and are lost up the chimney.

4) Learn how to burn all types of wood. Air dried hardwood burns best. However, when you must use green, wet, or softwood, try to get the same heat output from the stove as with air-dried hardwood.

Another possibility for reducing creosote in your stove is a catalytic combuster. When applied and used properly, they have the potential of reducing creosote formation by ninety percent. In addition, they can reduce wood consumption by twenty percent, reduce air pollution by seventy-five percent, and require less refueling.

A catalytic combuster is a device that burns smoke at a temperature far below those normally required. A chemical substance works as catalyst, allowing the smoke to burn at 500° F. rather than 1100° F. Once the catalyst has ignited, the combuster will operate as long as the incoming smoke remains above 250° F.

For more information about creosote formation, the Cooperative Extension Service at 11 Prospect Square, Cumberland, Maryland 21502; telephone 724-3320.

Extended Coverage
By Rob Michael

Jewelry values change all the time, and while you can't hope to keep up with the daily or even monthly fluctuations, it's a good idea to have your things reappraised from time to time.

If your jewelry appraisals haven't been updated in 10 years or more, you're most certainly underinsured. Your coverage would not replace your treasures.

Similarly, you could be OVERinsured. If you bought jewelry or even silver at the height of the market a few years ago, bring it in soon to be revalued so you can save on premiums.

It doesn't pay to overinsure, since the insurer usually has the option of replacing your valuables—now available at a lower price—instead of giving you the cash.

The current tax laws make it extra-important to update your coverage, since it is now almost impossible to deduct most casualty losses on your tax return.

Protect the things and the people you care about. For complete insurance coverage, talk to us at:

TENANTS OF MEADOWS MAKE DONATION — The Tenants of Meadows East organization made donations last week to two local emergency service organizations. Receiving checks for $75 were the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. The tenants are now conducting a raffle of a hand-crocheted bedspread by Mary F. Paige, a member of the organization. Tickets may be purchased from any resident of the Meadows East. The drawing will be held December 12. In the photo, left to right, are Anne Conner, committee chairman; Mrs. Paige, Nora Ream, Kathleen Edwards, Anna Steger, resident manager; Fran Pope, member of Southern Rescue board of directors; Don Sincell, president of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department; and John Criss, retired member of the OVFD and treasurer of the tenants organization.

Sarbanes Named Speaker For FSC Commencement

U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes will deliver the address at Frostburg State College's 87th Commencement ceremonies on Saturday, December 21.

Announcement of the senator's scheduled appearance was made by Dr. Kenneth Jablon, acting president of FSC, who said the college will award over 300 degrees at the mid-year event, including an honorary doctor of laws degree to Senator Sarbanes.

The program begins at noon at the Physical Education Center Arena, and the public is invited to attend.

Sarbanes was elected to the United States Senate in 1976 and re-elected in 1982. He serves as a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee and the Joint Economic Committee.

He is a three-term member of the United States House of Representatives, first elected in 1970 to the 92nd Congress. He was subsequently re-elected to the 93rd and 94th Congresses. In 1974, he ran unopposed in the Democratic primary and received 84% of the vote in the general election. He served in the Congress as a member of the House Judiciary Committee, Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee and the Select Committee on House Reorganization.

The Senator also served in the Maryland House of Delegates from 1966 to 1970. While there he was a member of the Judiciary Committee and the Ways and Means Committee. He was Vice-Chairman of the Baltimore City Delegation for the 1968 session. Additionaly, he was Executive Director of the Charter Revision Commission of Baltimore City in 1963-64, and was Administrative Assistant to Walter H. Heller, Chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers in 1962 and 1963.

A native of Salisbury, he is the son of Spyros (deceased in 1957) and Matina Sarbanes, both of whom immigrated to the United States from Laconia, Greece. He attended public schools in Salisbury, graduating in June 1950 from Wicomico Senior High School.

Senator Sarbanes is a 1954 graduate of Princeton University where he majored in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, graduating magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa. From 1954 to 1957, he was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University where he received First Class B.A. Honors in the School of Philosophy, Politics, and Economics.

The Senator received his LL.B degree, cum laude, in 1960 from Harvard Law School. While at Harvard, he served as Graduate Secretary of Phillips Brooks House, the Harvard–Radcliffe volunteer service organization.

His legal experience includes Law Clerk to Judge Morris A. Soper, United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, from 1960 to 1961, Associate in the Baltimore law firm of Piper and Marbury, 1961-1962 and Associate in the Baltimore law firm of Venable, Baetjer and Howard, 1965-1970.

In 1960, he was married to Christine Dunbar of Brighton, England, a graduate of St. Hugh's College, Oxford University. Senator and Mrs. Sarbanes have three children, two sons, John Peter and Michael Anthony and a daughter, Janet Matina.

They are members of the Greek Orthodox Cathedral of the Annuciation in Baltimore.

Flues Should Be Checked Before Turning On Gas

The possibility of carbon monoxide poisoning has prompted a warning from government safety experts that home heating systems converted from oil or coal to natural gas should be inspected by a professional chimney cleaner or furnace technician before the start of the winter heating season to correct any health hazards to consumers.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, the accumulation of soot deposits on the inner chimney wall from years of oil or coal heating contributes to the possible problem.

After the heating system is converted from oil or coal to gas, soot deposits tend to loosen from the chimney wall and drop to the base of the chimney. If enough debris falls, it may block the exhaust from the gas furnace and could cause a build-up of carbon monoxide fumes in the house.

The safety agency said people exposed to carbon monoxide often experience symptoms associated with "having the flu," including fatigue, dizziness, nausea, headaches, irregular breathing and loss of consciousness.

CPSC said homes which continue to be heated with oil or coal do not experience this problem.

The safety agency urged homeowners who have converted to gas heating, or who are considering the change, should have the chimney inspected now by professional or certified cleaners who are familiar with soot buildup in chimneys. If there is any accumulation of soot at the base of the chimney, it should be cleaned before activating the heating system.

Annual checks should be made until no soot deposits are found in the chimney.

Goldstein Warns Citizens About Postcard Scheme

If you should receive a post card that lures you into thinking there's "unclaimed money" sitting somewhere under your name, and you can get at it for a small fee, save your money, says Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

The comptroller stated that approximately 1,000 Marylanders have recently contacted his office at the urging of mass mailings from two organizations. In the most recent scheme, Maryland residents have received post cards from an organization calling itself "Unclaimed Funds of America." The cards imply that the recipients have "unclaimed money" waiting for them. For a $4.00 "processing fee," the organization will send them an "Unclaimed Money Collection Form" to apply for the lost property.

"Any citizen of Maryland may contact the Unclaimed Property Unit of our office, free of charge, to learn if we hold any unclaimed funds in their name. You don't need to order an application and you don't have to spend four dollars," Goldstein said.

The Unclaimed Property Unit of the State Comptroller's Office routinely places notices in local newspapers to reach thousands of people who may be due uncollected insurance benefits, unclaimed wages, bank accounts and even unclaimed contents of safe deposit boxes. Financial institutions, insurance companies and other businesses are required to report these items to the State Comptroller's Office if they remain unclaimed for five years.

"We advertise the names of the apparent rightful owners in the county of the last known address," Goldstein said. "However, Maryland's law is custodial, meaning that there is no time limit under which the property or its monetary equivalent may be claimed.

"To see if there is any Maryland record of unclaimed property under your name, write: Miscellaneous Revenue Division, Unclaimed Property Unit, Room 407, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201. Please be certain to give your full name and address," he said.

The comptroller pointed out that the mass mailing scheme promoted by "Unclaimed Funds of America" may not be illegal, but it is misleading. "In most cases to date, we found no record of funds for the recipients of the post cards," Goldstein said, adding that other states have also been affected by similar promotion schemes for unclaimed money.

"Earlier this fall, we received numerous inquiries based on a mailing from an organization called 'International Home Shoppers', offering assistance in locating unclaimed property for a fee," he said.

The comptroller states he has relayed his concerns to both Maryland State Attorney General Stephen Sachs and the Better Business Bureau of Baltimore, which also received inquiries about the matter.

LIBRARY RECEIVES BIG CHECK — The Ruth Enlow Library was the recipient of a $1,500 donation recently from the Oakland Civic Club. Accepting the check from Dawn Scheffel, right, president of the Club, was Edith Brock, director of the library. Miss Brock stated that a large portion of the money would be used for children's books and replacement of worn out Dial-A-Story tapes. She reminds young peope that by dialing 334-3250 they may listen to a taped story over the telephone.

Health Officer Recommends Tetanus Shots

Persons who have not had immunization series against tetanus should do so now according to Dr. William W. Pope, Garrett County Health Officer.

Persons over the age 60 are at greatest risk of not having adequate immunity to tetanus, he said. Tetanus boosters are recommended only every 10 years unless a person suffers an extensive, severely contaminated wound. Usually the tetanus vaccine is given in a combined form with diptheria vaccine.

Although in past years typhoid inoculations may have been given, the risk of this disease, even in present circumstances, is extremely low, and immunization of the community is not recommended, Pope said.

Primary public health efforts at this time are being directed to encouraging citizens to boil water for drinking for at least five minutes if their water supply could be contaminated.

Additionally, efforts have been directed to assure that public water supplies are safe, and treatment plants for water and sewage are operating properly.

Maryland Youth Guests Of Honor With Governor

Maryland Governor Harry Hughes participated in a reception and banquet honoring 24 Maryland youth, one from each county and Baltimore City, in celebration of International Youth Year on Saturday. The events were held in the Constellation Room of Baltimore's World Trade Center.

The reception and banquet were sponsored by the Governor's Youth Advisory Council (GYAC), which is comprised of 60 young people between the ages of 13 and 20 from all over the state. They advise the Governor on youth issues and concerns.

Attending from Garrett County was Robert Germain, son of Joe and Carolyn Germain, Oakland.

The Year 1985 was designated as International Youth Year (IYY) by the United Nations. A variety of activities have taken place throughout the year—statewide, nationally and internationally. The themes of IYY are Participation, Development and Peace. In keeping with these concepts, the banquet recognized each person from each local jurisdiction as having demonstrated a commitment and contribution to bettering themselves and/or their community.

Flood Postpones Dinner By Area Men's Fellowship

John Justice, a teacher at Mt. Top Assembly of God and the founder of two other churches in Maryland, was scheduled to be the speaker at a dinner sponsored by the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship at the Aurora fire hall this Saturday, November 16. The event has been postponed until January, however, because of the flood which devastated several Preston County towns last week.

The Fellowship is asking persons who planned to attend that smorgasbord dinner to instead donate what they would have paid for the tickets to the flood relief effort. The cost of the tickets was $4 for adults and $2 for children.

Persons should put their donations in an envelope labled "Flood Victims" and send them to the Aurora Fire Department.

SANG RUN

Mrs. Pearl Tasker returned home from the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Wednesday.

Jeff McKenzie, Frederick, visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen DeWitt, over the weekend.

Mrs. Pauline Railey visited Mrs. Doris Rodeheaver Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Friend, Mrs. Debbie Hinebaugh and Tony, Deer Park; Ray Mayle and Glen, Waldorf, and Alfred Behringer, Baltimore, visited Mr. and Mrs. Milton DeWitt the past week.

OFFICER INSTRUCTS STUDENTS — Sergeant Dan Moore, of the Maryland State Police, presented a program recently for the driver education classes of Northern High School. His topics included Maryland's traffic laws and defensive driving techniques. This is the fourth consecutive year that representatives of the Maryland State Police have assisted with the driver education program at Northern.

Candy For Sale At Swanton Center

The Swanton Community Center announced this week that its annual Christmas Candy sale is now underway and orders will be accepted until November 30.

Types of candy available are: hardtack, $2 per pound; peanut brittle, $3 per pound; and chocolate covered cherries, $3.75 per pound. Orders must be picked up at the Community Center on December 6 from 3 to 6 p.m.

Persons wishing to order candy may call 334-2805 or 387-6743.

Northern Rescue Elects Officers

Officers for the 1985-86 term of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad were elected recently at a regular meeting of the organization. Selected chairman was Nancy Trimble; vice-chairman, Pat Bowser; treasurer, Shirley Baker; and board members, Terry Spear and George Walker.

The squad also drew the winning ticket for the microwave oven raffle, which began at Grantsville Days. Chip Broadwater was the winner.

It was annouced that the new Ford ambulance is now in service. This 1985 van was purchased from J&J Ambulance Service in late summer and is being housed at the Grantsville station. It was purchased with money from donations and through the annual membership drive.

The 1985-86 membership cards and letters are being printed and are expected to be mailed by mid-November. The membership fees will remain the same as last year, however there will be a new category: single senior citizen ($8).

The squad also voted to no longer handle non-emergency transports of patients, noting that members and equipment must be kept available for emergency situations that may occur. Two local ambulance services, Stewart's in Oakland and Allegany Ambulance Service in Frostburg, are available for non-emergency transports, a squad spokesman stated, "which should help minimize any inconveniences that are caused by this new squad policy."

Garrett County Memorial Hospital allowed the Northern squad to rent parking spaces during the Autumn Glory Festival, a project which raised $117.

Sheriff Evans Releases Monthly Activity Report

Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans this week released the activity report for the month of October, 1985.

Records indicate that 261 complaints were answered by the department throughout the county. Numerous patrol checks were made checking homes and businesses for security.

A total of 225 papers were served relating to civil, law, criminal, equity, juvenile and miscellaneous matters.

Deputies arrested 27 individuals on various charges including robbery, assault, breaking and entering, possession of a dangerous weapon, driving while intoxicated, destruction of property, and others.

Jail inmate population was 33 at the beginning of the month. To that total, 38 were added and 38 were released, leaving inmate population at 33 at the end of the month.

Monthly activity added 20,000 miles to departmental vehicles while answering complaints, serving papers, transporting prisoners, and making patrol checks.

Wakefield Begins New Business

Terry Wakefield, formerly of Friendsville and Oakland, recently began his own home restoration and property management business in Frederick, where he now resides.

In addition to this new venture, Wakefield is beginning his second year of providing adult foster care services for individuals with mental and/or physical handicaps. He plans to expand this program soon by providing more home care.

Wakefield is also an active member of the Frederick Jaycees and is chairman of the Montavue Nursing Home Activity Committee.

DEER PARK

The United Methodist Women met Thursday, November 7.

Mrs. Laura Flanigan and Miss Lola King were hostesses. The Bible Lesson was about music. One birthday was observed.

Ten members were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Beckman were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bachtel, Sunnyside.

Achievement Day

The Garrett County Homemakers Annual Achievement Day was held on October 3 at the Bethel United Methodist Church in Mt. Lake Park. The Swallow Falls Homemakers served as the hostess club.

Dr. Nancy M. Booth, Energy Specialist for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, presented the program entitled "Clean Water" to the 85 persons attending the event. She presented much valuable information on wells and other water sources.

Hallie Snyder was installed as the new county president and Merla Murray was installed as the new county treasurer. They join the current officers: vice-president, Opal Crowe, and secretary, Ann Stanley. The new officers filled the positions left by Marian Majors, who served as county president for four years, and Laurna Savage, county treasurer for two years.

Outstanding Homemakers from individual clubs were presented with certificates and a counted cross-stitch owl logo. Those receiving these are: Earleena Tressler of the Casselman Valley Club, Fannie Bender of the Cove Club, Jane Miller of the Deer Park Club, Ellen Humberson of the Friendsville Club, Norma Bowser of the Mars Hill Club, Opal Roy of the Meadow Glade Club, Patti Battista of the Newcomers Club, Grace Shunk of the New Germany Club, Shirley Riley of the North Glade Club, Sadie Gnegy of the Sunnyside Club, Ann Glotfelty of the Swallow Falls Club, and Leanna Layman of the Route 40 Club.

Those receiving 25-year certificates were: Betty Thrasher of Deer Park, Clara Weeks of Loch Lynn, Esther Stanton of Mars Hill, and Kathryn Bowser of Bittinger.

Members who were recognized for having perfect attendance at their club meetings were: Casselman Valley Club: Stella Edwards, Kathleen Yommer, and Judy Sebold; Cove Club: Alverta Dillon, Louise Dillon, Eva Lou Harman, and Janet Otto; Deer Park Club: Janet Browning, Nina Callis, Leona DeWitt, Laura Belle Harvey, Jane Miller, and Mae Weimer; Friendsville Club: Ellen Humberson, Julia Skidmore, and Betty Vitez; Loch Lynn Club: Vella Imhoff, Donna Liller, and Arlene Booth; Mars Hill Club: Martha Beachy, Norma Hauser, Karin Durst, Mary Kamp, and Esther Stanton; Meadow Glade Club: Zella Bittinger, Grace Reckart, and Opal Roy; Newcomers Club: Donna Durst, Mary Lynn Evans, and Jane Nolan; New Germany Club: Zella Broadwater, Rhoda Hummel, and Mary Broadwater; North Glade Club: Dorothy Bernard; Route 40 Club: Merla Murray, Beatrice Opal, Lura Layman, Elizabeth Durst, Hazel Jenkins, Laura Klotz, Leanna Layman, Zeola Robeson, and Clara Layman; Sunnyside Club: Lorraine Ledden; and Swallow Falls Club: Betty Beitzel, Kiyo Dolan, Ann Glotfelty, and Ann Stanley.

Christmas Workshop

The 18th Annual Christmas Workshop was held on November 6 at the Grantsville Fire Hall. The Mars Hill Homemakers served as the hostess club.

Participants attended miniworkshops where they had hands-on experiences. The topics were: "Bell Ornament Weaving" presented by Judy Sebold of the Casselman Valley Club; "Plastic Canvas Noel" given by Donna Bittinger of the Swallow Falls Club; "Walnut Christmas Mouse" by Loretta Wotring of the Meadow Glade Club; and "Macrame Bell" by Debbie Zimmerman of the Meadow Glade Club. Also, a display of Christmas crafts was shared with those attending.

A dressed doll contest was a highlight of the day. Homemakers dressed four dozen dolls to be given away at Christmas by the Oakland Rotarians to needy children in the county. The champion doll was dressed by Lois White. First place dolls were dressed by Oma Ferrell and Sandra Sliger; second place dolls were dressed by Vella Imhoff and Wanda Guard; and third place dolls were dressed by Opal Fazenbaker and Grace White. The dolls are currently on display at the Extension Office in the Courthouse Annex for persons interested in seeing them.

The day concluded with a covered dish luncheon and the singing of Christmas carols. Directions for items presented at the workshop are available from the Extension Office.

Homemaker News

Homemaker Clubs are encouraged to send club news to: Ann Glotfelty, RFD 1, Box 351, Oakland, Maryland 21550, by the third Thursday of every month, so that this article can be compiled. Clubs' cooperation is appreciated.

SUNNYSIDE-UNDERWOOD

The Underwood Ladies Bible study group met on Thursday afternoon with Mildred Peterson as hostess. The study opened with prayer by Anna Cannon. The Bible reading was in the book of Dueteronomy with the lesson taught by Jane Kope.

Attending were Anna Cannon, Florence Hamill, Sybill Merrill, Angie Ludwig, Jane Kope, Mildred Peterson, Wilma Waybright, Burlena Uphold, Elaine Beckman and daughter, Amanda; Bessie Canan and Julia Shaffer and Myrtle Fulk.

Closing prayer was by Julia Shaffer and table and refreshments, devotions were by Wilma Waybright.

Next Thursday's meeting will be in the home of Bessie Canan.

Delbert Waybright spent a few days recently in Baltimore visiting an uncle and aunt and cousins. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Waybright in Street, where he was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holyfield and family.

Ronald Hauser took a load of items to the Rowlesburg area to help the people there. The electric current was broken, leaving the people from St. George toward Aurora area without power to operate their cooking stoves and appliances. Some were fortunate enough to buy, borrow or rent generators, enough to keep most in operation until the power was restored late Saturday evening.

A large homestead that had been the home of Menears for generations which was located in the valley of St. George was directly in the path of the raging Cheat River and was completely washed away, plus a large amount of the cattle of Billy Menear who resided there.

Mrs. Mildred Myers and son, Ronald, and his wife Marie, of Detroit, Mich., spent several days recently visiting Mrs. Myers' sister, Mrs. Marian Friend and family, Sunnyside Road.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hauser and family and Mr. and Mrs. George White were dinner guests on Sunday. The Hauser family also visited his mother, Mrs. Irma Hauser, in the evening.

The "Helping Hands" meeting scheduled for Thursday evening was postponed due to the Sunnyside and Underwood communities being busy collecting money and food for the flood relatives and others who lived in the Parsons, W.Va., area. The items were turned over to those in charge and monitoring the road traffic at Thomas, W.Va. On Saturday Earl Friend and Tony Spink were checking on Earl's mother, who lives in Parsons.

The "Helping Hands" meeting will be held this Friday evening in the home of Paul and Robin Schroyer, Crellin.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Waybright returned to their home on Sunnyside Road after spending several days recently with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Waybright, in Trumbull, Conn.

Delmer and Marie Knotts were in St. George area helping those who were trying to remove some of the debris and mud in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Cassidy.

Health Systems Agency Governing Board Meets

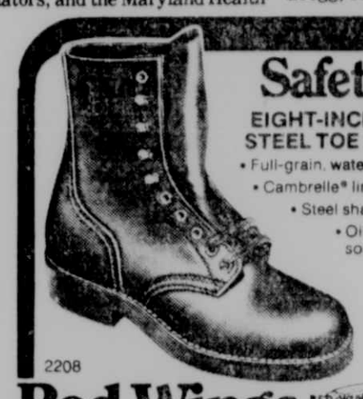
The Governing Board of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland met in Frederick on Thursday, November 7. Paul R. Shockey, president, presided.

Business of the day consisted of approval of the Quarterly Reports of the Management, Plan Development, and Review, Evaluation & Implementation Committess for the months of August through October, 1985, and approval of the actions of the Governing Body for the same period.

The Governing Board approved the following slate of officers for the coming year, January through December, 1986: president, T. Gregory Hutton, D.D.S., Frederick County; vice-president, Ronald L. Bowers, Washington County; secretary, Edward F. Dressman, Allegany County; treasurer, Ernest J. Gregg Jr., Garrett County.

The Agency will begin advertising for the position of Coordinator for Planning and Special Projects. Also, the Board discussed and took action on relocating the agency office in Cumberland in the near future.

The Governing Board directed staff to prepare a letter of support for the proposed statewide voucher system which would allow veterans to obtain hospital care in public hospitals of their choice. This would allow veterans in local areas to select a local hospital for their care thereby alleviating the need to travel to regional Veteran Administration hospitals. The Board opposes the building of a new VA hospital in Baltimore City, and believes the voucher system would help reduce statewide excess hospital beds. The letter will be sent to the Governor, other state and federal legislators, and the Maryland Health Resources Planning Commission.



President Paul Shockey, Garrett County, received a "thank you" and a round of applause from the Board for his leadership and service as President in 1985.

The next Governing Board meeting will be held on Thursday, February 6, 1986, in Washington County.

Governing Board Members from Garrett County in attendance were: Ernest J. Gregg, Jr. and Shockey.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

Although nearly everyone in these communities have friends or relatives in one or more of the nearby flood-stricken communities, "things have begun to swing from numb to normal and help is being sent where possible," according to an area spokesman. The Aurora VFD, its Auxiliary, the Union Ambulance personnel, the Mt. Grove VFD and Community Ladies have all been busy serving as collection centers. Churches have been garnering their forces and are in the midst of providing labor and making covers. Many families were affected by the flood, some with minimal damage and some who lost everything.

The annual buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be served at the Aurora Fire Hall on November 24 from noon until 4 p.m. Donations at the door will be $3.50 for adults, $1.75 for children. An afghan, made and donated by Louella Fike, is being raffled and will be awarded at that time. Tickets for the afghan may be purchased from Aurora VFD members. Tickets for one-half beef are also available from either AVFD or Union Ambulance members. The meat was donated to the departments by the Terra Alta Bank.

Also donated recently to the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department was a pig. Making the donation was Willard Feather. Another donation they have received is from William Lantz who is providing the sausage and buckwheat flour for the above mentioned dinner.

During the past week, toys, shoes, clothing, food and money were collected for the benefit of flood victims in Preston County by the staff of the Activities Department at Hopemont Personal Care Home. Many hours were spent by the workers in sorting, cleaning and assembling them for giving. There are 18 Hopemont employees who have suffered loss in the flood and they were given first opportunity to make selections; the remainder will be taken to Kingwood for distribution.

On Saturday, Wayne Fike, Homer and Orpha Fike attended funeral services for Mrs. Fike's sister. Noami K. Sanders, 82, of Morgantown, died November 6 in Monongalia General Hospital there. She was born January 9, 1903 near Fairmont, a daughter of the late Rev. Daniel Ward Kirk and Clara Alice Annon Kirk.

Surviving are three sons, David Sanders, Ray Sanders and Marvin Sanders, all of the Morgantown area; one daughter, Marjorie Root, of Morgantown, with whom she had made her home; two brothers, George Kirk of Fairmont, and Silas Kirk of Rivesville; four sisters, Ruth Shaffer of Miami, Fla.; Orpha Fike of Eglon; Mary Clayton of Kasson, and Esther Clayton of Fairmont; seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, John L. Sanders, October, 1980.

Services were held November 9 in the Pleasant Hill Church of the Brethren by the Rev. Lester Boleyn of Morgantown. Interment was in the Nuzum Cemetery adjoining the church. Arrangements were made by Williams Funeral Home, Morgantown.

Roy Durst of Amboy, Lucille Arnold of Eglon, and Lydia Harsh of Aurora, were all admitted last week to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Jesse Harsh of Gortner is a surgical patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital and here to be with him is his daughter, Mary Teets. She and her husband, Bruce, and daughter, Melinda, came this weekend from Dodsonville, Ohio, where her husband has returned.

Charles Teets of Eglon, has been admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of complications from a leg injury last year.

Visiting this weekend were Ruth Maxey of Clinton, Md., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Teets, at Eglon, and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Teets and their grandson, Justin, of Springfield, Va., who visited with their parents in Aurora, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Teets.

Mrs. May Beckman of Eglon, was a surgical patient last week in a Winchester hospital. Her daughter, Shirley Lipscomb, remained there with her and they have now returned home.

Dr. David Trenton, obstetrician and gynecologist, will be at the Eglon Clinic on December 4. Persons should call the clinic for an appointment. This is the extended date not previously fulfilled.

On November 5 the Eglon Homemakers met for a business meeting without a hostess or lesson leader present. Reports of county committee meetings were made by those who attended, Brenda Hartsell, Jean Winters and Linda Lewis. The International Committee is sponsoring the foreign student on May 22, had planned to have Dr. Barry Schwab in the county, and is saving stamps for the program, Food for Stamps. The Membership and Public Relations Committee will host a Membership Tea in May. The Cultural Arts Committee is planning a quilt for Queen Buckwheat. The Eglon Club decided that they are not in favor of beginning this project and do not plan to contribute to it.

Plans were made for a December 1 meeting at the Maple Spring Church with a carry-in lunch for members and families and crafts for the afternoon entertainment. It is hoped to meet also on December 3 or 4 for a flower arranging and corsage class with a cookie exchange.

Plans were made to dress five dolls and fill five stockings for the Salvation Army Christmas effort. A donation of $15 was made to West Virginia Mental Health Association. Nina Layman and Rebecca Teets reported on Achievement Day which they attended in October at Fellowsville.

The meeting concluded with information as to how to help the Aurora VFD in their efforts to provide food and shelter for the flood victims. Two games were led by Avenell Parsons to close the meeting.

Attending were Brenda Hartsell, Ruth Teets, Jean Winters, Rebecca Teets, Ardis Teets, Lectie Bonner, Barbara Heckert, Mildred Wilt, Linda Lewis, Avenell Parsons, Mary Rembold, Marguerite Shaffer, Lorraine Fike, Cynthia Bachtel and Nina Layman, all members and children, Allan Hartsell, Shawn and Craig Rembold and Adam Bachtel.

Twenty-one family members surprised Mrs. Hazel Lants of Aurora, with a carry-in dinner for her birthday on November 10. Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Lantz, their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Teets and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lantz and their children were present.

GUARD COOKS RE-ENLIST — After enlisting in the National Guard together on August 27, 1979, two members of Company C 121st Engineer Battalion, Oakland, decided they would sign up recently for an additional six years of service as the cooks for Company C. They are Sp/4 William Guthrie, left, and Corporal Mike Madigan. Both are residents of Deer Park. Guthrie has been a cook in civilian life for the past five years and is currently employed at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Madigan, a self-employed painter, resides with his wife, Connie, and daugher, Vanessa.

SKATE-A-THON WINNERS were selected November 2 by the Garrett County Diabetes Association, who sponsored the annual event. The skate-a-thon was held at Tri-R-Roller Rink in Oakland and netted $1,167.24 for the association. Some 15 skaters participated and proceeds will be used for patient education and research. Pictured above are the prize winners. Standing, left to right, are David Corbell, who won the grand prize of a pair of rink skates; Joellen Cassidy, a portable radio/tape player; and Monica Miller, a nine-inch black and white television. Receiving door prizes of skateboards donated by Tri-R-Roller Rink were Donna Wolford, Ty Miller and Teresa Lumpkin, pictured kneeling, left to right. November is designated as National Diabetes Month.

CHOOSING CHRISTMAS TOYS

November is almost half over, so it is time to start thinking seriously about Christmas. If you have children on your list, the question of which toys to buy, since there are so many available, is sometimes a difficult one to answer. Perhaps the following guidelines will be of some help when you are choosing toys for gifts.

*Remember the age and ability of your child.

*Look at the quality of the toy. Will it break easily?

*Does it need batteries to operate? They can be expensive.

*Is the toy safe for your child? Toddlers will put anything in their mouths.

*Toys should be inspected periodically and repaired if necessary.

*Does the toy do everything by itself or does your child get to use his imagination? The recommended age range label is put on the toy by the manufacturer as a guide. For a less mature child, the toy could be boring and dangerous; for a more mature child, the toy could be boring.

*The type of toy you buy is much more important than the money you spend.

*If a toy must be assembled after purchase, follow directions exactly. Toys are meant to be a fun learning tool. Keep this in mind when choosing the toys and you will succeed in making a child happy.

FOOD NOTES

Here's a tasty cranberry salad that you may want to try for Thanksgiving dinner:

CRANBERRY-PINEAPPLE SALAD

1 large can crushed pineapple, well-drained
1 large can whole cranberry sauce
1 6-ounce box raspberry gelatin
¼ cup chopped nuts

Make gelatin according to directions on box. (Use pineapple juice as part of cold water). Add pineapple, cranberry sauce and nuts. Chill. Serve on lettuce leaf with small amount of mayonnaise to the side.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

"Holiday Breads" will be the topic of a class to be taught by Opal Fazenbaker on November 19 at the Extension Office in Oakland. The first class will start at 12 noon and the second class will begin at 4 p.m. The cost for the class will be $1.00. To register, call 334-2145 or stop by the Extension Office. All interested persons are invited.

A class entitled "Sensational Sweatsuits" will be held on November 14 at 12 noon and at 7 p.m. at the Extension Office in Oakland and on November 18 at 10 a.m. at the Grantsville Health Center. All interested persons are invited to attend this free workshop.

HOME PRICES NOT DROPPING

Statistics are strange devices. They can say one thing and mean something else. For example, if you read, "Median home prices drop," you would probably think that the prices of homes have dropped. Well, that would be a false assumption. What is happening is that less expensive homes are selling in greater volume than more expensive homes, thus the MEDIAN price drops.

For example, if there are three houses on the market listed at $150,000, $100,000 and $50,000, the median price is $100,000. If the two lower priced houses sell, the median selling price will now be $75,000. None of the prices were dropped, even though the median sale price dropped considerably.

Median home selling prices will always drop during tight money markets, as will the volume of home sales because, fewer buyers will qualify for mortgage loans as interest rates rise. Prices may rise at a slower rate or even level off for a while - but don't count on them dopping. They won't in the long run.

From Northern Middle School

N.M.S. Hosts Indian Visitor

A Sioux Indian from Springfield, Va., Jeff "White Horse" Ross, visited the special education class of Doris Cooper at Northern Middle School recently. An art class of Ralph Miller and a class of Mrs. Carol Shaulis also were guests.

White Horse explained his traditional paint and dress to the students. He shared with students several Indian legends, showed them many pieces of traditional Indian Art, and showed them several Indian signs. White Horse spoke to the students in English and also his native language.

White Horse told students, "We are all on earth together, I'd like to see us all join hands and work together to make this world the best possible place for all of us."

Mrs. Cooper's special education class has been involved in an extensive unit of study on American Indians.

The students felt the most rewarding part of the unit was the visit made by White Horse and an earlier visit made to the class by Mrs. Bobby Pandocony, an Osage Indian from Pensacola, Fla.

Special education students in Mrs. Cooper's class who did an exceptional job on the Indian unit were: Dennis Sines, Jerry Sines, Kenny Sines, Chris VanSickle, Ann Warnick, Harry Winters and Wilbert Younkin.

The Indian visitors, Mr. Ross and Mrs. Pandocony are members of the American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization. This organization held the Pow Wow at the fairgrounds in McHenry in August. It was during the Pow Wow that Mrs. Cooper became acquaninted with Pandocony and Ross and at that time made arrangements for them to visit her classes.

Besides visiting Northern Middle School Mr. Ross spoke to Friendsville Elementary School and the kindergarten classes at Accident Elementary School. At Accident School, Mr. Ross was the special guest of Miss Jessica Cooper, daughter of Mrs. Doris Cooper.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. David Damuth, Frederick, Md., announce the birth of a daughter, their first child, born on September 12. She weighed five pounds, 14 ounces, and has been named Ashley Marie. Her mother is the former Sonja Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, Terra Alta. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Damuth, Frederick. Maternal great-grandmother is Lila Loss, Terra Alta.

Scouts Attend Camporee

Four Scouts of Terra Alta Troop 88 travelled to BSA Camp Mountaineer, south of Morgantown, to participate in the Mountaineer Council Fall Camporee November 1 for a weekend of learning skills and participating in various competitions.

Instructions were given in first aid, map and compass, trail signs, axmanship, building a fire and bird identification. Competitions included tent pitching, patrol cooperation and knots and lashing.

Those attending were Benji Glover, Jarrad Henderson, Joe Larue, Earl Shaffer, and leader, Paul Shogren.

The troop plans to go camping every month, and will attend summer Scout camp. Persons who desire further information on scouting may contact Paul Shogren at 789-6987.

Contest Winners

Terra Alta's VFW Post and the Moose Lodge jointly sponsored a Halloween contest for area children after the treating hours on October 31. A parade was planned, but due to inclement weather, it was cancelled.

Judging results were as follows: fattest, Shannon Ringer, first and Kelly Losh, second; ugliest, Shawn Wright, first and Jason Anderson, second; prettiest, Melissa Wotring, first and Teresa Dixon, second; most original, Ashley Miller, first and Shawn Shaffer, second; and no reason, Patrick Bragg, first and Brian Bennett, second. A special award went to Kevin Murphy.

Association Meets

The last meeting of the Ministerial Association was at the Shogren home September 17. Those attending were Berlin Wilhelm, Stanley Waybright, Donna Lee Shogren, Ora Mae Poling and Jerome McKenna. The association plans to be a branch of the Preston County Ministerial Association.

WMS Meets

The WMS of the Whitedale Corp. Brethren Church met in the Social Room of the church Friday afternoon, November 1. Karen Nine was hostess and Edna Hull was leader. Her topic was "He Always Listens."

Those taking part in the program were Lucille Wright, June Waybright, and Lucille DeBerry. Business was conducted by the president, Edna Hull.

Celebrates 11th Birthday

Annette Sisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sisler, celebrated her 11th birthday November 9. On Thursday evening, November 7, a decorated cake and ice cream were served to the above mentioned and sisters, Dianna and Cathy; brother, David and Angela and Dana Mullins of Terra Alta.

On Saturday, November 9, she spent the day with her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaid of Aurora.

Rotarians Have Ladies Night

Ladies Night was held October 31 by the Terra Alta Rotary Club at Alpine Lake. Rotary Anns and guests were honored.

Logan Weber was the chairman of the program and his guest speaker was Greg Louder, a past president of the Westover Rotary Club. He then presented a Rotary Club exchange student from Belgium, Miss Catherine Sabbe. Her home town is Kortrijk with about 50,000 inhabitants. She spoke about her country, her family and her happiness by being chosen as a Rotary exchange student to have the opportunity to come to America for one year.

Greg Louder also brought the "Golden Gavel" to the Terra Alta Club.

Other guests from Westover were past president, Quinto DeProspero, and his wife, Phyllis.

Several Rotarians from Terra Alta, in turn, presented the "Golden Gavel" to the Cheat Lake Rotary Club during their 7:30 a.m. breakfast-meeting at Lakeview-Sheraton Country Club on November 5.

Thanksgiving Service

The Community Thanksgiving Service will be held at the Terra Alta Church of the Nazarene, sponsored by the TA Ministerial Association, November 27, at 7:30 p.m. There will be a choir of all churches, directed by Rev. Donna Shogren. The message will be by Father Jerome McKenna.

There will be a Community Chorus rehearsal at the Terra Alta Church of the Nazarene on November 18 and 25 at 7 p.m.

Ladies Auxiliary Of VFW Holds Halloween Party

The Ladies Auxiliary of Garrett Memorial VFW Post 10077 held a Halloween party on October 30 at the Post Home near Deer Park, which was attended by approximately 50 children and adults. Prizes were awarded to those children traveling the farthest, those traveling the least distance, and those wearing the prettiest, ugliest, and most original costumes.

Winners in the age five and under category were: Jason Hinebaugh, farthest; Joanne Davis, nearest; Jermie Hinebaugh, prettiest; Christi Hinebaugh, ugliest; and Eric Rexroad, most original.

In the age six to 13 category winners were: Brenda Harvey, farthest; Ruby Hahn, nearest; Jason McCroskey and Aaron Walker, prettiest (tie); Joey Collins, ugliest; and Nancy Hahn, most original.

The winners of the poster contest, the purpose of which was to advertise the party, were: Kevin Crouse, first place; Brenda Harvey, second; Scotty Smith, third; and Joyce and Julie Dixon, honorable mention. The poster contest judge was Gayle Prentice, who awarded a certificate for a self-portrait to the top three finishers.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

Rev. Beryl Maurer had worship services with Holy Communion on Sunday morning at all three churches of the Bittinger parish.

Emmanuel's LCW met for their regular monthly meeting at the church on Friday, with 16 members present.

The topic "Alcoholism, One Woman's Journey" was presented by Margaret Hershberger and Lottie Brenneman. Dorothy Teets had the special thank offering part of the program.

During the business meeting, conducted by Beulah Moon, Audrey Brenneman reported on the World Community Services held at Bethel United Methodist Church. The Christian Action Committee reported that they had served a lunch for the Legeer family following the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Lucretia Legeer, and had helped with two lunches served to the volunteer workers at the barn of Russell Teets. Ferne Beachy reported on the recent retreat held at Jackson's Mills, which five members attended. Linda Buckel presented a slide program on "Stewardship." The truck will pick up the used clothing, kits, etc. made by the group on November 18. It was voted to give $50 for flood relief. Anyone wishing to donate more money should send it to Margaret Hershberger. The next meeting will be the Christmas party at the home of Phyllis Buckel on December 1.

Hospital News

Howard Hetrick has been transferred from Meyersdale Hospital to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland.

Joe Resh has returned home from Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Mrs. Amelia Brenneman remains seriously ill at her home here.

Homemakers To Meet

Sheriff's Office Reports Breaking, Entering Theft

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department reported a breaking and entering theft which occurred about three weeks ago on the Rabbit Run Road.

According to reports, someone broke into the residence of Thomas G. Cuppett, Oakland, and removed $5,525 worth of items, including a satellite dish, a woodstove, and ski equipment.

According to Deputy P.K. Buckel, who investigated the incident, there was no sign of a forced entry.

Swanton, Kitzmiller United Methodists Aid In Flood Relief

Rev. Richard Ogden, pastor of the Swanton-Kitzmiller United Methodist Charge, delivered a sermon this past Sunday dealing with relief for flood victims.

Rev. Ogden explained the need for food, disinfectants and laborers. Members of his congregations are aiding at the district center in Parsons, W. Va. at St. John's United Methodist Church. He said they are feeding between 300 and 400 people daily offering three meals a day.

The Swanton-Kitzmiller Charge appointed Ellis Harvey of Swanton to be the flood relief contact person. Harvey said supplies may be taken to the churches, the parsonage, to Delores and Harold Sharpless at the Exxon station in Kitzmiller, Harrison Hamlin, Glen Teets, or to any member of the congregation as well as to himself.

Harvey said checks should be made payable to the Swanton-Kitzmiller Charge, in care of Shirley Beckman, treasurer. The first monies coming in will be used to purchase food.

Rev. Ogden, Ellis Harvey, Harley Wildesen and Glen Teets took the first truckload of supplies to Parsons and Petersburg, W. Va. on Tuesday.

Swanton Church Fall Activities

The King's Kids baked cookies and visited the senior citizens on Thursday, November 7. Their next activity planned is a progressive dinner to be held Saturday, November 16, beginning at the home of Ron and Gayle Richter. They will then have a different meal course at various homes within the church.

Kim Rush is having a Home Interior Party November 22, at 7 p.m. at the Swanton Community Center. Proceeds will benefit the parsonage fund.

Sunday, November 24, has been set aside as United Methodist Women's Day. This year the UMW will sponsor a missionary family in Argentina.

Former pastor, Jay Six and his wife, Linda and their three children recently served as missionaries in Haiti and are now home on leave preparing for another term. They will be visiting the church on the weekend of November 24 and will be staying with John and Linda Fleming. A special service will be held November 24 at 7 p.m.

Betty Wildesen and Mary June Harvey attended the UMW fall conference in Charleston, W. Va. October 17-19.

On October 25-26, the Girl Scouts and UMW co-sponsored an old-fashioned apple butter making at the Swanton Community Center. A total of 90 gallons were made and 50 homemade apple pies were made and sold during the apple butter making process.

Some members of the church also traveled to Burlington Children's Home to make apple butter on October 4.

Forestry Board Meets, Slates Annual Workshop

The Garrett County Forestry Board held a dinner meeting at the Casselman Inn on November 7.

The Board heard a report from Charles Strauss and Carroll DeWitt on the fall meeting of the Maryland Association of Forestry Boards held in Kent County on October 4-5. Struass, DeWitt and Don Storck represented the Garrett Board at the fall meeting.

The Board will be sponsoring another Forest Conservation Workshop the week of August 10-16, 1986, and they asked the Association to support them in their efforts. The workshop is designed to provide high school students interested in pursuing a career in conservation related field with some insights into the type of work available, and the training necessary to qualify for these jobs.

George Gilmore, regional forester for the Western Region of the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, presented each Board member with a copy of the Operations Manual for Forestry Boards, and briefly went over the contents of the manual.

James Klunk, staff administrator with the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service in Annapolis, attended the meeting and will be working closely with the Garrett Board on the 1986 Workshop.

Honey is used as a center for golf balls and in antifreeze mixtures.

—Adv. 33-5t.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Accident Mayor and Town Council will conduct a public hearing on December 2, 1985 at 7:00 p.m. in the Accident Town Council Meeting Room. The Council will review three proposed amendments to the Accident Zoning Ordinance, as submitted by the Accident Planning Commission. The first two requests propose to amend Section 406, (Table of Use Regulations) to add two Sections. (21-A) would allow an office or clinic for medical or dental examination or treatment of persons as out-patients provided the exterior of the structure is designed as a residence and architectural plans are reviewed by the Planning Commission. This use would be permitted in the R-2 and C Districts, would require a Special Exception in the R-1 District and would not be permitted in the CON and I Districts. (22-A) would allow Conversion of existing structures into business, professional or governmental offices. This would require a Special Exception in the R-1 and R-2 Districts, would be permitted in C District and not permitted in the CON and I Districts. The third request proposes to amend Section 406 (Table of Use Regulations) to include the words mini barns and mini structures, Section 406 (47).

Interested persons are urged to attend.

John E. Nelson
Zoning Administrator

—Adv. 37-2t.

Reliable Feeding

Patz silo unloaders help you feed on schedule all year round. Both the Model RD-820 ring-drive unloader and Model 98B surface-drive unloader feature a double-hook gathering chain with hardened steel cutters and claws that cut through frozen and packed silage to deliver a steady flow of silage day after day.

- Spring-tensioned power cutter keeps silo walls free of silage buildup.
- Preset depth-of-cut control makes feeding truly automatic.

See us today for details on how Patz silo unloaders take the chore out of feeding time.

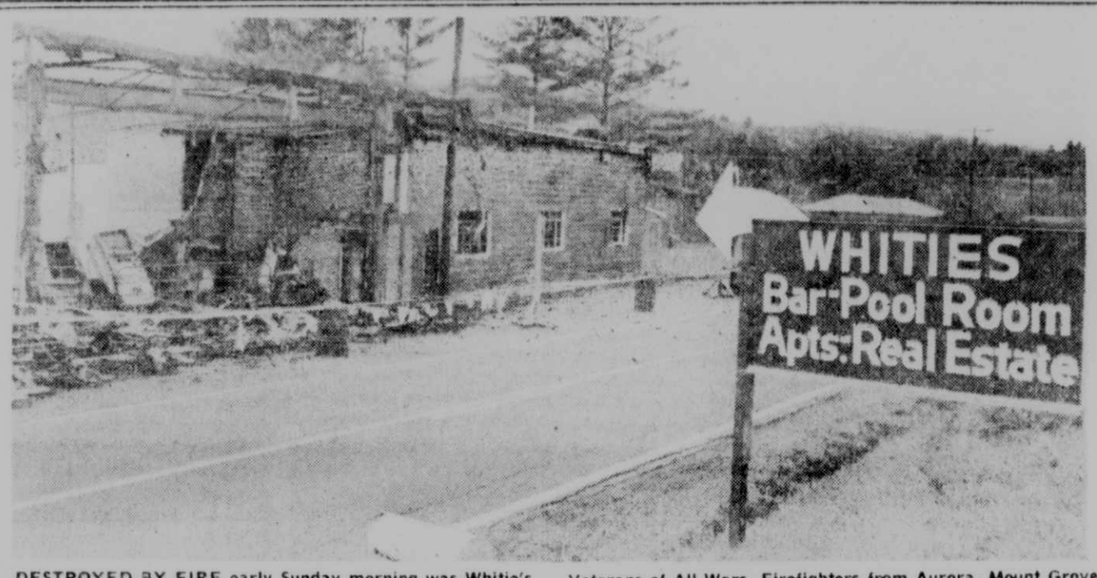
Commissioners Praise WRA For Quick Response

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners at a press conference Tuesday praised the Water Resources Administration for its quick response to the roads situation in the county following the recent flood damage.

The commissioners met with a five-man team from WRA earlier in the day to discuss the permitting process for the repairs and rebuilding of flood-damaged roads, particularly the Spring Lick Road near Bloomington.

"The WRA has been very cooperative in assessing our needs here in the county and I commend them for their quick response," said Commissioner John G. Braskey.



Although Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. spoke of "over-zealous regulatory agencies" last week, this week he said, "I can't be complimentary enough to these men who have come here from Annapolis and are issuing emergency permits to enable the roads department to get on with the business at hand, repairing flood-damaged roads."

Commissioner Elwood Groves II said work has already begun on the Shallmar Road since emergency permits were not necessary for much of the work in that area.

The WRA five-man team was scheduled to be in Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties Tuesday and Wednesday to expedite approvals for emergency repair and restoration of roads, bridges, culverts and storm drains in or over streams and floodplains. The team was also expected to issue approvals for debris removal and restoration of streams and floodplains.

A spokesman from WRA said that in order for counties to qualify for emergency approval, the repairs necessary must have resulted from damage which occurred during the recent flood. "The approvals will be limited to that work required to restore storm damaged properties and structures and safeguard life and property," he said.

DESTROYED BY FIRE early Sunday morning was Whitie's Bar, located along U.S. Rt. 50 just west of the Garrett/Preston County line. The cause of the blaze is still under investigation by West Virginia authorities. The large two-story structure also housed a number of apartments and served as a post home for Veterans of All Wars. Firefighters from Aurora, Mount Grove, Oakland, Gorman, and Deer Park responded to the 2:30 a.m. alarm and, upon arrival, found the structure fully involved, with flames shooting as high as 100 feet into the air.

Country Oven Bakery To Close Doors Nov. 30

William Aspinal of the Appalachian Parent Association, Inc. announced this week that the Country Oven Bakery would be closing its doors on November 30, at the close of the business day.

Aspinal said the bakery was a pioneer adventure to establish employment opportunities for handicapped citizens of Garrett County. It was financially subsidized by APA, Inc. from the beginning with the hopes that it would become financially self-sufficient.

It was reported that a total of five employees would now be unemployed as a result of the Regular office hours will resume Friday.

Blaze Destroys Area Tavern Early Sunday

Five area fire departments responded to a blaze early Monday morning that resulted in the destruction of Whitie's Truck Stop, a large two-story structure located along U.S. Rt. 50 just west of the Garrett/Preston County line.

A building in a local lumber yard was also destroyed by fire Friday evening.

Preston County Communications Center in Kingwood dispatched the Aurora and Mount Grove volunteer fire departments at about 2:30 a.m. and, upon their arrival, they found the structure almost totally involved in flames. Assistance from Oakland VFD was requested at 2:55 and tankers from Gorman and Deer Park fire departments were called soon thereafter.

The structure, owned by Cecil "Whitie" Lewis, also housed the Veterans of All Wars organization, plus a number of apartments. Lewis was reportedly with his mother, who is a patient in an Elkins hospital, at the time of the fire.

The cause of the blaze is still under investigation by Mac Dennis, state deputy fire marshal for West Virginia. The fire apparently began in the front of the building where an apartment was previously located.

Firefighters remained on the scene for nearly five hours. Also responding was the Union Ambulance. There were no injuries reported.

Oakland and Deer Park firemen were also called out Friday at 6:12 p.m., when fire broke out at the Bowers Lumber Company along State Rt. 135 about two miles east of Mtn. Lake Park.

Upon arrival, firefighters found one smaller building, approximately 20 by 20 feet in size, fully involved in flame. The fire began to spread to adjacent buildings, however it was brought under control in about five minutes and damage to the other structures was minimal.

The cause of the fire is under investigation by Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett County and is reported to be electrical in nature.

Bittinger firemen were called to stand by for Deer Park, while Deep Creek was placed on stand-by for Oakland. The Southern Recue Squad was also called to the scene. There were no injuries reported.

Deer Park firemen returned to their station at 8:27 p.m.

Local Radiothon Nets $10,000 As Flood Relief Efforts Continue

Flood relief efforts continue in the county for local and West Virginia flood victims who lost their homes and possessions in one of the worst floods in the history of the area.

Over $10,000 in cash was collected or pledged this past Sunday during the WMSG/-WXIE flood relief radiothon and nearly that much was collected in the form of food, supplies, applicances and clothing, according to Paul McCloud (Mullan), news director at WXIE.

"In my wildest dreams, I never thought the drive would be this successful," commented Mullan. "It's been a real tribute to the people of Garrett County and the surrounding area. I've said it before and I'll say it again. There are no finer people in the world."

The radiothon was divided into two separate segments. WMSG/AM live from Southern High School for four hours Sunday afternoon where a program of gospel and country entertainment was presented. Listeners were asked to call in pledges. Food and other supplies were brought directly to the school where they were sorted for distribution.

Peggy Lambert coordinated the gospel segment, which included the Mountain Top Gospelaires, The New Life Singers, Spirit Wind, the Swanton Choir, The Keefer Family, Redemption and The Gospel Cousins. John Ruble, who recently returned from a Nashville recording session, performed with Judge and Jury to complete the entertainment.

The largest contributor to the afternoon segment was the Asher-Glade Church of the Brethren. The Friendsville Church, with a congregation numbering less than 100, brought in a pickup load of food and supplies and a check for $1,500. The Loch Lynn Church of God also donated food, supplies and $700 in cash contributions. Scores of other churches made significant contributions to aid flood victims, said Mullan.

When WMSG signed off at 5 p.m., WXIE/FM took over taking phone pledges. Mullan said. "Things got underway with a bang, as Bausch and Lomb donated $1,000. An hour later, Garrett Memorial Hospital Administrator Larry Beck announced that the hospital's employees had decided to cancel their annual Christmas dinner/dance and donate $1,535 to the drive."

Stockyard Owner Is Indicted In Conspiracy Case

The owner of Friend's Stockyard, Inc. near Accident, Blaine Joseph Friend, has been indicted by a federal grand jury for conspiracy and aiding and abetting the illegal slaughter and sale of cancerous meat, according to an announcement made late last week by United States Attorney J. Alan Johnson. A sealed indictment was filed Tuesday, November 12.

The 42-year old Friend was arrested by U.S. Marshals Thursday at the Waynesburg Livestock Auction, in Waynesburg, Pa. He is currently free on bail and will be arraigned in U.S. District Court, Pittsburgh, Pa., today, November 21.

Friend was charged as a member of a conspiracy, which included Hughey P. Weyandt III, the owner of Weyandt and Sons Wholesale Meats in Claysburg, Pa., and Jerome Davis, owner of Jerry Davis Packing Company in Dysart, Pa.

Weyandt and Davis were both convicted and sentenced in 1983 for numerous violations of the Federal Meat Inspection Act: illegally slaughtering cancerous and sick cows, stamping the carcasses with an illegal USDA meat brand as "USDA inspected and passed" when that was not true, and transporting the carcasses in commerce to Philadelphia, Pa., for ultimate human consumption.

Friend was also charged with aiding and abetting Weyandt and Davis by supplying the cancerous animals which were illegally slaughtered, stamped, and transported in commerce.

According to the indictment, Friend delivered approximately 50 cattle per week to the Weyandt operation over a two and one-half-year period of time. The indictment states that these cattle were "cancer-eyed, sick and otherwise diseased" and some were dead at time of delivery.

If convicted, Friend faces a penalty of up to 24 years imprisonment or $72,000 in fines, or both, according to Assistant U.S. Attorney Sandra D. Jorday, who presented the case to the grand jury. The U.S. Attorney's office commended the investigative efforts of the Office of the Inspector General, USDA, which resulted in the prosecution.

Emergency Food, Shelter Programs Receive Boost

Garrett County has been chosen to receive $4,792.00 to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the area, according to a release from the Garrett County Community Action office.

The selection was made by a National Board made up of affiliates of national voluntary organizations and chaired by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). United Ways of America will provide the administrative staff and function as fiscal agent. The Board was charged to distribute $20 million appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter pro-

New GCC Branch, SBCC Status Report Discussed At College Meeting

"We will develop an Oakland branch of Garrett Community College," said Interim President Dr. David Puzzuoli at a college-wide meeting yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Puzzuoli outlined his plans to build a new facility in Oakland in the "very near future" which would replace the old facility which the college now leases from the Board of Garrett County Commissioners for over $70,000 a year.

The interim president said he has been negotiating with local banks and they have agreed to lend over $1,000,000 for the purpose of building a new facility in Oakland, which may or may not be located on the present site.

He said the Board of Trustees instructed him to have all the legal matters put together for a final motion at the next regular board meeting.

Dr. Puzzuoli's announcement was met with much enthusiasm at the college meeting. He also said they will not stop with a branch in Oakland. "From there we will go north and build a branch in the Friendsville-Grantsville area," stated Puzzuoli.

Puzzuoli said the GCC Foundation would enter into a lease-purchase agreement for the new facility in Oakland. He felt that the bookstore, which is now realizing a profit could help pay for the new facility as well as applying the $70,000 they now pay to lease the old Center Street School.

SBCC Status Report

Although those attending the college meeting yesterday were elated at the prospect of building a new branch of GCC, they were very dismayed at Dr. Puzzuoli's report on the status report of the situation at GCC as presented by the Maryland State Board for Community Colleges.

Puzzuoli blasted the "contacts" SBCC Director Dr. James Tschectelin claimed to have at GCC in aiding him in the preparation of the status report.

"Who are these contacts?" asked Puzzuoli. "Whoever they are, do they realize they are responsible for the future of Garrett Community College?"

The interim president said the contacts "were taking liberties with the truth" and pointed out many errors in the SBCC status report. They are as follows:

SBCC report: "Founded in 1971 . . ."

Puzzuoli: "Great! He's only five years behind. GCC was founded in 1966."

SBCC report: The Board of Trustees and college administration should give top priority to a planning system whereby college goals and objectives are clearly delineated and understood . . ."

Puzzuoli: "If we don't have goals and objectives, what is that manual sitting on my desk? Not to mention all the other manuals, faculty, staff . . ."

SBCC report: "The College should embark on a serious trustee development program."

Puzzuoli: "The trustees met for that very purpose in September and have another all-day meeting planned for December 14."

SBCC report: "The dean of instruction, with the faculty of the college, should give high priority to establishing and maintaining an effective evaluation system . . ."

Puzzuoli: "Were you all evaluated last year? The answer is yes you were."

SBCC report: "The college should fully explore all options available to it concerning alternative uses for the Coal Mining Technology Building."

Puzzuoli: "We were working on that problem 48 hours after I got here. The commissioners said we could do with it what we wanted as long as it was for educational purposes and as long as vocational uses took top priority."

SBCC report: "One person at the college should be designated residency officer."

Puzzuoli: "That's been taken care of since September 5. Had the contacts bothered to check they could have known all these things had been taken care of."

Puzzuoli then spoke of the last recommendation of the SBCC which reads in its entirety: "With the approval of the Garrett Board of Trustees, the president of Garrett Community College should appoint and convene a Western Maryland Higher Education Study Group to consider various organizational approaches for providing post secondary educational services to the citizens of Garrett County such a study group should include representatives from Allegany Community College, Frostburg State College, community organizations, business, industry, government, and other representatives deemed appropriate. This study group will report to the State Board for Community Colleges by June 30, 1986, on the possibilities and potential for formal coordination of program development and program offerings, joint programs, and any other cooperative efforts that are deemed appropriate and feasable for Western Maryland. The feasability of operating

Alleged Robber Indicted On Federal Charge

Donald Ray Oldaker, 34, Deer Park, who is being held in the Garrett County Jail on state charges for the October 22 armed robbery of the Garrett National Bank in Mtn. Lake Park, was indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury in Baltimore on a federal charge of bank robbery.

Oldaker was arrested three days after the robbery by local and federal authorities and was jailed in lieu of $50,000 bond. He will make an initial appearance in U.S. District Court in the near future.

Oldaker allegedly robbed the bank of approximately $3,900 after handing a note to a teller demanding the money and claiming that he had a bomb.

He reportedly left the bomb device at the entrance to the bank when he fled the scene. However, an explosives technician with the State Fire Marshal's Office determined that the device was not a bomb.

Hospital Aids Area Flood Victims

The entire Garrett County Memorial Hospital staff has responded to the needs of the flood victims in surrounding areas. The hospital first provided manpower, tetanus drugs, blankets, sheets, baby food, nutritional supplements, dry goods, paper products, cleaning products, bulk canned goods, dried beans, rice, diapers, distilled water, shaving cream, toothbrushes and toothpaste, baby oil, shampoo and powder.

Because of the disaster-preparedness training which the medical staff and employees of the hospital have acquired, they were prepared to send a medical team along with the Health Department's mini-van to provide on-the-scene medical treatment. The hospital is also prepared to provide mini-van transport for those in need of medical treatment in the hospital setting.

Many hospital staff members have also volunteered their free time to assist in the clean-up and transport needed supplies.

As a further gesture of support for the flood victims, at the suggestion of a hospital employee and the recommendation of the Employee Committee, the hospital cancelled its scheduled Christmas dinner-dance and donated the money which has been set aside for that purpose to the flood victims relief fund.

During the Radiothon sponsored by WMSG-WXIE Radio, Hospital Administrator Larry M. Beck pledged $1,535 on behalf of the hospital family. This proved to be the largest single pledge to the Radiothon. Above, Beck presents the check to Paul McCloud, right, of WXIE. Beck indicated that the staff of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital share in the loss and suffering, especially since many are patients, family and friends of the employees and the hospital staff.

The hospital has also established a collection site on the premises for donations to the flood victims.

Ambulance, Van Collide, Minor Injuries Result

Three Garrett County residents were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon when an ambulance and a van collided on Route 219.

Transported to the hospital were Harriet Uphold, 30, Grantsville; Victor Mazzocco, 23, Oakland; and Gary Shaffer, 34, Mtn. Lake Park.

Leona Newhoff, 89, Markleysburg, Pa., a passenger in the ambulance which was enroute to the hospital, was admitted after arriving there.

Tfc. Cindy Smith of the Maryland State Police investigated the incident, and reported that the privately owned Uniontown, Pa. ambulance was operated by Charles Fisher, 36, Uniontown, in a southbound direction. The emergency equipment was activated at the time.

The accident occurred at 1:35 p.m. when a Ford van, driven by Frederick Lumpkin, 41, Oakland, also southbound, attempted a left turn onto King's Run Road. Smith said there were several vehicles between Lumpkin and the ambulance.

The ambulance, which was to the rear of the Lumpkin vehicle, attempted to go around the other traffic as Lumpkin made the left turn, and the ambulance struck the side of Lumpkin's van.

Uphold, Mazzocco, and Shaffer were all passengers in the Lumpkin vehicle. Smith said no one in the ambulance sustained injuries.

Smith charged Fisher with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision. Lumpkin was charged with failing to grant the right-of-way to an emergency vehicle.

Dispatched to the scene were the Southern Rescue Squad and Oakland firemen.

An Oakland youngster was treated and released at Garrett County Memorial hospital following a single vehicle accident last Thursday morning.

JoAnna Riccobono, three, was a passenger in a 1981 Plymouth Reliant operated by Anna M. Riccobono, 41, also of Oakland.

Riccobono's vehicle was traveling north on Route 495 a little over a mile from Route 135. Cpl. Richard Graham, who investigated the incident, said water from a culvert was running over the road.

When the vehicle traveled through the water, Riccobono lost control of the car, causing it to run off the left side of the road through a fence.

Suspect Sought For Stabbing Of W.Va. Youth

The Preston County, W.Va. Sheriff's Department said it has no concrete suspect or motive in the stabbing of 13-year-old Jeremiah Matthew Watkins, Terra Alta, W.Va.

According to Chief Deputy Jim Fields, the preliminary autopsy report shows that the youth died of a single stab wound. The autopsy also showed that no sexual molestation had occurred.

The youth's body was found Tuesday morning by a search party of firemen after his disappearance was reported by his mother, Mrs. Enid (Zweyer) Watkins. A missing persons report was taken by police Sunday morning.

Fields, who mentioned that no weapon has been found, said he believes a motive would give police some direction, but none has been established at this point.

Mtn. Lake Park Man Guilty Of Drug Charges

A young Mtn. Lake Park man was found guilty of two counts of distributing marijuana by Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer on November 14.

Philip Ray Coddington, 18, pled guilty to both counts. The judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation and remanded Coddington to the custody of Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans.

Two counts of possession of marijuana and a common nuisance charge were not prosecuted by the court.

According to court documents, the charges were made following two separate incidents at the Par-Matt Bowling Alley, Mtn. Lake Park.

In the first incident, which occurred on February 27, Coddington sold two marijuana cigarettes to Eldred R. Durst, investigator for the Garrett County State's Attorney's Office.

On March 8, Coddington sold a plastic bag containing marijuana to Sgt. C.H. Hinnant of the Maryland State Police.

Coddington was represented by Michael Morrissette, an Oakland attorney.

In a jury trial with Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer presiding, Robert Jay Goodwin, 25, Swanton, was found guilty of five counts of hunting deer at nighttime and four counts of casting rays of light on a field with a firearm in possession.

The judge ordered a presentence investigation for Goodwin, and set bail at $1,000.

Goodwin was charged by an undercover member of the Department of Natural Resources Police following separate incidents in the Savage River, Backbone Mountain, and Bloomington Dam areas.

Goodwin was represented by Morrissette. In a consolidated case, Kenneth Wayne Lafferty, 25, Westernport, was found guilty of two counts of casting rays of light on a field with a firearm in possession and two counts of hunting deer at nighttime.

The judge ordered a presentence investigation and set bail at $500.

Lafferty was also charged by an undercover member of the DNR Police following various incidents in the Savage River area and on the Chestnut Grove Road.

Lafferty was represented by John R. Toston, public defender.

Improvements Planned For Fairgrounds

Planned improvements for the Garrett County Fairgrounds were announced at the annual fair stockholders meeting which was followed up by a meeting of fair board member representatives and the Garrett County Commissioners.

The annual stockholders meeting was held November 7 at the Deer Park Fire Hall with Fair Board President Lee Shillingburg introducing the executive board, the board of directors, and honorary directors.

Shillingburg expressed his gratitude for all the help the fair received and explained some of the activities the fair has held on the grounds to make additional revenue. He added that anyone needing a place to hold reunions and picnics could rent the grounds at the cost of $35.

A financial statement was presented by Treasurer Merrell Wilburn, who explained revenues and expenditures.

Fair Manager Claude Wagner Jr. welcomed those in attendance and introduced Baity Ridder, Garrett County Fair's first treasurer.

Elwood Sanders presented ballots for election. Those elected to serve a four-year term on the board are: Lillian Reckner, Merrell Wilburn, Raymond Yoder, Gary Fratz, William Nemith, and a two-year term will be served by Marvin Miller.

Brad Stewart, local coordinator for flood relief, told the group what was needed for flood relief in the Garrett County and West Virginia areas. He said that checks can be sent to Flood Relief in care of the First United National Bank and Trust in Oakland.

The first bond drawing was held with the Kitzmiller Lions Club being the recipient. Each year one more additional bond will be drawn (two next year, three the following year, and so on) and the purchase price returned to the organization or individual who owns the bond.

Shillingburg announced that the 1986 Garrett County Fair will be held August 11 through 18, and the "pay one price" of $3 will again be in effect. He also announced that the American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization Pow Wow is scheduled for July 12 and 13 at the fairgrounds.

Claude Wagner and Gerald Glotfelty explained improvement plans for the upcoming year. Drain pipe will be put into the open ditch and covered with fill dirt to make more usable space. A new flush-toilet facility, walkways, and a new hog barn are major projects being planned. The old scale will be moved to the race track area so contestants in tractor and horse pulls and other activities needing a scale will have them near. This will also eliminate the necessity of taking draft horses through the carnival area to be weighed. Another project under consideration is covered bleachers at the race track.

These needed improvements prompted Board President Shillingburg, First Vice President Gerald Glotfelty, Treasurer Wilburn, Honorary Board Member Allen S. Paugh, and Board Member Charles Bowman to meet with the Garrett County Commissioners on Tuesday to explain what improvements are needed and ask for financial or other aid to get those projects started.

The commissioners agreed that improvements were needed and volunteered to send letters to contractors and businesses in the area asking for contributions to blacktop the walkways. The commissioners asked the fair board representatives to prepare a cost estimate for the toilet facility so they could consider any possibilities of funding aid. The board members explained that they feel some aid is needed because the cost to hook up to the sewer system alone will be two to three thousand dollars.

The fair board members were told that the commissioners were pleased that the fair had a good year, that payments for the property are being made on schedule, and that improvements are being planned.

Thanksgiving Service Slated

The annual community Thanksgiving service will be held on Wednesday evening, November 27, at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren beginning at 7:30.

The service will be under the direction of the Rev. Verne Leininger, pastor of the Oak Park Church.

Music will be supplied by the church choir, and the sermon for the evening will be given by the Rev. John Grant.

The offering collected this year will be used to assist the Teen Center in Oakland.

County Schedule Of Events Now Being Compiled

Information is now being compiled for the 1986 Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Schedule of Events, according to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. This schedule covers a full calendar year of activities for Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County from March 1986 through March 1987.

Any organization wishing to list an event in the 1986 schedule should provide the information to the Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, no later than December 16, 1985.

For further information, persons may also contact the Promotion Council at 334-3883.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

A public meeting for the citizens of Bayard will be held at 7:00 p.m. on Monday, November 25, 1985 in the Bayard Fire Hall, Bayard, West Virginia. The Town of Bayard is considering making application to the West Virginia Small Cities Block Grant Program. The purpose of this meeting is to take public comments regarding needs within the Town of Bayard and possible projects which would address these needs. The primary purpose of the Small Cities Program is to improve the living environment of low or moderate income persons. Previously in the State, projects have been funded to develop water and sewer systems; provide housing rehabilitation; construct streets, sidewalks, and public service buildings; and promote economic development. During the public meeting program objectives, eligibility requirements, funding limits, eligible activities, and the application process will be reviewed. The public is invited to attend this meeting and provide input into the needs of their community.

Garrett County Reading Levels On The Rise

Dr. Charleen Evans-Thomas, director of elemetary education in Garrett County, last Thursday at the monthly public meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education reported on an eight-year study which was made of the reading levels of students in the county.

She mentioned that the reading skills have improved since the 1977-78 school year, when the first report was made. Since then, reading goals were set, and schools stressed functional reading, a love of reading, and silent reading.

She said, "Garrett County School's reading program is best reflected in this report."

One point brought out by Evans-Thomas was that in the 1977-78 school year, 43.5 percent of the seventh graders had achieved the minimum performance level in reading. In the 1981-82 year, 84.7 percent of those same students, now in eleventh grade, had achieved the minimum performance level.

Evans-Thomas stressed the fact that the reading programs in the schools have been successful, and should continue at the present level.

A report was made on the progress of the Northern High School renovation project. The total project is now eight percent complete, with most of the interior demolition work finished. Much of the plumbing and electrical wiring has been removed.

One problem which cost workers a day of interior work was the discovery and confirmation of asbestos in the building. A state official then visited the school and gave permission for work to continue. The official also mentioned several tips for removal of the asbestos, which will save on additional costs.

Steel will be delivered next week for the beginning of the roof work. If the weather is too bad, the workers will continue with the interior work.

The two fuel tanks which were removed from the high school have been sold to the Deep Creek Oil Company and the Service Fuel Company. The board voted to use the proceeds from the tank for the renovation project. The money will go toward the building of a corridor from the new wing of the school to the vo tech building.

Bids were accepted for the purchase of a van and pick-up truck for the Board of Education. The board voted to purchase the van from Markwood-Graham Chevrolet, and the pick-up from Casselman Motors, both low bidders.

The board also voted to revise the submission to the State Board of Education for the cost of renovating Southern High School. Enrollment projections revealed that the cost would be $1.2 million less than the price originally submitted.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent, will also request the construction of a new building for the Loch Lynn Elementary School. The site of the building is uncertain at this time.

High Bids Make Gorman Sewer Project Doubtful

At a meeting Tuesday night, the Garrett County Sanitary Commission rejected all of the bids they had received for construction of the Gorman sewer system.

The lowest bid for the project was much higher then the engineer's estimate, and would have raised the cost per user to approximately $30,000. The sanitary commission is conducting a study to see if there is a more cost-efficient solution available. According to Sanitary District Administrator Wendell Beitzel, if no cost reductions or other solutions are found for the project, it will be abandoned.

The commission is proceeding with both the Kitzmiller and Bloomington sewer systems. A HUD block grant has been adjusted to cover the additional cost of the Kitzmiller system, and the user costs will remain the same as projected.

An additional grant fund request has been sent to the state for the Bloomington system, and the commission is hopeful that the state will provide enough funding to cover the additional cost of the local share.

The low bids on the Kitzmiller and Bloomington projects were also higher than the estimates given the commission by the project engineers.

Hearings On Education Set By Md. Senate

At the urging of Senator John N. Bambacus, the Maryland Senate has agreed to hold special hearings this January to consider a pending teacher shortage and other issues confronting higher education.

The hearings will be conducted by the Senate Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee of which Bambacus is a member, said Senator Norman R. Stone Jr. (D-Baltimore), panel chairman.

"We want to know why we will have a gigantic teacher shortage and hopefully how we can resolve this before it happens," Stone said yesterday.

"Sen. Bambacus has been very active in seeking solutions and we agreed to hold the hearings sometime at the beginning of the session. We want to hear from Dr. (David W.) Hornbeck and other people.

"This could develop into a real problem unless we do something now," Stone said.

Hornbeck is state superintendent of schools.

A daughter was born to Donald Wayne and Debra Kay Sharpless Davis, Deer Park.

Admissions were reported at 65 with 69 discharges. This morning's census shows 58 patients.

Deep Creek Regs To Be Topic Of Public Hearing

Area landowners, fishermen, and boating enthusiasts are reminded that there will be a public hearing on the proposed regulations for Deep Creek Lake this Saturday, November 23, at noon in the auditorium of Garrett Community College.

This hearing will provide any persons interested in the management of Deep Creek Lake with the opportunity to voice their comments on the most recent draft of the proposed regulations for the lake.

Michael R. Gregory, manager of the Deep Creek Lake Natural Resource Management Area, explained that there are no substantial changes in the regulations, but that some of the language has been changed to clear up questions aired at the last hearing about the transfer of property and dock permits. The new proposed regulations also make it more clear what types of future developments will be regulated on the buffer strip.

The regulations that will be under discussion at the upcoming hearing will permit steel drums to be used in dock construction, if they have been cleaned out and had not contained any toxic material.

Copies of these proposed regulations are still available at the lake management office located at Deep Creek Lake State Park. A copy of these regulations can be obtained by stopping by the office or by calling 387-4111 during normal working hours. A limited number of copies of the regulations will also be available at the hearing; however, Gregory says that it is advisable to pick up copies in advance to allow sufficient time for persons to review the nine-page document.

The Maryland Forest, Park, and Wildlife Service invites any interested members of the public to attend this scheduled hearing. Additionally, written comments may be sent to Donald MacLauchlan, director, Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, or call (301) 269-3776, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Public comment must be received not later than December 9 at 4 p.m.

Area Assembly Of God Churches Note Speakers

Reverend David B. Krause and his wife, Marilyn, Assemblies of God missionaries to Tanzania, will be the guest speakers at the Rocky Drean and Kitzmiller Assembly of God churches during the Thanksgiving season.

Rev. Krause will be speaking at the Kitzmiller church on Sunday, November 24, at 10 a.m. His wife will be the guest speaker at Rocky Drean on Wednesday, November 27, at 7:30 p.m.

During their first four-year term of missionary service, the Krause's will be ministering in Tanzania. They will focus their ministry on evangelism, preaching and discipling leadership.

At these special mission services, the Krauses will share their concerns for reaching Tanzania with the Christian message. The pubic is invited to attend. The Krauses and their daughter, Rachel will be visiting Mrs. Krause's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Robert Mayfield during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Marilyn Krause graduated from Southern High School in 1976 and obtained an LPN degree from Allegany Community college in 1977. She later received a bachelor's degree in missions from Valley Forge Christian College in 1981.

Also visiting the Mayfields will be their daughter, Esther from Tulsa, Okla. and their son, John.

Garrett Alumni Group To Meet Monday Evening

The Garrett Community College Alumni Association will convene its first scheduled meeting on Monday, November 25, at 7 p.m., in Room 010 of the administration building at the college.

The purpose of this alumni organization is to encourage and promote the development of ideas, resources and communication among the graduates and former students of GCC. "Getting such an organization launched and active is a major project that involves time and energy from alumni who are interested in being involved in the mission and future of Garrett Community College," an alumni spokesman said.

The steering committee of the alumni association invites all alumni and former students to attend this meeting. Officers will be elected and the association will begin to develop its goals, objectives and organizational structure.

For additional information, persons may call Dr. Lillian Mitchell at the college, 387-6666.

Bloodmobile To Visit Friendsville

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit the Friendsville fire hall on Monday, December 2, from noon until 6 p.m. The quota for the visit is 50 pints.

Coordinators of the visit stated that all types of blood are "desperately needed."

Phosphate Ban To Go Into Effect 1st Of December

The 1985 General Assembly has enacted legislation that will ban the sale of phosphate detergents in Maryland, effective December 1, according to Richard Sellars of the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

A ban on the sale of phosphate detergents in Maryland was enacted in an attempt to reduce phosphorus loads in the Chesapeake Bay. The DHMH is responsible for the implementation of this legislation.

This first advisory is being issued to make the public aware of the ban and inform industries, wholesalers and retailers to plan for product line changes, as necessary, by the implementation date of December 1.

The phosphate ban states, "A person may not use, sell, manufacture, or distribute for use or sale within the state any cleaning agent that contains more than 0.0 percent phosphorus by weight expressed as elemental phosphorus, except for an amount not exceeding 0.5 percent phosphorus that is incidental to manufacturing."

Because the legislation contains numerous exemptions for specialty cleaning products, the DHMH intends to implement the ban only in the area of laundry detergents and dishwashing compounds. Dishwashing detergents containing up to 8.7 percent phosphorus by weight are also exempt from the ban.

Consumers are expected to experience minimal changes in purchasing habits because of the numerous phosphate free or low phosphate products presently available on the market.

The major suppliers of phosphate detergents in Maryland have been working with the DHMH on this implementation program to assure, through proper inventory management, that the supply of detergents containing phosphates will no longer be available in retail outlets by December 1. The department is working to assure cooperation between industries and retail stores during this implementation phase.

The legislation provides penalties for consumers, businesses and industries found in violation of the ban. Personal use of phosphate detergents is a misdemeanor and subject to a fine not exceeding $100. Selling, manufacturing, or distributing phosphate detergents is a misdemeanor and subject to a fine not exceeding $1000.

Further advisories on the Maryland phosphate ban will be available in the near future.

Contemporary Band Scheduled At GCC

Sweet Freedom Band, a contemporary Christian group from Hagerstown, will present a concert this Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Garrett Community College Auditorium.

The concert is sponsored by J.O.Y. Ministries. Ticket prices are $3.00 in advance and $5.00 at the door.

Anyone wishing to purchase advance tickets should call Larry at 634-5896; Twila at 245-4143; or Marlin at 662-2097.

Hughes Appoints Judge Wenner To Md. Appeals Court

Governor Harry Hughes, on Tuesday, appointed Frederick County Circuit Court Judge William W. Wenner as the successor to Judge James S. Getty of Allegany County as the new judge of the Maryland Court of Special Appeals, the state's second highest court.

Judge Wenner was chosen over Judge Frederick A. Thayer III of Garrett County. Some local observers believe that 52-year-old Judge Thayer, who has served as the chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit since January 1977, was rejected because he is a Republican from the least populous county in the Third Judicial Circuit, which includes Montgomery, Frederick, Washington and Allegany counties as well as Garrett.

Judge Wenner is a 55-year-old native of Brunswick. A graduate of Kenyon College in Ohio, he obtained his law degree from the University of Maryland Law School. He became a District Court judge in 1978 and two years later was named by Governor Hughes as a Frederick County Circuit Court judge.

Judge Getty, who has been on the Court of Special Appeals since April 1983 plans to retire effective November 30.

Aspinal said through its other programs, APA, Inc. remains committed to the challenge of providing employment and work opportunities to the handicapped.

"Although the Country Oven Bakery regretfully succumbed to the financial pressures of managing a people-first business, we are confident that through our commitment and hard work, we will create other opportunities to provide substantial and gainful employment for the people we serve," said Aspinal.

It was announced that the bakery facilities would now be used to provide food service training to the program's clients who are funded by the Mental Retardation Developmental Disabilities Association.

A Poor Proposal . . .

A decision will be made by Governor Harry Hughes in the next few months, the results of which could have a profound effect upon Medicare, and health care insurance in general, in the state of Maryland. We believe it is essential that citizens should be aware of this proposal and provide input to the governor before he makes this decision.

Medicare is presently a federal program which provides a uniform set of health insurance benefits to the nation's elderly and disabled. Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association serves as the administrative agent for the program in all but two counties in Maryland.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield has submitted a proposal to the Health Care Finance Administration (HCFA) whereby Blue Cross-Blue Shield would assume full responsibility, and full risk, for the Medicare program in Maryland in return for capitation payments for each beneficiary and flexibility in the benefits offered to Medicare recipients.

At first glance, the proposal seems to have merit, since it would relieve the federal government of the responsibility and financial risk of the program and place it into the hands of a private business. However, closer examination leads us to strongly oppose the measure.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield currently covers 20 percent of the state's citizens. Enactment of this proposal would give this already extremely powerful health care agent 60 percent of the coverage. So much power and thus, influence, over the health care system in our state by one, non-government, profit-making organization frightens us. Although Medicare has had major financial problems as an entity of the federal government, at least it guarantees older citizens an equal, specific level of insurance protection. It was established purely on a non-profit, humanistic basis.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield is a business, however. That element of financial incentive which does not presently exist will certainly be evident if BC-BS takes control. They are there to make money and, if they do not make money with this venture, we fear that benefits will be reduced and utilization reviews will become so intensified that patients will be forced to leave hospitals too soon and thereby not receive further needed care if BC-BS is experiencing a loss.

Other major concerns include BC-BS's track record in terms of efficiency and public accountability. They have been a major headache for hospitals and individuals because of their slowness in paying claims, failure to respond to questions and concerns, and general disorganization. How can a business with such characteristics properly handle something as major, as complex, and as important as Medicare?

Also, other providers of health care in the state would be at a great disadvantage, not only because of the increased overall power of BC-BS, but also because certain beneficiary information would be available only to BC-BS. Competing providers would be denied this and other new marketing possibilities.

Several public hearings have been scheduled for the month of December to give Governor Hughes some public input. The legislature will not be involved in this decision. If the governor gives his approval, the proposal will be adopted, probably in January or February.

The hearing closest to Garrett County is slated for Monday, December 2, in Hagerstown at a time and place yet to be announced. We recommend attendance at that hearing, plus written comments to Hughes, Senator John Bambacus, and Delegate George Edwards.

Letters to the Editor

Note: The following letter appeared in last week's issue, however it contained an error in the second pharagraph. It stated "Garrett County, however led by the state." The word "by" should not have been included.

To the Editor:

For those who may have missed the Cumberland Times/News editorial on Tuesday, November 5, concerning the 911 Service in Garrett and Allegany Counties, I would like to use a paragraph from it:

"Garrett County, however, led the State in establishing its center capable of dispatching all fire, ambulance and other emergency equipment. Following Garrett came, as we note, Allegany County in 1979." (emphasis added)

Having been one of the county commissioners responsible for bringing this about, and I might add, against considerable criticism, I hope those persons that felt that we weren't acting judiciously would now reconsider and reflect upon the wisdom of their remarks with this most recent disaster that has befallen the residents of Garrett County and our neighboring communities in West Virginia.

I happened to be at home Monday and Tuesday and was able to monitor Central Alarm and their efforts in bringing together at a central dispatch center the essential emergency services available in our county. The dispatchers are to be commended for their expertise and its application, diligently and tirelessly. I must hasten to add that Garrett County's volunteerism, as shown by the fire departments, rescue squads, and the numerous others that without organization affiliation rose to the occasion in typical Garrett County fashion. Though not affiliated with local government now, I know the importance of these too often unrecognized heroes. I, for one, and I am sure my fellow commissioners during my two terms as commissioner, are glad that we, so to speak, had the courage and vision to provide services in advance to meet emergencies in spite of opposition.

Those persons on the commissioners' staff from 1970 to 1978 played a significant role in bringing this service into being and must not be ignored for commendation.

Sincerely,
Wayne B. Hamilton

To the Editor:

In regards to the recent news article of November 17, 1985 concerning the case against Ralph Pritts and Sons, Inc. for selling a defective car, I would like to clarify a few things for your readers.

Christopher Pritts had absolutely no knowledge of the defect at the time of the sale, and was only made aware of it after the problem developed. In fact, several different members of the family used this car for their own transportation before it was sold. Obviously, they wouldn't personally drive a vehicle if they knew it was unsafe.

Restitution was willingly made to the purchasers of the vehicle with their complete satisfaction.

At the time of the case, Christopher Pritts was involved in a nearly fatal auto accident, and was a long term patient in Intensive Care in a Pittsburgh, Pa. hospital. If the dealership had still been in operation this case would have been challenged in court. But, due to Chris's medical condition which involved long term therapy because of head trauma, we were advisted to settle the case with the state.

Our family has operated a reputable business in this community for nearly fifty years, but in this incidence family priorities came before a long and expensive court battle with the State.

Sincerely yours,
Linda Pritts Hickman

To the Editor:

As another Raider Youth Football Season comes to a close (for my son his final year), I would like to take this opportunity to thank the coaches who have been such a big part of his last four years.

For the first three years he learned the basics of football plus so much more. To Kevin Liller, Eric Wotring, Ed Panther, and any coaches I may have missed. I Say Thank You because what you taught Mike will be with him always.

Also to Jim Shafer and the Coaching Staff of this 1985 Season, thank you also.

There is one coach, however, whom I feel deserves a special thanks. He shared so much with Mike these past four years.

Coach Lewis Marks has been not only a coach but a very special friend. He has been there to share both Mike's victories and his disappointments. We will never forget how he was always there helping in one way or another.

Coach Marks, any young boy who is starting into football will certainly learn a lot if you are there teaching him. Keep up the good work and may you have all the happiness you deserve.

A Proud Raider Mom,
Sue Fulmer

To the Editor:

The students and faculty of Zion School of Christian Education and Zion Christian Academy want to thank the businesses and residents in and around Grantsville who contributed food, money, and/or clothing for flood relief. The Junior High, High School, Bible School and faculty delivered the items collected on Wednesday, November 13, to the Kingwood distribution center set up by the Salvation Army. While there the students helped to unload and sort contributions from our area as well as those from other areas.

The bus then proceeded into the flood areas of Albright and Rowlesburg working in Rowlesburg on Wednesday and Albright on Friday primarily bailing water, removing damaged items from homes for demolition, shoveling mud and relocating salvagable household items. The residents of those towns were very grateful for all donations and for work crews to help with clean-up.

To the Editor:

As a long time resident of Oakland, I have proudly watched our library grow. As more services have been added over the years, I have enjoyed taking out reproductions for paintings to hang on my walls, records and tapes of music, poetry, foreign language instruction and magazines on a variety of subjects.

Being art lovers, my family and I are always appreciative of the talents shown by local artists whose paintings and photographs and crafts are frequently displayed. Interesting personal collections are on view from time to time.

Through the outstanding administration of our librarian, Edith Brock, and her staff and board, we have a wonderful library unequalled in another community of our size. In addition we have five branch libraries and a bookmobile serving the county.

Be aware of your library's services and needs. Show your appreciation. Be a friend to Ruth Enlow Library.

Most sincerely,
Betty Y. Naylor

Commissioners

He further added that all other waterway projects such as stream channelization, the construction of levees or other improvements that did not exist prior to the storm must go through the regular permitting process. The commissioners said the regular process normally takes between six weeks and two months.

In order to obtain emergency approval for damaged areas on private property, those affected may call 1-777-2134.

Bradley Run Problems

Earlier in the day on Tuesday, the commissioners met with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Harvey, who reside on the Herrington Manor Road. The Harveys have been flooded out of their home twice this year and met with the county officials to see if there was some type of aid they could receive in alleviating future flooding in that area.

"We've lived in our home for seven years and it's only recently that we've had these extreme flooding conditions," said Mrs. Harvey.

Mr. Harvey told the commissioners that he felt the railroad culverts were not properly handling the flow of water. He said he hadn't gotten much satisfaction from talking to railroad officials. He also said he had talked to Oakland City officials about the water run-off from Liberty Street, but was told there was nothing they could do.

The commissioners told the Harveys they were aware of the situation in the Bradley Run area and commissioner Braskey said they would send a letter to the railroad immediately to see if they could get a response on the culverts in the area.

Yough Panel Discussion

The commissioners also announced at the press conference that the Youghiogheny Panel Discussion has been rescheduled for Thursday, December 5, at 7:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College.

The Youghiogheny River Association will be on hand to address specific questions for local and state officials.

Invited participants include Senator John N. Bambacus, Delegate George Edwards, DNR Secretary Torrey Brown, and Mrs. Jane Nishida, a representative of the governor's office.

The board of commissioners will preside over the meeting and Mr. John Hinebaugh will present the concerns of the YRA, the organization in which he currently serves as president.

Groves Speaks

Commissioner Groves represented the board of commissioners Tuesday night at an Allegany County Water Commission meeting in Cumberland.

He spoke in behalf of the citizen's of Bloomington who feel their water supply in the Savage River will be depleted by plans to divert more water from the Savage River Dam to municipal water systems in western Allegany County.

Public Hearing

The county board said a DNR public hearing with the Deep Creek Lake Management Committee will be held Saturday, November 23, at noon, at Garrett Community College.

What Education Means To Me

Editor's note: In observance of National Education Week, fifth grade students at Friendsville School were given a writing assignment using the above topic. Following are some of ther responses.

To me, education is a time to learn and a time to make myself a better person. Education is about the most important thing in life to me.

I'm thankful for the wonderful schools that we have now. If we didn't have the schools that we have now, we wouldn't be able to get a decent job.

Matthew Pruett

Education is a variety of learning many different things. Reading, writing and arithmetic are main points of education. I want to get a good education, so, when I go on in life I can get a good job. Not many people can get a good education by goofing off during the time they go to school.

Learning can be fun if you make it fun. I like school and I like to learn. So, hopefully, I will get a good education.

Take some good advice, young students. Study hard, do your best, and you'll get a good education.

Rebecca Fisher

Education is work, something no one wants to do.

Steve Bosley

P.S. This is why I didn't do much.

Education means teachers.

Education means time, effort.

Education means reading, writing, arithmetic.

Education means caring.

Educations means life.

Education means questions.

Educations means work.

Education means preparation.

Education means joy.

Education means learning.

Education means hard work.

Education means studying and books.

Education means tears.

Education means love.

Erin Sines

Education is learning, teaching and being reasonable by doing your work first time given, raising your hand and not calling out and not talking while the teacher is, being kind, helping people and paying attention.

Some people do not have schools to get an education. You do. So, don't waste it because you need an education.

Ginnie Blocher

I think education means the ability that you have to do something. You listen and learn how to do things. Education doesn't mean to goof off and not do your work.

I hope I have a good education.

Michael Uphold

Our Turn

The Hint List
by Pam Ashby

A friend of mine lamented the other day, "Gosh, here it is the middle of November and I haven't even finished my Christmas shopping yet."

Christmas shopping? Ha! That's only about the twenty-seventh thing on my list of priorities right now. But my friend's statement did prompt me to start my "hint lists" which will soon be left in obvious places for my husband and children to unwittingly discover.

I do hope they find them this year. I suppose they were difficult to find last year when I put them in obscure places - like on the refrigerator, on the medicine cabinet or in the kids' toy boxes.

This year, I plan to be a bit more obvious, yet still quite subtle. One list will be placed in a jar of peanut butter; another will be tucked strategically between the lettuce and tomato of my husband's lunchbox sandwich. I am also seriously considering tying the little lists to the children's foreheads while they are sleeping.

You see, last year I hinted for earrings from three-year-old Kate; perfume from six-year-old Anne; a book of poetry from 13-year-old Jamie; and a frilly nightgown from hubby Joe, who's old enough to know better. What I received was a horse of a different color, though. Kate gave me a puzzle which she played with all day. Anne gave me some Barbie doll clothes which surprisingly happened to fit her doll. Jamie gave me a book titled, "Football Tactics" which gave him hours of enjoyment on Christmas day. Joe, of course, came closest by presenting me with an over-sized football number nightshirt. Needless to say, my tears were not those of joy.

Well, they meant well and it probably wasn't their fault. Perhaps I need to be more specific this year. Maybe if I list prices, places where the items can be purchased, Fredericks of Hollywood catalogue page numbers . . .

To my faithful readers: Many of you no doubt remember my story last year on Lou "Grizzly" Stouffer who plays Santa Claus to needy families in Terra Alta, W. Va. and the surrounding areas. If you recall, he gathers toys, clothes and food all year long to give those less fortunate than most of us a good Christmas. Grizzly called me yesterday and explained that he had to give all the stuff he collected this year to the flood victims. Can you help? If so, call Grizzly at 1-304-789-6743. The need continues . . .

Flood Relief

Bausch and Lomb employees had already conducted a fund drive of their own and had sent volunteer crews into the flood area over the weekend to aid with clean up efforts. Garrett Memorial Hospital had also previously contributed vaccines and many other supplies and services to the hard-hit areas.

WXIE signed off at 10:30 p.m. $377 short of the $10,000 mark. Shortly after, an anonymous call came in and donated the $377.

Mullan credited the success of the day-long effort to Lambert, Ruble, co-anchor, Dan Daniels; general manager, Terry King; and staffers Jim Shaffer, Cathy Junkins, Chris Bentley, and Paul J. Warnick. He also praised Judy Mahaffy, whom he said "held everything together."

Getty Keefer, Ken Savage, Delmos Warnick, Chuck Nolan and Brad Stewart took care of transportation.

"The real heroes," stated Mullan, "are those folks in this area who have given to this and other drives. Winston Churchill said it best, "This is our finest hour."'

Rowlesburg Drive

The Rowlesburg drive also continues this week and a list of needed items includes: monetary donations to buy fresh meat and vegetables, staples and canned food, boxed convenience foods and housewares and small appliances.

Chairman Robert Proudfoot said they are hoping to have the facilities to handle furniture donations by next week.

Donations may be left at Proudfoot's Pharmacy. Those willing to form workgroups to go to the area may call Proudfoot at 334-3119.

St. Mark's Drive

St. Mark's Lutheran Church under the sponsorship of the Sunday Church School, is continuing its drive for flood victims by setting up a horn of plenty. Members are being asked to bring food, supplies, toys and Christmas decorations to donate.

Personal, wrapped Christmas gifts are also being accepted, which will be marked for the appropriate sex and age group to be distributed to the flood victims. Other members of the community wishing to donate should call Pastor Ray Ursin at 334-2668.

Country Kids Help

The Country Kids 4-H club is collecting toys and Christmas decorations for flood victims. They are also making decorations and instead of exchanging gifts at their Christmas party this year, each club member is going to use that money to buy a pair of socks and some candy to be distributed to the needy.

Instructor Dies

Surviving in addition to his mother is his wife, Helen Lucille (Cottrill) Fitzwater; two sons, John L. Fitzwater III, Martinsburg, W.Va.; Franklin E. Fitzwater, Frostburg; one daughter, Mrs. Jann L. Swiger, Westminster; one sister, Mrs. Sally Wheeler, Cumberland; and eight grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Durst Funeral Home in Oakland.

A service will be conducted in Bethel United Methodist Church today at 1 p.m. by the Rev. James S. Remley and the Rev. Dr. David Mahoney. Interment will be in the Oakland Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Harold Humberson, Arch Baker, Larry Groer, Loren Bowser, Robert Liller and Jim Walkling.

The family requests that memorials be directed to the Garrett Community College scholarship fund.

grams in high-need areas around the country.

A local board made up of representatives from various county organizations will determine how the funds awarded to Garrett County are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service organizations in the area. The local board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive these funds and any additional funds available under this phase of the program.

Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local governmental or private voluntary organizations chosen to receive funds must: 1) be non-profit, 2) have an accounting system and conduct an annual audit, 3) practice nondiscrimination, 4) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs, and 5) if they are a private voluntary organization, they should have a voluntary board.

Qualifying organizations are urged to apply by contacting Pam Nelson at Community Action, 334-9431.

GCC Branch

Garrett Community College as part of a regional community college or as a branch campus of Allegany Community College should be fully explored."

Puzzuoli said the contacts were responsible for such action by the SBCC. He also challenged the authority of Dr. Tschechtelin in making such charges and recommendations on the "word of some unknown college or community contacts."

"We are now faced with losing our independence and our autonomy because some self-serving contacts failed to look down the road to what might happen. You contacts did not know where you were leading the college and if you did, it was a hell of a thing to play on this college!" blasted Puzzuoli.

The college head also lashed out at the League of Women Voters for their "unethical, unprofessional" letter to the governor without sending a carbon copy to the instituion on which they were commenting. Puzzuoli further added that he was going to "take on" the contacts, the SBCC director, the senate and the governor to protect the interests of Garrett County.

Puzzuoli, the board of trustees, and now many faculty members and staff and students are planning to attend a meeting at ACC this afternoon to inform the state officials that GCC is going "to hang on."

Faculty Members Promoted At GCC Trustee Meeting

Two faculty members of Garrett Community College were approved by the Board of Trustees Tuesday for advancement in academic rank as recommeded by Interim President Dr. David Puzzuoli.

Ron Skidmore, formerly an adjunct professor in art, was advanced from adjunct professor to assistant professor of art. Ann Wellham was advanced to assistant professor of physical education and outdoor education from instructor.

Dr. Puzzuoli stated that the advancements "were long overdue" and commended Skidmore and Wellham for "their dedication to GCC."

A new board member, Dr. Raymond McCullough, was introduced at the meeting by Katharine Smith, chairman of the board. McCullough was appointed by the governor to serve on the board on the recommendation of the Democrat State Central Committee.

Financial reports given by John Culp, comptroller, indicated that the college bookstore is now making money for the college. He also noted that the college has spent 30% of the budget, or 3% under the normal spending flow. He contributed the figures to careful spending.

An auditor's report was also given at Tuesday's meeting by Jim Murray, representing Rodeheaver and Associates. The report, which was for fiscal year ending June 30, 1985, was approved by the board of trustees.

At Tuesday's meeting, Dr Puzzuoli informed the board that the Garrett County Animal Shelter was now the sole property of the County Commissioners. He said the college donated some cabinets, tables and chairs which they had no use for.

The college head also told the board that the Coal Mining Technology Building was now theirs to do with as they saw fit, with the stipulation that it be used for educational purposes and that vocational uses for it should take top priority.

William Grant, board member, also announced Tuesday that the new trustee orientation workshop would be held on December 14 at the college. This is the second such workshop to be held since the fall semester began.

Other reports were given on the trustee scholarship the open house, and the schematic organization plan.

Dr. Puzzuoli said the schematic would be phased in. The board of trustees approved the plan.

Puzzuoli Speaks Out

by Dr. David Puzzuoli
President, Garrett Community College

As I read our State's newspapers and assorted printed materials and as I listen to the electronic media, I am inundated by the torrent of "news" decrying the increasing expenditures for higher education and its decreasing quality.

National and State committees and/or commissions are appointed to "study" the weaknesses and/or deficiencies in higher education. The Maryland State Board for Community Colleges has established a Committee on the Future of Community Colleges in Maryland; the Governor has announced the creation of a 12-member commission to focus on the deficiencies in Maryland higher education.

The emphasis of all this activity is to highlight increasing expenditures with the implication that parallel to the expenditure increase there is found a decrease in quality. Through this memorandum I would like to speak to the two principal themes: increasing expenditures and decreasing quality. I limit my remarks to the situation at Garrett Community College for I do not pretend to have the knowledge which permits me to generalize about all higher education in the State of Maryland and the Nation.

In fiscal year 1972, Garrett Community College (GCC) received $875 per Full-Time Equivalent student (FTE) as its budgetary allocation from the State. (I am not in possession of research data as to why or how the State determined that in 1972 it cost $875 to educate a Full-Time Equivalent student). In fiscal year 1985, GCC was allocated $1,720 per FTE. During this 13-year period, the allocation per FTE increased $845, an increase of 96.6 percent! But before one develops conclusions, let us look at related facts and figures.

The Consumer Price Index (CPI), commonly called inflation, rose during the period 1972-1985 from 125.0 to 322.3, an increase of 157.8 percent! Applying the CPI data to the State allocation per FTE, GCC should have received a State allocation of $2,143 in Fy'85 as opposed to the $1,720 it did receive. Thus, just to maintain the same spending power in FY'85 as it had in FY'72, GCC should have received an additional $423 per FTE. If the $423 allocation inflation adjustment is made, GCC's allocation increases by $85,446 for the 1985-86 Fall Semester alone. One could extrapolate this figure to approximately $250,000 when considering enrollment for Spring and Summer, 1985-86.

To add to the dilemma of trying to subsist on allocations which do not meet the inflation rate are the following facts: (a) The average cost of a kilowatt hour of electricity to GCC in 1972 was $0.045. In 1985 this cost had risen to $0.096, an increase of 113.3 percent; (b) The average cost per gallon of fuel oil to GCC in 1972 was $0.117. In 1985 this cost had risen to $0.78 per gallon, an increase of 566.7 percent. Thus, the cost of two important and necessary utility items were consuming a greater proportion of GCC's real (adjusted for inflation) budget. The cost of insurance, excluding vehicles, increased from $992 to $14,000 for the relatively same coverage in liability; this is an increase of 1,311.1 percent.

During the 13-year period, GCC had grown from 144 to 525 FTE's in Fy'85. The number of buildings increased by three and the floor space was increased by 46,242 square feet. This additional floor space, necessary for program expansion and development, also added to maintenance costs, inflated utility costs, and inflated insurance costs; all of which were paid by a SHRINKING budget, not an increasing budget.

The logical question which arises is how did and/or does GCC survive? Something had to be sacrificed in order to keep the College operating and serving Garrett County. An answer appears obvious. The salaries paid to faculty and staff are among the lowest paid in the State and Nation. It is difficult to explain to the faculty that a recent job announcement for the executive secretary to the President in one of the more affluent community colleges in Maryland was advertised at $31,000; this salary is larger than any individual teaching faculty salary at GCC. It is a paradox that an investment of approximately $18,000,000 (a fair market value of the building, grounds, and equipment of GCC) must be maintained by personnel earning minimum wage ($3.35 per hour).

The effect of "robbing of Peter to pay Paul" can be seen by observing the deterioration of buildings and equipment because money is not available to schedule a sound preventive maintenance and replacement program. Instructional equipment must be replaced not only because of normal wear but also because it is, in some cases, outdated. To use the latest buzz words, it is not the "state of the art."

The shrinking real value of the GCC budget has had a more profound effect than depressed salaries and reduced maintenance. The shrinking value of the budget has had its most inhibiting effect upon the development and/or expansion of the College's educational program and services for its students. The shrinking budget has had a negative effect upon the College's ability to effectively market its programs and services in order to tell its story to potential students. Yes, GCC has developed and implemented new programs; this has come about by the efforts of a dedicated administration and faculty, and it has come "out of their hides."

It has been the loyalty and dedication of all GCC employees who have sacrificed their time, energy, and resources to maintain a community college in Garrett County. I strongly disagree that Garrett Community College unilaterally consumes ever increasing expenditures with little to show for the money. Progress has been made despite the shrinking value of its budget during the past 13 years.

The shrinking real value of the budget has had a significant impact upon the quality of GCC programs. Highly qualified applicants for openings on the staff cannot be employed because GCC cannot match the competitive salaries offered in higher education across the State and the Nation. This affects the quality of present programs and future development efforts. It requires a great deal of salesmanship to induce a highly qualified and credentialed individual to even apply for a position at GCC. Then there is the problem of trying to keep present staff on the GCC payroll; competitive institutions with attractive salary scales and benefit packages can easily recruit our best faculty and administrators.

Despite the severe handicap of the shrinking real value of the GCC budget, GCC can claim a degree of quality and success. Recently, State Boards which coordinate higher education in Maryland have released their studies of transfer students from Maryland community colleges to Maryland four-year colleges and the University of Maryland, College Park. At the University of Maryland, College Park, 100 percent of GCC transfer students were in academic good standing with an average grade of "B." In four-year colleges, 84 percent of GCC transfer students were in academic good standing; only 77 percent of all Maryland transfer students were in academic good standing at these institutions. This data speaks well of the quality of GCC's transfer curriculum. It would be great if GCC had monies available to generate "hard" data on the quality of its other curricular areas. All one can say at this time and under the present fiscal constraints is that subjective data appears to indicate that the quality of these other curricular areas is equal to the transfer curriculum.

It is being noted to interested parties that no amount of reorganization, regionalization, and/or restructuring of the governance model for community colleges in Maryland will, by fiat, improve quality and reduce costs. These activities will not halt the effect of inflation upon the real value of college budgets and, subsequently, the "quality" of faculty, administrators, facilities, and programs at Garrett Community College.

Helping The Terminally Ill

Editor's Note: As part of the observance of Hospice Month (November) the following article was written by Jackie Snelson, R.N., M.S.N., coordinator of Hospice of Garrett County.

Hospice is for people who are aware that they are facing death in the near future. All of us are aware that one day we will die. For people who have the diagnosis of a terminal illness, that day may be only a few months, or even days away.

When people think of a terminal illness, they think of cancer. Cancer, however, is not the only life threatening illness. Serious heart disease, renal disease and other health problems can be just as life threatening. Hospice is for these people too.

Facing a terminal illness brings a whole host of concerns. Fear of pain the unknown are common worries. Many terminally ill people have unfinished business they want to resolve. They may want to resolve old conflicts, make out a will, or even make decisions concerning their funeral. Finding someone to share these concerns with may be difficult because those closest to the dying person are trying to deal with their own fears and concerns.

For the dying person, Hospice offers assistance through its volunteer program in meeting these concerns. The Hospice philosophy is to make life comfortable and fulfilling. The health professionals who participate in the Hospice program are aware of methods for relieving pain and the discomforts that accompany illness. The Hospice volunteers are trained to provide that listening ear that both the ill person and family members may need. All members of the Hospice team make an effort to help meet the physical and emotional needs of these people for whom they provide care.

Displaced Homemaker Week Underway

by Barbara Frey,
Director, New Horizons Program

The week of November 17-23 has been designated by Governor Harry Hughes as Maryland Displaced Homemaker Awareness Week. The Awareness Week gives recognition to the many individuals who have found themselves to be displaced due to separation, divorce, widowhood, or economic changes which have made it necessary for these persons to leave their homes after decades of marriage and rearing children to test their talents in the job market. The many Displaced Homemaker programs that help these individuals acquire the necessary career information, skills and confidence to make this transition are being recognized during this special week.

The displaced homemaker program provides support to individuals in life transition situations to enable them to cope and to realize they are not alone in dealing with their situations. Displaced homemakers need skills that can lead to better-paying jobs, enhanced confidence in their abilities, specific job training, and employment. Most need financial assistance while in training and emotional support to help them through the difficult transition period. They also need accurate information on the local job market and chances to explore a variety of fields in order to make appropriate career decisions.

The initial Displaced Homemaker Project began in California in 1975 and culminated in a cross-country campaign to build support for the national legislation by encouraging the emergence of other state bills. There are over 400 displaced homemaker centers through out the country.

Maryland is a model for the nation in displaced homemaker programming. Pioneer legislation began in 1976 when a pilot program was established in Baltimore and subsequent legislation in 1979 created a permanent State Displaced Homemaker Project. Maryland has developed unique, innovative services to meet the needs of this target population who often "fall between the cracks" of the country's system of financial support. Homemakers receive no unemployment benefits or pensions. They are too young for social security, and often their children are too old to allow them to receive Aid to Dependent Children. They don't exactly fit into vocational training or education systems either. Many just miss qualifying financially for job training programs, yet cannot afford other training. Displaced homemakers have particular "identity" problems and counseling and job placement needs which are not served by many adult counseling programs.

The Displaced Homemaker programs in Maryland may be funded by the Department of Human Resources or the Maryland State Department of Vocational/Technical Education.

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College is such a program, receiving funds from the Maryland State Department of Vocational/Technical Education and Garrett Community College, the sponsoring agent for the program. Garrett County's displaced homemaker program has been in operation since January of 1980. The New Horizons Program offers many services free of charge to persons in transition. Among these services are:

Peer Counseling with program staff members.

Agency Referral with awareness of services and opportunities available throughout the county.

Job Awareness emphasis by a staff member, Lena Fratz, who learns about employment opportunities and provides clients with information about these jobs either through her JOB BOARD or through personal contact.

Career Testing for clients to see what their particular skills and interests are to help them select training if necessary for the jobs they will eventually hold.

Volunteer work at the New Horizons office with opportunities to gain current job experience and receive on-the-job training as well as gaining self-confidence in their ability to do a job and do it well.

Resume Writing to assist participants to present themselves well on paper to aid them to secure employment.

Free workshops covering such topics as self-awareness, career awareness, career decision making and vocational skills development. These workshops are arranged by Sandra Schofield, Intake/Workshop Coordinator of the New Horizons Program.

Tuition assistance amounting to $10,000 is available through the program for participants to take non-credit vocational classes through the Continuing Education Department of GCC or credit vocational classes to develop or upgrade skills to qualify for employment.

Child care/transportation assistance is also available to qualifying participants of the New Horizons program who are in the greatest financial need. A limit of $100 per year for this assistance enables the New Horizons Program to provide financial assistance to 30 clients per year.

Community Outreach is available to groups of 10 or more outlying areas on a variety of topics available through the program. A brochure is available from the program listing the topics that interested persons may choose from.

Emphasis this year has been specifically placed on the Single Parent and Homemaker with special emphasis on reaching the displaced homemaker in Garrett County. The New Horizons office is located at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College in Room 607. Any requests for more information will be handled by calling that office at 334-9184 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Join The Great American Smokeout

The American Cancer Society's ninth annual Great American Smokeout is being observed by many smokers throughout the United States today.

The Smokeout is an upbeat, good-natured effort to encourage smokers to try to quit for 24 hours. Smokers will be wearing badges and wrist-snapping rubber bands to help themselves remember not to smoke and to remind their friends to be kind to them.

Listed below are some words of encouragement from the American Cancer Society.

Get in the pink! As soon as you stop smoking, your lungs start repairing and cleaning themselves, and pretty soon you have healthier lungs. Give it a try.

Don't stay hooked. Prove that you can do without cigarettes for 24 hours. It's a great day to start getting away from cigarettes.

Make a fresh start. Quit smoking and regain your energy, your wind, even your fresh-smelling breath.

Breaking the smoking habit is easier when you have someone quitting with you. Ask a friend to quit with you.

For your information, here are some general facts on smoking and health:

The risk of developing lung cancer is ten times greater for smokers than for nonsmokers. Those who smoke two or more packs a day are 15 to 25 times more likely to die of lung cancer than nonsmokers.

Cigarette smokers, who represent less than one-third of the adult population, account for about 83% of all cases of lung cancer.

Lung cancer is the number one cause of cancer death among men. But in the last 30 years, there has been an increase of more than 300% in women's lung cancer death rates. This year, lung cancer is expected to surpass breast cancer as the number one cancer killer among women.

Smokers who have quit are less likely to backslide if surrounded by spouses and friends who don't smoke.

Only one-third of smokers gain weight when they give up cigarettes. One-third actually lose weight as a result of combining a general fitness program with their efforts to quit.

Cigarette smoking has been implicated as a cause of cancer in parts of the body other than lungs, including the mouth, pharynx, larynx, esophagus, bladder, kidney and pancreas.

Fires caused by cigarettes kill more than 2,000 men, women and children each year in the United States. And each year, an additional 5,000 victims are burned in cigarette-induced fires.

Cigarette smoking can be both physically and psychologically addictive, making it difficult to quit.

It is estimated that every day 4,000 youths under the age of 17 initiate smoking.

Further tips on "kicking the habit" may be obtained at displays at Garrett County Memorial Hospital or Garrett Community College, McHenry Campus.

Loring Green died last Tuesday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The funeral service was held on Friday at the Kurtz Chapel United Methodist Church and interment was in the Tasker Cemetery. Mrs. Green returned to her home here on Saturday after spending some time with her stepdaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Rodeheaver, Deer Park, while her husband, Loring, was a hospital patient and following his death. She was a Sunday afternoon visitor of another stepdaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Reese Tasker, Deer Park.

Recent Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Everett McClintock were Mrs. McClintock's brother and nephew, John Newcomer, Stoystown, Pa., and David Newswanger, Somerset, Pa. They received word on Saturday of the death of Mrs. McClintock's sister's husband, Glenn Walker, Friedens, Pa., who was a hospital patient at Johnstown, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. McClintock visited with the family several times following the death. The funeral was held on Tuesday.

Miss Louise Dillon went to Baltimore last week and returned to this community accompanied by her sister, Miss Alverta Dillon, who was discharged from Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, on Thursday, after undergoing eye surgery there.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Friend were involved in a two vehicle accident on Tuesday evening at the Bear Creek-Accident Road and Route 219. They were taken by rescue squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released. They then spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft. Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Friend at their home have been Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Steiding and son, Frederick, Darrell Friend and daughter, Sandy, Forrestville; Mrs. Ethelene Miconi and son, Tim, Austintown, Ohio; Mrs. Marjorie Hughes, Denver, Colorado; and Mr. and Mrs. Hanft. Weekend guests of the Hanfts were Miss Melrose Hanft and Miss Laurie Needer, Timonium. Tuesday visitors were Mrs. Miconi and Mrs. Hughes.

Sunday afteroon visitors of Mrs. Mabel Fike were Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Bowser, Accident; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas and Mrs. Margaret Friend. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, accompanied by their grandson, David Platter, Bittinger, returned to their home after spending a few days with Misses Kathy and Susan Thomas, Lexington, Kent. Mrs. Fike returned to her home last week after being a surgical patient at Garrett County Memorial Hosptial.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bender and grandson, Carson Yoder, spent Friday at Harrisonburg, Va., for orientation day at Eastern Mennonite College. Mr. and Mrs. Bender were Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bender at the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, Grantsville. Sunday dinner guests of the Raymond Benders were Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Brenneman and daughters, Accident; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Beitzel and family, Salisbury, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. David Brenneman, Springs, Pa.

Jennifer Golden and Susie Kolbfleisch were among those going to Catonsville on Friday afternoon with the Northern High School Girls Volleyball Team. Jennifer and Susie are both on the varsity cheerleading squad. The girls came home on Saturday evening with the Class C State Championship in volleyball.

Scott and Andy Schmidt spent the weekend with the fifth grade students from Accident Elementary School at Camp Hickory. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmidt and daughter, Lee Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Golden and daughter, Heather and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Sines and son, Chad were among those attending the banquet at the McHenry Fire Hall on Saturday evening for the Steelers football players, cheerleaders and parents.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bender were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Maust, Accident. Miss Jencene Bender accompanied a group of young people from the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, to Pittsburgh, Pa., for a concert and she remained an overnight guest of Miss Brenda Miller, Grantsville.

Mrs. John Schmidt and daughter, Pam, and Lee Ann, Scott and Andy Schmidt attended a youth group meeting at Rush Baptist Church on Sunday evening to plan for the Christmas play they will present.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bender and Mrs. Craig Miller were Sunday afternoon visitors of Paul's mother, Mrs. Floyd Bender, Meyersdale, Pa., to help her celebrate her 85th birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Golden and daughters went to Morgantown, W.Va., on Sunday to visit their daughter, Sherri, and all had dinner at a restaurant there to celebrate Miss Jennifer Golden's 15th birthday anniversary, that will occur on Thursday, November 21. Sherri is a student at West Virginia University.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bender and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bender and sons were Friday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brenneman, Accident, to help Mrs. Brenneman celebrate her birthday anniversary. Kenny Miller, Grantsville, and Miss Sheila Bender spent the evening with Derrick and Shawn Bender at their home. The Douglas Benders were Sunday dinner guests of the Brenneman family and were evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Art Maust, Salisbury, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman and son were recent Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hunter, Markleysbug, Pa. The Hockmans had dinner at a restaurant in celebration of Mrs. Hockman's birthday anniversary. Tuesday evening visitors of the Hockmans were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hockman and family. Mrs. Ron Hockman baked a birthday cake and brought ice cream to celebrate her mother-in-law's birthday. Other visitors of the Hockmans this week were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Long and family and Mrs. Mildred Beeman.

Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. George Hetz were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holliday, Grantsville; Lawrence Warner, Fort Hill, Pa.; and Mrs. Iva Dridy, Listonburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Richter were Sunday afternoon visitors of Dr. Donald Richter, Sheila Edwards and daughter, Oakland, and also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Travis, Oakland. They were evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richter, Accident, and Monday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Bittinger.

Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Margroff were Mr. and Mrs. John Georg and son, Kevin, Grantsville.

Rev. and Mrs. Oren Bender and son, Brian, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Bender, Bittinger, where other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Denver Beitzel and son. Mrs. Bender's mother, Mrs. Salome Stutzman, Shreve, Ohio, is spending some time with them at Bittinger.

Saturday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Deniker were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Corbett, Westminster. Thursday visitors were Glenn and Michael Krause, Hagerstown. Mr. and Mrs. Deniker were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robertson, Coal Run, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shrimrock and son, Jesse, were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Roberts.

Sunday evening visitors of Mrs. Gertrude Glass were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Glass, Accident; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman and Mrs. Elsie Glass. Mrs. Gertrude Glass and Mrs. Elsie Glass were afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Arvella Georg.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Alfreda Friend were Mr. and Mrs. George Fint and family, Aurora, W.Va.; and Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson and sons, Friendsville. The Fints and Mrs. Friend were all supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson at Friendsville, where Miss Kimberly Bittinger, Aurora, was a weekend guest. Elmer Hanft was a supper guest of Mrs. Friend.

Miss Amy Margroff, a student of Frostburg State College, was a weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Margroff.

A weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Markel Maust was Miss Debbie Maust, Morgantown, W.Va.

PLUMBING, HEATING, AND ELECTRICAL SUPPLIES are now being offered to the county by the 219 Supply Company, located on Route 219 N. near the Glendale Bridge Road. The business, owned by Dick and Ann Morris, mainly handles Eljer plumbing fixtures, and Delta faucets, as well as offering pump and heating supplies and controls, electrical wiring, and receptacles. Another product carried by the company is Quest, which is a new plumbing plastic that can freeze solid without cracking, splitting, or bursting. Business hours are Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. During the winter months, the store will be open every other Saturday. For more information, call 387-4848.

Husky Halls

by LuAnn Hartley

Cheers and shouts of congratulations echoed throughout the cafeteria Monday morning as students welcomed the Class C State Volleyball Champions back to NHS. Less than two weeks earlier, the Lady Huskies had taken the district championship by beating their toughest competition, previously unbeaten Mt. Savage. Then last Friday the students and staff gathered in front of the school to give the team a spirited farewell as the players left for the State Championships at Catonsville Community College, where they won two out of three matches to capture the Class C state title.

SERGEANT HONORED — A ten-year service award was presented recently to Sergeant Daniel Ahern, right, a member of Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard. Presenting the award was Captain Dwight Metcalf. Sgt. Ahern has been with the local unit since 1975 and works in the motor pool as a mechanic. Ahern resides in Oakland with his wife, Gale, and is employed by Glotfelty Enterprises.

During announcements Monday morning, Principal Ed Green congratulated the volleyball team and commented on the fact that they had won the first state title in high school sports in Garrett County. However, he and other members of the staff emphasized the greater importance and pride in the spirit, dedication, discipline, and coaching that had led the team to victory.

Flood Relief Committee

As a result of the recent flood disaster, the student council formed a Flood Relief Committee to aid the flood victims and their communities. The committee is presently collecting non-perishable food items and cleaning supplies while they urge all NHS staff and students to contribute.

Club Initiations

Last week, The Lettermen's Club held its annual initiation week for those seeking membership. Prospective members were required to follow a certain "dress code" for each day, with their apparel ranging from low-key outfits such as three-piece suits to more outrageous costumes such as togas and dresses.

By the same token, the Girls' Varsity Club will be holding its annual initiation this week. The new members will be required to wear outfits such as sweatsuits and formal wear, in addition to apparel reminiscent of their childhood such as "little-girl" dresses and diapers.

Microfilm Information System

College catalogs and career information will be available on microfilm this year in the guidance office. The information system was purchased for space saving purposes during renovation; however, the materials will be updated each year and still utilized when renovation is completed. The system provides a means of quick research in school, although college catalogs and publications will still be available in book form for students to use outside of school.

The new catalog and information system includes 3,600 complete catalogs from 2,900 U.S. colleges, universities, and vocational schools, plus career planning information such as job descriptions and outlook, financial aid publications, and U.S. Military career opportunities.

The information system is now available for use. Students wishing to use the resource materials and do research should make an appointment in the guidance office.

Republicans Meet, Discuss Election, Voter Registraton

The Republican State Central Committee and Northern District Chairmen met Monday night at the Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, to discuss the upcoming election year and voter registration.

Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George C. Edwards spoke to the group about keeping the party working toward a larger voter registration. Currently, Garrett County is the only county in the state with a majority of Republican registered voters. As of November 8, 1985 there were 7,375 Republicans, 4,921 Democrats and 343 declines.

Attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Savage (Host), Friendsville; Danny W. Klotz, Grantsville; Mr. and Mrs. Ruby R. Shockey, Finzel; Mr. and Mrs. A. Leroy Beeman, Elbow; Asa Wilhelm, Avilton; Hon. George C. Edwards, House of Delegates; John N. Bambacus, State Senate, and central committee members William Crawford, Wayne Wilt, Paul Frantz, and Cora Bowser.

Newsy Notes From SMS

by Southern Middle School Student Government

Phys. Ed. Star of the Week

The "Star of the Week" for November 18 is Amanda Hauser. Amanda displays three trophies in the trophy case. The first trophy is for her team winning first place in the Girls' Softball League. Her second trophy is for getting 85% or better in the six events in the Presidential Physical Fitness Program. She won her third trophy for getting 95% or better in the six events in the Presidential Physical Fitness Program.

School Store News

The Southern Middle School store has ordered new stickers. They should be in after students return from the Thanksgiving holiday. Stop by and have a look.

Yearbook News

There are a few yearbooks from last year for sale. See the yearbook staff if you would like to purchase one.

The yearbook staff has just completed a yearbook workshop at Josten's Yearbook Company in State College, Pa. Twenty-six students from SMS attended the workshop on Tuesday, November 12, and learned about new techniques for typesetting, photography and layouts. The sponsor for the yearbook is Louis Newcomb.

After-School Programs

The Computer Club will begin meeting every Tuesday and Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The Drop-In Rec Program will be held Mondays and Wednesdays, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., with Gary and Louis Newcomb as advisors.

Music tutoring will be available Tuesday and Wednesday, 3:35 to 5:35 p.m., with Marge Clever.

Permission slips are required to participate in the programs.

Featured Teacher

The featured teacher this week is Mrs. Mary Ryscavage. She was born and reared in Americus, Georgia, and graduated from Americus High School. She attended Mercer University and graduated with a B.A. degree in 1956. She received her M.A. degree in psychology from Auburn University in 1959.

Mrs. Ryscavage has taught for 11 years in Garrett County, three years in Kitzmiller Elementary School, three years at SMS, and five years substituting. Before becoming a teacher, she worked as a full-time homemaker and mother of her three children, Jeff, Kathryn, and Susan. Jeff, a West Point graduate, is now serving in the U.S. Army, Kathryn attends Davidson College, and Susan is a sophomore at Southern High School. Mrs. Ryscavage resides in Oakland with her husband, Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, and her daughter, Susan.

The thing she likes the most about SMS is finally having a room with a door and four walls, since SMS is primarily open-space. When asked what she liked the least she stated, "It's very hard getting into SMS in the wintertime."

During her spare time and summer holidays, Mrs. Ryscavage says she enjoys "vacationing and eating". When asked what three wishes she would like to have granted her, she said, "To be healthy while living, happy while living, and to go to Heaven when I die."

What does the future hold for Mrs. R.? She's looking forward to retirement and grandchildren.

Farming in Maryland

Farm Credit — Will It Survive?

by Bernice Kepple

The Farm Credit System, until now a relatively unknown but vitally important banking institution that deals exclusively in farm loans, has suffered mightily from the downturn in the agricultural economy. Farm income is expected to drop from about 34.5 billion in 1984 to an estimated 22.5 billion this year, and farmers are increasingly unable to repay their loans. Farmers owe $87 billion out of the total $74 billion FCS has loaned out, and the price for rural land, which is the collateral for those loans, continues to decline in most areas of the country.

The Farm Credit System has provided low-cost credit to farmers, ranchers, fishermen, rural homeowners and agricultural cooperatives for more than 50 years. The system is owned and controlled by its users, farmers and their cooperatives. Borrowers pay variable interest rates that are adjusted periodically to cover the cost of borrowing. In addition, farmers are required to purchase stock in the lending unit in an amount equal to five to 10 percent of the loan.

The Farm Credit System was created by Congress to provide capital to farmers and is still regulated by the government. But it is not a governmental agency, and until now has not used any taxpayers' money.

A Senior Vice President of the Baltimore district, Don Shuflet, speaking to a group of agricultural economists at Virginia Tech, said that there have been problems within the system's 12 interdependent districts and the system could lose a projected $400 million this year across the nation. The Baltimore district, Shiflet said, "is in excellent shape compared to some other districts."

He went on to explain that the five states in the Baltimore district haven't been hit as hard by the farm crisis, and the district's Farm Credit Bank is in better shape than others. The region has experienced fewer problems because agriculture here is more diversified, is closer to major markets and hasn't seen a dramatic increase then decrease in land prices.

He also said farmers in this region are more finanically conservative. During the boom times of the late 1970's they didn't rush out to borrow heavily to buy new land and equipment. Those conservative ways have helped because now that the boom has turned to bust, they don't have huge debts to pay.

Shiflet traced the organization's problems to the general farm crisis. "I'd say agriculture is in the grips of a depression." He said U.S. farmers have been hit with falling commodity prices, decreasing land values, spiraling indebtedness and high real interest rates.

And a farmer's troubles soon mean troubles for others. Half the bank failures this year involved banks with heavy farm loans, and a third of all problem banks are in rural communities, Shiflet said.

First, the Spokane, Wash., district ran into problems, then the one in Omaha, Neb. Other districts had to come to the aid of these two. Despite the problems, Shiflet said, the system is solvent with more than $8.5 billion in capital, and it has plans for dealing with the stress. These include improving internal procedures, tightening credit standards in some locations and working with Congress to develop an assistance package.

This is where the system stands right now. Donald E. Wilkinson, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, asked Congress for a "line of credit" to help the system cover as much as $6 billion in bad farm loans he said will have to be written off over the next three years.

Without an immediate show of support from the government, he said, the 50-year-old system of farmer-owned banks could collapse within 24 months.

The FCA is the independent federal regulatory agency for the network of 37 federally chartered agricultural lending institutions which make up the Farm Credit System. The system is divided into 12 regions which work through more than 700 local lending associations.

The House of Representatives has developed a bill calling for reorganization of the faltering system and authorizing up to $3 billion in federal aid if it is needed to keep the system afloat.

Administration officials, who have insisted that reforms must be carried out with the FCS before federal bail out money can be considered, are expected to outline their position at a House Agriculture credit subcommittee hearing today.

The legislative package appears to meet the administration's requirements, but the financial-aid portion falls short of the $5 or $6 billion that FCS officials have told Congress the system will need to avert collapse.

The American Farm Bureau Federation's Agricultural Credit Study Committee has been working on solutions and suggestions to make to Congress. AFBF President Robert Delano explained that the organization's position is that production agriculture and lenders who provide credit are partners in these times of credit difficulties in agriculture. Neither one can succeed if the other fails. Programs that relieve pressures on lenders will give them increased flexibility in working with producers with debt difficulties.

He urges all lenders to restructure, where economically feasible, agricultural loans in order to assist farmers and ranchers to maintain a viable operation.

The House bill, cosponsored by Agriculture Chairman E (Kika) de la Garza, (D-Tex.) and Rep. Edward R. Madigan (R-Ill.), the committee's ranking Republican, proposes these major changes:

An FCS capital corporation would be created to provide the main source of financial aid to member banks and organizations and to sell acquired properties and loans on which farmers have not made payments. The corporation also could refinance or adjust borrowers' debts on such loans. To finance its activities, the corporation could draw funds from more stable FCS institutions. It would receive and oversee any financial aid coming from outside the system.

One of Farm Bureau's major suggestions was adopted by the House bill which says: The Farm Credit Administration would be reorganized and given more regulatory power to assure that FCS institutions uniformly follow standard accounting and banking practices. The FCA would be operated by a full-time, five-member presidentially appointed board, with one of its members named chairman by the president.

The Treasury secretary would be given discretionary authority to buy up to $3 billion worth of the new capital corporation's obligations if it is deemed necessary to protect the stability of the FCS.

The bill would require the Farm Credit Administration to ensure that its own resources have been used to the fullest extent before federal aid could be considered.

The American Farm Bureau Federation's committee feels that Congress should go one step further, as commercial banks also face difficulties in continuing to work with many borrowers. While their needs are different than those of the Farm Credit System, continued assistance is needed for banks to work with the maximum number of producers.

Henry Holloway, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau, said other agricultural lenders will feeel the pinch too. "Commercial banks, rural merchants, individuals, insurance companies and the Farmers Home Administration will also be faced with heavy losses," he said.

Farm Bureau recommends that the Debt Adjustment program of the Farmers Home Administration be continued and urges that its use be encouraged.

They recommend that commercial banking institutions be given increased authority to extend the period of time of writing off agricltural loan losses.

The Department of Agriculture, meanwhile, has drafted a set of rules explaining what choices farmers have when they fall behind in FmHA payments. They are:

Deferral of part of the payment for five years.

Rescheduling the loan at regular rates.

Rescheduling at a lower rate.

Selling part of the operation to retire some debt.

Subordinating FmHA's lien to another lender.

Catching up on delinquent payments.

Liquidation by selling for cash or transferring to another party.

The Senate has spent little time debating the Farm Credit issue because it is tied up debating the 1985 Farm Bill.

Steve Lantz of Production Credit in Oakland says that there is still money available for farmers in this area, and he doesn't see any problems related to Farm Credit's difficulties. He says that rates projected by the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore, where he borrows money for PCA, are the same as now, not showing much change up or down.

Shiflet of the Baltimore office of Farm Credit said that even considering the farm crisis, "We in the Farm Credit System believe that agriculture is a good business to be in. We believe things are going to turn around. Agriculture will get healthy again. And there are farmers out there making a significant profit right now."

He said the credit system would be with them now during the lean times and would be around for the better times to come.

Dry Corn Silage

Corn silage is typically 35% dry matter. However, this year I am seeing a lot of corn silage running 40 to 45% dry matter. Dry silage can present a lot of problems such as poor packing, aerobic rather than anaerobic fermentation, heating, spoiling and mold growth. If air gets into the silage due to poor packing and/or sealing, excess heat builds up from oxidation, resulting in nutrient losses. Molds enter with air; they use the lactic acid produced during the fermentation process, making the environment favorable for butyric acid forming bacteria. The result—bad silage. Can poor fermentation be reversed by adding water to the silo? No. Pouring water on the top of an upright is ineffective because the water rolls off the crown of the silo and along the walls of the silo, adding very little water to the silage. If you are feeding dry silage, feed it off as rapidly as possible to keep ahead of the mold. Cows will eat dry silage more readily than musty or moldy silage. Addition of water to the silage after removed from the silo will encourage uptake. Do not force cows to eat silage that is excessively moldy or foul smelling.

Correction in Last Week's Article

Last week in the article on prices of grains the last sentence should read, "Under the present conditions I would not expect a great increase in grain and soybean prices" rather than "would expect".

Manure Nutrient Analysis

We are now offering manure nutrient value testing through the University of Maryland Agronomy Department. For $12.00/sample you can have manure tested for Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potassium content. It is very important that you take a good representative sample. If your use a lagoon or pit storage, the manure should be agitated before taking the sample. If taking from a manure pile, take several samples throughout the pile, mix well and retain about a pint. I now have a limited supply of containers that you can use to mail the sample to the University.

Maryland Pork Producers Support Check-Off Program

Maryland pork producers have voted overwhelmingly to continue their check-off program with 82% of those casting ballots in favor of the program, according to a release from the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

The rate of contribution will be changed as a result of the vote. Beginning January 1, the assessment will be one-quarter of one-percent (.0025), which works out to 25 cents per hundred dollars of market hogs sold.

Currently, the check-off assessment rate is 20 cents per market hog sold.

Participation in the program is voluntary on the part of farmers who can request, in writing, that deductions covering animals they have sold be returned to them. Monies raised under the program are sent to the Maryland Pork Producers Association which shares funds with the National Pork Producers Council.

On the state level, Maryland Pork Producers Association uses funds for research, education and to promote pork through cooking demonstrations and distribution of recipes and nutritional information.

Gov. Hughes Honors Charlie Miller As State's Outstanding Tree Farmer

Charley B. Miller of Friendsville was honored this week in Annapolis by Governor Harry Hughes for being selected as Maryland's Outstanding Tree Farmer for 1985.

The American Tree Farm System is an industry sponsored program administered nationwide by the American Forest Institute. The program is designed to encourage forest management on private property. Each state controls its affairs with a State Tree Farm Committee. Each year the committee reviews and inspects the nominated properties and chooses one tree farmer in the state to honor for their outstanding accomplishments in forestry.

Situated below Keysers Ridge at the head of Mill Run, the Miller Tree Farm is part of Devil's Half Acre. Because of the elevation of Miller's 142-acre tree farm, tree species represent the northern forests.

Red and white pines and white and Norway spruces, as well as Scotch pine, were established in plantations. Black cherry, red maple, red oak and white ash are also plentiful. This diversity of species has benefited wildlife over the years by providing a varied habitat.

Miller purchased his farm after World War II, and planned that it would become a family project. Since 1952, the family has planned and planted, thinned and replanted many stands. After planting started, much of the work was also done by veterans working their way back into society.

Timber from the stands selected for thinning finds ready markets in Western Maryland. Pulpwood goes to the Westvaco plant in Luke; posts and mine props are sold to farms and coal mines; and sawtimber is sold for furniture making and industrial uses. The Miller farm became a certified tree farm in 1966.

Over the years Miller has received assistance and advice from foresters working for the Maryland Forests and Park Service. They have provided him with the technical assistance to harvest 85 acres of his tree farm. The harvesting was designed to benefit the remaining timber, as well as continue to improve wildlife habitat.

Miller was honored for his balanced management program which includes an arrangement with his neighbor, John Riley, to contract the thinning operation. According to Ernest Metz Jr., Garrett project forester for the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, "Riley has the tools and the patience to do a careful job of logging. Towing a cart behind a farm tractor, Riley moves to the pulpwood bolts, loads them by hand and stores them roadside for pickup with a minimum impact on the environment. Pine plantations and natural hardwood stands can both be effectively thinned in this manner."

Westvaco foresters continually discuss tree farming practices with Miller, including the selection of most trees to be retained after thinnings or harvests, developing brush piles and managing the field edges of the farm.

Miller, a retired teacher and former employee of the Garrett County Health Department, also received a chain saw in the spring as part of his award. He still takes an active interest in community affairs in Friendsville and in the county in general, such as participating in the annual Arbor Day program at Camp Hickory. Promoting forestry through various groups such as the Rotary, the town council, the Heart Association, and Farm Bureau, he has played a key role involving others in forest management.

Miller is one of millions of tree farmers throughout the United States whose motto is, "Don't abuse the land—Don't just use it—Don't just preserve it—Make it better".

Information On High Tensile Fencing Offered

Thousands of miles of livestock fencing will have to be rebuilt in West Virginia as a result of the region's recent flooding, according to Steve Carcaterra, Hampshire County extension agent.

West Virginia University has developed a set of fact sheets to help farmers construct high tensile fencing. A set of video tapes, detailing proper fence construction, is also available.

Properly constructed high tensile fence will outlast conventional woven wire or barbed wire fence, requires less maintenance, and is cheaper, says Carcaterra.

Originating in New Zealand, high tensile fence has found ready acceptance with American farmers. Fact sheets in the West Virginia Extension Office were developed for farmers wanting to protect crops from deer damage, but with some minor alterations, they will be of great help to the farmer wanting to fence cattle, sheep, or horses.

High tensile fence is not difficult to build, says Carcaterra, but requires some special tools, and construction specifications must be followed. An especially vulnerable area is end post assemblies and corners. Because each wire is tensioned up to 150 pounds, great stress is put on posts. High tensile fence is a cost-effective alternative for farmers to consider when replacing flood damaged fencing.

Contact Carcaterra at the WVU Extension Office in the Courthouse Annex in Hampshire County, or call (304) 822-5013.

The Garrett County Extension Office also has information on high tensile fencing, and Extension Agent Jim Simms can be contacted at 334-2145.

Spring And Fall Hay Field Grazing Studied At WVU

Long after most cows in the tri-state area have begun to consume the hay supplies farmers provide for them in the colder months, a herd of beef cattle near Reedsville in Preston County, W.Va., continues to graze in the fields.

The cattle grow, and even thrive, on hay fields at West Virginia University's Experimental Farm, eating stubble and late growth which on most hay lands is left to decay.

Their diet is part of a long-term experiment which may change the way beef growers manage their farms.

An interdisciplinary group of plant and animal scientists from WVU's College of Agriculture and Forestry has been studying year-round cow-calf production systems. One major experiment, now three years old, involves expanding the grazing season by several months, according to William B. Bryan, associate professor of plant and soil sciences.

"Grazing early and late in the hay fields may reduce hay yields," Bryan says, "but you don't need as much hay because the animals are grazing for two or three months that they would otherwise be on hay." In the fall, cattle at Reedsville have been kept on the hay fields as late as December, despite the area's killing frosts in September and October.

The experimenters aren't simply turning the cattle loose in the hay fields each fall, Bryan explains. The fields are divided into smaller plots with inexpensive electric fencing, and grazed in a rotational pattern.

The researchers are comparing the relative value of various pasture plants and fertilizer treatments in extended-grazing systems. The tall fescue and orchard grasses and red and white clover continue to grow, although more slowly, after frosts have killed most garden plants, Bryan says.

Results have shown the fall grazing to be well worthwhile, he says, but are inconclusive about the value of grazing early in the spring. Further studies are planned into the economic aspects of the system.

In another experiment, pasture areas at Reedsville have supported up to one cow and calf per acre, a much higher concentration than on most area farms, without measurable damage to soil and plant cover. The intensively grazed plots have been highly productive, with calves averaging more than 500 pounds at weaning, according to Edward C. Prigge, WVU associate professor of animal and veterinary sciences.

WVU's resource management division will study the costs of extra fencing, water supplies and other factors involved in the alternative grazing plans, and compare them with savings in haying, feed storage and wintering costs as the experiments continue.

Several more years of research are planned, Bryan says. "We know we can do it for three years, but we want to know what will happen over the long term."

Hay Donations Needed By W.Va. Flood Victims

Many livestock producers in the South Branch Valley lost virtually all of their stored hay supplies during the recent flood, according to Steve Carcaterra, Hampshire County extension agent.

Faced with the forced sale of livestock because of the lack of feed, farmers will continue to lose equity long after the flood waters have subsided.

After observing the compassionate response of neighboring citizens in providing food, clothing, blankets, and clean up supplies, Carcaterra felt certain that surrounding farmers would be willing to supply hay to the region. Hay will be received and dispatched out of Romney to affected farms in Hampshire, Hardy, Grant, and Pendleton counties.

Emphasizing that this is not a government program, the county agent asks that only those farmers whose hay supply has been severely damaged by the flood pick up donated hay. Donated hay will be rationed to farmers, depending upon herd size, as long as supplies last.

Anyone wanting to donate round or square bales of hay can contact any WVU County Extension Agent or call Steve Carcaterra at (304) 822-5013. Farmers needing hay for emergency feeding should contact their local ASCS office to be put on a hay referral list.

Farm Bill Review

. . . . . A Garrett County Viewpoint

by Bernice Kepple

The Senate's debate of the Farm Bill was going as expected, but slowly, as of 5 p.m. yesterday. My column was written late last night. I was on schedule. Then this morning, early, the reports began to come in. Something totally unexpected happened in the Senate late last night, but everyone in contact with the Senate floor is out of their office this morning. So after what seemed a million phone calls, I threw away this week's column and started over with a very small amount of information.

I promise explanations, clarifications, and more information next week; but what I've found out this morning and squeezed in before press deadline is:

The Senate adopted an unusual "something-for-everyone" Republican compromise plan to cut the bill's costs by about $12 billion. The compromise passed by a close vote, and left the Senate in the curious and contradictory position of having passed both a one-year freeze on income supports for farmers and also a more costly four-year freeze. Another close vote tabled a motion to strike the one-year freeze from the package.

The compromise was put together by Majority Leader Robert J. Dole (R-Kan.) during hours of back room negotiations. Some Democrats, seeing it as an "out" for home-state farmers, voted with the Republicans to pass the amendment. Many of those Democrats complained about the contradictory provisions, but Dole justified his move as a way to push the bill quickly through the Senate and leave the major decisions to the House-Senate conference committee who must work out a compromise. Many Senators blame Dole for "passing the buck" on this one.

"This is a peculiar way of making progress," one Senator was heard to say. The same Senator said "There's no law against passing legislation that is confusing and impossible to interpret. This accomplishes nothing in resolving the issue and determining what the will of the Senate is."

Another Senator said that he can't believe they put the contradictory language in the same-sized print. Usually they put it in fine print, he said, and went on to say that this is bound to set a precedent, even for the Senate.

Agriculture Committee Chairman Jesse Helms (R-N.C.), who backed the one-year freeze, said he didn't like the compromise, although he helped Dole put it together. "I've been a party to the development of this modification, but I had to swallow hard and hold my nose," he said. "Neither the committee bill nor the modification meets our obligation under the budget resolution. Both repeat the failed farm policies of the past." But Dole argued that his package would cut about $12 billion from the three-year cost of the measure, bringing it near the $50 billion the administration recently indicated it would accept. The budget resolution puts a $35 billion cost cap on the bill; the pre-Dole version of the bill was estimated at $65 billion by the administration.

Dole's approach effectively broke up a seemingly solid farm-state front of senators holding out for general improvements in the bill. It also broke up a deadlock which would have prevented completion of the Senate bill before Thanksgiving. The Senate intends to keep rolling to finish their version of the Farm Bill this week, Saturday at the latest. They are working today on food stamp amendments.

This compromise will take the bill out of the Senate sooner, but provides more problems for the Conference Committee which will have to iron out these differences and form a workable farm bill before too long so farmers can plan next year's crops. Because in today's agriculture, it's almost necessary to count your chickens before they hatch so you know if you can afford to set more eggs.

Maryland Grain Figures Noted

Old crop corn stocks in Maryland on October 1 totaled 2.4 million bushels, up considerably from the 959 thousand bushels being stored October 1, 1984. Off-farm corn stocks at 317 thousand bushels are up 45 percent, while there are almost three times as much on-farm stocks at 2.09 million bushels.

Wheat stocks on October 1 totaled 2.85 million bushels.

Total oat stocks October 1 stood at 803 thousand bushels, down four percent from 1984. Off-farm oat stocks, at 316 thousand bushels, were down 36 percent, while on-farm stocks were up 42 percent.

Davis Suggests Inspection Of Stored Grain

"Farmers who participate in the grain reserve and commodity loan programs need to inspect their farm-stored grain for insects and mold growth not only in warm weather, but during the fall and winter months as well," Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman, Maryland State ASC Committee said. He said year-round inspections are necessary to prevent economic loss and preserve the quality of farm-stored grain destined for future markets.

The market value of infested grain may be substantially reduced if the number of insect-damaged kernels is sufficient to lower the grade of the grain. Discounts against the price paid per bushel are often assessed by the buyer if live insects are present in the grain.

To eliminate wasted grain and lost profits, Davis said farm program participants can use prescribed grain storage and handling methods.

"Before applying for a grain loan, farmers should check to see that their storage structures are adequate to control insect infestation, and then apply an approved insecticide to the grain when it is placed in storage." Davis said this treatment usually protects grain from insect damage for almost one storage season. However, periodical inspections are still needed because the longer the grain is in storage, the more apt it is to become infested.

Although insects in stored grain almost go dormant for the winter, temperatures in the center of newly-stored grain may be warm enough for insects to feed and increase in number. Also, moisture from warm grain moves to cooler parts of the storage structure, causing damp areas within the grain that favor insect activity and mold development.

Davis said when there is evidence of grain deterioration, farmers are required to either fumigate or recondition the grain, rotate it with new crops or repay the loan.

Lady Huskies Win First-Ever State Championship For Garrett County

The first high school state championship in any sport by either Garrett County high school was recorded at Catonsville on Saturday as the Northern High School girls varsity volleyball team captured the Maryland Class C title. The Lady Huskies earned the opportunity to compete in the state playoffs by winning the Region I District tournament the previous weekend. They went into the state event as the second seeded team.

"It is one of the most incredible feelings in the world and yet impossible to put those feelings into words," stated Coach Vonda Yunker following the state victory. "This has been a season of many rewards," she continued. "Certainly we're proud of our 14-1 season record, our Region I victory over formerly undefeated Mt. Savage, and of our state title. But we're also proud of seeing out athletes develop to their fullest potential."

The Huskies got off to a slow start in the state tourney on Saturday as they lost their first match to defending state champion, Boonsboro, in two straight games, 15-6 and 17-15.

Jenny Dailey led the Huskies with six service points, followed by Missy Durst with five. Janie Friend and Amy Swauger each chipped in three.

It was in this match that Coach Yunker realized Tammy Swauger, one of the team's top players who had injured an ankle in the regional tourney, would not be able to play in the remainder of the state playoffs.

"During the first game against Boonsboro, I think we were overwhelmed by the size of the field house and the crowd," Yunker said. "Our setters had a hard time adjusting to the high domed ceiling and our hitters became tentative."

In the second game the Huskies went out in front, 7-0, before missing three critical serves and allowing Boonsboro back into the game.

"We made several mental mistakes on defense and lost our concentration," Yunker noted.

In the second match of the day, top-seeded Sparrows Point split with fourth seeded North Caroline, winning the first game, 15-11, but losing the second, 15-12.

The Huskies faced the Bulldogs of North Caroline in the third match and won both games, 15-12 and 15-2.

"We received scouting reports on Caroline that said they were quick and liked to dink (set up for a spike, but then loft the ball over the intended blocker) a lot," Yunker said. "In fact, all three other teams liked to dink rather than go to the power game. So during the week before the state playoffs, we changed from our usual triple-two defense to a single block defense and concentrated heavily on defending against the dink, and it paid off."

Leading scorers in the North Caroline contest were Julie Robeson and Karen Frank with eight service points each, followed by Laura Sines, Amy Swauger, and Missy Durst with four each. Jenny Dailey added the other two service points.

"With Tammy out of the game, we had to make some adjustments and the girls really responded," said assistant coach, Bob Yunker. Sherri Frantz, who had been a setter all year was called upon to fill Swauger's spot.

"Sherri accepted the challenge and performed admirably" stated Yunker. "Laura Sines had to fill in the setter's role and play backline defense and she too did well."

Because of these changes, in one rotation, Amy Swauger became the only hitter and blocker. "She was flying around all along the net, performing beautifully," Yunker said.

Northern's power game returned against North Caroline with Robeson again leading the way with six killer spikes. Dailey and Amy Swauger each had two.The Huskies' serving rate improved to 94% against the Bulldogs.

The fourth contest saw Sparrows Point and Boonsboro split, with Boonsboro winning the first game, 16-14, and losing the second, 15-13.

The fifth match was a critical one for the Huskies even though they were not playing in it. North Caroline faced off against Boonsboro and if Boonsboro won one game, they would have tied for the state title. A double win would allow them to repeat as state champions. However, North Caroline won both games, 15-13 and 15-4.

The final contest pitted Northern against top-seeded Sparrows Point. Had the Huskies lost both games, they would have finished in fourth place. A split would have tied them for first place and required a playoff game.

"As I looked around at the girls during our pre-game huddle, I saw in their eyes a look of confidence," stated Vonda Yunker, "and I knew we would be all right."

Northern jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first game, but the Pointers came back to assume a 7-4 advantage.

"We still were not to worried, because Sparrows Point had given the ball back to their opponents on bad serves all day and we figured, with all the pressure on them, they would continue to miss serves—and they did," Yunker said.

Northern tied the game with three key points by Karen Frank and went ahead with points by Laura Sines, Amy Swauger, and Jenny Dailey. Meanwhile, the Husky defense was shutting down the Pointers.

Missy Durst scored the first game point.

The second game saw the Lady Huskies come out on fire and, before the Pointers knew what hit them, Northern was on top, 6-0. The Pointers fought back, however, to cut the Huskies' margin to one, 7-6.

Then the Northern defense rose to the occasion and completely shut down Sparrows Point's scoring for the year. Laura Sines put the game, and the state title, away for Northern with four straight points.

Leading scorers for the Huskies were Amy Swauger with 12 service points, Karen Frank with six, Laura Sines

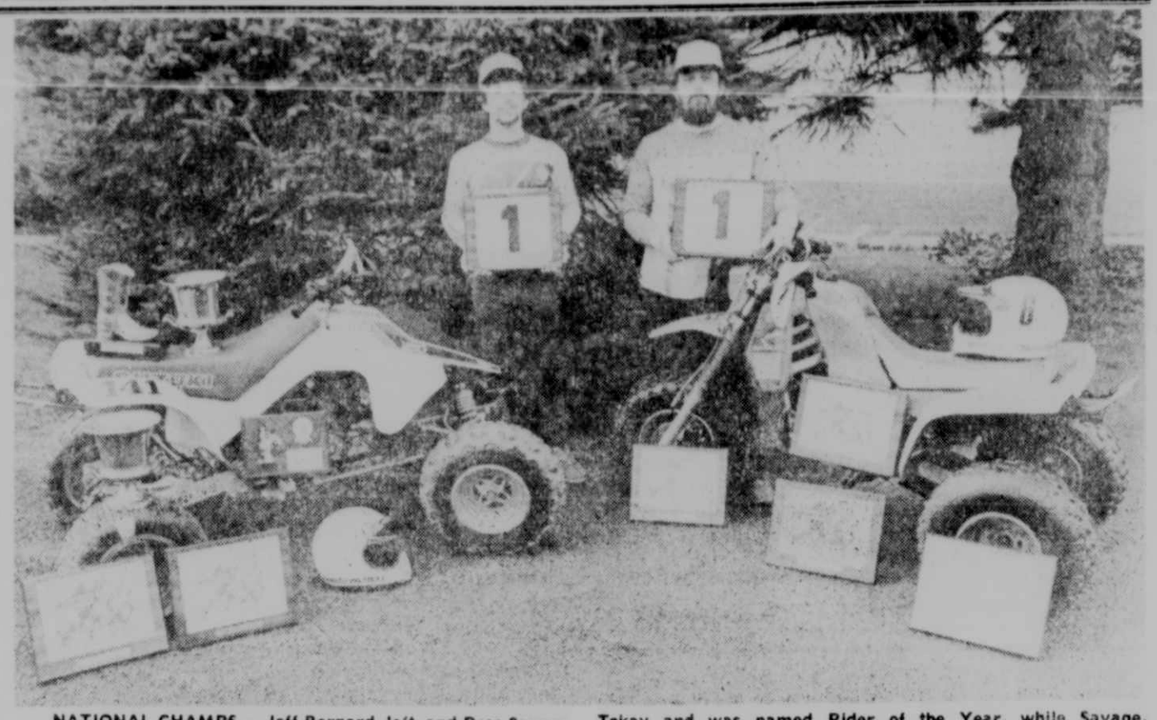
Bernard, Savage Win National ORV Titles

Two Garrett County residents brought home national championship trophies recently from the 1985 AATVA National Cross Country Race Series.

Jeff Bernard, Deep Creek Lake, and Ross Savage, Friendsville, each won their respective class championships in the off-road vehicle, seven-race series, which were held throughout West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Tennessee.

The participants' five best times out of the seven two-hour races were used to rank them in order of finish. It was estimated that 400 races from 18 different states participated in the series, including Honda's ATC Race Team from California.



Bernard tied in points for the overall national title with Team Honda's Tom Tokay, and was also named Rider of the Year. His national championship title was for the two-stroke, four-wheel class. He finished first overall in three events at the Big Bear 100, Bruceton Mills, W. Va.; Blackwater 100, Davis, W.Va.; and Loretta Lynn's 100, Hurricane Mills, Tenn. He also finished first in his class and second overall in the Fireball 100, Tarentum, Pa., and again at Big Bear Lake, Bruceton Mills.

Bernard is sponsored by Eberly-Wood Distributors, Mellinger Enterprises, Dream Mountain Raceway, Skip's Trucking, and Hoosier Racing Tires.

Savage was declared national champion for the second straight year in the senior class. His finishes in his class included a first place in the opening race of the year in the Summit Point Grand Prix, Summit Point, W.Va.; second place at the Fireball 100; second at the Loretta Lynn 100; first at the Big Bear 100; and second at the Blackwater 100. He finished in ninth place overall, nationally.

Savage is sponsored by Trim Leathers, Custer's Honda, and Dream Mountain Raceway.

The two local racers were presented their trophies at an awards banquet Saturday evening at the Uniontown, Pa., Holiday Inn. Team Honda's Mark Weixeldorfer made the presentations.

NATIONAL CHAMPS — Jeff Bernard, left, and Ross Savage were recently named national champions in the 1985 National Cross Country Race Series. Bernard, Deep Creek Lake, tied in points for the overall national title with Team Honda's Tom Tokay and was named Rider of the Year, while Savage, Friendsville, captured his second straight national title in the senior division. Winners are determined based upon their five best finishing times in seven different races.

Local Womens Team Fares Well In Tournament

A&A Realty sponsored a women's team in a volleyball tournament held at Penn State Fayette Campus, Connellsville, Pa., on November 17.

The team consisted of Helen Stephens, captain; Dianne DeWitt, Sue Sanders, Gwen McBee, Linda Youmans, Gale Ringer and Ellen Bernard. Round robin tournament play (USVBA rules) was followed with six teams in two divisions, with 12 teams participating. A&A Realty finished with a tie for second place in their division with a record of 7-3. A one-game tie breaker was played between A&A and Penn State University VB Club, which A&A won, allowing them to advance to semi-finals.

A&A then played for first place team in the other division, Back Court. They lost two consecutive games and placed third in the final competition.

Fishy Correction

The winner of the trophy for the largest bluegill caught during the 1985 Deep Creek Lake Fishing Contest was erroneously reported by the Promotion Council, as Ann White, Columbus, Ohio.

The correct winner of the trophy is Daniel White, Columbus, Ohio, whose 12-ounce, 11¼-inch bluegill was the largest caught.

Huskies Win

with five, and Jenny Dailey with four. The Huskies did not miss a serve in the final match, making good all 49 attempts, and finished with a tournament average of 93%.

"I really can't say enough about this team," Coach Yunker stated. "For 15 weeks they exhibited all the necessary ingredients that go into being a winner: hard work, self discipline, determination, sacrifice, and confidence.

"Just to show the character of this team," she continued, "Friday evening when we arrived in Catonsville, we couldn't locate a gym to practice in. We ended up practicing in the parking lot of our motel underneath two street lights in the chilly weather for an hour, and not one complaint was lodged.

Yunker noted that the success of the entire season was because of "an overall team effort, where each of our players knew their roles and completed their individual assignments, resulting in a team victory."

Coach Yunker went on to point out the contributions of each player on the team.

"Julie Robeson supplied the power in our offense with her spiking ability. She recorded 14 killer spikes in the state tournament.

"Amy Swauger provided our power on our weak-side hitting attack and ended up as the leading scorer for us with 19 service points.

"Karen Frank, whose role was substitute server, had the best games of her career during the state's with 15 service points.

"Missy Durst, who is one of the best setters in Region I, played outstanding defense against Sparrows Point. She ended up with 11 service points.

"Jenny Dailey, who all year gave us 110% effort every time she walked on the court, was the third leading scorer with 12 points, including some key spikes against Caroline and Sparrows Point.

"Tammy Swauger played so well during the regular season as a weak-side hitter and a second setter. It was a shame she couldn't perform in the state tourney.

"Janie Friend, who is one of the most improved players this year, contributed three points and played outstanding defense against Boonsboro.

"Sherri Frantz, who had to step in and take Tammy's spot, did everything that we asked of her. I realize I put a lot of pressure on her, but she came through. Her setting and defensive play really helped us win the title.

"Laura Sines' back-row play against some very heavy hitters was a picture of perfection. She handled almost everything that came her way."

Coach Yunker concluded by extending her appreciation to all persons who played a role in the Huskies' season this year.

"We brought back this win not only for ourselves and Northern High School, but for Garrett County as well," she stated.

Marching Huskies Complete Best Season Of Field Show Competiton

The Northern High School Marching Band, under the direction of Jim Boord, recently completed its most successful season of field competition.

Although the band received no first places in its many competitions, it consistently finished in the top four in its class and the Northern silk squad was one of the best in the area, capturing a number of first places.

In their first competition at Frankfort High School, the marching Huskies scored a 47.6 to take third place in Group I, while the silk squad won Best Silks.

The Huskies recorded a 48.5 at the Shade Invitational in Pennsylvania, good for second place in their division.

One of the most important events for the band was the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, held during the Autumn Glory Festival at the Southern High field. "This was our best opportunity to prove to the community that we were good" stated one band member.

Their winning attitude led them to a second place finish overall and another Best Silks award in Class A. This was the highest score ever recorded by the band in the Western Maryland tourney in front of West Penn Federation judges.

The following week the band traveled to College Park for the Maryland Marching Band Festival, where they earned a "good" rating overall and still another first place for Best Silks in Class D.

The Huskies then finished fourth against their toughest competition to date, at the Bedford Cavalcade of Bands, and completed their season with a fourth place at the Tournament of Bands, Chapter XI Championships.

"Probably the greatest accomplishment this year was the satisfaction the seniors felt," a member stated. "The younger members of the band have never felt the disappointment of losing badly like the seniors did three years ago. Hopefully this year's experience provided the pride to make next season even better."

Elmer Miller, 82, of Grantsville, died Tuesday, November 19, in Meyersdale, Pa., Community Hospital.

Born in Grantsville, he was a son of the late John Miller and Lavina (Colflesh) Miller.

Mr. Miller was a member of the Springs, Pa., Mennonite Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Rosa Miller; two daughters, Mrs. Rosa Louise Ailey, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mrs. Nancy Miller, Grantsville; a brother, Peter Miller, Oakland; two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Kinsinger, Kalona, Iowa; and Miss Edith Miller, Oakland; and two grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, today from 2 to 3 p.m. A service will be conducted at the funeral home today at 3 p.m. by Rev. Steven Heatwole. Interment will be in Springs Cemetery.

MARSHALL LEE BROADWARER
LELA MERLE BROADWATER

Combined services for a Cumberland couple, Marshall Lee Broadwater, 80, and his wife, Lela Merle (Hamill) Broadwater, 78, will be conducted Friday at 11 a.m. at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport.

The Rev. John H. Williams, pastor of Centre Street United Methodist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Rest Lawn Memorial Gardens, LaVale.

Mr. and Mrs. Broadwater were found dead Tuesday, November 19, at their home in Cumberland.

Mrs. Broadwater was born in Deer Park, daughter of the late Thomas W. Hamill and Nelle (Fowler) Hamill.

She was a retired teacher, having taught in Garrett County schools for many years, and attended Centre Street United Methodist Church.

Surviving are one brother, Gerald Hamill, and two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Grimes and Mrs. Betty A. Roby, all of Baltimore, and 10 nieces and nephews.

Mr. Broadwater was born in New Germany and was a son of the late Nelson E. Broadwater and Ada (Chaney) Broadwater.

He served in the Army in World War II and was a farmer and a retired employee of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

He is survived by two brothers, Ellsworth Broadwater, Savage River; and Carl Broadwater, Grantsville.

LAWRENCE HERSHMAN

Lawrence J. Hershman, 36, of Oakland, died Saturday, November 16, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born in Oakland March 1, 1949, he was a son of Willis B. Hershman, Oakland, and the late Dorothy B. (Nair) Hershman.

Mr. Hershman was employed for 15 years by Glotfelty Enterprises.

Besides his father, he is survived by his wife, the former Donna Jean DeWitt; four daughters, Belinda B. Hershman, Stephanie L. Hershman, Laura J. Hershman and Donna J. Hershman, all at home; two sisters, Mrs. Maxine E. Elsey and Mrs. Barbara L. Bateman, both of Mountain Lake Park; one brother, Roy E. Hershman, Oakland.

Former Area Radio Singer Dies At 86

Mrs. Florence M. Maurer, 86, of Oakland, who sang for several years on radio programs in the Pittsburgh, Pa. area and for two years on radio station WTBO in Cumberland, died Wednesday, November 13, at the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home in Grantsville.

She was born in Columbia, Mo., April 12, 1899, daughter of the late Edward S. Parmer and Effie (Ballew) Parmer.

Mrs. Maurer was a graduate of Stephens College, Columbia, where she studied voice. She came to Oakland in 1943, and formerly worked as a bookkeeper for the Fairmont Milk Company and the International Harvester Company.

Her hobby was growing orchids. She was a member of the American Orchid Society, the Oakland Civic Club, the Stephens College Alumnae Association and St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, and an associate member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Maurer's only survivor is a niece, Mrs. Louise Stanton, Oakland.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Saturday by the Rev. Allen Ridenour. Interment was in the Grantsville Cemetery.

REV. DR. RALPH C. ROBINSON

The Rev. Dr. Ralph C. Robinson, 84, a native Garrett Countian, died October 24 in Charleston, S.C., at the Sandpiper Nursing Center where he had resided for some time.

Born in Oakland February 10, 1901, he was the son of the late Dr. John Grant Robinson and Martha Hinebaugh Robinson.

Dr. Robinson graduated from Oakland High School's class of 1919, and received his AB degree from Gettysburg College in 1923 and a Bachelor of Divinity from Gettysburg Seminary in 1926. He was licensed to preach by the West Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod in 1925 and by the Maryland Synod in 1926. Rev. Robinson served for 2 years as pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Springs, Pa.

During World War II he served as a Navy Chaplain in the South Pacific.

His wife was the former Margaret Rohrer who died at Camp Hill, Pa., in 1976. He was also preceded in death by a daughter, Mary Hannah Arnold, in 1975.

He is survived by one son, the Rev. David Timothy Robinson.

Dr. Robinson was one of seven children, the oldest being the late Rev. Dr. Felix Robinson, Garrett County historian.

In recent years, Dr. Robinson lived with his granddaughter, Mrs. Lance Ufema, in Lewistown, Pa., and later with another granddaughter, Martha Brown, York, S.C.

Interment was at Boonsboro-Sharpsburg.

Potomac Edison Seeks Surcharge

The Potomac Edison company filed a request Friday with the Maryland Public Service Commission for a surcharge on customers' bills to recover the costs associated with the Bath County Pumped Storage Project.

The surcharge request is the second phase of the company's rate case filed with the PSC this year. The Commission granted Potomac Edison a base rate increase of $6.2 million effective September 9, but deferred action on the portion of the rate request associated with the new generating facility until an in-service date could more closely be determined. The company says it is seeking to recover approximately $21.9 million through the surcharge with the in-service date scheduled for December 20.

If granted, the surcharge would amount to a $3.47 a month increase for residential customers using 750 kilowatthours of electricity a month. Residential customers who heat with electricity and use 2,000 kWh a month would see an increase of $12.86 a month.

PE says these increases will be modified, however, by a filing the Company plans to make this week seeking a reduction in the fuel rate portion of customers' bills. This fuel rate reduction request reflects improved sales of electricity to other utilities and the prospective benefits expected from the Bath generating facility. This filing will lower the fuel rate charged to low-voltage customers from 1.329 cents per kilowatthour to 1.192 cents per kWh, a reduction of 10.3 percent.

For the residential non-heating customer using 750 kilowatthours a month, the reduction will amount to $1.03 if granted, and for residential heating customers using 2,000 kilowatthours a month, the reduction will be $2.74 a month.

The combined effect of the Bath surcharge and fuel rate reduction will amount to an overall increase of $2.44 a month, or 5.3 percent, for residential customers using 750 kilowatthours a month. The increase for heating customers using 2,000 kilowatthours a month will amount to $10.12 a month or 8.9 percent.

Veterans Day Program Held At Northern Middle

A group of students, government officials, military branch representatives, and armed Forces' veterans presented a program at Northern Middle School on Monday, November 11, in honor of Veterans Day. The program was sponsored and directed by Mrs. Sandi Parish-Warne of the Language Arts Department.

The program opened with a student, Melanie Deniker, giving the welcome and introducing Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey. Commissioner Braskey led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance, and introduced Don Newman, who sang the National Anthem while being accompanied by his son, Lynn Newman.

The program continued with Deanna Detrick and Tresa Lichty presenting information about America's symbols. As the readers told of the origin and value of each symbol, David Hook, Pam Schmidt, Tracy Resh, Chris Turney, Jackie Weimer, Heidi Yommer, Anita House and Vicki Fazenbaker presented the images of these to the audience.

Another group of students presented the history of the American flag by showing samples from the first flag to the present one. Those performers included Tracy Teats, Jeff Lowdermilk, Ronnie Sines, Frank Bittinger, Stacy Fike, Aaron Morris, Andy Durst, Cara Wachter, and Audra Speicher.

After giving credit to the United States veterans for fighting for freedom, Heather Martin introduced the veterans who were guests of honor for the program. Those guests, all with honorable discharges, included: Delegate George Edwards (U.S. Army Reserves); Charles Bender, Thomas L. Warne and Ret. Tech Sgt. William Martin (U.S. Air Force); Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Mrs. Nancy Schmidt, and William Sipple (U.S. Navy); Larry Durst, Gary Layman, Don Newman, and Grantsville American Legion Post Commander Melvin Schwing (U.S. Army); and Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans (U.S. Marine Corps). A number of guests unable to attend but sending their regards for a successful effort were, among others, Maryland Senator John Bambacus, Albert Ringer and Tom Gearhart.

Following the introductions, two speeches were given that related to the middle school student, "What Is A Veteran?" The speeches were given by Grantsville American Legion Post Adjutant Charles Bender and U.S. Air Force Staff Sgt. Paul Woods.

Following the speeches, Del. Edwards made a presentation to Northern Middle. On behalf of the school, Mrs. Wilda Massi, principal, accepted an American flag and a Maryland flag which were donated by Del. Edwards, two flag staffs with stands, tassels and mounting ornaments which were donated by Grantsville American Legion Post 214, and a plaque which was designed by Mrs. Warne. The mounted flags and plaque will be permanently displayed in the school lobby in honor of America's armed forces veterans.

The program concluded with a cheer for AMERICA which was led by Tresa Lichty, Carrie VanSickle, Amanda Wakefield, Lori Sines, Tracey Glotfelty, Maggie Rawe, and Terri Lapp. All Students who were in the program helped the cheerleaders by inciting the audience to participate. As a grand finale, the cafetorium was in total darkness with a spotlight shining on the American flag. This event was conspired by Brad Nesline, Dave Durst, Shawn Gittere, Danny Sisler and Andy Durst.

Senior Chief John Martin, local Navy recruiter, visited Mrs. Warne's classes after the program. He spoke to the students about the origin of Veterans' Day, America's wars, Americanism, and other aspects of the military branches. He had many military items, including an entire World War I "Dough Boy" uniform with hat, leggings, leg wrappings, and belt, and a validated pay book.

The program was a culminating activity to an Americanism unit which was taught in Mrs. Warne's reading classes. The unit included skills in researching and reporting, creative and traditional writing skills, art skills, note-taking, and speaking. Also, in conjunction with the unit, the students created birthday cards, drawings and essays which were sent to the Statue of Liberty Foundation in honor of "Lady Liberty's" 99th birthday on October 28. These items were part of display on Liberty Island, New York, along with other creations from school students across the United States.

Each student made his own book about America's national symbols and ideals. Along with the information from research and note-taking they combined their creative skills and will have a reference book, as well as a tool for measuring their understanding of Americanism.

Mrs. Warne and her students extended their appreciation to all who participated in the program. It is noted that "With their support and cooperation, the efforts to promote Americanism were made possible, and through the sacrifices and patriotism of the American veterans, we are free to promote and cherish America's ideals," Mrs. Warne said.

Correction Noted

In a cutline under a photograph on page three of last week's issue of The Republican concerning a Veterans Day program at Northern Middle School, American Legion Post 214 was identified as being from Accident. It should have stated that Post 214 is located in Grantsville. We regret the error.

Flood Damages Prevented By Corps Projects

Preliminary estimates indicate that flood protection projects constructed in the Potomac River basin by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Baltimore District prevented more than $167 million in damages during and after rainfall from Storm Juan two weeks ago. The announcement was made last week by Col. Martin W. Walsh, Jr., Baltimore District engineer.

"The heavy rains caused considerable flooding and damage in the Potomac and Shenandoah river basins," Col. Walsh said. "Look at the devastation along the South Branch of the Potomac, and imagine what the damages would have been like on the Potomac's North Branch and main stem without our flood control projects in place," he said.

During the week of November 3, the Corps projects were pressed into service to hold back rising water which otherwise would have flooded property had the projects not been there.

Bloomington Dam, which the Corps built on the North Branch of the Potomac River along the Maryland-West Virginia state line, prevented an estimated $113 million in damages. "In this one event, Bloomington came close to paying two-thirds of its construction cost of $175 million," said Ken Hartzell of the Baltimore District's Planning Division. The Corps completed Bloomington Dam in 1982.

In Garrett County, Savage River Dam also saved considerable property from damage. Started by the Works Progress Administration in 1939, but finished by the Corps in 1952, this $6.4 million dam prevented an estimated $28.3 million in damages, Walsh said. Although the Upper Potomac River Commission of Maryland maintains the dam, the Corps regulates it during periods of flooding.

Corps-built local flood protection projects on the North Branch above and below Bloomington Dam also prevented significant damages, Walsh stated. Baltimore District officials estimate that the Cumberland and Ridgeley, W. Va., flood protection project, which cost $21 million to build, saved an estimated $23 million in damages to those towns, which are 40 miles downstream from Bloomington.

Two flood protection projects on the North Branch upstream from Bloomington also produced sizable savings, he noted. The Corps estimates that levees at Bayard, W. Va., which cost $347,000 to build, prevented $540,000 in damages last week. At Kitzmiller, another levee project, which cost $600,000 to build, saved an estimated $2.5 million in flood damages.

The Corps has two types of flood control projects in the Potomac basin. Local flood protection units, which consist of levees, floodwalls and the like, allow a greater amount of water to pass through an area by increasing the height of the surrounding banks, Walsh explained. Dams and reservoirs are used to retain excess water until it can be released safely downstream.

Monetary benefits credited to Corps flood protection projects are determined by computing what river stages would have occurred if there had been no projects in the area and relating these stages to the corresponding acreage which would have been inundated. A dollar value is then assigned to the projected damage prevented because of the projects.

LIONS DONATE TO HABITAT — Robert Lohr, left, first vice president of the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, hands a donation of over $1,500 to Alfred "Blue" Marucci, a member of the fund-raising committee of the Garrett County chapter of Habitat for Humanity. Marucci is also a member of the Lions Club. Habitat for Humanity is a non-denominational, non-profit Christian housing ministry, with a goal to eliminate sub-standard housing from society. The local chapter is in the process of completing its eighth house in Garrett County and has the distinction of being the first Habitat chapter in the country which actually built its first house in its first year of existence. Families selected to reside in these houses are granted a no-interest mortgage and also assist in the actual construction of the homes, if possible.

Sarbanes Urges Prompt Approval Of Relief Funds

Senator Paul Sarbanes has urged swift approval of the State of Maryland's request for disaster assistance to those areas of the state hit hard by recent flooding.

"The storm and flood waters caused more than $19.2 million in damages in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Anne Arundel, Calvert, and St. Mary's Counties," Senator Sarbanes said in a letter to President Reagan, urging prompt approval of Governor Hughes' request for a declaration of emergency. "More than 120 homes and 35 businesses were completely destroyed or suffered major damage, miles of roads were torn up, and beaches, piers and bulkheads were washed away. One school, alone, in Allegany County, sustained over $1.7 million in mud and water damage. The flood also caused the tragic loss of life."

In a related action, Senator Sarbanes also renewed his call for disaster assistance and beach replenishment aid for Ocean City and Worcester County. "The new damage to the resort area's beach by the flood underscores the concerns expressed in my earlier letter, that we must act immediately to mitigate the potential impact of future storms. The flood, which followed Hurricane Gloria closely, has made Ocean City more vulnerable than ever to destruction from the sea," he added. Senator Sarbanes noted that over 400,000 cubic yards of additional sand were washed away by last week's flooding putting the surf at buildings' edge during high tides.

"Federal disaster assistance is needed now to help Maryland citizens begin rebuilding and cleanup efforts," Senator Sarbanes said in his letter to the President. "I urge you in the strongest possible terms to issue an immediate declaration approving Governor Hughes' request."

NOTICE

The town of Oakland is cooperating with the Downtown Oakland Merchants Association to provide free parking at all metered spaces in the town from November 29, 1985 to December 24, 1985.

The officials hope the offer of free parking will not be abused by employers and employees in town, and warn that the parking areas will be policed to make sure that the same car does not tie up a parking space for an inordinate amount of time.

Something To Think About

R. Mark Durst
DIRECTOR

EXPRESSIONS OF SYMPATHY

Many people desire to express their sympathy by sending flowers or some other memorial in addition to extending their condolences in person. Others do this because they cannot attend either the visitation or the service.

For the most part, those who wish to demonstrate their feelings should be able to do so, in the way they prefer and which is most natural for them. Flowers, for example, have a message all their own—one which is universal. They also add beauty to the casket setting and to the funeral service.

While it is considered proper for the family to suggest a certain memorial (such as a donation to a particular charity), this should not be done in such a manner as to exclude alternate expressions of sympathy. It should also be presented in such a way so as not to be construed as a tangible solicitation of sympathy. The funeral director can advise on these and similar matters.

REASONS TO BE THANKFUL

Read the 150th Psalm . . . It begins and ends with a call for all men to praise God.

Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord. Perhaps we would do well to follow David in this matter of being Thankful. Our Pilgrim Fathers did. They put God right in the center of every Thanksgiving day. It was the Lord's Day . . . not just another day void of work. Then just what is there about Thanksgiving, about God, that makes me glad? What is it that lifts my face to Heaven when I am sad and when I am glad? Too many times we find the weak, the hungry, the sick and the sad way out in front with their Thanksgiving to God for His fairness, His kindness and His goodwill.

Certainly God goes beyond justice to establish love as the central virtue. He gave up His Son to prove it to us beyond a doubt. He calls on us to be very Thankful for health, if we have it — for wealth, if we own it — and for that friend who can turn us on when our way is dark.

He invites all of us to live like women and men who know very well about God. . . to be grateful for the few days He gave us which have been full of the trouble He promised. Don't ever let us say a final farewell to dear ones, but let us be Thankful for His promise that we may find them again. Thank you, Lord, for these reasons and many more. Amen.

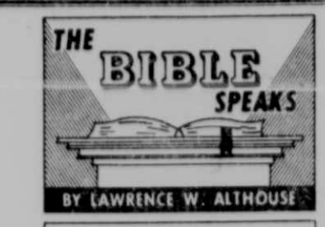
IT'S GOING AROUND AGAIN THIS YEAR

If you ask a friend at this time of year what it was that had kept him home sick he is very likely to give you that stock answer—"Oh, it's just something that's been going around!" Just what that something is nobody seems to be exactly sure of except that it's probably a virus or a bug.



In all probability, it will be "going around" again this winter and many of us will be the recipients of its uncomfortable symptoms. So remember, the best advice is rest, liquids and aspirin to start and then call your doctor if you cannot shake it quickly.

BORN AGAIN... TO LOVE

November 24, 1985

Background Scripture:
1 John 4.
Devotional Reading:
1 Timothy 6:11-21.

There is a lot of controversy about what it means to be "born again," a term that seems to be but one more way that followers of Jesus Christ separate themselves from one another—and from him! The term, of course, comes from John 3:3 and the story about Nicodemus. Jesus tells the pharisee that one must be "born anew" (or "born from above") if he is to see the kingdom of God.

What does this term mean? What is John trying to say to us by including it in his gospel? Unfortunately, Christians cannot agree on their answers. But, if we read all of John's gospel and his epistles as well, it becomes apparent that the purpose of the "new birth," as well as the evidence for it, is love.

LOVE AND KNOW GOD

John follows the story of Nicodemus with the well-known assurance that "God so loved the world that he gave his only son..." And throughout his gospel and epistles he stresses over and over that, as Christ has loved us, so we must love one another. "New birth" is mentioned but a few times in the fourth gospel, whereas love is its theme. But in John's first epistle, he brings the two concepts together: "Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God, and he who loves is born of God and knows God" (I John 4:7). In other words, whatever else the "new birth" entails, the mark of it, the purpose of it, is to love one another.

As Christians we may like each other, at best, or tolerate each other and discipline our combative and hostile impulses. But "love one another"? Is it possible, Lord? Is that what you really want from us? And if it is, can we do it?

Isn't that what Jesus was all about? To show us—not just to tell us—to demonstrate to us that it is not beyond our human capacity to love one another the same way that Christ loved us. "In this is love, not that we have loved God but that he loved us and sent his son to be the expiation of our sins" (4:10). The love that took Jesus to his cross was a gift that was given him by God. And that same gift can be given to us, if we really want it.

GOD AND OUR BROTHER

What blocks the gift of love, is our hate. For hate is not just something that happens in us, not just a feeling that takes us over, but it is something that we hold onto because we enjoy it. Hate is not a disease against which there is no defense, but the serpent we invite into our lives and hold onto. So, "If any one says, 'I love God,' and hates his brother, he is a liar; for he who does not love his brother whom he has seen, cannot love God whom he has not seen" (4:20). If we continue to hate it is because we choose to hate rather than love.

All of us are called by God to be "born anew" and the purpose of that rebirth is to love.

Stamos returns to TV in wonderous 'Alice'

By Kimberly Redmond

Whatever happened to John Stamos, the actor who played Blackie Parrish on "One Life to Live"? Last year, Parrish was sent to prison on the ABC soap, and I haven't seen Stamos since. — P.B. Jemison, Ala.

John Stamos

Stamos starred in last year's short-lived nighttime series "Dreams." On Dec. 9 and Dec. 10, the young actor will appear as the Messenger in the four-hour CBS miniseries, "Alice In Wonderland." He's also been signed to make his feature film debut in the upcoming action spy thriller, "Never Too Young to Die."

I'm convinced that James O'Sullivan, the actor who portrays Pete O'Neill on "One Life to Live," once appeared on "All My Children." But I can't seem to recall his character's name. Can you help? — B.V., Morrisville, Pa.

O'Sullivan portrayed Jeff Martin on "All My Children." He also appeared on the daytime soaps, "Search For Tomorrow," and "Somerset," and was in the first episode of the nighttime series, "Our Family Honor."

What was the name of the first actor to portray Joe Perkins on "Santa Barbara"? Where can I write to him? — P.J. Fall Creek, Wis.

Dane Witherspoon created the role of Joe Perkins on "SB," but was later dumped when the powers-that-be decided he wasn't right for the role. Witherspoon is currently portraying Tyler McCandless on the CBS soap "Capitol." You can write to him c/o "Capitol," CBS, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90036.

Susan Clark keeps fit by redefining her diet

By Renee Ross

You'd have to get up mighty early to keep an exercise appointment with "Webster" star Susan Clark.

Susan Clark

"I usually take a 7 a.m. exercise class several times a week," explains the actress, who stars as Katherine Calder-Young Papadapolis on the ABC series. "That's about the only time during the day I can fit it in because we often have long days at the studio."

Though she's an early bird at the gym, you won't find Miss Clark joining the nation's horde of sweaty joggers. "I don't think all that bouncing around is good for your internal organs," she says, "let alone what it does to your knees."

So instead of pounding the pavement, the actress sometimes squeezes in extra workout time by swimming or walking.

"Walking is especially good exercise, although I never do it in Los Angeles because of all the smog," Miss Clark laughs. "I save walking for times when our family is away in the country."

Miss Clark, 40, who is both the on-and-off the set wife of "Webster" star Alex Karras, admits she didn't grow up with a strong taste for sports. "But we were always doing things like dancing in drama school," she recalls. "It certainly kept me moving and limber."

When it comes to eating, the actress emphasizes the need for fresh vegetables and nutritious meals for her family. "We only eat red meat once a week," she says, "and I'm very interested in the principle of mono foods, where you eat only one type of food at a time. You might have a starch or carbohydrate, but you wouldn't mix it with protein at the same meal. I've read a lot about mono foods," adds Miss Clark, "and go regularly to a holistically-oriented nutritionist."

"I don't think we should automatically take so many medicines," she says. "I've been involved in holistic approaches to health for 10 years and believe in the value of such things as herbal treatments and nutrition.

"It's important to have choices in our lives," adds Miss Clark, who also keeps her body in shape with frequent acupuncture treatments. "I think there are many valid alternatives to traditional methods of doing things. I also think that since our world is so hectic, we've got to find personal ways of slowing down."

Beverly D'Angelo stars as a photographer and Richard Crenna portrays a police detective in "Doubletake," a four-hour miniseries about a bizarre double murder airing Tuesday, Nov. 26 on CBS.

Miss Bosson finds life after 'Hill Street Blues'

By Gregory Garver

Many viewers felt one of the major assets of "Hill Street Blues" was the presence of Barbara Bosson, the actress who portrayed Fay Furillo. But when the NBC series began its sixth season recently, Miss Bosson was nowhere to be found.

Barbara Bosson

The actress is married to Steven Bochco, the creator-producer of "Hill Street Blues," and when Bochco was replaced, Miss Bosson's character was dropped without explanation.

"That really hurt my feelings," said Miss Bosson. "They didn't think I was important enough to warrant an explanation for Fay's absence." The actress did appear on three "HSB" episodes this season, but the show's new executive producer, Jeffrey Lewis, recently called her and said that her role in one of the three episodes had been entirely cut.

"Lewis said he would still like me to do an occasional episode," the actress says, "but I really don't see any point to it."

Life, Miss Bosson adds, moves on. So does she. She appeared in "Hostage Flight," the recent NBC movie about mid-air terrorism. And though viewers now know how the film ended, when it was made, "Flight" was shot with two endings. In the second (and unaired) version, the plane's passengers fight back, regain control of the plane and hang the terrorists.

And though Miss Bosson claims she is against any form of vigilantism, she isn't sure which ending was dramatically better.

She says her "Hill Street Blues" schedule was ideal for her, as a wife and mother, because she only worked a day or two a week. So she doesn't think she'd do another series — "but, of course, I'll read anything and everything that is sent to me."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Can you tell me who played Maynard G. Krebs on "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis"? I say it was Pat Harrington, but my mother says "Gilligan's Island" star Bob Denver played both roles. — J.M., Brookings, Ore.

Bob Denver

Sorry, J.M., but mom is right. Bob Denver starred in both series. A bit of "Dobie Gillis" trivia: The role of rich, snobbish Milton Armitage was played by Warren Beatty.

Many years ago, I was fascinated by the series "Medic." Is there any chance it will be revived? — T.F., Mountain Home, Ark.

I doubt "Medic," which ran on NBC from 1954-56, will make a comeback. But you never know ... look how many small-screen classics are back on cable. In the show, Richard Boone played Dr. Konrad Syner, who narrated the stories, which were based on case histories from the files of the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

I'm taking an English course in high school, and our assignment is to write to a famous person. After seeing his superb performance as "Amos," I've picked Kirk Douglas. But there's only one problem: his address. Can you help? — C.S.S., Laredo, Texas

You may write to the actor c/o Bryna Company, 141 El Camino Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

George C. Scott stars as Benito Mussolini in "Mussolini: The Untold Story," a seven-hour miniseries based on the life of the notorious Italian dictator. The seven-hour, three-part miniseries airs Sunday, Nov. 24; Monday, Nov. 25; and Tuesday, Nov. 26 on NBC.

SUNDAY

Eek! The Ewoks are back. King Terak (Carel Struycken, l.), thinking Cindel (Aubree Miller) has a high-tech secret, holds her prisoner in "Ewoks: The Battle for Endor," airing Sunday, Nov. 24 on ABC.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Friedkin's latest film scares Secret Service

By Frank Lovece

William Friedkin only makes movies; he's not paid to live them out. Nonetheless, the Oscar-winning director of "The French Connection," says he had to star in a minor political drama recently when the Secret Service came by to "inspect" "To Live and Die in L.A.," Friedkin's thriller about a renegade Secret Service agent.

William Friedkin

"The Secret Service tried to pre-screen the film," he seethes. "Three agents from Washington came and grilled about 12 or 15 people on my crew, sometimes as much as six times each. They said, 'We think you show people in your movie who've threatened the life of the president.' My film is fictional; the only people in it are actors. But I said, 'Show me who you mean and I'll cut that part.' They refused.

"Then they tried to get a subpoena from a U.S. Attorney, who of course turned them down. So they came back and said, 'This is an training film for counterfeiters.' Now, counterfeiting is impossible if you don't know offset printing, can't get 100 percent rag paper and a hundred other variables. The Secret Service was on a fishing expedition," Friedkin says simply and angrily. "They wanted to get in and cut my movie, because that's the climate in Washington. I finally said to them, 'Look, I'll screen the movie for Secretary of the Treasury James Baker. If he thinks there's anything in there that's a danger to national security, I'll remove it.' I never heard from them again."

The tall, magisterial Friedkin does not particularly look like a bear protecting its cub. Yet "To Live and Die in L.A." may be crucial to him. After the twin successes of "The French Connection" (1971) and "The Exorcist" (1973), Friedkin bombed with his next four pictures. His prodigious talent hasn't left him, as "L.A." and the recent "Nightcrawlers" episode of the CBS series "The Twilight Zone" attest. His choices, however, from "Sorcerer" (1977) to "Deal of the Century," (1983) haven't been the best.

"It's always my fault," Friedkin asserts. "In not choosing the right material, not being clear enough in the presentation. But I chose to make "L.A.," so I can't hide behind it. It's obviously a reflecton of my own fears, paranoias, concerns."

And chase scenes. For all of the film's amoral characters and obsessions, "To Live and Die in L.A." has also got some of best chases since "The French Connection."

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Actress hopes TV role will change her image

By Marc Minnelli

Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio is shopping for a videocassette recorder. The actress, best known to audiences for her role as Al Pacino's sister Gina in the 1983 blood-and-bullets film "Scarface," needs the VCR so she can tape "Mussolini: The Untold Story," in which she portrays Edda, the Italian dictator's daughter.

Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio

The actress won't be able to watch the entire seven-hour, three-part NBC series. On Tuesday, Nov. 26, the night the last "Mussolini" episode airs, Miss Mastrantonio will be on stage in Manhattan's Circle in the Square Theater, starring opposite Christopher Reeve in the Broadway revival of "The Marriage of Figaro." (Part I of "Mussolini" airs Sunday, Nov. 24; Part II airs Monday, Nov. 25.)

"So you see," the actress says matter-of-factly, "I've got to buy a VCR so I can tape the last part of the show. I spent 14 weeks in Yugoslavia filming 'Mussolini,' and it would be nice to watch." She pauses. "Or at least I think it would be nice to watch. I just hope I don't watch it and feel like I'm attending my own funeral."

Miss Mastrantonio has reason to be a tad unsure about the project. "Mussolini" marks her small-screen debut, and the medium of television isn't on the top of this stage-trained actress's list.

"I'm leery of television," explains Miss Mastrantonio, "because it's an aesthetic, artistic compromise. Time plays an important role — perhaps too important a role. So much of 'Mussolini' had to be sacrificed because of we simply didn't have time. I remember shooting scenes without much rehearsal; shooting scenes before I even warmed my costume."

Still, Miss Mastrantonio is aware that television — and a series like "Mussolini" — could make her a household name.

"I'd like more recognition in the business," she confesses. "Getting 'Scarface' was a coup, but the film gave people the wrong impression as to who I really am. Everyone thinks I'm a dark-skinned Italian who lives in the streets. I'll go on auditions, and when I walk in the door, I can feel them saying, 'Who is that?'

"Maybe 'Mussolini' will help," explains Miss Mastrantonio, "but I'm not going to worry. Since I can work in the theater, I'm fine, because when I'm on stage, I'm the safest."

Missionary Convention Held Recently At Christian Assembly

A missionary convention was held at the Mt. Top Christian Assembly on November 5, 6 and 7 featuring three widely-travelled missionaries as guest speakers.

The first to speak was William Pier Jr., East Millinocket, Maine, who gave a sermon titled, "Come to the Table of Life." A spokesman from the church said Pier has been named a present day John the Baptist.

Pier and his family will soon be leaving for Honduras, Central America, where they will be evangelizing and teaching. Their scheduled departure time is August 1. They are now itinerating to gain support.

Pier's father, William Pier Sr., is also a missionary and is currently ministering to South Africa.

On the second day of the convention, Mike Swafford, a businessman from Twin Falls, Idaho, shared his calling to International Correspondence Institute in Brussels, Belgium. His ministry deals with evangelism to parts of the world where missionaries are not allowed.

Swafford gave a slide presentation explaining more about ICI ministry and told of the needs for his field. He then shared the message, "What Does He Desire Us To Be." The Swaffords are scheduled to depart in July.

The convention concluded with Fred Howsare from Indonesia who is a veteran to the foreign fields and is currently on furlough to the United States. He and his family are scheduled to return to Indonesia in February.

Howsare spoke of the cultural background of mission work. He said many foreign lands have no means of hearing the gospel and that he is without the privilege of media outreach.

The spokesman from the church said that during the convention many adverse conditions of other countries were made known to them. "Our guests have all agreed that missionaries never totally adjust to the hygienic farce they minister in," said the spokesman. "Each one also agreed that even in those unsanitary conditions, the souls were worth going back for."

GRANTSVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

Mrs. Ruby Thompson's and Michael Warne's classes spent a day at Frostburg State College on November 4. There the students worked in the college computer lab with college students. There was also a tour of the college library.

Parent conferences were held Thursday evening, November 7, and Friday morning, November 8.

Thursday evening, November 7, Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Bambacus met at the school with concerned citizens of the community.

The Grantsville P.T.A. held its annual Halloween Social on October 25, collecting over $2,000 and making a profit of $1,500. The profit will be divided equally between the P.T.A. and the school, as is done each year.

Winners chosen by the judges were: Pre-school, Trisha Wilt, Kindergarten, Wendy Wilt; Gr. 1, Marci Wilt; Gr. 2, Marina Combs; Gr. 3, Kristi Wilt; Gr. 4, Todd Brenneman, and Gr. 5, Paul Edwards. They received $5.00 and their picture was taken for the Dungeon Picture Studio. All students that were in costume received two free tickets for games.

This year Northern Middle School students were able to help work at the Social and to be the judges. Posters were made by the Chapter I Parent Volunteers and placed in area business establishments.

There were 16 harvest baskets given away, thanks to donations from parents and Grantsville Foodland. Door prizes were a gas grill and a bug light, which were purchased from Hardesty's True Value Store. Other door prizes and donations were received from Grantsville Auto Supply, Diehl's Ford Sales, Rus Rentals, Fuel City, Hill Top Delite, W.F. Broadwater Towing, Sebold Trucking, Grantsville American Legion - Post 214, Grantsville Rotary, Town Council of Grantsville, North Garrett Lanes, the Garrett National Bank and First United National Bank & Trust. Dave Pope was the winner of the gas grill and JoAnn Engle was the winner of the bug light. The winner of the 50/50 drawing was Sarah Broom. Anyone selling the winning ticket of the door prize or harvest basket received $2. Main door prize salespersons received AM/FM radios.

At the end of the day, candy purchased from Hill Top Fruit Market was given to all students and helpers.

Appreciation was extended to The Girl Scouts and advisors who cleaned up after the social and to all of the volunteers who worked during the social.

The next regular P.T.A. meeting will be held on March 24 in the school cafetorium.

New Horizons Sets Workshop On Home Maintenance

"Do I Have To Call The Plumber?" is the title of a free workshop being offered by the New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College on Wednesday, November 27, in Room 603 of the Oakland Center of GCC from 10 a.m. to noon.

This workshop is geared to the person who would like to know more about basic home maintenance. Participants will learn basic skills which may help eliminate a costly repair or service charge.

The workshop is free and open to the public; however, interested persons are asked to register immediately, as there is an enrollment limit and participants will be registered on a first-come, first-served basis. Persons may pre-register by calling New Horizons at 334-9184 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Civil War Sites Toured By Baptist School Students

Students of the Berean Christian Academy, while studying the Civil War period in history, recently toured the areas in Garrett County where Civil War activities occurred 122 years ago.

The group left the school and traveled south on Route 219 past Singleton Townshend's former tobacco plantation, now known as the Hoyes community. Continuing south to McHenry, the group recalled that during pioneer days the area was known as Locust Tree Bottom. In 1810 Dr. James McHenry bought land in the bottoms and established a summer home which he used until two years before his death in 1816. The little village was named to honor Dr. McHenry, a resident of Baltimore, and is a link between the eastern city and the western extremity of Maryland.

THE BEREAN CHRISTIAN ACADEMY is housed in The Good Shepherd Independent Baptist Church, located in Flatwoods just two miles south of Accident along Route 219. The academy and day school opened in September of 1983. The school uses the Accelerated Christian Education Curriculum available for grades K through 12. In the picture below the students are standing on the site of McCullough's Path, a packhorse trail once a buffalo trace, often called the Great Warrior Trail.

The students were told that in 1861 a small party of Confederate raiders pushed as far north in Western Maryland as Deep Creek, demanding horses and remaining over night at the home of John L. Browning.

Another early settler the students were told about was John Friend, who chose the site of Big Boiling Spring in Locust Tree Bottom for his home. Friend later moved to a spot in the Youghiogheny Glades not too far from Oakland, and a plaque marks that site along Route 39 west of Oakland.

The tour continued on Route 219 to Oakland, with a stop at the Courthouse. At the Soil Conservation Office the group saw an aerial picture of Fort Pendelton, the only known photo of the fort. The students then visited the rotunda of the original section of the courthouse.

The next spot pointed out to them was the railroad and the Youghiogheny River at Weber's Crossing. The students were reminded that it was the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad that prompted the Civil War activities in the Garrett County area. John W. Garrett and his railroad remained loyal to the Union, and it became one of the most important railroads in the country during the war years.

A stop was made at the intersection of Route 219 and the Paul Friend Road, where a plaque bearing information about the McCullough Packhorse Trail was read to the group by one of the teachers. This buffalo trace was used to transport necessary items during the Revolutionary War, but played no major part in the Civil War.

On their way to Red House, the tour passed the Blue Ribbon Road, along which General Benjamin Kelly of Civil War fame had bought his Swan Meadows Plantation, built a home, and had broken-down army horses removed from battlefields, transported to Oakland by train, then herded the four miles to Swan Meadows.

A rest-stop was made at Chimney Corner in Red House before the tour continued toward Fort Pendleton, which overlooks Gorman on Route 50. As the bus moved along, the students were told that Confederate forces had begun construction of a fortification on the hill above Gorman, named after landowner Philip Pendleton, in June of 1861. By July they were forced to retreat toward Virginia without firing a shot. (At that time, West Virginia was still a part of Virginia.)

In August of that year the Union Army began further work on the fort and by mid–September it had been completed. Volunteers occupied the structure from August 1861 until January 15, 1862. Strategically, the fort proved to be an almost total waste of time and money during the period it was garrisoned.

THE SECOND BICENTENNIAL TREE in Garrett County was where the Baptist school students stopped for a lunch break. The tree is on the property of James Chisholm, pictured above. Mr. Chisholm spoke to the group about the tree and Ryan's Glade. The group is shown below watching an approaching train at the top of the Seventeen Mile Grade at Altamont. While the students were there, an engineer moving an engine past the group stopped and yelled, "Where are you from?" The students replied, "Accident. Blow your whistle." The engineer blew the whistle, and the students watched the train until it was out of sight.

The group stopped to eat lunch at the home of James Chisholm, who escorted the group to the spot where Garrett County's second Bicentinnial Tree stands. He talked for a few minutes and answered the students' questions about the tree.

Moving on to Deer Park, the group met Ruth and Paul Calderwood, local historians, who accompanied them to Altamont, where they talked about the B & O Railroad. Pointed out was the fact that the top of the Seventeen-Mile Grade was a favorite place with the Confederates, where a car or engine could be turned loose on the grade to dash down the mountain wrecking everything in its path.

As the students stood watching, a train came into sight for them to watch until it disappeared, marking the end of the school's educational tour.

POs Will Close For Thanksgiving

All post offices, stations and branches will be closed on Thursday, November 28, in observance of the Thanksgiving Day holiday, Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster Thomas S. Straub announced recently.

On that day, there will be no window service. Post office box service will be provided on a holiday schedule. Delivery services will be limited to Express Mail and Special Delivery at offices having a receipt of mail.

One collection will be made on Thursday, November 28, from boxes located in front of main offices and where needed at stations, branches, Self-Service Postal Centers, business areas and some residential areas.

Customers may purchase stamps, postal cards, envelopes and insurance up to $20.00 for packages from Self-Service Postal Centers which are open 24 hours daily at the Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park post offices.

Westvaco Donates To Flood Victims

Westvaco Coporation is donating $65,000 to aid flood victims in West Virginia and Virginia, according to an announcement this week by John A. Luke, company president.

A total of $40,000 will be given to the West Virginia Recovery Foundation to help flood victims statewide with a total of $25,000 to aid victims in Virginia directed through the Alleghany County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Luke stated that Westvaco "is anxious to play a part in the relief efforts in both states and to be among the hundreds of business firms and thousands of individuals to respond promptly to this disaster." He added that he was proud of Westvaco employees and union officials for the cooperative effort at each of its locations in providing food, material, voluntary manpower and additional cash donations for this same cause.

Teacher Intern Assignments Noted

Dr. Alice C. Alexander, coordinator of teacher field experiences at Frostburg State College, has announced teaching intern assignments in Garrett County from October 21 to December 13.

Students assigned include Marcy Stewart, Westernport, at Bloomington Elementary School, with Gary Galloway as cooperating teacher; Dona Buckel, Accident, and Gwynn Blair, Midland, at Route 40 Elementary School with Mrs. Alice Snyder and Mrs. Dorothy Minick as cooperative teachers, respectively.

Space heaters can add warmth and comfort to your home—if they are well-constructed, legal, and used carefully. Otherwise, there is great danger of fire.
Be sure to choose a heater that's been approved by Underwriters' Laboratories or another recognized testing lab. Shop for one with a "tip over" device that will shut it off automatically in case of emergency.
And once you choose the right heater, be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions exactly. Use only the fuel recommended for your heater.
Who will use the heater? If an older person has physical limitations, make certain that he or she understands how to operate it, and is able to do so. Young children should not be permitted to operate these heaters.
Inspect and clean heaters regularly, according to instructions. Keep flammable materials away from them.
Fire prevention comes first; then comes fire insurance. Make sure you're adequately covered at

Paughs Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett M. Paugh, McHenry, were honored recently by their son and daughter-in-law, Dale and Shelby Jean Paugh, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. The celebration took place at the McHenry Fire Hall.

The couple was married September 26, 1935, at the Lutheran parsonage in Oakland by Rev. Alfred B. Harper.

Mrs. Paugh, the former Maude Harvey, is the daughter of the late Edmund and Bertha Harvey. Mr. Paugh is the son of the late Isaac Allen and Pearlina Paugh. They were in business for about 20 years on Deep Creek Lake before retirement in 1976.

Mr. and Mrs. Paugh are the parents of one son, Bennett Dale Paugh, McHenry.

A ceremony to re-affirm their wedding vows was performed by Rev. Ellis Harvey and Rev. Fran Williams. A brief history of the couple's 50 years together was written by Randy Glotfelty and presented by Roger Keefe. Music was provided by Joseph DiSimone, accompanied by Linda Wengerd.

The couple was presented with a yellow rosebud corsage and boutonniere.

The traditional gold and white color scheme was used in the decorations, accented with bells and fall floral arrangements. The cake was baked by Terri Georg and served by Mrs. Delores Wilt and Mrs. Donna Carr. The punch was served by Mrs. Nancy Bernard. Mrs. Lucille Glotfelty also helped with the serving.

The couple was the recipient of a number of gifts and cards, including congratulations from President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan.

Approximately 100 friends and relatives attended the celebration.

Miss Fazzalari, Mr. Zumwalt Wed In Texas

Madeline Marie Fazzalari and David Michael Zumwalt were married on Saturday, November 2, at Pilot Grove Church in Dallas, Tex.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anthony Fazzalari, Taylors, S.C., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Zumwalt, Dallas. Mr. Fazzalari is a 1941 graduate of Oakland High School.

Laura Sue Fazzalari, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Michelle and Janelle Zumwalt, sisters of the groom, were bridesmaids. Bill Lang was the best man and Dr. David Jackson and John Zumwalt, cousin of the groom, were ushers.

Madeline is a graduate of Rice University, Houston, Tex., with a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering and David is also a graduate of Rice University with a degree in electrical engineering. Madeline is employed as a systems analyst with American Airlines in Ft. Worth and David is a consulting engineer with Compucon Inc. in Richardson, Tex.

After a wedding trip to Paris, France, the couple will reside in Garland, Tex.

Glotfeltys To Celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Naylor Glotfelty, Addison, Pa., will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house reception at St. John's Lutheran Church, Addison, on Saturday, November 30, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Members of their family invite all friends and relatives to attend. They request that gifts be omitted.

DAV To Meet

Mt. Top Chapter 29, Disabled American Veterans, and its auxiliary unit will meet Monday, November 25, at the Oakland fire hall at 7:30 p.m.

Among the agenda items are plans for the annual Christmas party, plus the holiday visit to the veterans residing in local nursing homes.

Auxiliary members are also reminded to bring their donations for the House of Hope.

Tackett-Stahl Nuptials Recited In Gortner In October Ceremony

The marriage of Tammy Anne Tackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Tackett, Aurora, W.Va., to Robert E. Stahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Stahl, Terra Alta, W.Va., took place Saturday evening, October 19 at Gortner Union Church.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with satin shoes and hat. She carried a bouquet of fall flowers. The groom wore a dark beige tuxedo with an ivory shirt with a peach colored boutonniere.

The wedding was attended by the bride's and groom's families.

After the wedding a sit-down dinner was served at Chimney Corner, attended by the families and Reverend J. Michael Fike and family.

Tammy is a 1984 graduate of East Preston High School and is attending Tri-State Beauty Academy, Cumberland.

Robert is a 1981 graduate of East Preston High School and is employed by Summerset Steel.

The couple is living in the Lutheran parsonage, Aurora.

TWINS CELEBRATE 90th BIRTHDAY — The Maple Spring Church in Eglon, W.Va., was the setting for a special celebration on Sunday, November 17, noting the 90th birthday of Ray and Roy Judy. The identical twins were born in Petersburg, W.Va., on November 21, 1895, to Jacob and Angelene (Hampstead) Judy. When they were just babies, the family moved to a farm near Eglon, where they grew up. When the twins were 21, the family relocated again; this time to Greenwood, Delaware. Roy (above right) married Lelia Fike and remained in Delaware, where he was a farmer, and where he still resides. Ray (above left) married Lelia's sister, Carrie, and moved back to Eglon where he still lives. He was a proprietor of the store at Eglon until his retirement. The celebration was planned by the Maple Spring Church where the Rev. Rogers Fike is pastor. The 90-year-old twins were honored during the morning worship service and during a covered dish dinner that followed. Relatives and friends came from many states and traveled hundreds of miles to share in the celebration.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

The Maryland Municipal League of Western Maryland Chapter met at the Hill Top Inn at Grantville on Thursday evening. The chapter officers are Edward C. Atheny, Cumberland, president; Russell B. Alexander, Mountain Lake Park, vice president; and Samuel Layman, Frostburg, secretary/treasurer.

The municipalities represented were from Allegany and Garrett counties. The Mayor and Council of Grantsville hosted the meeting.

The Invocation was given by Walter Younkin. A steak dinner was followed by a business meeting.

Guests for the evening were Al Pipinger, Delegates George Edwards, W. Timothy Finan, Mrs. April Howser and Wendell Keaton.

A presentation of the 1986 legislative issues, adopted for the 1986 General Assembly was given.

There were about 25 members attending the meeting from Barton, Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Luke, Midland, Westernport, Accident, Deer Park, Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Loch Lynn, Mountain Lake Park and Oakland.

Mrs. Lola Resh is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Mrs. Anna Hare is recuperating at her home after surgery at Lee Hospital, Johnstown, Pa.

Clarence Clark has returned home from Meyersdale Community Hospital.

Mrs. John Clark and daughter, Jill, of Greenwood, Del., spent five days visiting with her mother, Mrs. Esther Durst, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gearhart returned home with good reports from her daughter.

Rev. James Show and Walter Younkin took a load of clothing and food to the Union Fire/Rescue building in Cumberland on Wednesday for flood victims.

Roy D. Kinsinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Platter, Grantsville, has had an early promotion to Senior Airman in the U.S. Air Force. He was awarded the new rank by a "Below-the-Zone" Promotion Board, which considered job performance, Military knowledge, bearing and self-improvement efforts. Kinsinger is a mechanic with the 375 Transportation Sq. (MAC) Scott Air Force Base, Illinois. He was awarded his new rank while stationed at Spangdahlem Air Force Base, West Germany.

The Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 met on Monday evening at the Woodmen Hall with James Guthrie, president, presiding.

Plans were made to go to the Goodwill Home on Thursday evening, December 19, for a program. The Ranger Unit No. 128 will be invited.

Election of officers was held, with the following results: Alice Younkin, president; Phyllis Bender, vice president; Harold Butler, treasurer; Charles C. Bender, secretary; Thomas Bender, Sentry;; Mildred (Patsy) Pope, watchman; and Melda Butler, musician. The trustees are Walter Younkin, Lillian Guthrie and Harry Pope.

The annual dinner is planned for December 9, which will include installation services.

The door prize was won by Thomas Bender.

Bible Prophecy Conference Set At Pleasant View

A conference on Bible prophecy will be held at the Pleasant View Baptist Church this Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Friday's and Saturday's classes begin at 7 p.m. while Sunday's will begin at 9:45 a.m.

The teacher is Pastor Bobby Haggard from New Canton, Va. He has taught prophecy conferences in several states and many churches. He has also taught family life seminars.

A spokesman from the church said Pastor Haggard will be focusing on the Book of Revelation and other related scriptures dealing with the future. The public is invited to attend. The church is located two miles south of Oakland on U.S. Route 219.

ATTENTION DEEP CREEK LAKE PROPERTY OWNERS! A & A's Rental Department has had an outstanding year, and we are looking forward to the opportunity to represent more lakefront owners. If you would like more details about our rental program, please give us a call at 387-5832. Call now to get in our 1986 rental brochure.

Dear READERS:
Over the past two years, our business has grown dramatically and for that I thank our customers (both buyers and sellers) and I commend our sales agents who have made it possible. One result of growth has been the huge increase in the amount of newspaper space required to advertise each listing.
In the interest of providing more information on each listing as well as further identification of the property with a photo, we have produced three issues of the "A&A Review,' a comprehensive guide to our inventory of properties available for sale. During the winter season, it is our intention to use our newspaper advertising space as a means of updating our current "A&A Review," to make known the properties that have most recently been placed on the market.
Today's ad reflects only those properties which are not currently advertised in the "A&A Review." If you are actively considering the purchase of any real estate in Garrett County or nearby West Virginia, I urge you to call or stop by either of our office locations to receive your free copy of the "A&A Review." The "Review" coupled with this ad provides the most comprehensive listing of real estate in the county.
Any of our sales agents will be most happy to discuss your real estate needs and the current financing opportunities available. Again, thank you for your past support; please rest assured that we will be continuing our efforts to match buyers and sellers while providing full and complete service. Please do not hesitate to contact us concerning any question you may have that concerns real estate.
Sincerely yours,
A&A REALTY Karen F. Spiker Broker/Owner

Sen. Mathias Hails Passage Of Child Immunization Plan

Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Md.) this week hailed Senate passage of a resolution calling for a joint effort by the United States and the Soviet Union to lead the fight to eliminate childhood disease by 1990.

Noting that there are 100 million children born every year in underdeveloped countries, Mathias declared, "Medical technology today allows a child to be immunized against measles, diptheria, tetanus, whooping cough, tuberculosis and polio. It would be a great tragedy if we failed to take advantage of modern techniques that can protect these young children." Mathias added that the cost of immunization is estimated to be only $5 per child.

Mathias continued, "Not only does this bill provide a life-saving service to the world's children, but also it calls for cooperation between two countries which have increasingly isolated themselves from each other."

A similar program coordinated by the two countries in the 1960s and 1970s eliminated smallpox throughout the world by 1980.

DEPOSIT PROTECTION

When a real estate buyer and seller agree on the sale of land, it is common practice for the buyer to make a deposit to be applied to the purchase price. Normally this deposit—sometimes called "earnest money" is placed in the real estate agent's escrow account until closing.

The deposit serves many purposes. In addition to protecting the buyer by demonstrating that he is serious about purchasing the land, and therefore inducing the seller not to offer the real estate for sale to anyone else, it also protects the seller in case the buyer does not live up to his end of the sale contract. Should the purchaser fail to buy the land as agreed, he will usually forfeit the deposit money. In this way, the seller is compensated for the likelihood of a missed sale because he took his real estate off the market.

The deposit of the earnest money in the real estate professional's escrow account also protects the buyer. If the seller cannot or does not convey the land—or there appears a title defect which cannot be reasonably cured—the deposit money will be refunded from escrow.

TESTING TURKEY FOR DONENESS

Many are skeptical about preparing a turkey. Perhaps one reason for this skepticism is that it is a bit difficult to tell when the turkey is done. Try one of the following methods and you will know when your turkey is ready:

•The most reliable method for detecting a thoroughly cooked turkey is to use a meat thermometer. Insert it into the thickest part of the thigh muscle without touching the bone. The inner thigh is the area that heats most slowly. When the temperature reaches 180°F to 185°F, the turkey is done.

•Stuffing temperature should reach at least 165°F. To check the stuffing, insert the meat thermometer through the thickest part of the stuffing and leave it for five minutes. The stuffing temperature will rise a few degrees after the turkey is removed from the oven.

•Another method for testing doneness is to press the fleshy part of the thigh with protected fingers. If the meat feels soft, or if the leg moves up and down easily and the hip joint gives readily or breaks, the turkey is done.

•Doneness can also be determined by inserting a long-tined fork into the thickest area of the inner thigh. If the juices run clear, not pink, the turkey is done.

As soon as your turkey is completely cooked, you should remove all the stuffing from the cavities. Harmful bacteria is more likely to grow in the stuffing if it sits in the bird after cooking. If you do not need all the stuffing for the first servings, you can put the remaining stuffing in the oven at 200°F to keep hot until you need it.

If you have questions about your Thanksgiving turkey, feel free to call the Extension Office at 334-2145.

Try this recipe with your leftover turkey.

SHEPHERD'S TURKEY PIE

Yield: 4 to 5 servings
2 cups cubed cooked turkey
1 cup cooked green beans
10½ oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup
½ teaspoon basil leaves
¼ cup milk
2 cups mashed potatoes
½ cup sour cream
1 tablespoon minced chives

Heat oven to 400°F. Combine turkey, green beans, soup, basil milk in a 1½ qt. casserole. Stir together potatoes, sour cream and chives. Spoon on top of turkey mixture. Bake 25 to 30 minutes until hot and potatoes are golden brown.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

"Original" is the title of a class in Making Special Christmas Ornaments. It will be taught on November 26 at noon and 4 p.m. at the Extension Office in Oakland. All interested persons are invited.

OPENING EXERCISES — Each morning the 207 students and staff of Friendsville Elementary School assemble in the media area for the opening exercises. The exercises include the greeting, weather, pledge to the United States flag, song, silent meditation, announcements, special recognition of events for students, teachers and classes and a thought for the day. The committee which gathers information and leads the students are Deanna Schroyer, Trisha Kisner, Danielle Sines, Erin Sines, Sue Ann Thomas, Michael Uphold, Ryan Thomas and Scott Patton. Mrs. Thelma Humberson, media aide, gives a short presentation from literature available in the media center. This year the school added a Friendsville School pledge to call attention to the students and their responsibilities. The pledge was written by a fifth grade student, Erin Sines. It reads: I will pledge to devote myself to my work. I may struggle at times, but I will overcome it. I will make myself a better person in school to bring honor to myself and my family.

G.C. Teen Center Slates Lyp Sync Contest, Dance

The Garrett County Teen Center is sponsoring a "Lyp Sync" contest and dance this Saturday night, November 23, from 8 p.m. until midnight at the Oakland firehall.

Those wishing to participate in the contest may sign up at the door. They are asked to bring the record of their choice.

Music for the dance will be provided by disc jockey, Bob Grove.

Cost of the dance is $2.50 per person and $4.50 per couple. For more information, call Dave Terlizzi at 334-9398.

O.C.P.D. Reports Local Incidents

The Oakland City Police Department reported a hit and run accident which occurred in the parking lot of Garrett County Memorial Hospital between 3:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. Monday.

According Sgt. Roger Lewis, who investigated the report, someone backed into the rear of a 1984 Ford Escort owned by Walter B. Shaffer, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va.

Lewis estimated damage at $250, and stated that the vehicle was probably a small pickup truck like a Toyota.

A possible con artist was reported on Saturday by Michael Shannon, an attendant at the Oakland Service Station.

Shannon described the subject as a black male, approximately 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighing approximately 150 pounds. Apparently, he came to the station around 9:30 p.m., and asked Shannon for a quart of oil, then began asking for change for various bills, which soon confused the attendant. The man then left the station.

Shannon reported that when he counted the money at 11:30 p.m. that night, it was $60 short.

Peace of Mind
With Federally Insured Savings.

Today, most of us are more than just aware of the importance of protecting our loved ones and the material investments we've worked so hard to attain. With hardly a second thought, we insure ourselves, our families, and our possessions against hardship and loss. Equally important however, is the need to protect our personal savings—the hope of both our present and future. That means banking with confidence.

As our customer you should know that federal regulations require First Federal to maintain a certain level of cash and investments to assure availability of funds whenever you need them. As of Sept. 30, 1985 First Federal had $22,756,499 of liquid assets, $9,370,244 more than the required level.

You should also know that First Federal is a member of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, under which your savings are insured up to $100,000. That's vital information for the concerned saver.

So, if you're already banking with First Federal, breathe easier. If not, come on in and start saving today with security and peace of mind.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

A Christmas Festival will be held from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. on December 7 at the Aurora U.M. Memorial Building. There will be crafts, decorations, gift items, and baked goods available, as well as food for eating there. Santa will visit from noon until 2 p.m. and there will be gifts for the children. This event is sponsored by the Aurora Extension Homemakers.

The Union Ambulance Association meeting for November 25 has been cancelled.

Ray Judy of Eglon, and his twin brother, Roy Judy, of Greenwood, Del., were honored on Sunday, November 17, with a covered dish dinner at the Maple Spring Church on their approaching 90th birthdays. They are sons of the late Jacob and Angeline Judy and natives of Eglon.

Members of their immediate families who attended were: Roy's wife, Lela Fike Judy and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Judy Jr. of Greenwood; Don and Eleanor Robinson and their daughter, Jane, her husband and daughter from Reading, Pa.; Bill Judy of Kalamazoo, Mich., and his son, Steve, of Washington, D.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fike of Eglon; Henry Fike, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fike and Genevieve Baehr of Morgantown; Mrs. Helen Judy and her son, Don, from Virginia. Many nieces and nephews also were there, including Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ashby, Everett and Goldie Fike, Wayne and Georgia Fike; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Towers of Bridgewater, Va.; Mrs. Virginia "Polly" Life of Harrisonburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin of Morgantown; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fint of Aurora; Mrs. Ilene Fint of Romney and Aurora; Mr. and Mrs. Galen Fike of Eglon and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Beckman of Morgantown.

Here for a weekend visit with her parents and for the Sunday dinner were Frank and Judy Riley and their children, Christopher and Lori, of Luray, Va., who were guests of Galen and Lorraine Fike, Eglon. Also a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fike is his sister, Maye Arnett, who is currently making her home there since her home was badly damaged by the recent flooding.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bolyard and their children are presently staying in the Lower home at Amboy since their home at Madison was washed away in the flooding.

Destruction by way of fire occurred early Monday morning, November 18, when the Veterans of All Wars establishment, including the home of the owner, Cecil "Whitie" Lewis was destroyed by fire. The apartments and club are located on U.S. 50 between Aurora and the W. Va.-Md. line. Mr. Lewis was away at the time of the fire, staying with his mother, Mrs. Edna Lewis, who suffered a stroke on the night of the flooding in Parsons and who has been a patient in an Elkins hospital since that time in grave condition. Investigation into the cause of the fire is being conducted.

Jesse Harsh of Gortner remains a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital where it is expected that he will undergo further surgery this week.

Adam Bachtel, son of Carl and Cynthia Bachtel, Horse Shoe Run, was hit by a falling large round bale of hay last week and taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for x-rays, but returned home when nothing was found to be broken.

Gerald Parks of Eglon was admitted last Monday to West Virginia University Hospital where he remains a patient after undergoing surgery and tests.

Also a patient in the WVU hospital is Herman Beckman of Oakland, who underwent bone graft surgery last week.

Mrs. Lydia Harsh has returned to her home near Aurora from Garrett County Memorial Hospital and her daughter and son-in-law, Mary Jane and Lorain Hanline, are staying with her. Her other daughters, Cleota Hoisington and Shirley Doolittle, of Ohio, visited with her recently.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ervin Schrock of Charleston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lorain Hanline at Aurora, November 2-5.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harsh and their son, Doyle, of Eglon, spent the weekend in Dale City, Va., visiting with Mrs. Harsh's sister and brother-in-law, Bill and Ruby Skinner.

The annual buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be served at the Aurora Fire Hall on Sunday, November 24, from noon until 4 p.m. Donations for adults are $3.50 and for children, $1.75. Raffle tickets for an afghan to be awarded that day are available from the members and auxiliary. The afghan was made and donated by Luella Fike.

Don Frantz has been a patient in the Great Lakes Naval Hospital since November 12 and is still undergoing tests. His family remains in Rantoul, Ill., at Chanute Field, where he has been stationed.

Aurora PTO

The November 12 meeting of the Aurora PTO was called to order by vice president Bonnie Harsh. Treasurer Blanche Snyder reported on recent income and expenses, including that of the Halloween party and yearbooks.

The secretary's report was read by Peggy Spaid and approved prior to the discussion of old business which indicated that the UHF antenna had not yet been installed because either trees have to be cut or a new location chosen. The teachers' grievance remains unchanged in status, but they are not pursuing it due to the emergency situation caused by the recent flooding.

Theresa Newberry, president of the PTO, announced that a Book Fair will be held December 2 and 3 with students making their selections on Monday and purchasing them on the following day. Volunteers to help with the event are Mrs. Newberry, Karen Teets, Bonnie Harsh and Peggy Spaid.

A regular meeting will be held in December, weather permitting. Attendance banner went to Mrs. Durst's third and fourth grade classes.

Covers for Flood Victims

A cover-making spree was held at the Aurora United Methodist Church on November 11 and 12. Those who attended and helped knot covers to be given to flood victims were Peggy Hauser, Mary Belle Meyers, Ressie Conrad, Alverta Edwards, Virginia Lee Watring, Thelma Adams, Grace Denison, Rita Harsh, Rita Sue Harsh, Alma Snyder, Edith Wotring, Avenell Parsons, Wilda Wilt, Opal Myers, Angela Myers, Margie Moats, Eva Wotring, Leona Wotring, Hazel Lantz, Fern Jamison, Beulah Lipscomb, Rebecca Teets, Olive Beckman, Opal Stemple, Grace Knotts, Nancy Feather, Naomi Teets, Wilma Knapp, Pearl Stemple, Elma Hardesty, Beverly Whetstone, ELoise Harsh, Marguerite Shaffer, Loretta Snyder, Ruth Snyder, Rev. Annabelle Childers, Deanna Arnold, Bea Ball, Robin Feather and Doris Adams.

Sheehan Advises On Donating To Charity Groups

With the holiday season approaching, many charities will be increasing their solicitation for contributions. Maryland Secretary of State Lorraine M. Sheehan is encouraging consumers to consider the following tips in deciding which charities are worthy of a donation.

1. Know your charity. Never give to a charity you know nothing about.

2. Find out if the charity is registered. Maryland law requires certain charitable organizations to register with this office and file related documents.

3. Find out where your money goes. Ask how much of your charity dollar is actually spent on the program you wish to support, and how much is spent on fundraising and management costs.

4. Demand identification. Be suspicious of any who can't respond satisfactorily.

5. Always pay by check - Never give cash.

6. Beware of telephone solicitations.

7. Check out mail solicitors. Don't feel obligated to give if you are mailed a trinket or other item. If you did not request it, you are legally allowed to keep it.

8. Don't be fooled by a convincing name.

9. Don't fall for the "Tear-jerker". Don't give because of a pathetic "sob story". The hard luck tale is a favorite of the phony operator.

10. When in doubt, please call the Charitable Division of the Secretary of State's Office at (301) 269-3425.

"Marylanders are very generous people and I encourage you to give, but give wisely - be selective!" Sheehan concluded.

Susan J. Crawford To Speak At U.S. Army Conference In Germany

Former Garrett County resident Susan J. Crawford, General Counsel of the United States Army, will be speaking to the Judge Advocate Conference of the U.S. Army in Europe at Berchtesgaden, Germany, later this month. Attending the conference will be the judge advocate generals of the armed services of the United States and NATO allies in Europe, as well as members of the German judiciary. Berchtesgaden is the historical site of Hitler's summer home, The Eagle's Nest.

Crawford will be speaking to the conference about some of the recent projects with which she has been involved, including the withholding of payments to defense contractors currently under investigation and the army's role in the search for Joseph Mengele. As General Counsel, Crawford is the chief legal advisor to the army and is responsible for advising the Secretary of the Army and other officials on a wide range of policy and legislative issues.

During her trip to Germany, she will be stopping at Heidelberg, headquarters of the U.S. Army in Europe, to meet with Commander in Chief General Glen Otis, Staff Judge Advocate General Ronald Holdaway, and Deputy Chief of Staff for Intelligence General Douglas Gordon. She will also be meeting with the judge advocate generals and trial defense service judges at Ansbach and Nurenberg, and touring the West Germany-Czechoslovakian border, site of repeated incidents between Warsaw-Pact countries and NATO.

This will be Crawford's fourth trip to Europe since becoming General Counsel, having previously visited Berlin, Potsdam, East Germany and Italy. Of her trips to Berlin, she says, "It's difficult to describe what you feel when you first see the Berlin Wall. Every American should have the experience of seeing the guard towers, the barbed wire, the guards with machine guns. It makes you appreciate the freedoms we have."

Earlier this year, Crawford made an intelligence oversight trip to Japan and South Korea where she met with U.S. Army officials and toured the Demilitarized Zone, where the above photo of Mrs. Crawford was taken. In addition to supervising a staff of army attorneys throughout the world, she has the responsibility of conducting intelligence inspections that are then reported to the Secretary of the Army and to the President's Intelligence Oversight Board.

Crawford, formerly a partner in the Oakland law firm of Burnett, Eiswert and Janes, is the daughter of Joan and Bill Crawford of Deep Creek Lake. She now resides with her husband, Roger Higgins, and daughter, Kelley, in Falls Church, Va. She is a frequent weekend visitor to Garrett County.

NEW AMBULANCE IN SERVICE — The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad recently placed this new 1985 van ambulance in service for residents of northern Garrett County and surrounding areas. The vehicle, which is being housed at the Grantsville station of Northern Rescue, was purchased via donations and proceeds from the membership drive. Nancy Trimble, chairman of the squad, stated that a new policy has been employed whereby non-emergency transports will no longer be handled by Northern Rescue. The squad also recently awarded a microwave oven to the winner of a fund-raising raffle. Chip Broadwater, pictured below left, was the holder of the lucky ticket. Also pictured is Byron Miller, squad lieutenant.

Breathe Easy

by Sandy Blackbird
Director of Black Lung Program
Preston Medical Associates

Last month I said in the next column I would tell you about emphysema, but I've decided instead to talk about smoking and the effects it has on your lungs. The reason for this is today is the American Cancer Societies' Great American Smokeout Day. There will be millions of smokers who stop today; some won't succeed in kicking the habit entirely, but some will. If you're considering trying to stop this is a good day to do it.

Did you know that just a few puffs on a cigarette causes your heartbeat to speed up, your blood pressure to increase, your skin temperature to drop in your fingers and toes and the flow of air and blood in your lungs to be upset.

A few puffs also slow down the action of the cilia inside your bronchial tubes. These tiny hairlike bodies normally work like brooms to sweep put germs, mucus and dirt from your lungs. One cigarette makes them sluggish. Inhaling over long periods paralyzes the cilia completely. Then your lungs are exposed to all kinds of infections.

When you inhale on a cigarette, the hot smoke assaults delicate tissues in your mouth, throat, breathing tubes, and lungs. After the smoke passes your mouth, your lungs retain from 70-90 percent of the compounds you inhale. There are hundreds of chemical substances in cigarette smoke. Three of the most damaging are nicotine, tars, and carbon monoxide.

Nicotine makes your blood vessels constrict. It cuts down the flow of blood and oxygen through your body. Your heart has to pump harder.

Tars damage delicate lung tissues. There are billions of tiny particles in cigarette smoke. When they cool inside your lungs, some form a brown, sticky mass, containing chemicals that produce cancer in tests with animals.

Carbon monoxide literally drives the oxygen out of your red blood cells. Levels of the gas in the blood of smokers are four times higher for heavy smokers, sometimes 15 times higher—than for nonsmokers. Carbon monoxide stays in the bloodstream, robbing the body of oxygen as long as six hours after the person puts out the cigarette.

Smoking is a double hazard for women, and the children they bear. Cigarette smoke in the mother's bloodstream alters the heart rate, blood pressure, oxygen supply, and acid balance of the unborn infant. A pregnant woman who smokes two packs a day blocks off the equivalent of 25 percent of the oxygen supply to the fetus.

These are scary facts, but facts are facts. Also remember the minute you stop smoking, your body will go to work to repair some of the damage cigarettes have inflicted.

But first you have to want to quit. You can't do it because someone you live with or someone who loves you wants you to quit. You must do it for yourself. Be good to yourself and your body.

If you do have any questions or a medical problem be sure to contact your family physician or Preston Medical Associates. I will be happy to share any information I have concerning smoking, black lung disease or any other breathing problem you may have. Just give me a call at 304-454-2421 or 454-2422. Next month I will tell you about the disease of emphysema.

Dr. Yura To Speak At Friendsville Parent Meeting

Dr. Michael Yura, a mental health consultant from West Virginia University who is associated with the Rehabilitation Center there, will be the speaker at the second parent meeting at the Friendsville Elementary School.

The topic will be "How to Help a Child Adjust to Changes or Emotional Stress". The meeting will be held November 26 at 9:30 a.m. in the school cafetorium. Coffee hour will be from 9:00 to 9:30.

The first parent meeting was held in September. Those attending were introduced to the new handwriting program, Zaner-Bloser and Primacy Project, which is now in use in the county schools.

Demonstrations on teaching writing in the classroom were given by Susan Holliday, kindergarten/grade one teacher, and Eleanor Teats, fourth grade teacher. Parents were informed that the goal of the handwriting instruction is to achieve fluent, legible writing with effective communication being the final result.

The parents chose Tuesday as their parent volunteer day in the school. However, parents are invited and welcome to volunteer on any school day.

The volunteer program is coordinated by Barbara Flinn, Chapter I resource teacher, Frances King, Chapter I resource aide, and Jane Fox, principal.

According to Fox, meetings will be held bi-monthly throughout the school year. Programs and activities will be selected and based on those topics which are of interest to parents.

A GIFT OF WARMTH

If you have someone on your gift list who is always difficult to buy for... or if someone you care about is having trouble making ends meet... or if you'd like to join in helping others in need this holiday season, a Columbia Gas energy gift certificate can be a welcome answer.
As an individual gift, you purchase a certificate in any amount you choose for $10 or more in the name of the Columbia Gas customer who will receive it. If you desire, you can make the gift anonymously. Columbia will mail the certificate with a card explaining that the amount indicated has been credited to the person's account. Or if you'd rather, you can take the certificate and card to deliver personally to the recipient.
As a gift to a charitable organization, the program allows you to make a tax-deductible contribution to help local people in need. Your donation is made in the name of a charitable organization which chooses the recipients.
You can purchase energy gift certificates or arrange for your tax-deductible charity gift at any Columbia Gas office.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

School News

The Annual Book Fair is being held this week at the Intermediate Building (East Preston) and the Terra Alta Elementary Building. Parents may come in from 9-11 a.m. to purchase and look at the books. Persons who wish to purchase books, but are unable to come in may contact Judy West for other arrangements. The Book Fair Started Friday, November 15.

Spaghetti Dinners

Spaghetti dinners will be held the second Tuesday of each month from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Moose Lodge. Everyone is invited to attend.

PTO News

Swanson's canned food labels are needed by the PTO. Persons are asked to send them in by November 30. Also, Campbell Soup labels or other Campbell product labels are still needed.

The Terra Alta Elementary PTO met Thursday, November 14 at the Elementary addition at East Preston High School.

Books from the annual book fair were displayed for parents and children.

A brief business meeting was held.

The Preston County Health Department was present and a film was viewed by parents and children on sexual abuse.

Parents may still purchase a yearbook. Orders are still being taken. They will now cost $7.00.

The next PTO meeting will be held on December 5. A covered dish dinner is being planned. Rowlesburg students attending the elementary schools will also be invited along with parents.

Officers Installed

Chapter 510 Women of the Moose recently held their election of new officers.

Officers being installed for the coming year were Barbara Hauger, senior regent; Wilberta Elswick, junior regent; Winnie Wilhelm, junior graduate regent; Betty Shaffer, recorder; Evelyn Livengood, chaplain, and Olive Metheny, treasurer. Committee chairmen were also installed.

Completes Program

Army National Guard Private Paul E. Smith, son of Walker C. and Virginia Smith of 305 High Street, Terra Alta, has completed the basic field artillery cannoneer course under the one station unit training (OSUT) program at Fort Sill, Okla.

OSUT is a program that combines basic training with advanced individual training.

Denny Addresses Rotarians

The program for the Terra Alta Rotary Club meeting held November 7 at Alpine Lake was provided by Clyde Snyder, whose guest speaker was his son-in-law, James Denny, a CPA and Rotarian from Clarksburg. He spoke about the 1985 tax reform proposal covering over 20 items of options.

Dr. John Hutchinson, a member of the Forestry Department, WVU, was a visiting Rotarian from Morgantown.

Guest of Charles Harriman and Hilton Rocha was Dr. John Keefe.

Rotarians will distribute Christmas fruit cakes to their clients prior to Thanksgiving.

Obituary

Jeremiah Matthew Watkins, 13, of Terra Alta, was found dead on Thursday, November 12, 1985.

Born in Morgantown, August 22, 1972, he was a son of the late James E. Watkins and Enid Zewyer Watkins of Terra Alta.

In addition to his mother he is survived by a sister, Jamie Victoria Watkins of Terra Alta; his maternal grandparents, Edgar and Glenna Stone Zweyer, both of Kingwood, and paternal grandfather, Edward Watkins of Ohio.

He was preceded in death by his paternal grandmother, Cora Rappelee Watkins.

Services were held Friday at the Fike-Watson Funeral Home with the Rev. Phillip Bayliss and the Rev. Wesley W. Moats officiating. Burial was in the Arthurdale Cemetery.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. George Pride of St. Albans visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sisler.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hunter and Cleo Metheny have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeWitt and Vivian Spencer, Morgantown and Thelma Gibson, local.

Visiting recently with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sisler, Jim Sanders, all of Gaithersburg, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sisler and children visited over the past weekend with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaid, of Aurora.

SUNNYSIDE-UNDERWOOD

The "Helping Hands" community group met on Friday evening in the home of Earl and Marian Friend. The Bible reading was by Hazel White (Psalm 71).

A dinner was scheduled to be held on December 14 at 6 p.m. in the community building in Crellin.

Those attending were Arlena Dilley, Hazel White, Carolyn and Joyce Foster, Ivadine, Elaine and Becky Cummings, Elaine Beckman, Mary Thomas, Angie Ludwig, Hazel Upole, Robin Schroyer, Linda Spink, Patricia Graham and Bessie Canan.

The Ladies Aid of Underwood Church met on Friday in the community building and are having their family Thanksgiving dinner on Sunday, November 24, at 1 p.m. following Sunday School and worship service. The dinner will be held in the church fellowship room.

The Ladies Bible study met on Thursday afternoon in the home of Bessie Canan. The lesson was taught by Mrs. Jane Kope.

Those attending were Florence Hamill, Anna Cannon, Mary Thomas, Angie Ludwig, Mildred Peterson, Buriena Uphold, Wilma Waybright, Myrtle Fulk, Jane Kope and the hostess.

Closing prayer was by Wilma Waybright, who will be hostess of next Thursday afternoon's Bible study.

George and Hazel White were at Bessie Canan's residence assisting with some chores Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Irene Hartman and daughter, Catherine Harman, Bunker Hill, W.Va., spent a few days this weekend visiting their sister and aunt, Mrs. Marian Friend.

Paul Schroyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schroyer Sr., spent a few days this week in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital for an emergency appendectomy. He returned to his home Friday.

If you had a business partner that damaged equipment, wasted money and insulted your customers, wouldn't you get rid of him?

If you operate a car wash, restaurant, hotel or other lodging facility, you may have a partner like that: your water.

Hard water can cause machinery problems and waste heating efficiency. And displease customers by leaving after-washing streaks on everything from salad plates to sports cars.

Culligan conditioned water eases these problems by reducing scaly mineral buildup. Car washes do a better job. Dishes and glassware sparkle. Hospital patients and lodging guests enjoy cleaner fixtures, softer towels and more.

You'll save money with reduced maintenance costs. Save up to 50% on soaps and other cleaning agents, too.

Schofields Attend United Methodist Church Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Schofield, Bittinger, attended the United Methodist West Virginia Conference Board of Discipleship fall meeting, November 8 and 9 at the John XXIII Pastoral Center in Charleston, W. Va.

The Schofields are two of the five members from the Romney District to serve on the 45-member board. Other representatives from the Romney District are Rev. John Mason, district superintendent; Jean Beard, member of the General Board of Discipleship; and Rev. Bruce Reedm, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Terra Alta, W. Va. The Schofields were elected by the 1984 West Virginia Annual Conference to serve the current quadrennium.

Mrs. Schofield is presently serving as secretary of the Board and as a member of the Section on Lay Life and Work while Mr. Schofield is a member of the Section On Evangelism.

The Schofields plan to attend the next meeting, to be held January 3 and 4 in Huntington, W. Va.

Public Hearings Set On Proposed Medicare Change

The Maryland Office on Aging, in conjunction with the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and the Insurance Commissioner's Office, at the request of Governor Harry Hughes, will conduct six public hearings throughout the State to obtain public comment and reaction to the proposed Medicare demonstration submitted by Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield to the federal Health Care Financing Administration.

The hearings will provide an opportunity for the public to express its views on the proposal.

"I strongly believe the citizens of Maryland, particularly our senior citizens, deserve the opportunity to express their views on this proposal," Governor Hughes said.

The Medicare program, a federal program which provides a uniform set of insurance benefits to the elderly and disabled, is currently administered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield in every Maryland county, with the exception of Montgomery and Prince George's Counties.

The firm has submitted a proposal to the federal Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) calling for a five year, five billion dollar demonstration project to underwrite and assume risk for the state's entire Medicare program.

Medicare beneficiaries would be given a choice between retaining the present Medicare plan or choosing among several alternatives, under this proposal. Maryland Blue Cross would be paid a fixed amount each year to provide benefits for each Medicare beneficiary.

Senator Rosalie Abrams, Director of the Office on Aging, encouraged public attendance at the hearings and called the proposal "a major demonstration" which would fundamentally change the way the Medicare program operates.

"The demonstration has certain attractive features and it also raises some concerns," Senator Abrams said. "I encourage all who would be affected by this demonstration to attend the public hearing of their choice and make their views known."

The hearing closest to Garrett County will be held December 2, at 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Hagerstown Community College.

Accident Post Office Relocating

The Accident Post Office, presently located at 219 Main Street, Accident, will relocate to a new facility at the corner of Accident-Bittinger Road and South Street effective November 25, 1985.

This new and expanded facility has over 2,400 square feet, 600 post office boxes available for rent and an automated stamp vending machine located in the lobby. Express Mail, philatelic stamps, Parcel Post and other services will continue to be offered at the new site. Hours of operation will be Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and noon to 4:30 p.m. and Saturday, 8 a.m. to 12 noon.

The Accident Post Office serves a population of over 3,000.

Campus Youth Event Draws 130 Students

One hundred and thirty Garrett County and Salisbury, Pa., youth recently gathered in the Salisbury High Gymnasium for a pizza eating party sponsored by Campus Life. The "Pizza Bash," was planned to include all interested students in the three high schools in which Campus Life is involved (Southern, Northern and Salisbury).

The meeting began with students eating their fill of pizza. Then after some entertaining games the group was challenged by Von Zeigler to "hold on to the most important thing in life." Zeigler is the executive director of Mt. Top Youth for Christ.

The meeting was planned by Marlin Beitzel, Darrell Yoder and a group of Salisbury students.

Campus Life is a division of Mt. Top Youth for Christ, which is a non-denominational, non-profit youth organization supported by local churches, businesses and individuals.

For more information on Campus Life programs, persons may call Jon Zeigler at 387-6725 or 334-9244.

Junior Women Watch Video Of Fashion Show

The Junior Woman's Civic Club met on November 6 at the Dennett Road School. The meeting included presentation of a video tape of the Fashion Show which was sponsored by the Club and the APA.

Three new members were initiated: Sue Liller, Linda Severe and Sue Oxford. The club decided to sponsor any member participating in the Dance for Heart for the Heart Association sponsored by Brenda's Body Shop.

The next meeting will be the annual Christmas party. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish and a Christmas ornament. It will be held at the home of Mrs. H.R. Gibson.

Introducing the NEW
Culligan SUPER I IRON FILTER
Now, effective control of iron without the need for costly chemical regenerants. The SUPER I Filter is the first totally self-contained system of its type to operate on no more than infrequent backwashes.
- The SUPER I Filter is equally suitable for both private well systems and public water systems.
- The SUPER I Filter controls iron in both ferrous (dissolved) as well as ferric (precipitated) states efficiently and very economically.
- The SUPER I Filter will prevent iron staining of sinks, toilets and tubs. You'll never again experience rust stains in clothing or on dishware washed with the filtered water.
- The SUPER I Filter is safe as well as economical to operate. This system requires no complicated sizing calculations nor is any additional space, plumbing or investment in extra retention tanks or other filters needed. This system is compact and totally self-contained.
- The SUPER I Filter system is manufactured of the very finest materials selected for exceptionally rugged qualities. Every component of the new SUPER I Filter is Culligan warranted with installation and service available from your local Culligan dealer.
- Installation of the SUPER I Filter in your home is simple and requires no more than a 12-inch circle of floor space.
You can begin enjoying your crystal clear, iron-free water again with the SUPER I Filter from Culligan.

Five Measures To Be Top Priorities Of Municipalities

The five legislative issues considered by the Maryland Municipal League to be top priority were discussed by the Allegany-Garrett chapter of the league at their meeting in Grantsville last week.

According to Cumberland Councilman and MML Chapter President Edward Athey, 22 officials attended the meeting, including Delegates W. Timothy Finan (D-Allegany) and George C. Edwards (R-Garrett) and Alan Pippenger, staff associate of legislation for the MML.

Athey said each of the five issues adopted for the 1986 General Assembly session was described in detail. The issues supported by the league are:

1. Municipal Infractions - A bill will seek to improve the infractions process by allowing higher fines; recognizing third party complaints; reducing evidentiary standards necessary for conviction; and reduction of notification requirements and lengthy court delays.

2. Local Government Tort Claims Act - The league first had a bill sponsored in 1977 regarding the liability insurance crisis. Another attempt will be made in 1986 when legislation is introduced so that the tort claims act would protect municipal employees and officials from personal liability, limit claims against local governments to $100,000 per occurrence, and set a cap on fees attorneys may charge. Athey said the measure is expected to have the backing of counties, colleges and regional agencies in the state.

3. Municipal Elections and Registration Law - This will be a five-part package to revise and update the law to maintain municipal authority to register voters and satisfy problems municipalities feel they now have with the current law. The five issues are: setting minimum standards for mailing registration; public notices; evening registration; registration cards; and cancelling a voter's registration.

4. Law Enforcement Officers Bill of Rights - The league proposes to alter the law to allow punitive action against an officer who is convicted of a felony or a serious misdemeanor without going through the present hearing process required by the officers' bill of rights.

5. Constant Yield Tax Rate - Legislation will be introduced to codify the standard for exempting small cities and towns from the law. Athey said the change would have a major impact on small towns in Allegany and Garrett Counties.

Another matter discussed was the problem of handling the cost for disposition of a tenants belongings after a household is evicted. Lonaconing Mayor Joseph Krumpack asked how legislation should be pursued to resolve this problem, and said the town encountered a case recently when it had to pay for the removal of furnishings from the public right-of-way because a sheriff's notice of eviction had been served.

Athey reminded league members that the deadline for requesting legislation through the MML has passed but there is time to ask individual legislators to consider bills. He said the problem cited by Krumpack is another example of a double taxation problem encountered by municipal residents.

Athey also commented that the local delegation should know that the municipalities and towns in the two counties are satisfied with the current double taxation even though some Garrett County towns are not receiving a tax differential.

During the chapter meeting, a certificate of appreciation was given to Pippenger for his lobby and legislative work for the MML.

A guest at the meeting, April Howser, a secretary at Cumberland City Hall, was recognized for the job she has done for the chapter in handling meeting notices and preparing meeting programs.

The meeting, held at the Hill Top Inn and Restaurant, was hosted by the Grantsville Mayor and Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hinebaugh and son, Scott, Leesburg, Fla., spent a week here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Frazee and also visited several times with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hinebaugh.

Correction

In the item concerning open house for Mrs. Daisy Frazee in last week's items her age was incorrect. Mrs. Frazee is 87 instead of 89 years of age.

In the item of Betty Turney and Izetta Spear visiting Vernon Spear at Aspinwall Veterans' Hospital, Pittsburgh, and with Mrs. Spear's daughter, Mrs. Rita Augustine at the home of her daughter and family Dale and Sherry Umbel, it should have stated that Mrs. Lydia (Spear) Friend is a patient at University of Maryland Hospital, 22 Green Street, Room 44W, 13th Floor, Baltimore, Md. 21201.

Air Toxics Control Program Topic Of Public Meetings

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene announced this week that the Office of Environmental Programs' Air Management Administration will hold public informational meetings to explain the Department's proposed Air Toxics Control Program.

The object of the proposed program is to reduce the risk of adverse health effects resulting from exposure to toxic air pollutants. At the present time, Federal and State air quality programs focus on a limited number of air pollutants. Although these control programs have significantly improved the air quality in the State, there are many other toxic substances that are discharged into the outside air. The Department believes it is necessary to evaluate emissions of all toxic substances in order to ensure that public health risks are minimal.

The public meeting closest to Garrett County will be held Thursday, December 12, 7 p.m. at the Washington County Health Department Auditorium, 1302 Pennsylvania Avenue, Hagerstown.

During the meetings, the public will be able to ask any questions and present comments regarding the proposed program.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK, November 17 through 23, was proclaimed by the Garrett County Commissioners to uphold the concept of a free and equal education as an American tradition, to assure that the students of today are the leaders of tomorrow, and to urge all citizens to make a commitment to public education by visiting their local public schools and donating their time and talents to help make the schools even better. Seated, left to right, are: Commissioners Ernest J. Gregg Jr, Elwood L. Groves II, and John G. Braskey. Standing are John Morris, left, Garrett County Assistant Supervisor of Education for Administrative Services; and Michael Pula, President of the Garrett County Teachers' Association.

PE Advises On Draining Electric Water Heaters

The electric water heater is the second largest energy user in the average household and Potomac Edison encourages customers, especially victims of recent flooding, to drain their electric water heaters two-to-three times a year to keep them operating efficiently.

For best results, PE advises persons to follow these steps:

1. Turn off the electric circuit to the water heater.
2. Open the drain valve at the bottom of the water heater and release into an appropriate container.
3. Leave the drain valve open until the water is reasonably clear.
4. Close the drain valve.
5. Allow the water heater to completely fill.
6. Turn on the circuit to the water heater.

This procedure should remove accumulated sediment and silt that has settled over time or because of recent flooding conditions, a PE spokesman said.

For a free copy of "Your Guide To Saving Hot Water and Electricity," persons may contact any Potomac Edison office.

MSBA Introduces New Brochure On Guardianship

A physically or mentally handicapped person is sometimes incapable of making informed decisions about his own medical care or finances. In those instances, a guardian is necessary to make those decisions for him.

"Responsibilities to a Guardian," a new brochure published by the Maryland State Bar Association, details why a guardian is needed, who is eligible to serve as a guardian and what a guardian's duties are.

Produced by MSBA's Public Awareness Committee with assistance from the Maryland Bar Foundation, this latest publication is the ninth in a series of brochures designed to enhance the public's understanding of the legal system. Other titles include: "So You've Received a Traffic Ticket," "Being a Witness," "Lawyers and Legal Fees," "When You Need a Lawyer," "Rights of Landlords and Tenants," "What To Do In case of an Auto Accident," "Wills and Estates" and "Divorce and Separation."

For free copies of these nine informational brochures, persons should send a self-addressed, stamped (39¢) envelope to: Brochures, Maryland State Bar Association, 207 East Redwood Street, Suite 905, Baltimore, Maryland 21202.

MSBA's Public Awareness brochures are also available at libraries throughout Maryland and may be purchased in quantities by law firms, corporations and other interested organizations.

For more information, persons may contact the Maryland State Bar Association, 685-7878.

The Maryland State Bar Association is a non-profit, volunteer organization composed of 10,700 attorneys which promotes the delivery of quality legal services while increasing the public's education of the legal system.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our loved one, Harold L. McKenzie Sr. Missed sadly by wife, children and families.

We have a soft spot in our hearts for the one we loved so dear. Your memory is always with us, since God took you in his care last year. You had suffered enough, so God gave you peace up above. We miss you and think of you each day with love. We miss your smile, your love and your helping hand. God knows what is best, we must try to understand. God promised us eternal life, no sorrows or cares. We know we will see you once again, when we walk those golden stairs.

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Jones Mining Co., Inc., P.O. Box 1503, Cumberland, Maryland 21502, having been issued surface mining permit No. 376 situated in Election District No. 2, Garrett County, Maryland. Maryland Grid No. N: 663,500 E: 124,700 will conduct blasting activities in accordance with all applicable State and Federal laws. Such activities will commence and continue in accordance with the following schedule of dates and approximate times, as approved by the State Regulatory Authority:

The yearly blasting schedule is as follows:

Monday through Saturday from December 21, 1985 through December 20, 1986. All blasting will be done between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 12 noon, and 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. No blasting will be done on Sundays.

At least (10) ten minutes prior to each blasting activity, all accesses to the area will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry, and a warning signal will be audibly indicated by WARNING SIGNAL: Three (3) minutes prior to blasting, a warning signal audible to within one-half (½) mile will be given. This preblast warning shall consist of three (3) short blasts of five (5) seconds duration with five (5) seconds duration between each blast. One (1) long audible warning signal of twenty (20) seconds duration shall be the ALL CLEAR signal following the inspection of the shot area in accordance with applicable State and Federal laws. Also as approved by the State Regulatory Authority, blasting activities will not be conducted at times other than those announced without appropriate notification, or, in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, other atmospheric conditions, operator, or public safety dictates unscheduled detonation.

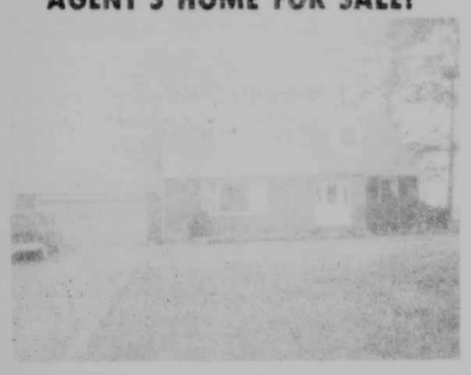
NOTICE

Notice of Surface Coal Mining Performance, Revegetation Bond Release.
Oakland Coal Company
P.O. Box 368
Mt. Lake Park, MD 21550
MINING NO. SM-84-377
No. of Acres Eligible for Release 12.3
DATE: October 10, 1985

The Maryland Surface Mining Reclamation Law requires a coal operator to notify adjoining property owners, local governmental bodies, sewage authorities and water companies prior to the release of bonds required by that law.



This company has 12.3 acres eligible for bond release, located on the Wayne M. Martin tract, in Garrett County in the Trout Run watershed.

The State of Maryland requires two bonds on each acre of surface mining permit:

(1) backfilling bonds (2) a revegetation bond. This notice is for REDUCTION IN REVEGETATION bond(s).

If you have any comments or if you wish to request a hearing on why these bonds should not be released, please write the Maryland Bureau of Mines, 69 Hill Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. Your comments or request for a hearing should be submitted to the Bureau within 30 days of the date of this notice.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Accident Mayor and Town Council will conduct a public hearing on December 2, 1985 at 7:00 p.m. in the Accident Town Council Meeting Room. The Council will review three proposed amendments to the Accident Zoning Ordinance, as submitted by the Accident Planning Commission. The first two requests propose to amend Section 406, (Table of Use Regulations) to add two Sections. (21-A) would allow an office or clinic for medical or dental examination or treatment of persons as out-patients provided the exterior of the structure is designed as a residence and architectural plans are reviewed by the Planning Commission. This use would be permitted in the R-2 and C Districts, would require a Special Exception in the R-1 District and would not be permitted in the CON and I Districts. (22-A) would allow Conversion of existing structures into business, professional or governmental offices. This would require a Special Exception in the R-1 and R-2 Districts, would be permitted in C District and not permitted in the CON and I Districts. The third request proposes to amend Section 406 (Table of Use Regulations) to include the words mini barns and mini structures, Section 406 (47).

Interested persons are urged to attend.

NOTICE

Of Application for Merger of Bank Holding Companies.

GNB Bankshares, Inc., Oakland, Maryland and LTC Bancorp, Cumberland, Maryland, intend to apply to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System for permission to consolidate. We intend for the resulting corporation, WM Bancorp, Cumberland, Maryland, to acquire control of Liberty Bank of Maryland, Cumberland, Maryland, and Garrett National Bank, Oakland, Maryland. The Federal Reserve considers a number of factors in deciding whether to approve the application, including the record of performance of banks we owned in helping to meet local credit needs.

You are invited to submit comments in writing on this application to the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, P.O. Box 27622, Richmond, Virginia 23261. The comment period will not end before December 19, 1985 and may be somewhat longer. The Board's procedures for processing applications may be found at 12 C.F.R. Part 262. Procedures for processing protested applications may be found at 12 C.F.R. Section 212.25. PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on December 5, 1985 at 7:30 p.m. in the Old Grand Jury Room (Third Floor Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

1) Docket VR-131: An application made by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Railey for Variances from the terms of the zoning ordinance as it affects the minimum land area requirement and the lot width requirement for a residential building lot. Specifically, the Raileys wish to re-subdivide their property to establish a new lot having a land area of 35,577 square feet and a lot width of 116.39 feet (the required dimensions are 43,560 square feet and a width of 150 feet). The property is located off Mayhew Inn Road near Red Run (Zoned LR).

2) Docket VR-132: An application made by Mr. Fred E. Davis for Variances from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the lot width requirement and the minimum width required for a "back lot" access point onto the Penelec Buffer Strip. Specifically, Mr. Davis wishes to construct a house on a lot which is 145.5 feet wide instead of the required 150 feet and the Davis lot also has deeded access to Deep Creek Lake across a 35 foot wide access strip. The property is located on Lake Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

3) Docket VR-133: An application made by Ms. Geneva Wadell for Variances from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the minimum land area and lot width requirements for three building lots. Specifically, Ms. Wadell wishes to establish three lots which would be 100 feet wide instead of the required 150 feet wide and the parcels would also be smaller than the required one acre lot size. The property is located on Lake Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

4) Docket VR-134: An application made by Mr. Sandy Stevenson, representative for Modular Construction Corporation for Variances from the rear yard set-back requirement for balconies. Specifically, the Corporation wishes to extend townhouse balconies eight feet into the required rear yard instead of the allowable four feet projection. The property is located on Deep Creek Drive (Zoned TC).

5) Docket SE-145: An application made by Mr. William T. Gaither for a Special Exception permit to allow the placement of a mobile home for use as a storage building on his property located on O'Brien Road (Zoned LR).

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Gaylord Fuel Corporation-Stone Division, P.O. Box 128, McHenry, MD, will conduct blasting at its surface quarry operation located at Sang Run Road, Hoyes Run, Garrett County, under Permit No. 77SP0131:

From April 11, 1985 through December 31, 1985, in compliance with all 1979 State and Federal laws.

Blasting will occur either between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 noon, or between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday, weather permitting. This schedule will be followed except during adverse conditions that will prevent blasting, or if the operator or public safety requires unscheduled detonations.

At least 10 minutes prior to all detonations all access roads will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry. A warning signal will be sounded at least 5 minutes prior to detonation with 3 blasts of 10-seconds duration. The warning signal will be sounded once after detonation of 15-second duration as an all clear signal.

—Adv. 26-31t.

NO HUNTING OR TRESPASSING

No hunting or trespassing on property owned by Bob and Maxine Combs, formerly Joab Friend farm. Persons without written permission on person will be prosecuted.

FRANK G. GOSS, ET UX Plaintiffs vs
FRANK BELL and the unknown heirs of Frank Bell
Defendants
NO. 8618 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 18th day of November, 1985, a Motion was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by Arzella T. Parsons, Treasurer and Collector of Taxes for the State of Maryland and for Garrett County, Maryland, against the unknown Defendants.

The Motion alleges in substance, Arzella T. Parsons, Treasurer and Collector of Taxes, is holding the sum of TWO THOUSAND EIGHTEEN AND 88/100 DOLLARS ($2,018.88), representing the amount received from the tax sale of property owned by the late Frank Bell, that all reasonable efforts have been made to ascertain the heirs of the decedent, and believes Exhibit A filed therewith contains all heirs of the late Frank Bell; however, it is not known whether all heirs have been acertained and that the said sum will be distributed to the known heirs as listed on Exhibit A unless cause to the contrary be shown.

The relief prayed in the Petition is substantially as follows: That an Order of Publication be issued against all unknown heirs of Frank Bell, warning them the Circuit Court for Garrett County shall pass an Order distributing the aforesaid sum of $2,018.88 to the heirs as shown on Exhibit A, unless cause to the contrary be shown.

WHEREUPON, it is ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 18th day of November, 1985, that the Petitioner cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, once a week in each of four successive weeks, before the 13th day of December 1985, giving notice to the said Defendants of the objects and substance of the Petition and warning them to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 14th day of January, 1986, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Sheriff's Dept. Notes Several Theft Reports

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week reported several breaking and entering thefts and a destruction of property incident.

A breaking and entering theft occurred at the unlocked house trailer of Elsie M. Lewis, Oakland, sometime between November 8 and November 13.

According to reports filed by the department, the following items were removed: an oil lamp with a blue base, an oriental tea pot with seven cups, a 50-gallon crock, three black and white television sets, $30 cash, a 10-speed bicycle, and a cigarette lighter from Fort Knox, Tenn.

Total losses were valued at $330.

A destruction of property incident was reported at Cal's Carpet Warehouse, Loch Lynn, during the night hours on Sunday.

According to reports, someone shattered the windshield on a vehicle owned by Calvin F. Mellinger, Loch Lynn, which was parked next to the building. Damages reached $200.

A breaking and entering theft occurred at the Kitzmiller School sometime Sunday night.

According to a department spokesman, access was gained through the basement door of the school. Once inside, the culprits removed a tool box containing assorted tools, a Black & Decker drill, spray paint, and six cases of Coke.

The Jackson Equipment Company, Oakland, reported a theft which occurred between October 30 and November 8.

According to department reports, unknown persons removed a set of forks from a fork lift and a manure bucket from the outside lot of the company.

$2,220,972.14 Collected From County Treasurer

Tax collections for the month of October amounted to $2,220,972.14 according to figures released last week by Arzella Parsons, Garrett County treasurer.

Of the amount collected, $244,009.55 was from real estate taxes, $2,906.82 from personal property taxes and $46,164.86 from ordinary business taxes.

Public utilities brought in $1,024,873.15 while prior year's taxes amounted to $60,707.89 and state taxes totaled $98,312.79.

Ad valorem taxes tallied $5,603.43 while interest brought in $46,339.62. A special police protection grant added $43,775.00 to the county budget and coal tonnage taxes added $64,235.63.

State shared monies for the roads department amounted to $348,737.71 and state shared property taxes tallied $185,519.00. Trailer park taxes were $6,476.90 and other sources brought in $109,203.02. Discounts and credits allowed amounted to $65,893.23.

Public utilities were the largest amount of taxes collected this month. Texas Eastern was first, followed by Potomac Edison, Pennsylvania Electric, C & P Telephone and Columbia Gas.

Federal Jobs To Be Denied To Non-Registrants

Under a new law signed by President Reagan, appointment to federal jobs will be denied to men who have not registered with Selective Service. The new law, effective immediately, applies to students seeking temporary summer employment, as well as men searching for permanent employment with a Federal agency or department.

Commenting on this new requirement, Selective Service Director, Thomas K. Turnage stated, "I am pleased and very reassured by the continuing Congressional support of the registration requirement. Not only does this law encourage compliance with the law among eligible young men, it also increases public awareness of the requirement. As always, our primary intent is to register men not to prosecute them."

Men of registration age must be registered to receive Federal student aid and job training benefits. Additionally, registration is a requirement in some states for various employment opportunities, such as law enforcement agencies and permission to practice law.

Men born in 1960 and later years are required to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. Registration can be done at any post office. Failure to register is a felony, punishable by a fine of up to $250,000 and/or up to five years imprisonment.

Bloomington School Honor Roll Noted

The staff of Bloomington School has named 11 students to the honor roll for the first grading period. Those students achieved an 80 percent or better average in each subject.

Sixth graders on the honor roll were Jennifer Gaster (all A's), James Paugh, Darrin Rizer, and Cindy Tichnell (all A's). Seventh graders listed were Chad Carder, Joyce Murphy, (all A's), Tina Tichnell and Marcie Wildman. Eighth graders gaining honor roll recognition were Kathy Carder, Carol Metz and John Morton.

Flood Relief In County Continues

Flood aid is still continuing in Garrett County as many individuals and organizations "dig deep" to help those who lost homes and possessions in the early November flood.

Grantsville Lions

The Grantsville Lions Club announced today that it has established a fund for the benefit of flood victims in nearby West Virginia and Maryland.

The fund was started with a $1,000 donation from the Grantsville Lions. A spokesman from the club said that service clubs, businesses, churches and especially individuals are encouraged to give to this fund.

The spokesman said that as the money is received it will be dispersed to Lions Clubs in the affected areas, to be distributed to needy persons in their area in the form of vouchers for food, clothing and household needs. The vouchers will be used at local participating stores.

The Lions said they felt that this way, every cent that is raised will be given directly where it is needed, with no money being spent on overhead.

Chairman for the fund drive, Dr. Ronald Gillum, said that the local Lions Club was moved to act after viewing a videotape that was filmed in the flood areas by one of the club members. "Newspaper photos are impressive, but to see a videotape of entire towns that are totally devastated is heartrending," he said. "We would like to reflood the flooded areas, ONLY THIS TIME WITH MONEY. The need will be there for a long time."

Checks may be sent to Grantsville Lions Club, Flood Relief, P.O. Box 450, Grantsville, Md., 25136.

Toys For Children

The Romney District United Methodist Women are collecting new or good, used toys which will be given to families with children in the flood-torn areas. The donations will be accepted until December 14.

A list of such families will be provided by the ministerial association of each district. All UMW presidents are to conduct the drives in their churches or area.

The following women are responsible for forwarding the toys to the needed areas: Nancy Sisk, Lena McDonald, Peggy Dempsey, Jo Bolyard, Carolyn J. Ganoe, Mary June Harvey and Doris Welker.

GUESS WHO'S COMING TO DINNER to eat, not to be eaten. None other than Danny House's pet named Gobble-Gobble. Danny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon House, near Deer Park. Gobble-Gobble is four years old and weighs 30 pounds. We're sure of the weight because when our photographer went to take the picture, Danny got out the bathrom scales and Gobble-Gobble promptly hopped on unassisted. The pet also got a blow-dry and fluff before having his picture taken. He'll probably have a place at the dinner table, but because he's not into cannibalism he'll no doubt be eating corn.

Much Comment Is Heard Over Deep Creek Regs At Hearing

A substantial amount of comment on a number of points was given at a public hearing Saturday concerning regulations for the Deep Creek Lake management area. Approximately 75 people gathered in the Garrett Community College auditorium to hear the latest changes in the rules and regulations.

Also present at the hearing were State Senator John N. Bambacus; Delegate George C. Edwards; Garrett County Commissioner Ernest J. Gregg Jr.; Donald E. MacLauchlan, director Deep Creek Lake Natural Resources Management Area; Michael R. Gregory, manager Deep Creek Lake Natural Resources Management Area; Paul Ruszin, assistant chief of operations for DNR; Elizabeth Maumenee, legal council for DNR; Robert Watson, chairman of the Deep Creek Lake Advisory Board; and Ed King, president of the Deep Creek Property Owners Association.

According to Gregory, the latest regulations were not given the broad support he had hoped for."Our job now is to take a good hard look and make a determination for the good of the lake."

The record will remain open for comment until December 9, when a decision will be made by Department of Natural Resources Secretary Dr. Torrey C. Brown. "We've been back and forth on a number of these issues and, at this point, I have no idea what Sec. Brown will do," Gregory said. "Everybody has their views on the new set of rules, and there are going to be objections no matter what."

Gregory said he felt disappointed in the amount of negative comments received, some of it over rules which had been changed since the last hearing because of negative comments then. "Those rules that were changed because of public comment last time didn't

Early Morning Blaze Destroys Deer Park House

Deer Park and Oakland volunteer fire fighters responded to a blaze early this morning which destroyed a two-story frame house in the town limits of Deer Park.

A neighbor, Bill Ford, telephoned Garrett Emergency Management at 12:50 a.m. and when firemen arrived on the scene the entire south portion of the house was fully involved in flame. The blaze was brought under control in about 20 minutes, however the entire structure was damaged beyond repair.

The house was reportedly owned by Alice Madigan, Deer Park. Renters had moved out of the structure about one week ago and members of Mrs. Madigan's family had apparently been in the house yesterday doing some work. One family member stated that there was a fire in a woodstove in the southeast corner of the house, which is where the blaze apparently originated.

Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett County, was on the scene this morning and not available for comment.

Fire fighters remained on the scene util 3:39 a.m. Also responding were a crew from Potomac Edison Company and the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

DEER PARK HOUSE DESTROYED — Fire just before 1 a.m. this morning destroyed this two-story frame house in Deer Park. Firefighters from Deer Park and Oakland found the structure fully involved in flames upon their arrival. The house was owned by Alice Madigan. The cause of the fire was believed to be related to a wood stove.

Mettiki Miners Called Back

Workers at Mettiki Mines, who have been laid off since the severe flooding of November 4 destroyed approximately 1,200 feet of railroad tracks, have been told to report back to work on Monday morning.

Approximately 225 miners had been laid off when the connecting link between Garrett County and the port of Baltimore disrupted the shipment of coal. The lay off went into effect on November 11.

According to Mettiki's personnel director, Thomas A. Gearhart, it is uncertain at this time if the tracks have been repaired or if trains are being rerouted.

DeBerry Receives Nation's Highest FFA Award

The highest national honor given to an active member of the Future Farmers of America has been awarded to Deer Park farmer, Thomas C. DeBerry. The presentation of DeBerry's American Farmer Degree was announced during the National FFA Convention held November 14 through 16 in Kansas City, Missouri.

DeBerry and his wife, Dove, raise beef cattle and field crops along with his parents, Everett and Harriett DeBerry, on the family farm near Deer Park. He is also employed by James E. Schmidt at 135 Meat Market as a butcher. It was this agribusiness position at 135 Meat Market that qualified DeBerry for the American Farmer Degree.

A 1982 graduate of Southern High School, DeBerry was an active FFA member. He served as the Oakland chapter's treasurer and vice president, and went on to serve as a state FFA vice president. During his high school years, he represented the Oakland chapter at the state level on the Land Judging Team, Livestock Judging Team, and at Leadership

Milton D. Fike, Former Assistant Fire Chief, Dies

Milton Darrell Fike, a retired shop foreman and parts manager at Oakview Motors and a volunteer fireman with the Oakland Fire Department for 24 years, died Friday, November 22, at Garrett Memorial Hospital following a lengthy illness.

The 55-year-old Oakland resident served Oakview Motors, formerly Ray Teets Garage, for 38 years. Of the 24 years he served with the Oakland Fire Department, many were as assistant chief.

Fike was first assistant chief until illness several months ago forced him to retire that position.

Born December 5, 1929, in Crellin, he was a son of the late Erwin T. Fike and Lucy (Stemple) Fike.

He was a member of the Crellin United Brethren

Juvenile Given Twelve-Year Jail Sentence

A 17-year old Oakland juvenile who was tried as an adult was sentenced to a total of 12 years in prison by Judge Fred A. Thayer during Circuit Court proceedings last week.

Neil Ray Savage received a one-year sentence for a theft charge, two years for storehouse breaking and entering, six months for a second theft charge, two years for breaking and entering with intent to steal, six months for a third theft charge, three years for storehouse breaking and entering and stealing, and three years for burglary. The sentences will run consecutively.

Savage was charged with numerous thefts which occurred between June 20, 1984 and February 21, 1985. The judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation October 21.

Theft victims included Adrian A. Spiker, Flowers By Webers, Oakland Clothing Wear-House, Hawkinson Tread Service, Inc. (now Glotfelty Enterprises), Rev. Martin Feild, the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College, and Helbig's Jewelry.

Savage was represented by Arman M. Pannone, Jr., a Cumberland attorney.

In another case, Karl William Wilson, Jr., 45, Oakland, received five-year sentences for two counts of assault.

The judge ruled that the sentences will run concurrently, but consecutive with the sentence imposed in District Court in October of 1984, when Wilson received a five-year sentence

Commissioners Meet With Gorman Flood Victims

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met with Gorman residents Tuesday who were affected by the recent flood.

The Gorman citizens told the commissioners of the difficulties they face because they feel the natural course of the Potomac River and Nydigger Run has been changed. They also said the level of the river bed has been raised and they fear this will cause even greater problems in the future.

The commissioners said they have communicated with Chessie officials to determine what can be done with the existing railroad culverts in that area.

"Although the culverts could be part of the problem," said Commissioner Elwood Groves II, "the structure of the river could now be posing the biggest problem."

The commissioners are now going back to the Water Resources Administration to request a watershed—flood study of that area. Groves said if the WRA did agree to do the study it would probably not be complete until next summer.

Ordinance Amended

The commissioners announced at a press conference yesterday that they had adopted an amendment to the existing Garrett County dog ordinance which will take effect Monday, December 2.

The amendment will provide citation powers to dog warden, Thomas Ashby, from the Garrett County Animal Shelter.

The commissioners said they were in favor of more stringent animal control laws and said they were hopeful that the new citation powers now possessed by the dog warden would rid the county of some major animal problems.

GCC Response

Also at the press conference the county officials responded to questions posed by the media on the recent announcement of the proposal to build a new Garrett Community College branch in Oakland.

"I knew nothing of the whole situation until I read it in the local paper," said Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr."Since we do fund that institution 32% of its working budget, I do feel that Dr. Puzzuoli should have at least touched base with us."

The commissioners did meet with Dr. Puzzuoli yesterday morning and conveyed their concerns to the GCC interim

GCC Trustees Meet With SBCC Heads To Dispute Status Report

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees traveled to Allegany Community College last Thursday to meet with officials from the State Board for Community Colleges. Also making the trip was Dr. David Puzzuoli and nearly 100 persons from the county including faculty, staff and students from GCC.

The purpose of the joint meeting, according to GCC officials, was the discussion of the "Status of the Situation at GCC" report filed by the SBCC executive director, Dr. James Tschectelin.

Earlier in the week the SBCC report had been submitted to the GCC trustees to give their position on the recommendations. At a board meeting last Tuesday night, the trustees did not accept the report. They cited many errors in the report and were dismayed at the suggestion that GCC either merge with or become a branch of Allegany Community College, Cumberland.

The final disposition at Thursday's joint meeting was that the state board table the report to the governor so that local trustees could respond at the next official board meeting which is scheduled for December 17.

A cost-containment study conducted by the State Board for Community Colleges on Maryland's community colleges which goes before the Senate committee on budget and finance and the House committee on appropriations recommended the closing of Garrett Community College. It was also recommended that GCC should be reopened as a branch of Allegany Community College.

Former Local Surgeon Dies

A former surgeon at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Lt. Comm. Louis Rishel, M.D., who practiced in the area for approximately two years, died Saturday, November 23, at the age of 36 near the home of his aunt in Bel Air, Harford County.

Born in Cumberland May 4, 1949, he was a son of Evelyn (Kight) Rishel Harned, Oakland, and the late Pierce W. Rishel.

He was stationed with the U.S. Navy at the base hospital in Camp Lejeune, N.C. He attended Southern High School until his junior year, when his family moved to Kingwood, W.Va., where he graduated from Kingwood High School.

He was graduated in 1971 from West Virginia University with a bachelor's degree in pre-medical studies. He was graduated with high honors at the top of his class in 1975 from the West Virginia University School of Medicine and was a graduate of the University of Louisville with a degree in microsurgery. He practiced as a general, vascular, orthopedic and microsurgeon.

Surviving besides his mother are four aunts and three uncles.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home in Oakland. A service was conducted in the Crellin Assembly of God Church Wednesday by the Rev. Ray Beahm and the Rev. Paul Poland. Interment was in Red House Cemetery.

Military honors were accorded at graveside by a detachment of the U.S. Navy.

Site Selected For New MVA Service Center

Marshall Rickert, Maryland Motor Vehicle administrator, announced Tuesday that the MVA has made its decision for the location of its new Western Maryland full service office.

Because of public pressure emanating primarily from Garrett County and the Frostburg area, Rickert said that the former Potomac Drive-In located on Winchester Road between Cresaptown and LaVale has been chosen as the site for the new office.

"My goal is to have the new office operational in two years from today," Rickert said in a telephone conversation with The Republican yesterday. He said the state expects to pay about $200,000 for the property, which is located 1.5 miles south of Rt. 48. He noted that the present owner of the property is a "willing seller" and he hopes to reach an agreement with him in the next few weeks.

In the event an agreement cannot be made, Rickert said the original preferred site along DeHaven Road east of Cumberland would be used for the building.

"Credit must go to the legislative leaders from western Maryland, the Garrett County commissioners, and Frostburg Mayor Bill Davis for being so instrumental and helpful in encouraging us to reconsider our original proposal to locate the office at the DeHaven Road

A REAL THANKSGIVING was celebrated by the second grade students at Loch Lynn School under the guidance of their teacher, Azelma McGoldrick. A part of the second-grade social studies curriculum in Garrett County schools teaches about the Pilgrims and the American Indians. The students went all out and in addition to the traditional tepee pictured above, they made a 21-foot mural for the school along with other Thanksgiving projects. The tepee was made with the door facing east, which was how the Indians made theirs. And like the Indians, who used materials they had available, like animal skins, the children used readily available materials for their tepee—paper grocery bags. As a grand finale, the students, dressed as either Pilgrims or Indians, ate a traditional Thanksgiving dinner which included a stew made of venison, squirrel, rabbit, and raccoon meat, cranberries, and corn bread with homemade mint and berry jelly and apple butter. Pictured in front of the tepee above, dressed as a Pilgrim girl is Julie Eiswert, and dressed as an Indian brave is Robert Aspinall.

Santa's Parade To Kick Off Shopping Season

The Greater Oakland Business Association will kick off the Christmas shopping season this Friday night with a parade featuring Santa Claus in the downtown Oakland area.

The parade will begin at 6 p.m. on Center Street and end on Green Street where Santa will dispense popcorn balls, some of which will contain the names of local businesses. The recipients of such popcorn balls may claim their prizes at the business named.

Most downtown stores will begin staying open until 8 p.m. every evening beginning this Friday and ending Monday, December 23.

Christmas Treat

The annual Christmas treat, sponsored by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, will be distributed in front of the Oakland Post Office on Saturday, December 21, at 1 p.m.

Women's Refuge Opening 24-Hour Crisis Hotline

Women's Refuge, Inc., will open a 24-hour crisis hotline for victims of domestic violence, rape and sexual assault in Garrett County on December 1, Carolyn Grahame, agency director, announced this week.

Volunteers have been trained to serve on the hotline on evenings and weekends to provide crisis counseling to persons in emergency situations, Grahame explained. Other services Women's Refuge, Inc. offers include temporary emergency shelter, accompaniment at the hospital or when a client comes into contact with law enforcement or judicial agencies, advocacy, crisis and supportive counseling and support groups.

Victims of domestic violence, rape or sexual assault can call 911 to reach Women's Refuge, Inc. on evenings and weekends. Persons can reach the agency at the Oakland office Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at 334-9701.

Grahame added that more volunteers are needed and that persons who are interested in serving as a volunteer should call the agency at its Oakland office.

Yough Panel Discussion Set For December 5

The Youghiogheny Panel Discussion, which was originally scheduled for October 17, and postponed due to the special session of the Maryland General Assembly, has been rescheduled for Thursday, December 5, at 7:30 p.m., at the Garrett Community College auditorium at McHenry.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will be presiding over the session and John Hinebaugh, president of the Youghiogheny River Association, will be presenting the issues to the panel for discussion.

Those who have been invited to participate on this panel by the commissioners, at the request of the Youghiogheny River Association are: Senator John N. Bambacus, Delegate George Edwards, DNR Secretary Torrey C. Brown, and Jan Nishida of the office of Governor Harry Hughes.

In a statement, the commissioners said that it is their desire that the meeting will clarify any misunderstandings concerning the state's intentions in Garrett County and that in the future, open and honest communications will foster peaceful relations and mutual respect between the citizens of the county and the various agencies of the state of Maryland.

Correction Noted For Celebration Of Hetz Anniversary

In an article on page 32 in this week's paper, it was incorrectly reported that an open house will be held for the 65th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Hetz on December 22. The article should have stated that the open house will be held this Sunday, December 1. We regret the error.

Latest Rabid Raccoon Brings Total To 17

The number of rabid raccoons confirmed in the county this year has reached 17, according to Rodney Glotfelty of the Garrett County Health Department.

The latest rabid raccoon was reported on the Raymond Brandt property, located off Route 219 just north of McHenry.

The raccoon fought with a Doberman Pincher, kept at the property by Brandt's son, and was killed by the dog.

Brandt and Alvin Murphy picked up the dead raccoon by the tail with their bare hands, but washed their hands immediately after. The health department determined that no human exposure was made, since there was no contact with the raccoon's saliva by the men.

It was impossible to determine if the dog had received rabies vaccine, so it was destroyed by euthanasia.

Winterguard To Hold Talent Show

The Southern High School Winterguard, which is raising money for a trip to London next spring, will sponsor a Christmas talent show on Friday, December 13, in the school cafetorium, beginning at 7 p.m.

The entry fee for the show is $2 and the deadline to register is December 6. Interested persons may call 334-3066 or 334-9719, or sign up at Brenda's Body Shop, Oakland.

Age categories and respective prizes will include: ages 4 to 8, first place, $10, second and third place, trophies; ages 9-12 and 13 and over, first, second, and third place, $50, $25, and $10, respectively.

Admission to the show will be $3 for adults and $1.50 for students. Refreshments will be sold.

The announcer for the show will be Brenda Brosnihan.

OVER 100 LOCAL VOLUNTEERS proved their stamina in the Dance For Heart on Saturday, November 16, at Southern High School, by raising $4,302.25 to benefit the American Heart Association-Western Maryland Division's medical and community programs. Sponsored by Brenda's Body Shop, Oakland, the aerobics dance event combined the efforts of local businesses, community organizations, and the volunteers as part of a nationwide endeavor to reduce premature death and disability due to heart disease and stroke. Area volunteers solicited sponsors to pledge contributions for every minute they danced during the three-hour event. Local dance coordinator, Brenda Brosnihan said, "I was happy to help the American Heart Association. Not only did we support important heart research and education, we also demonstrated the benefits of dance-exercise to people in our community who may otherwise never have had the opportunity to participate in the heart-healthy activity." Pictured left to right, front, are Brenda's Body Shop instructors, Gail Bosley, Tammy Fike, Brenda Brosnihan, owner and Dance For Heart coordinator, Dawn Panther, and Nan Gangler.

Virginia Man Hospitalized After Mishap

A Chantilly, Va. man was hospitalized following a two-vehicle accident early this morning near Friendsville.

Anthony W. Eddy was listed in "satisfactory" condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital this morning, by a hospital spokesman.

According to a Maryland State Police representative, a 1976 Ford Clubwagon, operated by Valerie L. Downey, Chesapeake, Va., was stopped on the westbound shoulder of Route 48 and had just switched drivers.

Eddy's vehicle, a 1977 Plymouth Volare, was traveling west when he lost control, causing it to run off the right side of the road onto the shoulder. The vehicle struck Downey's vehicle in the right rear and veered off the vehicle, traveling on for another 50 to 75 feet and coming to rest in some shrubbery over a small embankment.

Tfc. Dale Williams investigated the incident, charging Eddy with negligent driving, driving while under the influence of alcohol, and a registration violation.

Responding to the scene were members of the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad.

Downey was treated and released from the hospital following the accident.

Oakland Summer Home Ransacked

Maryland State Police reported several incidents which occurred in the area recently.

Prentice R. Delfrey notified the detachment that someone ransacked his summer home in Oakland earlier this month.

According to police reports, the culprits entered the building by climbing onto a low porch roof and removing a vent. They then climbed into the attic and went downstairs.

Cpl. M.R. Mattingly, who investigated the incident, reported that all the food in the cabin was destroyed, pots and pans were melted on the stove, flour and sugar were poured over the carpet, syrup was poured into the motor of the blender, a chest of drawers was carved on with a knife, a queen size mattress was cut with a razor, and door knobs were removed.

The culprits left the building through a small window in the rear of the cabin, leaving it open. Rain entered the window and damaged floors and walls. Total damages were estimated at $1,000.

Margaret S. Beadle, Accident, reported a theft at her private residence which occurred sometime between October 27 at 8:00 p.m. and November 16 at 3:00 p.m.

According to reports filed by the police, someone entered the residence and removed a Smith Corona Enterprise II electric typewriter from its case. According to Tfc. R.M. Hershberger, who is investigating the theft, the typewriter was worth $300.

A destruction of property incident occurred in McHenry sometime between 11:00 a.m. November 21 and 11:00 a.m. November 23.

Gerald J. Metting, Pittsburgh, reported that someone broke four windows on his garage door, three windows in the garage, a windshield on a snowmobile, and two taillights and five marker lights on a pickup truck camper.

Tfc. L. Rosage investigated the incident, reporting that damages reached $205.

Flood Victims May Be Eligible For FmHA Aid

"Because Garrett County is contiguous with West Virginia counties which were declared a disaster area, local flood victims may be eligible for federal disaster assistance through the Farmers' Home Administration," said Brad Frantz, Garrett County Emergency Management director.

Frantz said he received word this morning from the State Emergency Management Agency that low-interest loans may be available for rebuilding based on eligibility which will be determined by the FmHA. He said threre may be stipulations about rebuilding in a flood plain, but those who feel they may be eligible should contact the local FmHA office at 334-9544.

Tim Taylor, from FmHA, said applications for this federal assistance program are being accepted until July 7, 1986.

Frantz said there is still no word from the governor's office about additional assistance for Western Maryland flood damaged areas.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Pvt. Phillip D. Sausman Jr. successfully completed an eight-week basic training period for the U.S. Army at Ft. Jackson, S.C., on November 16, 1985. He will immediately begin AIT School, also at Ft. Jackson. Upon satisfactory completion of this school he will be transferred (tentatively) to Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Pvt. Sausman is the son of Phillip and Willa Sausman of Panama City, Fla., and the grandson of Helen Frantz Sausman, Selbysport, and the late Harry Sausman.

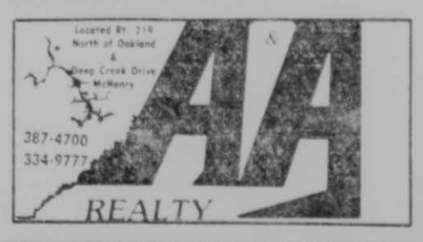
ARROWHEAD
· TOWNHOMES ·

LOCATION! — Convenient to year-round recreational facilities—Wisp Ski Area, State Parks, plus the lake is at your doorstep for the summer.
LOCATION! — Convenient for vacation leisure—restaurants—both casual and elegant within ½ mile, convenience store and services are adjacent.
LOCATION! — Easy to find—located just off U.S. Rt. 219 means driving time to Arrowhead is shorter, and the primary road access is especially important in winter.

Arrowhead is a twenty-six townhouse condominium neighborhood situated on the shores of beautiful Deep Creek Lake, Maryland. Amid tall pines, the development is carefully designed to offer a private and elegant living environment. The highlight of the development is its spectacular location on a crescent shaped peninsula, surrounded by the waters of one of western Maryland's most beautiful lakes. Year-round recreational opportunities are abundant in the nearby waters and mountains. Each townhome enjoys a panoramic view of the lake and its landscape.

We all know that location represents the true measuring stick by which to evaluate a potential real estate purchase—both for investment or private enjoyment.



Arrowhead Townhomes are the epitome of this maxim on Deep Creek Lake.

Arrowhead Townhomes are easy to buy—choose your down payment from as low as 5%—choose your interest rate from as low as 10% fixed. (Note: Interest rate varies with amount of down payment.)

Five units are complete and ready to move into as soon as you select your carpet color.

Back Off! . . .

A dynamic, forceful, verbal attack was unleashed twice this past week by Dr. David Puzzouli, interim president of Garrett Community College, concerning the immediate future and ultimate control of GCC. The person to whom much of Puzzouli's wrath was directed was Dr. James Tschectelin, director of the Maryland State Board of Community Colleges.

Dr. Tschectelin has produced a document entitled Status Report on the Situation at Garrett Community College with the intention of presenting it to the governor. This document, which contains considerable mis-information about GCC, was ripped apart, almost sentence by sentence, by Dr. Puzzouli in his talks last week at an open meeting at the college on Wednesday and again at a meeting of the State Board of Community Colleges in Cumberland on Thursday.

We have a copy of this status report by Tschectelin and, after hearing Dr. Puzzouli's dissection of it, we have also concluded that it is an inept, inaccurate, misleading essay. Besides the obvious mis-information contained in it, there are also numerous recommendations and suggestions Tschectelin believes need to be implemented at GCC. What he didn't realize, for some reason, is that the great majority of these matters have already been addressed by Puzzouli and the Board of Trustees, many of them the first week Puzzouli arrived at GCC in early September.

The final conclusion in the report really outraged Dr. Puzzouli and, likewise, caused great concern for us. This involves taking away from GCC its autonomy and independence—in effect, CLOSING GCC—and reopening it as a part of a regional community college or as a branch of Allegany Community College. If this were to happen, GCC would really no longer be "Garrett" college, nor would it be "Community" college. It would be just one more local entity that is under the control of Annapolis and Baltimore.

A study by the National Commission on Education concluded that "quality may be jeopardized when decisions about academic programs are made by agencies remote from institutions. Centralized authority has led to lowest-common-denominator policies and destroyed institutional flexibility required to sustain quality programs. Community colleges in Maryland must remain governed at the local level in order to be autonomous institutions . . . free to maintain the flexibility to respond to local programmatic and service needs."

Garrett Community College is OUR college. WE established it. WE should be permitted to govern it and deal with our own problems.

Dr. Puzzouli's talk at the college meeting on Wednesday sparked such enthusiasm that over 100 persons, mostly GCC faculty and students, accompanied him to the meeting in Cumberland on Thursday. The combination of Puzzouli's powerful and well-prepared words with the sheer number of supporters, apparently made quite an impression. We learned this morning that Dr. Tschectelin has since contacted Dr. Puzzouli and, in general, has eased up on his proposals and has agreed to approach the situation differently.

Granted, things at Garrett Community College during the 1985-86 year were in a terrible state, as we all recall. Everyone has his or her own ideas as to why the situation got so out of hand, causing a huge gap between students, faculty, administration, and board members. Our general assessment then and now was that nearly everyone involved was responsible for part of the problem. Our general opinion as to the solution was for a change in the administration, even if the present administration was found to be blameless. The college was rapidly going down the tubes and drastic change was essential.

Fortunately, the board re-grouped and responded by changing the administration. Our first impressions of Dr. Puzzouli were favorable. Now our second impressions are even more favorable. He is a fighter and one who refuses to allow the state to walk all over us. Even better than that, he has the ability to rally others to fight with him, which is essential for a victory.

Our advice now to Dr. Tschectelin, and any of our political leaders who are supporting his position, is to BACK OFF, and for heaven's sake, give this new administration a chance. Your influence and assistance may have been needed during the crisis period last spring, but none of us ever wanted a permanent takeover of our college. We have good people there who will do the right thing to make GCC grow and prosper, but they need the opportunity to do the right thing, without so much intervention. Politics, which are such a detriment to academic freedom, have no place on a collegiate campus.

Courage And Caring

by Mary I. Love

"It's hard to find a place to eat in town; you'd better take these sandwiches and some juice with you."

West Virginians are known for their hospitality, but this was a bit much. The speaker was standing in her dining room in a house near Parsons. She had shown us the high-water mark on the wall, about four feet above the floor. A wood stove was burning in the kitchen, but the feel and smell of dampness were everywhere. Some of the furniture was in the drying mud of what had been the backyard, set out to air in the chilly November sunlight. Inside, old family photographs were spread to dry on the dining room table. A framed linen sampler embroidered with "Welcome" was on the wall, and a plate rail with souvenir dishes circled the room just below the ceiling. Everything above the high water mark spoke of an old family home with the accumulated treasures of generations. Everything below the water line was damp and stained and muddy. There was no place to sit, but the hostess insisted that we take sandwiches, to eat in the car.

Three weeks after the flood swept through Tucker County, people were trying to pick up the pieces of their lives, a task that will take months or years. We were with a minister who was asking this woman to notify her neighbors that there would be a church service and meeting the next day to start planning what to do about the community church. It is standing, but not on its foundation, and most of the nearby houses have disappeared or are marked for demolition, with doors, windows, whole walls missing. One well-painted three-story house was canted at a 45° angle, like a knocked-over toy. A bulldozer was laboring to get the mud off the street, and we accepted on faith the minister's statement that there was pavement down there somewhere.

The hospitable woman was right, there is scarcely a place to get food or anything else. Some of the downtown stores are open at each end, like a car-wash. Church basements, cleared of residue are repositories of the many donations which have come in from Garrett County and elsewhere, places not necessarily rich, but fortunate and generous.

Some people in the disaster area lost virtually everything. There are emergency shelters and kitchens, while people find other houses or move in with friends or family. But tremendous needs are being met with tremendous generosity, not only of things out of time and labor, with work groups coming from miles around to help restore the possibility for comfortable everyday life, life which will never be what it was.

People being people, there has been a little looting, some profiteering, but most of the stories are of sharing helping, and hospitality, of loss and courage and caring.

We thank Sandy and Jim Flanigan for being with us all the way in what seemed an impossible job of saving salvageable merchandise. Sandy worked endless hours at NuWay Cleaners cleaning and steam pressing garments, all the while supervising additional cleaning processes. Allen and Rita Ridenour stood by us daily as they patiently worked hard at any task and supplied us with encouragement and positive thinking. Jeff and Rich Orr of NuWay Cleaners allowed us utilization of their facilities an entire week. Their kind generosity is overwhelming! Frances Meese arranged for and delivered the delicious food prepared by the ladies at St. Paul's for the volunteer workers at NuWay Cleaners.

There were over 80 individuals of all ages, behind the scene who volunteered physical services of time-consuming, hand, dirty work; who wore happy faces; who transported muddy merchandise in their trucks; who helped with chores in their own homes; and who sent food and cards to our home.

We thank each of you for the loving care and thoughts extended us. We'll never forget that destructive force of water, but the flooding of human compassion will outweigh the sad memories.

Sincerely,
Bob, Marianne, Gene
Melody and Michael Flinn

To the Editor:

Have you considered doing some "in depth" analysis and objective reporting concerning Garrett Community College? The comments by Dr. Puzzuoli in last week's Republican are very important and critical to the future of education in Garrett County and the State of Maryland. Someone needs to follow up, get all the facts, "dig" for the truth and help this community understand how State politicians and bureacrats are still using our community college as a "football." The real story has still not been told.

Coming from me may sound like "sour grapes." Unless someone unbiased like yourself gets to the bottom line of this dangerous predicament, we are going to end up with a satellite "branch" that will not be responsive to the educational needs of Garrett County. When will we learn that centralization defeats productivity and local autonomy encourages creativity? This has already happened in the public school system. The State Board of Community Colleges wants power like the Department of Education. I am confident that our County Commissioners understand this because of the commitment they have demonstrated toward the college. I hope others will make similiar commitments.

Congratulations to Dr. Puzzuoli for his courageous position statement. We are fortunate to have this perceptive and energetic man in our community and president of our college. Most of the employees at the college are working long and hard to help Dr. Puzzuoli fight the battle. I hope more people in the community will "wake up" to the threat we are facing. I encourage you and the newspaper to take the community leadership that is needed to help the college.

To the Editor:

I saw more pictures of flood water damage this week in your paper than I ever did. Why all this? There was a friend of ours here this morning from Pittsburgh, and he said his wife thinks God is talking to the people. I agreed.

With all the ads we see in the papers of stores being open seven days a week, it seems they forget or don't want to know to keep the Sabbath holy.

Then all the liquor ads, and now some banks even offer 24-hour service, seven days a week, while tornadoes take houses, barns and lives.

Who controls all this? Surely some people would like to, but they can't. God does when it is over some people with love and pity come a long way to help.

On the front page of your paper November 14, 1985, I read about "Yoder convicted of manslaughter" which is a terrible thing that four people lost their lives from one person being under the influence, and not keeping right of center, reckless driving and driving at a high rate of speed.

Then in the same paper, under "Spirits, Beer, Cigarette Tax Revenues noted," total alcohol and tobacco tax collections for the month of October 1985 amounted to $7,982,542.

Is that why people are allowed to drink alcohol and kill four people instantly so the state can collect all this money? Are they more concerned about the tax money collected than about the people's lives? Isn't it pitiful? If ever one of your family or a close friend gets killed by a drunk, you will realize more than if you just read this.

As a student of Southern High School, I would like to report just how we get our expensive lunches every day.

I guess the reason they raised the price was to cover the hairs we find in our food day after day.

We have told them about this time and again, but nothing has been done. So we just wanted to let our parents know what their hard-earned money pays for.

To the Editor:

During this holiday season, let us not forget the many individuals who are less fortunate than ourselves. The pain that faces many people with arthritis last throughout every season of the year, and doesn't disappear with the holidays.

Arthritis is a serious health problem which affects more than 36 million Americans. It affects people of all ages, including children. One in seven people has arthritis—that's one in three families that are affected by it. Over 625,000 people in the Maryland area alone have arthritis.

The Arthritis Foundation is the only national volunteer health agency dedicated to finding the causes and preventions for the many forms of arthritis. It supports research and service programs, and is a major source of help to people with arthritis.

There are still many unanswered questions about arthritis, but the Foundation is hard at work trying to find answers. Great strides have been made in research and treatment programs recently, but there is still a long road ahead.

The continued help of our many supporters is vital if we are to be successful in our battle with America's number one crippling disease. We thank our contributors and volunteers for their dedication, and encourage others to join us in creating hope for tomorrow by helping today.

Sincerely,
Ronald Hughes, President
Maryland Chapter of The Arthritis Foundation

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Two weeks ago I sat in a class at Garrett Community College and heard you talking about your job as editor of The Republican. You noted that you get many calls from people when they don't agree with your editorials and very few calls from people who agree with them.

This letter is to express appreciation for your October 31 editorial. I didn't know Patti McLaughlin, but I know many of her friends, and I've heard nothing but praise for Patti. This should be a challenge to every reader of The Republican to live each day to the fullest and to live each day as though it were our last.

I would also like to express appreciation to the county commissioners for declaring November as Hospice Month. I am a Hospice volunteer, and have found this to be one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. My circle of friends has greatly increased because of Hospice.

I would encourage anyone who is interested to become a part of Hospice and become a volunteer. The Bible says, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," and I have found this to be very true.

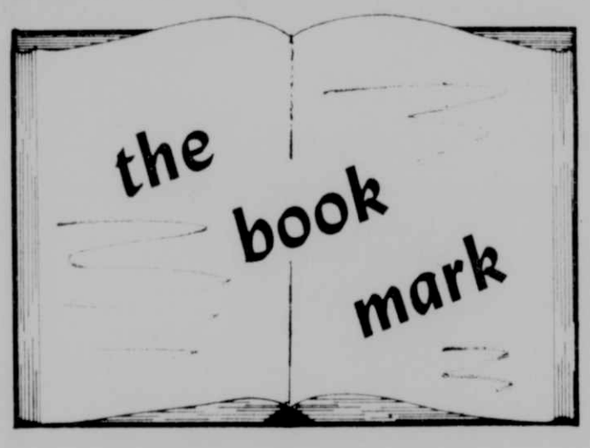
To the Editor:

The devastating flood that struck November 4, 1985, will be long remembered by many families. We are familiar with their feelings of despair and weariness because we lost a loved one and also our store in Petersburg, W.Va. Showering us with reassurance, optimism, support and cheer, the people of Garrett County have led us through this difficult time.

Volunteers Of Hospice



Editor's Note: As part of the observance of Hospice Month (November) the following article was written by Jackie Snelson, R.N., M.S.N., coordinator of Hospice of Garrett County.

Volunteers are the foundation of Hospice of Garrett County. They are compassionate people who donate to the Hospice organization and the terminally ill their time and energy. The members of our patient care volunteer group have participated in a training program to provide them with the skills and knowledge they need to provide care. Our volunteers work odd hours with patience and understanding. The care they offer is not influenced by politics, religion or life style. Some of the services they have given to Hospice patients have been picking up medications, assisting with shopping, respite relief for the family and most important, listening to people voice their fears and concerns. People sometimes find it easier to talk to volunteers rather than family members. Many times the patient and family have difficulty talking to each other about sensitive issues such as death, personal fears, and even funeral arrangements.

The auxiliary volunteers provide a fundraising force. They sell raffle tickets, have bake sales, run a road rally and are our best source of public relations to what Hospice is all about.

It is because of the efforts of these caring individuals that Hospice in Garrett County can provide the support the terminally ill and their families need.

If anyone is interested in becoming a part of our volunteer group, please call 301-334-8111 or 895-3111 and ask for Hospice of Garrett County. We always want to add new members to our volunteers—our special people.

Editor's Note: The following column was written by Mark Fulk, who is a senior at Union High School.

This column is dedicated to enhance your leisure hours. I will try to inform you of books worth your reading hours - and ones definitely not. Here are my reviews for this edition:

North and South, the television epic mini-series, has ended, but if questions like these still haunt you: Did Orry Main make it home? What will Ashton's next scheme be?, then pick up Love and War, the sequel to North and South, by John Jakes. It continues the dramatic and often tragic chronicles of the Northern Hazards and the Southern Mains, two families linked by marriage and friendship in an America torn asunder in the midst of civil war.

By the bestselling author of Lord of the Dance and Cardinal Sins, comes a shocking new novel called Virgin and Martyr. Andrew Greely has created a story that captures the heart of the sixties era. It is the story of a nun who swore her life to the church . . . but not her heart. Now, she is dead, and four close friends wonder; who was this woman called Cathy Collins, what was she fighting for, and why did she have to die? It is a very touching yet traumatic tale that plunges the reader into the heart of a nun and the friends who loved her.

Until next time, good reading!
